Revival services at the Baptist church have been well attended and full of interest. Brother Harris is a strong, clear and sympathetic speaker, who presents his subject in simple language that anyone can understand. He appeals to reason far more than to the emotions. It seems as though such preaching must bring good results. Rev. B. F. Adkins, director of music, also assists in the opening of the services. He makes liberal use of the old familiar hymns for the congregational singing. His solo singing is sweet and sympathetic. Rev. Sam Heath, pastor of the church seems to be in entire accord with the leaders, so helpful in the good work. Rev. dkins had to be away for Saturday and Sunday. But Mr. Emmett Billingsley and a quartette consisting of Messrs. Akins Collins, Sylvester Robinson, Arthur Littleton and John Childress helped out with the music. Solos were also given by Mrs. E. N. Bentley and Miss eLora Goodgame, Miss Jennye Robinson at the piano, and Mr. Clarence Bice, violin, as accompanists added much to the efficiency of the music. It is not definit-e ly known at this time just when the meetings will close, but we are confident that the seed that has been sown will bear fruit for many days. We hope that the earnest men and women of the church, who have closed their business doors, during the hours of service and attended the meetings day and night, working and praying for the benefit of the community, will be richly rewarded in the final harvest. "They that turn many to righteousness, shall have them as stars in their crown of rejoicing."

On Thursday night, July 12th, under the auspices of the Congregational Ladies' Aid Society, a surprise party was given to the Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Davenport, at the parsonage. About sixty of the members and friends of the church assembled at an early evening hour and spent some time in social intercourse, when refreshments were served by the ladies from a long table on the lawn, which were much enjoyed and undisturbed by mosquitoes. The good wishes of the friends were manifested by a pile of packages left on the dining room table.

Rev. J. W. Davenport has announced his intention of giving his illustrated lecture on "The Passion Play," at New Salem Church next Sunday night. There will be no charge for admission, but an opportunity will be given to make an offering to cover expenses.

At a meeting held after morning service last Sunday, by vote of the members, Rev. Davenport was granted his annual vacation to extend from July 25th to Aug. 22nd. Arrangements will be made to maintain all regular services during his absence.

At this meeting there was also read a letter from Rev. Davenport, tendering his resignation as pastor of the church to take effect as soon as satisfactory arrangements can be made. As no reasons were given for his decision in the matter, a committee was appointed to wait upon him and to report to the church at an early date.

Rev. N. A. Long motored to Montgomery Tuesday to bring his wife and children home. They have been visiting relatives and friends near Ozark, Ala.

Mr. Clarence T. Butler of Montgomery is spending a few days with his father, the Rev. E. W. Butler.

Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Pate had as their week-end guests, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Harris of Birmingham.

Miss Hattie Davenport of Birmingham spent the week-end with her home folks.

Miss Pauline Littleton spent a part of last week with her grandmother, Mrs. A. Littleton. Mrs. A. Littleton also had as guests last week her brother, J. P. Martin of Montgomery and her sister, Mrs. Tom Cobb of Jemison.

Mr. Malcom Johnson of Ohio is here spending his vacation with his father and mother.

We are glad to know that Mrs. W. P. Lowery, who has been sick for several weeks, is now improving.

Miss Esther Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Johnson, who made a remarkable record, both in attendance and scholarship, while a student in Thorsby Institute, where she graduated in June, having won a scholarship at Piedmont College, at Demorest, Ga., left Thorsby Saturday for Demorest, where she will be employed by the College, during the remainder of the summer, and will enter Piedmont, as a student in the Fall.

Mr. A. E. Reagan, manager of Thorsby Hardware Co., is testing a sample of the carload of cement they recently received, in the building of cement walks, at his new home, on Montgomery road.

The Ladies' Guild social will be held with Mrs. James Bosworth, Thursday, July 26th.

Mrs. S. E. Norton is expecting a visit from her sister, Miss Lenore Goodwin, who will arrive some time this week. Also her niece, Miss Agnes Lenore Goodwin.

STATE NEWS BRIEFS

J. A. Carnely, new probate judge of Coffee county and one of the leaders of the Alabama Tax Payers' League two years ago, cannot recover the value of his automobile which Fred Folsom, tax collector of Coffee county, seized and sold, for the satisfaction of Judge Carnely's tax bill, under a decision rendered by the supreme court recently.

Despite the fact that it has been in existence for only a few months, the Tennessee valley laboratory at Albanw-Decatur has announced that it has examined 1,000 specimens. Under the direction of Miss Nina Eldridge, technician, the laboratory is doing much work for better health in north Alabama.

Leeds has gone over the top in the campaign for funds for the tuberculosis sanitarium for Jefferson county. The quota for Leeds was fixed by the local committee at $1,000, and when all the pledges are in it is believed that the figures will go above the $2,000 mark.

Governor Brandon will refuse to entertain any petition for the parole of Russell Malloy of Birmingham who, on April 26th, began sentence of 25 years for a statutory offense involving a young girl, until the board of pardons has considered the case in the regular way.

Plans have been drawn, contracts awarded and works expected to be started at an early date on the music hall which is to be constructed by Col. William H. Zionn for the use of the Boy Scout band and the Anniston Symphony Orchestra at Anniston.

Another step has been taken toward the erection of a much needed public school building in Moulton. Five acres of land has been purchased and the subscription list for the building has been raised to an amount that justifies the hope for a new building before the coming autumn.

For the sake of the farmers of Tuscaloosa county, who, he considers have been delayed enough this year by unfavorable weather conditions, Judge Fleetwood Rice of the Sixth judicial circuit, has cancelled circuit court at Tuscaloosa for the week beginning May 7.

"Boll weevil control on a community basis will be demonstrated in at least 10 Alabama counties this year," says an announcement by Dr. W. E. Hinds, entomologist for the Alabama Extension Service and Experiment Station at Auburn.

Dorsey Rivers, illiterate backwoodsman, of Mobile county, will not be hanged for the murder of A. C. Brill, deputy sheriff of Mobile county. Governor Brandon has commuted the sentence to life imprisonment.

The alumni society of the University of Alabama is sending out invitations to all alumni of the institution to attend the ninety-first annual commencement, May 20 to 22. Alumni day will be observed May 21.

COLLINS CHAPEL

Our singing society met at this place Sunday afternoon and we had a large crowd and some good singing. Directors for the afternoon were: A. H. Glass, E. L. Glass, Akins Collins, Vester Campbell and J. L. Harris. Our singing society meets at Oak Hill next Sunday afternoon. We invite everyone that can to come. We are expecting the Clanton quartette to be with us.

TIME TO FACE THE FACTS

"So much has been said against the use of patent medicines that I have had a strong prejudice against them. But after four years doctoring with six different doctors, without results, for acute indigestion, gastritis, constipation, appendicitis and other ailments, I was said to possess, I was encouraged to try Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, seeing what it had done for a friend similarly afflicted. I also was entirely relieved of my trouble, and am sure this medicine will do all and more than is claimed for it." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Alred Drug Co., and dealers everywhere.

AN OLD-TIME BARBECUE

There is to be an old-time barbecue at Blue Star Ball Ground, one-half mile north of Sardis Church, on Saturday, August 4th. The meat will be free to all. Everybody has an invitation to come, especially all United Farmers of America. The program for the day will be, ball games, speaking on U. F. of A. and old-fashioned hand-shakes with friends.

We haven't met in many years. We invite everyone who has once lived here to come and bring somebody with them. The meat will be free to all, and we will have all kinds of refreshments to sell, the proceeds to go to build the new Methodist church.

Everybody come. Barbecue given by members of Vermont Local No. 339, U. F. of A.

Miss Jessie Holley returned home Sunday after a course of six weeks study with the number of other teachers at Jacksonville this summer.

Inactive Liver

"I have had trouble with an inactive liver," wrote Mrs. S. Nichols, of 4412 Spencer St., Houston, Texas. "When I would get constipated, I would feel a light, dizzy feeling in my head. To get up in the morning with a lightness in the head and a trembly feeling is often a sign that the stomach is out of order. For this I took Thedford's Black-Draught, and without a doubt can say I have never found its equal in any liver medicine. It not only cleans the liver, but leaves you in such a good condition. I have used it a long time, when food does not seem to set well, or the stomach is a little sour."

SQUIRE WALDROP WRITES ON COURT BILLS

Editor Union-Banner:—

I notice in the Chilton County News two bills to go before the legislature to abolish the county and commissioners court of Chilton county. I want to say that every word of Thos. A. Curry in regard to these bills has my endorsement. Mr. Curry may have made some mistakes, but he is man enough to see danger and turn away from it.

Now, both these bills on their face show that there is nothing behind them except politics, for there is nothing in them that is for the betterment of the tax payers. There will be five members on this board of revenue, where there are only four commissioners now. Also the bill provides for a clerk, a purchasing agent and an engineer. Does this look like cutting expenses? No, certainly not.

The News belched up the frog when it said that Curry was working against the organized democracy of Chilton county. Yes, right there is where all this started. Somebody else wants to suck from the county treasury. Somebody must be getting hungry.

It is disgusting, because the circuit court has always cost the county more money than it has paid into it. As for the ten thousand dollar court, I will ask, is there a law to fine criminals? Then who is to blame, the court or the criminals? Does the law say that criminals shall be fined for violating the criminal law? Now, I have read every word of it, and there is not one thing offered that shows anything better.

Everything proposed in those bills will cause people to have less respect for law and order. Let me say, if there were a Republican governor of Alabama those bills would not be offered and would certainly not become a law. Now, in conclusion, let me say that I respect all peoples rights, and will stand for them regardless of politics.

Yours very truly,
S. E. WALDROP.

B. C. APPERSON RETURNS

A letter from our friend, B. Crichton Appersos, editor of the Grocers Journal of Birmingham, says that he has returned home from his trip to St. Paul, Minn., and Yellowstone National Park. Crichton says that he had a fine time and enjoyed the scenery out through California immensely. On his return trip he came back through Nebraska, and Texas. He is the son of our good old Chiltonian, D. M. Apperson.

SLIGHT ACCIDENT MONDAY

Monday morning a slight accident happened on the switch yard at Clanton, when a freight car was backed into the delivery truck of the Chilton Hardware Company. The freight car hit the front end of the truck, and it is said that the damage done the truck was between $150 and $200. Two negroes were on the truck, but neither of them were hurt.

BIG SUNDAY SCHOOL MEET

The 2nd Annual Session of the Methodist Sunday School Conference, embracing 600 Methodist Sunday Schools in central and south Alabama and west Florida, will convene in Pensacola, Florida, on Tuesday night, August 28, and last thru Thursday noon, August 30, according to information given Saturday by Clarence M. Dannelly, Superintendent of Sunday School Work in Alabama Conference.

In announcing this conference session Superintendent Dannelly states that a interesting program of prominent speakers will shortly be made public. Definite details for the entertainment of the conference will be made during the coming week when Mr. Dannelly meets the local entertainment committee in Pensacola.

Hon. S. H. Blan, Secretary of State and Lay Leader of the Alabama Conference, is president of this body and will preside at all general sessions. It is stated that he is working in close co-operation with Superintendent Dannelly in arranging the program.

First Church Pensacola will be the place of meeting and Rev. D. P. Slaughter of Evergreen, presiding elder of Pensacola District, is chairman of the local committee on entertainment. The conference is therefore to be the guest of the Pensacola District although the workers of First Church headed by Dr. J. W. Frazer, pastor; J. W. Andrews, superintendent; and W. C. Mackey, chairman of the Board of Stewards, will likely have charge of all local recreation and entertainment features. It is stated that the other Methodist churches of Pensacola and the churches of other denominations as well as the Chamber of Commerce have agreed to render needed assistance in order to make the conference the largest possible success.

STATE BOARD OF HEALTH

Montgomery, Ala., July 16.—In order that the tax payers may know what they are getting for their money, the State Laboratory announces that for the month of June this department of the State Board of Health made more than ten thousand examinations for the people of the State. These examinations, if made in a privately owned laboratory would cost from $1.00 to $10.00, or an average of about $3.00 as a majority of them were of the less expensive kind.

The full significance of this report is had when it is remembered that this branch of the State Board of Health costs the tax payers less than $2,500 per month and the work done during one month amounted to approximately $30,000 in value.

Note:—Mr. Ed Doty, of the Lafayette Sun, was in Montgomery last week and was kind enough to voluntarily admit that the Publicity Bureau is doing a great work. Mr. Doty's attention was also called to the fact that the Director of Publicity for the State Board of Health has not opposed the newspaper publicity bills. On the other hand, he was reminded that he knew of his own personal knowledge that the man who is directing the publicity for the State Board of Health assisted in lobbying for the measures at the beginning of the legislative session in January.

If you want the people to know what they are getting for their money, use the items sent out by this department. If you want the pending newspaper bills passed, co-operate with those who are trying to put these bills over.

PROGRAM OF COUNTY SUPERINTENDENTS AT JACKSONVILLE STATE NORMAL SCHOOL

The county superintendents of the Jacksonville district met June 29, 1923, at the regular assembly hour of the Normal School. At this time each one was presented to the student body by Pres. C. W. Daugette.

At 10:30 in the parlor of the main dormitory the meeting was called to order by Pres. C. W. Daugette with an inspiring talk. He then presented Mr. Frasier of the teacher training department and Mr. C. R. Wood of the extension department. Both made interesting talks explaining their respective lines of work.

At this time Dr. Daugette asked the body of superintendents to elect a chairman and Mr. R. E. Ledbetter of the department of education was elected chariman and E. O. Creel of Marshall county secretary. Mr. Ledbetter appointed the following program committee: E. P. Murphy of Etowah county, D. A. McNeil of Talladega county and S. B. Gibson of Calhoun county.

Following the election of officers the matter of teachers spending the week-ends in the community was discussed. Some splendid reasons were brought out in favor of teachers spending all time in the community.

12:30 to 1:30, noon.

Friday p.m., June 29, 1923

The following program was brought in by the committee.

Reading Circle and Extension Work.

Trustees under the following term of office, appointment and relation to selecting teachers.

The County Board's part in the Building Program.

Transportation.

Appropriation to city schools.

Relation of Supervisor to Superintendent.

Legislation.

At this time the Reading Circle and Extension Work under the Normal Schools were discussed by most of the superintendents. It was the opinion of all that much good is being done by the extension work. It was the general idea that those teachers who can not take part in the extension work should do Reading Circle work.

The county board's part in the building program was discussed by Mr. Ledbetter with the superintendents taking part. Some interesting things were brought out. The general opinion was that the boards should give all the aid possible.

Transportation was discussed by those having experience in this work. It was found that most satisfactory results come from transportation being paid by the district tax funds.

June 30, 9:00 a.m.

Appropriations to City Schools were discussed at the beginning of the second day session. Different superintendents gave their methods of appropriation to cities. It was brought out that different cities have their different ways of appropriating. Much help was gained but no definite method was decided as best.

The matter of doing high school work in schools not accerdited was discussed. The opinion was that it should be done as long as no better method can be given.

Legislation was discussed at this time. Mr. Ledbetter, Dr. Daugette and others entering into the discussions. Plans for the summer school were brought out and explained.

The Relation of the Supervisor and Superintendent was discussed by Misses Ware from St. Clair and Covington counties.

Resolution was passed thanking Dr. Daugette and the normal school for their courtesies in making our stay pleasant and successful.

Dr. Daugette offered each superintendent a picture of students from his county and one of the summer school. Thanks and acceptance voted.

R. E. LEDBETTER, Chairman.
E. D. CREEL, Secretary.

WORDS OF APPRECIATION

The family of J. M. Wyatt wishes to publicly thank all the good people who so willingly and freely lent us their help and sympathy during our recent sad bereavement. All of our neighbors were at all times so willing and anxious to do all that they could for us, and we haven't the words to express our thanks to them for it. May God's richest blessings rest upon you all is our sincere prayer.

Mr. Homer Ratliff of Sardis was in Clanton Monday. Mr. Ratliff says that crops in his section are fairly good, considering the excessive amount of rain.

DR. GRAGG BACK HOME

Editor Union-Banner:

I desire, through your paper, to express my sincere thanks and heartfelt appreciation for the kind words, letters, cards, and all messages which came to me when things looked saddest.

I must say that the various tokens of love and esteem from my friends were so many that it overwhelmed me with emotion to think how many friends, good and true, I did have.

I am pleased to be able to inform all that my condition is now improving and I hope after a short time to be able to be on my feet and be myself again.

For the present, all who care to see me socially or professionally, will find me at the hospital from 8 a.m., to 5 p.m.

After trying the doctors, nurses, hospitals and mosquitoes in New Orleans for awhile, I have decided that Clanton compares very favorably in all but the latter.

Yours sincerely,
V. J. GRAGG.

The Value of Land Abstracts

It is not safe to buy land or to lend money and accept land as security without first investigating the title of the land. Often there are unpaid mortgages, judgments, or other liens affecting the title, which an abstract would set out. Therefore, when buying land or lending money thereon, it is important that an abstract of title be furnished. A few dollars spent for an abstract is cheaper than going ahead and having a law suit a little later on.

Probably the reason that Tom Heflin knows so much about deflation is because he has deflated himself more than anything else we know about. Tom used to be a big balloon, but he has about spent all of his gas.

Mr. Thomas A. Curry, democrat, has come out openly in opposition to abolishing our county and commissioners court. We venture to say that there are several democrats over the county who take the same view of this matter that Mr. Curry does.

There will be a mass meeting at the court house on Saturday, July 28, for the purpose of discussing the merits and demerits of the proposed bills to abolish the county court and commissioners court of Chilton county. Every tax payer in the county should be present at this meeting.

Has the time come when a few men can have officers who were elected by a majority of the people legislated out of office, just because they happen to have differences with such officers politically? If such things as this can be done, our country is no longer a democracy but an autocracy.

The "organized democracy" of Chilton county—what and where is such an animal? Can it be those twelve men who met behind closed doors in an unknown place a few days ago and drafted those bills to take away from the people their right to vote for their office-holders? What does the word "democracy" mean any way?

A certain man in Clanton has for the past few years been very generous in displaying the colors of "Old Glory," which is our national flag and represents all that our great nation stands for. One of the main features of our nation is that it has a government for and by the people. Now, can you imagine this same man meeting with eight or ten other schemers behind closed doors and using his influence, if he has any, to take away the rights of the people of Chilton county to vote for the men to hold their offices? The patriotism of a man who will stoop to such depths as this is certainly very limited.

Back a few years ago Tom Heflin started a great onslaught against the Federal Reserve Bank, charging that institution with ruining the country by its deflation of our money value. He skinned W. P. G. Harding from crown to sole on many an occasion of his exuberant oratory. And while he was skinning the Governor of the Federal Reserve System, he also took quite a lot of hide off many of the Democrats who were associated with the Governor in the deflation scheme. But by and by election time in Tom's home state has come close by and the apostle of high cotton must stand for re-election to the seat which he has occupied in the United States Senate.

Now, in order to solve his conscience upon the denunciation he has been making of the Democratic party, he has begun to tell it that W. P. G. Harding joined the Republican party just before he brought on the deflation. No wonder the Democrats of Alabama are ashamed of Tom. He is the chiefest of all the fools that have ever fooled the people of this state.

DON'T ROCK THE BOAT

President Harding: "We have come thus far, and thus fortunately, through the most difficult period of reconstruction that we have ever known. We have been sheltered against the world storm of tendency to social revolution. The best test of policy is by results. By that test, we ask no more than a fair and reasoned verdict on our program. We ask that its results be compared with the showing, in these after-war years, that can be presented by any other country on the face of the earth. We ask that you examine the contrast, thoughtfully and seriously, between the general state of the public weal in this country and in others. For our vindication, we point to a great nation, tis credit preserved, its industries crowded to the point of capacity production, its people employed, its wage scales high beyond all comparison with any other in the world, its banking system standing as the final bulwark of sound money and the gold standard, and its average level of comfort and prosperity unexampled among the races of men."

CHIP KNOCKED OFF

Premier Baldwin says he sees no grousd for complaint in the action of the United States in seizing sealed liquor on incoming liners. Of course not. The jurisdiction of this country over the three-mile zone admits of no question, and the right of Congress to exclude liquor therefrom cannot be disputed. The steamship companies impudently challenged the United States to enforce the law if it dared. The challenge was accepted and the liquor confiscated. The incident ought to have a chastening effect on some of our friends across the water who think the United States does not mean what it says.

PERU CELEBRATES JULY 4

The Republic of Peru set apart July 4th as a public holiday, and celebrated it in much the same way it is recognized in this country. The Latin-American nations are coming to realize that but for the event of July 4, 1776, their own independence would probably never have been won and would not be a reality today. The Monroe Doctrine, that guarantees their independence from Old World aggrandizement, would never have come into being and their territory would now be merely the colonial possession of some European power.

TARIFF GROWS COTTON

On June 25 there was more cotton under cultivation in the United States than ever before in the history of the country. The acreage is one-eighth more than was raised last year. Texas has 14,000,000 acres in cotton, 15 per cent more than last year, while Virginia, North Carolina, Arkansas, and Oklahoma all have acreages larger than ever before. But is there proper appreciation in those states of the conditions under which their prosperity has been made possible? There is not, and probably every one of them will go for the Democratic candidate for President next year. They prefer Democratic rule, even though flat pocketbooks go with it.

UNION GROVE

Everybody have laid by their crops and are in very good heart.

Our Sunday school is progressing nicely. Everybody seems to take their part in helping it to grow.

I wish to correct about the all-day singing at this place on the second Sunday. The second Sunday is our regular preaching day and singing in the afternoon, but no all-day singing. We hope every one will come and help us out, and try to make it the best singing we have ever had.

We are sure proud of our good school we have going on now.

Miss Amy Robinson dined with Miss Euna Davis Sunday.

Misses Leone Hall, Edna Robinson, Mollie Vinzant and Mr. Arthur Chandler spent Sunday afternoon with Miss Myrtle Dorminey.

Every Woman Should Have It!

Mrs. White says, "For a long time I had roaches in my kitchen. Couldn't seem to get rid of them. Several friends told me about Royal Guaranteed Roach Powder. I tried it and got immediate results. Every woman should have it." Packed in "bellows" boxes. 10c and 25c. Sold and guaranteed by Upchurch Drug Co. and Cooper Drug Co.

SOCIETY AND PERSONALS

Mrs. R. E. Luckie, Editor

Society Club Meets.

Mrs. J. P. Hayes was the most charming hostess to the Study Club at its regular meeting on last Friday. The apartments were very attractive with cut and pot flowers. The meeting was presided over by the President, Mrs. aBrney Roberts. After the business of the club the following program was used: Subject, Furniture:

Paper—Colonial Furniture, Mrs. McDavid.

Paper—Furniture of the Revolutionary Period, Mrs. N. S. Johnson.

Talk—The Relation of Development of Furniture to the Progress of Civilization, Mrs. Broadhead.

After which the hostess served a delicious ice course.

Sewing Club.

On last Wednesday afternoon Mrs. John Armstrong proved to be a very charming hostess when she entertained the members of the Wednesday Sewing Club. The living room was very attractive with cut flowers. After some time spent in doing finger work and conversation, the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Luckie served sandwiches and ice team. The only guest beside the club members was the mother of the hostess, Mrs. Roper.

Domino Club Entertained.

The Thursday Domino Club had as its charming hostess Mrs. T. H. Neighbors. The apartments were very effective with cut flowers where tables were arranged for the game of "42," was very much enjoyed at three appointed tables. At the conclusion of these interesting games the hostess served sandwiches and ice tea.

Guests at Gary Springs.

The following are the guests at Gary Springs for this week:

"A Dead Shot"

What Is Weevilnip?

It is a liquid compound of molasses, poisons, vegetable and mineral extracts and flavors designed to attract the boll weevils and kill them.

Apply to cotton plant with a hand mop made of a rag and stick. Costs less than $5.00 an acre and insures full crop.

WEEVILNIP is no longer a new remedy. It is being successfully used for the third year.

Fairburn, Ga., July 7, 1923.

Weevilnip Company,
Macon, Ga.

Gentlemen:

Your letter of July 5, received, and in reference to same I wish to advise you in a very short form that your WEEVILNIP is killing bugs. Where it has been applied, there are no boll weevils. However, I am afraid that I will not have enough of your poison to keep up the demonstrations as long as they should be kept up. We have not used this in excess, but due to the excessive rains, it has been kept washed off. I have a sufficient amount for about one more application, and that will be used next week. If you think it advisable to keep up the applications, please advise me what to do in this matter.

In conclusion I will say that WEEVILNIP has the boll weevil under perfect control.

Yours very truly,
F. D. JETER, County Agent.

Test Made on L. A. Erwin's Farm at Antreville, S. C., June 18th and 19th, 1923.

On June 18th and 19th I decided to make a test of the boll weevil control, namely WEEVILNIP, to ascertain whether it would actually control the boll weevil when put to a test. I applied it to a patch containing approximately six and one-half acres of cotton where I and others had found dozens of weevils in short time and knew them to be numerous in this patch. We made this application on June 18th and 19th and after thirty-six hours we again searched this patch of cotton very diligently and found no live weevils and up to this date, June 25th, not a single live weevil has been found in this patch, where before this application was made two to three live weevils were found on many of the stalks.

(Signed) L. A. ERWIN.

THE PUBLIC AND ALABAMA POWER COMPANY

UPPER TALLASSEE DAM ON TALLAPOOSA RIVER. BUILT BY CITIZENS OF MONTGOMERY.

Early attempts to develop state's water powers

One of the first, if not the first, power dams in the State was constructed near Tallassee, Ala., on the Tallapoosa River, by Mr. Henry C. Jones of Montgomery, and associates, in the year 1896. It was the largest of its kind in the country at the time and was considered a remarkable engineering achievement.

The people of that section were gradually beginning to realize that the Coosa and Tallapoosa were capable of developing thousands of horsepower of electricity as they tumbled from the Appalachian foothills, over the rapids of the "Fall Line," and down the plains of Central Alabama.

SITE OF CHEROKEE BLUFFS DAM ON TALLAPOOSA RIVER

The success of the Tallassee dam prompted its builders to undertake another project of larger proportions. In 1900, Messrs. Henry C. Jones, James S. Pinckard and Jack Thorington, citizens of Montgomery, applied to the Legislature for a charter for the Cherokee Development and Manufacturing Company. The charter was granted by Act approved December 8, 1900, and the work of promoting the project began. Large land purchases were made and much preliminary work done. Only Alabama citizens were interested and it was planned to finance the project entirely within Alabama.

It was soon found that the only laws on the statute books permitting the construction of dams across streams were the so-called "Mill Dam Statutes." They grew out of the erection of dams across creeks for grist mills, etc. Having been passed in an age when electricity was unknown, they were inadequate for such large undertakings.

The people of the Coosa Valley had theretofore concerned themselves chiefly with navigation. But they also began to show interest in water power development. In 1901 when Congress refused to appropriate the millions of dollars necessary to open the Coosa to navigation, the Chairman of the House Rivers and Harbors Committee said:

*"Get private capital to build high dams for water power, which will give you navigation. * * * Go back down and get yourself in shape for developing these water powers, and come up and we will take care of you. * * "

The friends of the Coosa and the Tallapoosa then set about to get themselves "in shape." They joined forces and asked the Legislature of 1903 to pass such laws as would enable them to erect dams across streams for the manufacture of electric power for sale to the public.

As a result the Legislature passed an act enlarging the mill dam statutes to include plants for the generation of electricity by water power and another act giving both domestic and foreign corporations the right to acquire lands necessary for the construction and operation of such plants.

Upon the passage of these laws, the promoters of the proposed Cherokee Bluffs dam endeavored to finance the project with local capital. Of their labors Mr. Henry C. Jones says: "The people of Alabama lacked confidence in our plan, despite our success with the Tallassee dam. Home capital was inadequate for so large an undertaking, and we couldn't interest capital outside the State. That is why development has been so difficult and so long delayed."

—Where the opportunity existed years ago for citizens of Alabama to develop Cherokee Bluffs water power, the same opportunity exists for them today. Work on this project is about to begin under a 50-year license from the Federal Power Commission and with the approval of Alabama Public Service Commission. Anyone may acquire an active interest in this development through the purchase of stocks or bonds of Alabama Power Company. Alabama Power Company is not a closed corporation. It will share its profits with anyone.

MOUNTAIN CREEK

To the Baptist Churches of the Unity and Chilton County Associations:

As the summer comes on, my mind turns to many things and I thought I would speak of a few of them if the congenial editor will give the space.

First is the protracted meeting season. Every church expects to have a revival and it is hoped that they will for there is a great need for revivals all over the county.

Second, is the "annual call" of pastors when practically every church will either make a change or recall the present pastors, and this system has many evils and I wish to speak of a few of them, and do not any one make a personal application for I am not speaking of persons, but conditions.

One evil of the annual call in the questionable methods by which some new pastors are secured, some helpers in protracted meetings have been known to go among the members and knock the pastor and at the same time solicit the church for themselves. Some members will even ask the visiting man if he would consider a call, knowing that the present pastor will be considered, and that new man will say "Yes, I will accept it you call me," when he knows the present pastor will get a strong vote and perhaps all the leading members will vote for him. Some members will invite another man to preach a trial sermon and he will accept even though they have a pastor and it has been known that the votes of two men have been combined in order to beat the third man and all because there is always present a few who want to change pastors every year, and this element seldom attends church except on "calling" day.

What the churches need to do is to get just as far from the annual call system as possible, organize a booster club and boost your pastor up, all co-operate in an effort to have the very best church and pastor possible, and a great deal more can be done by long time co-operation pastorates than by changing every year or two, just when the pastor is beginning to get a hold on the situation.

Bear in mind I am not talking of persons, but conditions all over the South. Neither am I soliciting, tho I am open for work under right conditions.

Yours for more efficient service,
W. A. GOSS.

BALL GAMES

Clanton has booked for the near future two ball games, which promise to be very interesting ones. There will be one game Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock with Elmore. The baseball fans of Clanton know what these players can do, so a good crowd should be out to help boost up the home players. On next Tuesday afternoon the visiting team will be from Autaugaville, which also will be a very exciting game. If you enjoy good ball games you can't afford to miss these ones.

A FAMILY GATHERING

On last Saturday the family of Mrs. Lizzie Williams gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Jones, it being the birthday of Mrs. Williams. Altho it was raining early Saturday morning, up in the day the sun began to shine, and it was an ideal day. Several neighbors were invited. Ice cream and lemonade was had throughout the day, and at the noon hour a table was made out under the trees, and what a dinner was spread, consisting of beef and chicken, cooked in various ways, vegetables of all kinds, pies, cakes and custards, and everything that is needed for a dinner. Music was enjoyed throughout the day, Mr. Weaver being there with his violin. The Victrola was played through the day also.

It had been several years since Mrs. Williams' family had all been together. While it was a most regrettable thing that one son, George, was unable to come.

The home-coming of all the children and grand-children must be a happy event to the mother who has toiled through years of her life to raise her boys and girls up to manhood and womanhood, and must say that she has not failed in her efforts, for she has raised a family of children whom any mother could be proud to call hers.

Late at evening when the sun was sinking in the west, the children and other guests turned their faces homeward, glad that another day had been spent with each other and mother. While it was a sad twang felt at parting, for none knew how many might be called to that home where they have a father and two brothers waiting. But then there will be no more hand-shaking and telling good bye.

The following children were present: Marlow and children, Grady and family, Luther, Ollie and children from Selma, Annie and husband, Beckie and family, Alpha and husband, Dalia and family whose home they met; Mrs. Alice Chambers and children, her first husband being Mrs. Williams' hon. The following neighbors were present: Mr. Dunlap and family, Bud Littlejohn and family, B. Foshee's family, Jack Sisk, wife and little girl, Mr. Weaver and family, George Foshee's family, Aunt Liza Foshee, Aunt Lula Carrol, Mrs. Scroggins and children, and several others, whom I can't think of. But every one had a good time, and wishes for Mrs. Williams the best of health, and may her troubles be as few as the Lord sees fit to assign to her.

HOW TO TREAT TOMATOES

Tomato growers who wish to destroy bugs or worms of any kind that are damaging the tomatoes are advised to spray with an arsenate of lead solution. A teaspoon well filled with arsenate of lead to each gallon of water ought to be strong enough. If this does not kill them a little more arsenate of lead should be used. Care should be taken not to use too strong a mixture as it would damage the plants. Arsenate of lead can be purchased at most drug stores. To aid tomatoes to resist attacks of disease, they should be sprayed with bordeaux mixture. This can be purchased at a drug store in dry form and used according to directions on package. If this spray is used arsenate of lead should be mixed with it at the rate of one-half pound to 12 1-2 gallons of the bordeaux spray. In preparing all powders for spraying they should be dissolved in a small quantity of water before mixing with full amount of water required. Any tomato grower who desires further information should see Mr. Dixon at the canning factroy.

SHELBY COUNTY FARMER IS FOUND SLAIN AND ROBBED

Negro, Charged With Crime, Arrested and Placed in Jail at Birmingham.

George Robinson, negro, charged with having waylaid and killed Will Murphy, 55 years old, prominent Columbiana, Ala., farmer, two miles west of Columbiana Saturday night, was arrested and brought to Birmingham Sunday by Sheriff J. J. Faulkner and Deputies C. J. Faulkner and G. M. Gardner of Shelby county because of high feeling in Columbiana.

Robinson denied the killing, but was identified, officers say, by one of Murphy's sons, with him when the tragedy occurred. The negro, placed in the Shelby county jail following his arrest, was smuggled out of Columbiana and transferred to the Jefferson county jail when feeling began to run high. He is said to have a police record.

Murphy had been to Columbiana Saturday to sell some produce and purchase supplies. When he did not return to his home, three miles from town, at the usual hour, his family became alarmed and started out to hunt for him. In a secluded spot on the road his body was found. The pockets of his clothing were turned out. One bullet had proved fatal, striking him in the left eye. A gold watch and $50 in money were taken from the body, it is said.

Murphy is survived by his widow and four children.

ALABAMA NEWS HAPPENINGS.

A Resume of the More Important Events of Interest Condensed To An Epitomized Form.

The finding of asphalt at so many different places in Morgan county is attracting unusual interest among those interested in the natural resources of the county. Sample of asphalt were exhibited in Decatur by C. M. Mitchell as found on the farm of McQuary brothers near Danville, a town in the western part of the county. The asphalt found by Mr. Mitchell was declared to be of excellent quality. The largest asphalt center in the county at the present time is believed to be near Hartselle, where a Kentucky asphalt company will erect an asphalt refining plant soon, officials of that company stated publicly some weeks ago.

According to officials of Attalla, that city found it necessary to purchase a cafe and put two detectives in charge as operators in order to round up alleged bootleggers, who were convicted and given labor sentences. It is said that police reported conditions so bad that the council felt it necessary to adopt novel and drastic methods. It is also stated that many of the bootleggers who were run out of Gadsden and Alabama City stopped in Attalla and have brought about a serious state of affairs.

The Union Water Company, a Jefferson county company, subsidiary to the Alabama Water Company, filed four petitions wih the Alabama public service commission in which it seeks to obtain certificates of convenience and necessity for construction of new water works system at Hartselle and Leeds, to increase its capital stock from $2,000 to $50,000 and to issue not to exceed $500,000 worth of 6 1-2 per cent 25-year gold bonds to be secured by a mortgage on the prospects of the company.

Suit for $5,000 damages was instituted against Keith Brothers Mercantile Company in Jefferson circuit court by Marion Whisenant, alleging that his son received permanent injuries while playing in front of the store of the defendants when he picked up a stick of dynamite Whisenant charges in his suit that the company operates a store on the Argo-Trussville highway and by their negligence his son last April picked up a stick of dynamite and, discharging it, had a part of his hand blown away.

An invitation has been extended to Gen. John J. Pershing to attend the barbecue of Montgomery Post American Legion to be held at Mitchell Dam, the latter part of July. A telegram has ben sent by Gen. R E. Steiner, Montgomery, commander of the Alabama department of the legion. General Pershing will visit Anniston and Birmingham the last week in July.

The following road contracts have been awarded by the State Highway Commission: Blount county from Oneonta to the Jefferson county line; Walker county from Jasper to the Marion county line; Etowah county, two and one-half miles of road on the Guntersville-Gadsden highway, and Perry county, from Marion to the Dallas county line.

Approximately 500 singers from Bibb, Pickens, Tuscaloosa and Fayette counties, including some from Birmingham and Meridian, were present at the session of the Tuscaloosa County Singing Association. The old Sacred Harp and Christian Harmony song books were used. A barbecue was served.

Judge J. T. Stokely, of Birmingham, former division counsel, has been appointed general solicitor of the Southern Railway system and has removed temporarily to Washington where he will reside for some time while acting in his new capacity.

Mrs. Ida Lowe is suing W. A. McClure, mine manager, of Gadsden, for $10,000, alleging personal injuries. She claims that she was knocked down and seriously hurt by Mr. McClure's automobile December 13, last.

The first of nine steel barges under construction for the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company, at the Alabama Drydock and Shipbuilding Company's plant at Pinto Island, will be launched within the next few days, it is said.

County Farm Demonstration Agent L. G. Wells has announced that July 28 has been set for the holding of Lee county day at the experiment station at Auburn. A special program will be carried out for the benefit of Lee county farmers.

Mr. J. C. Courtney of Bethsalem was in Clanton Monday attending the special session of county court.

QUICK ACTION IS SOUGHT FOR BILL ON ELECTION PLAN

Lobby Gossip Going on to Devise a Plan for Refusing to Pass Upper Branch Measures Until Instrument is Acted on.

Members of the house are mad already. They are looking askance at the senate and mutterings of the mailed fist directed at the chamber across the hall are already heard. It is all due to the proposal to elect county superintendents of education by the people.

It will be remembered the house passed the bill providing for the election of county superintendents by the people at its first session in February. The bill was passed after a bitter fight, but the victory of the measure was by an overwhelming majority. The bill was then sent to the senate where it was referred to the senate committee on education and there it remains.

Bloc Threatened

A discussion is going on among members of the house relative to a plan of the house to sit tight and refuse to pass a single bill until the senate committee on education reports out the house bill making superintendents elective by the people. It is expected, so well informed house members say, there will be a caucus of the house members after the administration's revenue machinery bill is passed to work out a plan of action against the senate.

The house members who were interviewed express the opinion the senate should act on the house bill providing that county superintendents be elected by the people. They say they want the senate members to go on record on this bill. They say if it is defeated in the senate, house members will then introduce local bills affecting their counties only and providing for the election of county superintendents in these counties. They say the senate would not care to defeat a local bill of this character even though it might defeat a general bill.

House members express themselves as believing the senate committee on education, unless pressed by the senate itself, will continue to withhold action on the house bill relative to county superintendents. It is said several members of the senate will insist that the committee make some sort of report, either adversely or favorably. If it is an adverse report, an effort will be made, it is said, to take the bill off the adverse calendar. This move, it is stated, would provide a test of strength in the senate and if the advocates of the present system win, house members would be free to introduce local bills relative to their own counties.

Not Taking Part

It is known that the administration is taking no hand in the fight relative to county superintendents. It is said to be the attitude of the administration that many members of both the house and senate were elected on platforms advocating the election of superintendents. It is felt by the administration, it is freely stated, that in view of this fact, the administration should leave the field clear for the battle and take no sides.

WEEVIL ATTACKS WORST IN YEARS

Entomologist Hines Forecasts Almost Complete Destruction of Late Cotton.

Auburn, Ala., July 11.—With what appears to be the heaviest boll weevil infestation since 1916 and rains falling very generally throughout the state, Dr. W. E. Hinds, Entomogolist for the Experiment station and Extension service, is strongly advising dusting cotton for boll weevil control this year.

In a statement regarding the situation Dr. Hinds calls attention to the weather and also present cotton prices, and adds: "There is a strong feeling among farmers that there is very little which they can do, which is a mistaken idea. It is not too late to save a good yield of cotton this year if we will only make up our minds that we are going to fight it out."

Destruction of Late Cotton

Dr. Hinds calls attention to the fact "That weather conditions to date have not been very destructive to boll weevils, and that the first generation has been emerging in South Alabama for fully two weeks."

"The present conditions," said Dr. Hinds, "point to almost complete destruction of late cotton, and there is more late cotton than usual this year."

The only reference made to sweetened poisons was that more recent tests confirm numerous previous experiments which revealed that weevils are not attracted by sweets. Dusting with calcium arsenate, made according to the government formula, and applied according to standard recommendations, is the only poison approved by Dr. Hinds.

First Poisoning Should be Early

The first application should be made as soon as 10 to 15 per cent of the squares are found to be punctured, and a second and third application should be made on the fifth and tenth days. Dusting is not advised except where conditions point to a yield of at least one-third of a bale per acre.

Where only low yields are promised it is advised that farmers gather and destroy infested squares by burying them to a depth of six inches or more.

Reference is made by Dr. Hinds to the fact that dusting has always paid best during the years of heaviest rains. It is strongly advised as a form of crop insurance and also as an investment.

JUDGE REYNOLDS GETS BLACKMAIL LETTER

Last Friday Judge L. H. Reynolds received through the Clanton post-office an anonymous letter addressed to him with the word "personal" marked across the corner of the envelope. Inside the envelope was a note which reads:—

"7 — — 23.

Dear Sir:—

"You better leave fifty dollars under waste basket in post office Sunday night at 8 o'clock, and leave as soon as you put it there, if you don't want me to tell everything. Be sure it's all cash too.

"What caused the court house to burn?"

After receiving this letter Judge Reynolds put the sheriff wise, so late Sunday afternoon Deputy Culp got inside the post office behind the petition. Promptly at 8 o'clock Judge Reynolds went in his car to the post office and placed under one of the waste baskets in the lobby of the post office an envelope containing some paper, and drove away. A few minutes after Judge Reynolds left Deputy Culp heard someone come into the post office and move the waste basket. Mr. Culp threw his flashlight on the party, whom he found to be Billy Smith. When the deputy threw the light on the boy he was just stooping to pick up the envelope which Judge Reynolds had placed under the basket. The deputy took charge of the boy and carried him to the home of the sheriff where the boy was questioned concerning the matter, all of which he denied knowing anything about. The deputy had Billy write some words and compared them with the handwriting of the anonymous letter, which it is said compared very strikingly. The boy was released and sent home to his mother.

Early the next morning Billy looked up Deputy Culp and confessed the whole thing to him and admitted that he wrote the letter. When asked why he wrote the letter Billy replied that he didn't know.

Billy Smith is about 14 years old and is the son of the late P. C. Smith. He is well known by everybody in Clanton, and has for the past several months been clerking in the Johnson Drug Company.

The letter above quoted is very similar to the many other such notes which have been sent Judge Reynolds during the past few years.

Child-birth

Here is a wonderful message to all expectant mothers!

When the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hariman, Scranton, Pa., says:

"With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used Mother's Friend and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes." Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., BA 46, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all drug stores—everywhere.

LIBERTY HILL

Health of this community is fairly good except Mr. Lum Wells, who is suffering with rheumatism.

Singing school began here Monday a.m., with Prof. Glover Smith teacher. The attendance is quite good, but hope to have more new pupils next week as some are not through fighting grass, yet others are taking state examination, who will attend.

Miss Olene Mims of Thorsby is spending a few days with her father, Mr. Jonah Mims this week.

The Misses Fay and Blanch Ray of near Billingsley are spending a few days with their grandmother, Mrs. C. D. Messer.

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Ward, Mrs. Callie Culp and daughter, Senara were the dinner guests of Mrs. Bessie Giles Sunday.

Sunday school was well attended Sunday a.m.

The afternoon singing was fairly well. Had several visitors, and we invite them to come again. A number of quartets were sung and a duet by Messrs. Frank and Orvil Mastin.

Mr. J. Morton Gibbons of Akron, Ohio, who visited his mother-in-lwa, Mrs. B. H. Vickers, returned to his home last Thursday night.

Mr. Will Morris' family attended services at Mulberry Church Sunday.

Misses Francis Lowery and Minnie Taylor were the guests of Miss Media Sanson Sunday.

Miss Verbie D. Williams visited her aunt, Mrs. W. M. Vance of Clanton Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Duke motored to Elmore on business Monday night, reporting bad roads and dangerous bridges in some parts.

Miss Delene Maddox visited Miss Eula Giles Sunday.

Lamurle Littlejohn was the dinner guest of Birdie Bridges Sunday.

Rev. W. M. Olive and family were the guests of Mrs. Olive's aunt, Mrs. Emma Foshee this week.

Miss Zula Littlejohn and Girtie Giles visited Miss Manila Littlejohn Monday.

Revival services will soon be coming and we hope to see better times all around.

STUDEBAKER'S SALES FOR FIRST HALF OF YEAR 81,880 CARS

New Record Established for Six Months Period Ending June 30—Big Plants Continue at Their Capacity.

Word has just been received by Polk Bros., local Studebaker dealers, of the new record established by The Studebaker Corporation of America for the first six months of 1923, when a total of 81,880 Studebaker cars—all Sixes—were sold.

All Studebaker plants continue at capacity operations and the present output of 15,000 cars per month is insufficient to meet the persistent demand for more Studebakers from every section of the country, which is as great—or greater—than at any time this year.

It is well known that right from the first of the year Studebaker has experienced a demand that has continuously been far in excess of production, although the plant capacity was substantially increased during the spring when a number of new factory units at South Bend and Detroit, on which construction was started late last year, were completed and equipped for production.

While Studebaker sales for the past six years have increased progressively each year, the newest record can be better appreciated by comparisons. The sale of 81,880 cars in the first six months of 1923 shows an increase of 36 per cent over the best previous six months' business in Studebaker history—that of 1922—when a total of 60,053 cars were sold.

Compared with sales for the entire year of 1918, the half-year record of 1923 shows an increase of 243 per cent. It is 108 per cent greater than sales for the full twelve months of 1919. It exceeds the sales of the full year 1920 by 59 per cent and is 23 per cent greater than the sales for the complete year of 1921.

"Studebaker's accomplishment becomes even more significant," according to Mr. Polk, when it is realized that being a large producer, Studebaker is strictly a builder of high quality cars which range in price from $975 to $2750, and in capacity from two to seven passengers, and that Studebaker manufactures Sixes exclusively. To us it means that the public wants quality and wants Sixes in ever-increasing numbers. And by providing us with three distinct models, Studebaker has enabled us to fit the buyer with the car he needs just as the shoe salesman fits the shoe to the foot, instead of trying to adapt the car to the buyer. There are a number of other reasons why Studebaker has been able to achieve new records year after year. These include:

1—Seventy-one years' experience in the manufacture of high grade vehicles.

2.—Continuation of the founder's policies of honest value and integrity.

3.—Manufacture of vital parts in own plants, saving the middlemen's profits and insuring the quality.

4.—Quantity production methods in which the first and final consideration is quality.

5.—The name "Studebaker" which is a household word throughout the world.

6.—Organization of able, experienced workers.

7.—$90,000,000 of actual net assets including $45,000,000 of plant facilities."

STATE NEWS HAPPENINGS

Announcement is made that the organiation of Lee county's latest corporation has been perfected, known as the Piedmont Lumber Company, with a capitalization of $100,000. The officers are: Charles H. Haynes, Cliffside, N. C., president; J. A. Cook, Opelika, vice-president; O. B. Ingram, Auburn, secretary, and W. L. Long, Auburn, treasurer. The new company has taken over the property of C. Y. Young Lumber Company of Auburn and will enlarge the plant with new machinery.

Literally sawing their way into the city jail at Haleyville, thieves made away with some five or six gallons of Alabama corn liquor which had been stored in the jail. Bars over the window were sawed and one of the three men thought to have taken part crawled through and pilfered the moonshine. A man named Todd was the only occupant of the jail at the time. He was offered his liberty but refused and notified officers of the robbery.

In Muscle Shoals City, recently incorporated, and which is located adjacent to nitrate plant No. 2, there are four sub-divisions now being developed. Contracts have been let for 6 miles of improved streets, 11 miles of sidewalk, 7 miles of water mains, 3,000 shade trees, 40 street corner fire plugs, shrubbery, etc. The amount of money involved in this contract is approximately $68,000, in addition to the $50,000 being expended on another subdivision.

After Mrs. Cebe Weathers of Walker County, it is charged, had drawn a shotgun on officers who entered her premises in search of liquor, her whole family, including her husband, were apprehended by Deputy Sheriffs W. L. Head and Harvey Davidson, they were taken to Jasper and the father and mother were lodged in jail. The children were taken in custody because there was no one to care for them. No charge was made against them.

Validity of the law enacted by the legislature of 1921 providing for libel suits against non-incorporated societies will be tested upon a motion filed in Montgomery circuit court. The suit is in the case of W. W. Spruell of Selma, asking $50,000 upon the claim that he was expelled from the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. Spruell was expelled upon the charge of being a strikebreaker.

Mrs. Lou McKay, 69, wife of J. H. McCay, one of the best known planters of Coosa county, was burned to death in her home while attempting to start a fire to prepare the noon meal. Mrs. McKay, a semi-invalid, was found dead in her chair as a result of burns sustained when her clothing was consumed. The husband discovered the body when he went to his home to aid in cooking the noon meal.

After three years of agitation, work has been started on the new Jackson County High school building at Scottsboro, with W. P. O'Neal, contractor, in charge. Parts of the old building are being torn away, parts are being repaired, while new class rooms and home economics laboratories are being built. The old auditorium is undergoing a change, with the addition of new seats and a new stage.

The Twin Cities of Albany and Decatur, Alabama, will be united as a single municipality after a decade of enmity by the terms of a bill being drawn for introduction into the Alabama legislature and which will in all likelihood pass. The measure, it is understood, will create one city which wil be called Decatur, the older of the two municipalities, until the people can vote on a name.

Hale county is up in fighting clothes at the failure of the highway commission to start a federal aid project in the county. It is one of three counties in the state where no road projects have been started, it is said, and the Civitan Club of Greensboro has directed a telegram to President John A. Rogers of the commission, protesting at the delay in getting work under way in Hale.

Alabama coal production for the first half of the year is the greatest in five years. The half year's production exceeds that of 1922 by 17 per cent and that of 1921 by 52 per cent. The production of coal for the first half of 1923 has been 9,737,000 tons. This compares with 8,370,000 tons in the same period of 1922, an increase for this year of 1,367,000 tons, or 17 per cent.

James Shelton, chief Mobile county convict warden, charged in an inferior criminal court warrant with beating Herbert Toland, alias "County George," a convict, surrendered at the county jail and made bond for his appearance in court.

Births in Tuscaloosa county during the month of June numbered 117 as against 47 deaths, according to the monthly report made by Dr. A. A. Kirk of the city health department.

Gilbreath Brothers, cotton dealers of Guntersville, are having plans drawn for a cotton warehouse 68x128 feet in dimensions to cost $12,000. D. A. Dickey of Huntsville is preparing the plans.

The Morgan county branch of the American Legion has cleared away all its indebtedness, according to a statement of its officials, and now proposes to buy a tract of land near the Twin Cities and build a clubhouse for the use of the legion members and their friends.

Gentlemen:—

Thought you might be interested in what I think of the GRAY which I bought from you on March 7th.

I am salesman, covering some of the worst roads in the state. Have been using the Gray daily since purchased, and I find it to be the most satisfactory car that I have ever used.

I have gotten 34 miles per gallon gasoline on test. As to performance, there doesn't seem to be any set of conditions or roads which the Gray cannot master. I have never been stuck with it yet.

I can strongly recommend the Gray to anyone who wishes to buy a light, strong, durable, economical quality car. With best wishes, I am,

Yours very truly,

THE ALABAMA LEGISLATURE

(By W. M. WYATT,
Representative From Chilton County).

I shall have to ask my readers this week to pardon me for any shortcomings which you may find in this department. My attention has been necessarily diverted from my duties in the Legislature, owing to the death of my mother on last Friday morning. The fact that I was thereby prevented from attending the Friday session of the body has somewhat disconnected me with the order of proceedings. However, I shall do the best I can under the burden of sorrow that has borne down upon me with great weight.

The law-makers did not do very much last week. Only two short sessions were held, one on Tuesday and one on Friday. As stated above I was unable to attend the Friday session. There were a number of loose stitches that had to be picked up making complete the thread of connection between the last winter session and the present one. This had to be accomplished last week by committee meetings and various procedures outside the house and senate sessions. But the machinery has now been fairly well oiled and this week will likely see the solons getting down to some real action.

Aside from some two or three big matters in which the people of the state are vitally interested, there are piles and piles of minor matters of every known description and variety that await the action of the house and senate. We may predict with safety that some of these things will be accepted and made into laws, and some of them will be cast into outer darkness.

Probably the two biggest things which will be dealt with are the convict lease question and the bill providing for the election of County Superintendents of Education by vote of the people. Next in importance we might place the various bills that have been advocated and sponsored by the weekly press of the State. Then of course the general revenue bill of the state will be up for consideration. The latter will necessarily involve many questions that are close to the hearts (and pocketbooks) of the citizenship of our state.

Two matters of interest which are included in the Revenue bill are the provisions outlining the tax machinery to take the place of the tax adjusters, and the arrangement for the collection of taxes, which proposes to abolish the office of tax collector after October 1st, 1927, and place the collection of taxes in the hands of the sheriffs of the counties under 35,000 population.

Two bills affecting the jury system of the state were introduced last Tuesday. One of these proposes the anolishment of the jury commission in all counties, and substituting for it a commission composed of the Probate Judge, Circuit Clerk and Sheriff. The other bill was of a local nature, affecting juries in the three large cities of the state, Birmingham, Mobile and Montgomery.

Double salaried officials in Alabama will be cut out if the sentiment that is abroad in the land can be collected and passed in the form of a state law. A bill to this effect has been introduced in the senate. A similar bill was introduced in the house last winter, and is still in the hands of the committee to which it was referred. It will be recalled that this double salary business is one thing that has been receiving much attention from the country newspapers all over the state, and it is very likely that these papers have been able to create enough sentiment to pass the bill in some form.

A bill has been introduced which will reduce the State Highway Commission from twelve members to three members. It also provides other regulations for the commission which are not found in the present highway act. Under the proposed bill, the three members will be required to give their entire time to the work of the highway business. I have not learned yet what compensation is proposed to pay them for their services.

A little bit of a flury was created in the Capitol last Tuesday when a bill was introduced making it compulsory on jury commissioners to include the names of women in the jury boxes of the counties of the state. However, the bill was promptly adversed by the committee to which it was referred. It is not yet known whether the fight will be renewed by advocates of the measure.

Some other important bills which have been adversed by the committees are the bill abolishing pool rooms in Alabama, and two bills abolishing the jury commission.

It is said that Governor Brandon has abandoned the proposition of a per capita tax for school purposes, and will advocate in its stead a straight out property tax of four mills. The division of the fund provided in such a tax, it is stated, will be diverted upon the basis of one and one-half per cent for the colleges and two and one-half per cent for the common schools.

Another interesting matter in regard to education which is being considered is some plan to equalize the appropriation of school money in the state so that every white child is every county will receive the same amount. It is known that for years past the white children in some of the south Alabama counties have been receiving as high as $34 each of public school money, while at the same time in some of the mountain sections of north Alabama each white child received as low as $4. This is a most ridiculous situation as has been printed out on many occasions, and it is hoped that the powers that be in Alabama have become so thoroughly ashamed of it that they will submit to some change or arrangement that will set these discrepancies right.

The weekly newspapers of the state have renewed their fight for certain bills, one of which provides that newspapers may exchange advertising space with railroads for mileage books. This is termed the newspaper pass bill by enemies of the measure. But it is in no sense a pass bill, as provides that the newspaper and the railroad shall each render the other value received in the transaction. The other bills asking for publicity laws have been receiving the support of the country newspapers and they will likewise have splendid support in the legislature.

There are a number of other things which I would like to mention and discuss, but as stated in the outset, I am somewhat disconnected with the proceedings of the last week. But I shall be with them from now on unless unavoidably hindered, and I hope each week to provide my readers with a clear, concise, and intelligent discussion of the many matters of importance.

THE CIRCLE

During the first four months of the current year we produced 128,513,000 pairs of boots and shoes compared with 105,873,000 for the corresponding period of 1922, an increase of 22 per cent. Humming industries—more jobs—better pay—higher purchasing power—greater demand for shoes and clothes and food—humming industries, which impart their loveliness to the products of the farms. Wheels within wheels and all revolving within the economic circle.

CONVICT EARNINGS FOR WELFARE WORK FOSTERS PROPOSAL

Net earnings of the convict lease system are to be used for the care and education of destitute, delinquent children or in child welfare work, according to the provisions of a bill introduced Tuesday by Senator Foster of Tuscaloosa.

The bill, introduced by the accredited administration floor leader of the senate, was taken as an administration measure in legislative circles, and was received with considerable interest, in view of the present fight to abolish the convict system in Alabama.

Governor Brandon is said to favor the bill of Senator Foster's.

The gasoline excise fight which featured the closing days of the short term of the legislature, may be reopened as a result of a bill introduced in the senate Tuesday by Senator Griffith of Cullman, amending the gasoline excise tax law.

The principal provisions of Senator Griffith's bill provide for the elimination of the state's half of the proceeds of the tax. This money would then be returned to the counties of Alabama, the 67 counties receiving equal share of the entire amount.

Originally, the gasoline tax fight, centered around a movement in the house of representatives, which sought to divide the tax equally among the counties of the state. The bill in that form was passed by the lower house, but when it reached the senate was finally amended, on request of the administration, to the extent that half the money would be turned over to the general found of the state and of the remainding half, each county would receive an equal share for road building purposes.

A conference committee was finally appointed, after the house had at first refused to accept the senate's revision, and the bill was passed along the lines of the senate's amendment.

The entire proceeds of the tax, under Senator Griffith's bill, will be used for road building purposes.

Alleged extravagance in employing unnecessary clerks and other attaches will be the subject of a legislative investigation, it was indicated Tuesday when the senate passed a joint resolution intrdouced by Senator Duncan of Limestone, calling for the formation of a committee to investigate the expenses of the legislature.

In introducing the measure, Senator Duncan declared it was his opinion there were too many easy jobs which could be well dispensed with. He also declared he had felt embarassed often during the recess when friends had frequently raised the question of extravagance.

The measure was introduced during the morning session and was favorably reported in the afternoon by the senate rules committee.

Following its passage, the senate adjourned at 3:15 o'clock Tuesday afternoon after a 15 minute session. The body will reconvene Friday morning at 10 o'clock.

WOMEN WILL MAKE FIGHT FOR RIGHT TO SIT ON JURIES IN PRESENT LEGISLATURE

Bills carrying reforms and amendments to existing laws affecting the right and privileges of women are being prepared and will be presented during the next few days of the present legislature by representatives of the National Woman's party.

Miss Mary C. Pittman is directing the legislative campaign and has been at the capitol since Tuesday meeting the senators and representatives and arranging for the opening of the fight which promises to be one of the most interesting of the season.

Headquarters have been opened in the old Fourth National bank building and extensive program outlined for the campaign. Miss Pittman, who came here from Washington but who is a native of Alabama, is being supported by a local committee.

Among the laws which it is sought to amend is one to give equal rights to women with men to sit on juries.

The following statement on this matter was given out by the committee Wednesday:

"The National Woman's party stands by its adopted principle, "that women shall no longer be deprived of the right of trial by a jury of their peers," and insists that peers means women as well as men. Making jury service optional on the part of women might easily result in the continuation of the sad spectacle of an accused girl or woman, regardless of the charge, being judged by a panel of male jurors only.

Position of Lawyers.

"Alabama lawyers express themselves freely as favoring jury service for women, but deplore the offensive language, often used by witnesses in criminal court proceedings. Many times lawyers long for just one woman in the box.

"Decisions in all cases will be more even-handed when rendered by mixed juries. The bugaboo of a hung jury is dispelled absolutely by means of a small job of carpentry. And the disgrace of offensively expressed testimony in any courtroom will be removed by that wise provision of the criminal court which protects women from the use in their presence of offensive language.

Indecent Language Forbidden.

"Section 6217 provides that any person who, in presence or hearing of any girl, or woman, uses abusive, insulting or obscene language, must on conviction be fined not more than two hundred dollars, and may also be imprisoned in the county jail or sentenced to hard labor for the county for not more than six months."

"Enforcement of this section of the law will be mandatory in every court. And again the presence of women will insure to all court proceedings the decency and the dignity that should prevail.

"We women believe that section 6217 of the criminal code should well be amended to protect boys and men also, from language which they can have no desire to hear," said Mrs. Hill, "but since the party is specializing in equal rights for women we must leave the passage of such an amendment to some other organization."

You Couldn't Sell All Your Crop To Your Neighbors

A man makes his money by trading with somebody else. If he is on an island by himself, he is neither rich nor poor. A farmer makes his money by producing from the soil crops that somebody else wants. In any farming community, a few farmers could produce enough to take care of all the wants of the people living there. They sell what is left over to the outside world.

Railroads Are Necessary

In order to sell grain, produce, cattle, fruit, etc., you have to haul them to a market. The railroads offer an almost world-wide market. If your grain will not bring you the right price in Chicago, you can ship it to new Orleans and export it to a foreign market.

Railroads are necessary to help you get your crops from where they are produced to where they are wanted. Do nothing to cripple the railroads—you'd also be hurting your neighbors and yourself.

Mass Meeting at Court House Next Saturday, at 10 O'clock

Every Citizen of the County, Regardless of Politics, Has An Invitation to Come and Express His Views on the Court Bills.

We again wish to remind the tax payers of the importance of their attending the mass meeting at the court house in Clanton next Saturday. The object of this meeting, as was announced last week is to discuss the proposition of abolishing our County Court and our Court of County Commissioners, as advocated by a few Democrats over the county. The importance of this matter should not be overlooked, because such action will materially affect every citizen and tax payer in every nook and corner of Chilton county.

You no doubt, remember what a few Democratic bosses did for us when E. B. Deason was probate judge of this county. They put this county so far in debt that we will not see out in several decades, even if the county affairs are very carefully managed. And if we let them shove us in another time or two, we will be gone forever so far as financial standing is concerned. They make an effort to show that money will be saved by such changes, but anybody with an ounce of common sense and judgment can see that the expenses of the county will be greatly increased.

But don't listen to what the other fellow says about it, but come to the court house Saturday and hear both sides of the question discussed. There will be able speakers to handle both sides of the proposition. After you have heard both sides thoroughly explained, then make up your mind about it.

Some are advancing the argument that these mass meetings are no good, but the trouble with them is that they can't bear for the truth to be told on them. There have always been mass meetings in Chilton county for discussing the issues of the day, and they have always proved successful and of great benefit to the common people. And it will do it this time. So let us have a good attendance.

Ladies Will Furnish Dinner

The Methodist Ladies' Aid will have prepared lunches which they will furnish all who may be here Saturday and who want to buy their dinner. Ice cream and lemonade will be served all day. The proceeds derived will go to the new Methodist church fund.

ARRESTED FOR MURDER

Robert Harris, a negro from near Stanton, was brought to Clanton and placed in jail last Thursday, charged with murdering another negro, Jack Snead. Robert Harris, it is reported, was deputized by Justice of the Peace J. A. Sample to go and arrest Snead for assaulting another negro. Harris reports that Snead threw a gun on him when he attempted to arrest him, whereupon Harris shot him. Snead was carried to an infirmary in Selma where he later died. Harris was brought to jail under the charge of murder. The preliminary trial will be held Thursday of this week.

MRS. J. M. RAMSEY DIES

Wife of Plantersville Lumberman Succumbs at Selma.

Selma, Ala., July 22.—Mrs. J. M. Ramsey of Plantersville died at an early hour Sunday morning at a Selma hospital after a serious illness. Death came at 4 o'clock. The remains were shipped to Plantersville Sunday morning, accompanied by relatives who had been in Selma with her and her husband, J. M. Ramsey, a well known lumberman who is also ill at a hospital, and was prevented from attending the last sad rites for Mrs. Ramsey.

Funeral services were held for the deceased Monday afternoon at Maplesville and interment made in the family burying ground of the community, at 3 o'clock.

BUSINESS CHANGES HANDS

The Variety Store, which was organized several months ago by Mr. Maurice Lande, has been sold to Mr. Van Smith of Clanton. Mr. Smith has already taken charge of the store and will run it in the future. Van is a young promising business man whom everybody likes, and we are sure that he will make a grand success at his new business.

MARY ELLEN BEADLESCOMB

Mary Ellen Beadlescomb, sister of Mrs. Sallie Walker, died at her home in Clanton Monday. She was buried in the Clanton Cemetery on Tuesday. Martin had charge of the body.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Robinson of Providence went up to Birmingham Friday to visit relatives for a few days. They returned Sunday afternoon.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC MEETING

In view of certain Local Bills which are proposed to be introduced in the present session of the Legislature of Alabama in which all the citizens of the county are vitally interested, a public meeting of the citizens of the county, regardless of political faith, is hereby called to meet at the Court House in Clanton, Alabama, on Saturday, the 28th day of July, 1923, at 10 a.m., for the purpose of considering said bills and taking such action as the citizens deem best for the welfare of the county.

BIG HOG CROP IS AFFECTING MARKET

Surplus Corn Crops Wiped Out by Big Hog Crop.

Auburn, Ala., July 22.—The old question of supply and demand is now having its influence on the hog market. Many inquiries are being made by Alabama farmers as to the reasons for the present status of hog selling, and the Department of Agriculture largely answers these inquiries by a report that the 1922 spring pig crop, the marketing of which has just been completed, was 30 per cent above the 1921 crop and 60 per cent above the pre-war average.

Continuing, the report states that "a special government hog report made in June indicates that the 1923 pig crop is fully as large as the crop of 1922, and that there are prospects of continued heavy hog production well into the summer of 1924."

It is reported further that these large hog crops have wiped out the unusual corn surpluses resulting from the three large crops of 1920-1921-1922, and that unless there be a marked improvement in the 1923 corn crop a corn shortage may be developed by the summer of 1924.

In addition to the above, the Department of Agriculture says that due to more favorable crop conditions the European food production is somewhat larger this year than last, and that, on the other hand, Europe's purchasing power this year is likely to be somewhat smaller than it was last year.

MACK HENLEY CAUGHT

Sheriff Littlejohn and Deputy Will Hayes arrested Mack Henley, white man of Oakmulgee at Thompson's saw mill, Saturday. The officers met Henley on the road near the home with some whiskey in his pocket. They took charge of him and went on to his home. Upon investigation, they found a whiskey still on the premises together with a quantity of beer. Henley was arrested under the double charge of violating the prohibition laws, also having still in possession. He was brought to jail but made bond.

OLD LADY DEAD

Old Grandma Knox died at her home near Mountain Springs Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock. She was 93 years old and the mother of oJhn Knox of the Mt. Springs community. The remains were buried at Mt. Springs Cemetery Wednesday, Sev. A. C. Wells officiating. The husband of the old lady died several years ago.

PROTRACTED SERVICES AT FRIENDSHIP

The regular annual protracted meeting will begin at Friendship Baptist Church next Sunday, July 29th. It is not definitely known as yet who will help the pastor, Rev. Norris, or whether anyone will help him, but an effort is being made to get the services of someone. Rev. Buford Lawrence and Rev. Dykes have both been mentioned, but we are not prepared to state definitely whether either of these preachers will be present. However, the meeting will be held, whether Rev. Norris has any assistance or not.

DEFEAT GENERAL SUPERINTENDENTS BILL IS FORECAST

Local Coffee County Measure Passes Senate But Opposition to State Bill Seems to Predominate.

Defeat of the general bil lto elect county superintendents of education by popular vote, now on the adverse calendar of the senate, and on which a fight will be waged on the twenty-fifth legislative day, was foreshadowed Tuesday afternoon, when a local bill, to make the office of county superintendent in Coffee county an elective one, was passed, after a majority of the members of the upper house had expressed themselves against a general superintendent's bill.

The Coffee county bill, which was piloted through the senate by Senator Hudgens of Crenshaw, passed the upper house with but two dissenting votes.

However, its introduction brought forth the only semblance of a debate, of the afternoon, during which the sentiment of the upper house was expressed. Senator Hudgens was the first to speak on the local bill. Ae declared he had made a promise to the voters of his district in favor of the popular election system, and that he also believed it was for the best interest of the school children.

Senator Inzer Speaks

Senator Inzer, Etowah, chairman of the senate committe on education, and considered the leader in the fight against the election of superintendents, succeeded him. He stated that through senatorial courtesy he would vote for the passage of the Coffee county measure, but would strongly oppose the general superintendent's bill.

Senator Tverton, who expressed himself in favor of the general election of county superintendents, declared that he believed the majority of people in Alabama wanted the change and that he intended to lead the fight for its removal from the adverse calendar. The Randolph senator was the only member of the senate who spoke in favor of the general measure.

Against General Bill

He was followed by a large number of senators who took a stand against the general bill. Among the strongest opponents of the state-wide bill were Senators Oliver, Adams, Ellis, Horton, McNeil and Jones, of Barbour. All stated that while they did not desire to dictate to any county or district in which the majority of people wanted to elect their superintendent, they were opposed to these same counties attempting to dictate to the state at large. Each said that they would oppose any such attempt and would vote against the Henley bill, now on the adverse calendar of the senate.

CLANTON vs. AUTAUGAVILLE

A very interesting game of baseball was played in Clanton Tuesday afternoon between the home team and Autaugaville. The entire game was very hotly contested, but the final score resulted in 15 to 3 in favor of Clanton. Albert Pyron pitched for Clanton, and did some work. Jack Hayes played short stop for Clanton, and displayed rare skill in his playing.

REVIVAL HELD AT THORSBY

The Baptist church at Thorsby has just closed the most successful revival meeting in the history of the church.

Rev. Theo. Harris of Ensley, Ala., evangelist, assisted by Rev. Frank Atkins, singer and choir leader, conducted the services. Thirty-one members were added t othe church—eleven by Baptism and twenty by letter.

An expression of the people's appreciation of the great work done during the two weeks was given by a free-will offering which amounted to $206.00.

This church has made conspicuous progress for the past twelve months under Samuel L. Heath, pastor. While it has only been a quarter time church up to this time, it has now been voted to have two preaching services a month and keep a pastor on the field.

PRESIDENT LEAVES ALASKA FOR HOME

Regret Expressed as Henderson Sails —Territory Experts Benefit From Visit.

Sitka, Alaska, July 22.—President Harding concluded his visit to Alaska here today, exactly two weeks from the day he first stepped on the soil of the territory and tonight the marine transport Henderson, carrying the presidential party, steamed out of the harbor bound for Vancouver, B. C., and Seattle.

The chief executive and Mrs. Harding expressed a deep feeling of regret as they said farewell to the citizens of this little town, where occurred the ceremony which transferred the territory from Russian to American rule, and, through these citizens, boodbye to Alaska.

The two weeks spent in Alaska have given the president and his advisers accompanying him a new vision of Alaska, as he has said, a new determination to do all in his power to bring this vast territory to its fullest development.

Great as was the regret of Mr. Harding and the other members of his party at leaving the territory where they have been welcomed so cordially, such feeling obviously was shared to the fulelst degree by the people of Alaska.

Whatever the government may do to aid Alaska in the future as a result of the president's visit, the people declare much already has been done, because for two weeks more attention has been directed toward the territory than at any time since it was purchased by the United States in 1867.

The residents further believe Mr. Harding's visit has served to enlighten the people of the states regarding Alaskan resources and to dispel the old ideas derived from the early designation of the territory as an "ice box."

The president, during his two weeks stay, visited 11 towns and several more little settlements, made three trips into the interior and sailed along more than a thousand miles of the territory's coast line.

NEGRO BROKE IN HOME

Last Satuday night about 11 o'clock a negro broke into the house of Walter Martin just above town on the highway. Mr. Martin and his wife were both in bed asleep when Mrs. Martin awoke finding a negro standing beside the bed pulling at the cover. Mrs. Martin of course screamed, and woke her husband. Mr. Martin went into the other room to get his gun and by that time the negro had escaped from the house. Mr. Martin shot a time or two in the direction in which he thought the negro went.

The sheriff was summoned, but no definite trace could be made until daylight. A pair of shoes, it is stated, was found nearby, and by comparing the tracks around the house and through the field, strong evidence was placed against E. R. (Alex) Peterson, a negro who lives about a half mile from Mr. Martin. Peterson was arrested Sunday morning and placed in jail to await trial. The evidence, all circumstantial however, is very strong against Peterson.

Rev. E. W. Butler of Thorsby, a teacher in the Thorsby Institute, was in Clanton Friday attending to business matters. He came to the Union-Banner office to get an order of printing done for the Institute.

The Union-Banner Cash Prize Contest

The hundreds of people who do their trading in Clanton will do well to read every word on the page about our big prize contest, which begins today and lasts for thirteen weeks. The rules explaining the contest will be found on that page of the paper, and are so simple that anyone can understand them. It is just simply a chance whereby you can pick up $25 or maybe $50 with very little effort on your part. All you have to do is to do your trading with the merchants who give away coupons with all their sales, and save your coupons until the close of the contest. You may get as many to help you save coupons as you wish, but what you want to do is get an even start and work like fury to get the first prize. It will be worth your working for.

Before you go any further, turn to the page in the paper and read every word on it, so that you may see the rules of the whole thing and so that you may know what merchants are giving coupons. Every merchant whose advertisement appears on that page is giving coupons with every cash purchase. So, when you make a purchase there, don't fail to ask them for trade coupons.

As laid out in the rules of the contest, The Union-Banner is going to make the game doubly interesting by doubling the prizes to every winner who any time during the thirteen weeks brings us in as many as ten new subscribers to the paper. These subscriptions need not all be brought in at one time, but the whole amount of ten will have to be brought in before the contest closes, if you expect to qualify your chance for a double prize. By this means, the first prize will be $50 instead of $25, and all the rest of the prizes will be doubled also.

The Union-Banner wishes to state that this paper is strictly behind this contest, and no one need fear that it will be carried out strictly according to order. This paper has had on several contests before, and we have not fallen down on anyone of them.

So, the big game now is to trade with the merchants giving away coupons, and save every single one you can get your hands on. Read carefully the rules which will be published every week, and be sure to follow them. Read the advertisements every week, because these merchants will have something interesting to tell you every week about what they have to sell and about the way to win the prizes.

CAUGHT WITH THE GOODS

Shortly after noon Tuesday State Law Enforcement Officers Gillespie, Smith and Trainmen from Montgomery brought to the Chilton county jail two men, George Adams and Jim Adams, whom they arrested at their home in Coosa county near Quincey Tuesday morning. Seven gallons of whiskey were found in the Adams home. The above named men attempted to destroy the whiskey before the officers got in charge of them, but failed.

These are the sons of former Deputy Sheriff Sam Adams of Coosa county. They will be carried to Montgomery where they will face State and Federal courts for violating the prohibition laws.

UNDER GOVERNMENT CONTROL

FOOD PRICES AND EXPORT DEMAND

Washington, July 24.—In the midst of embarrassments under which some of the farmers of the country are laboring, there have been recent efforts to clear up some misunderstandings concerning the relation of agricultural prdoucts and values to our foreign trade. Unfortunately the task has been considerably confused by the effort to make political capital out of the situation. For instance, the Democrats have repeatedly charged that the depression in the wheat market has been due to the refusal of the United States to join the League of Nations which refusal, it is asserted, has injured our foreign trade and diminished buying of American products by Europeans.

Such a statement is not borne out by the facts of record. Our foreign trade as a whole and our exoprts of agricultural products in particular, are on the average far higher than they were during the ten-year period prior to the war. The facts in this regard were set forth recently by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace who said, among other things:

"Take our eight principal food crops: Corn, wheat, oats, barley, rye, buckwheat, rice and potatoes. The average annual exports of these eight crops for the years 1920 to 1922, inclusive, were 142 per cent greater than the average annual exports of these same crops for the years 1905 to 1914, inclusive. During the past three years our corn exports were 82 per cent greater than in the pre-war years named; our wheat exports, 140 per cent greater; our oats exports, 27 per cent greater; barley, 116 per cent greater; rye, 2,600 per cent greater; buckwheat, 114 per cent greater; rice, 2,212 per cent greater; potatoes, 125 per cent greater. The total volume of exports of these crops, measured in bushels, was even greater by 18 per cent during the post-war years, 1920 to 1922, inclusive, than during what we may call the war years, 1915 to 1919, inclusive.

"In the case of animal food products our average annual exports during the pre-war years, 1905 to 1914, inclusive, amounted to 921,000 tons. During the war years, 1915 to 1919, inclusive, our exports more than doubled, being an average of 2,023,000 tons. During the post-war years, 1920 to 1922, inlusive, our exports amounted to 1,401,000 tons, an increase of 52 per cent over the pre-war period. From these statistics it ought to be perfectly clear that low prices for farm products were not caused by lack of export demand."

The suggestion has been made that farmers who are now producing crops for which they do not fin da ready market should turn to certain crops which are not produced in the United States in sufficient quantities to supply the home demand but which we import in considerable quantity from other countries. An inspection of recent reports of our foreign commerce shows among other things, the following commodities imported: Wool to the value of $164,000,000; tobacco, $67,000,000; linseed oil and soy bean oil, $4,000,000; grapefruit and lemons, $2,400,000; nuts, many of which could be produced in the United States, $21,000,000; cattle, calf, sheep and goat skins, $113,000,000; cheese, $14,000,000; food animals, $6,000,000. These figures cover only ten months of the present fiscal year as trade statistics have been compiled only to the end of April.

GUARD THE TONGUE:—Keep thy tongue from evil, and thy lips from speaking guile. Depart from evil, and do good; seek peace, and pursue it.—Psalm 34: 13, 14.

VISIONS

(By S. E. Norton)

In the study of Physiology, at school or elsewhere, in the days of our fouth we are told that there are five senses common to normal humanitf, they are feeling, seeing, hearing, tasting, smelling. In these days it is pretty generally conceded that all these faculties are manifest in nearly all animal life.

Humanity is blessed with a sixth sense which in a great measure manifests the difference between human beings and mere animals. This sense is sometimes called vision and more often thinking; and is clearly shown in the power of humanity to visualize the unseen and create it into visible form.

Thomas A. Edison, one of the world's greatest inventors, says, 'The reason so many people never amount to anything is because they do not THINK," meaning they do not have a purpose in their thinking. One can form some idea of the tenacity of purpose in the thinking of this man when he tells us that the average time required to work out and perfect his many inventions has been for each seven years.

"Where there is no vision the people perish." No forward movement in art, science or community life is developed until some one or more has a vision that enables them to see the new way as if it were already in existence, and then work to get it into such form that others can see it.

Such people are not always popular in their home or community; they are considered at least eccentric, and often cranks or plumb crazy. There are a lot of people in the world who say "It an't be done," and having no vision or conception of, how it can be done, they waste no time in thought or work to have it done because they consider it impossible. There are many others who are willing to concede it. It might be done, but being too inert themselves to take a hand in it, they are quite content to 'Let George Do It."

There is a book published weekly by the Patent Office at Washington, D. C., which makes mighty interesting reading to those who care to know of the new inventions that are patented from week to week in this country. tI is called The Patent Office Gazette, and may be found in almost any up-to-date public library. Many of the inventions there recorded and illustrated never come into general use because of better ways of doing the same thing, and also because it takes considerable money to successfully introduce a newly patented invention.

But a careful perusal of a series of these books will convince one that there must be some analogy between education and invention, for it becomes at once apparent that at least nine out of ten of these inventions are brought out by people who live in a section of the country where education of the masses has been stressed and popular, from the beginning of settlement of the district.

Ignorant men and women seldom devise new ways of doing things, their thinking apparatus is undeveloped and their vision prescribed. There is no question but that the lack of devlopment of the great resources of the south is due to the lack of education among the masses and that every movement whereby educational facilities for all the people can be improved should be welcomed and fostered. Much has been done along this line within the past ten years, but much more remains to be done to develop habits of study, thought and vision among the common people.

The state must provide the means, the people must be willing to pay increased taxes for school purposes, better school houses and more competent teachers must be provided. Then will our people, especially our children learn to exercise their imagination and thinking apapratus; then will they have vision and work out improvements.

How many of us ever stop to think as we use the tools and appliances which come to our hand? How did they happen to be made? Who first thought of them? Don't think for a minute that there is no opportunity in these days for further improvement; conditions are changing daily and these changes call for other ways of doing things, and if our boys and girls shall be trained to use their faculties to the best advantage they may have a share in and reap some of the advantages enjoyed by people who have vision.

GENERAL PERSHING DUE TO ARRIVE IN BIRMINGHAM TODAY

Will Address Birmingham Audience During Short Stop on National Defense.

Birmingham, Ala., July 24.—General John J. Pershing, chief of staff of the United States Army, will be given a rousing welcome in Birmingham Thursday, if plans laid by the local merican Legion post do not miscarry. The train bearing the general is scheduled to reach Birmingham at 6:30 o'clock Thursday evening (today) from Anniston, where the military camp is being inspected by the official party.

It is hoped by the arrangements committee that the merican flag will be displayed from homes, business houses and public buildings. A steeplejack Monday repaired the Capitol Park flag pole for this purpose with a hand to hand climb of 50 feet after the first 85 feet had been negotiated with a fire truck ladder.

General Pershing will speak on "National Defense" at the new Million dollar Masonic Temple, beginning at 8:30 o'clock, leaving at 10:30 on the Pan-American. Every resident of the city is invited to hear the general's address.

A special reception committee, composed of Col. Walter E. Bare, chairman; Matt Murphy, Arthur Greenwood and other legionnaires, will meet Gen. Pershing at the train and escort him to his hotel. It is planned to have approximately 1,000 Boy Scouts form a passageway from the station gates to waiting automobiles, through which the general and his party may pass.

The committee on arrangements urges that the citizens "turn out" en masse and meet the general at the station, and also requests that all homes, business houses and public buildings fly the flag all day Thursday.

The program for the entertainment of Gen. Pershing includes a banquet at the Tutwiler Hotel at 7 o'clock Thursday evening, when he is scheduled to talk on matters of interest to al larmy men, active and inactive. Following the banquet he will make a public address at the Masonic Temple. Music will be furnished by the Shrine Band and Boy Scouts will act as ushers.

The $125,000 bond issue, proceeds of which will be used for improvements of Albany-Decatur streets, have been received. Several city officials are planning to make an inspection of Nashville streets to see a specified character of paving material in use there.

The Advanco, a steamer which sunk above Lock 17 several months ago, recently passed Tuscaloosa in tow of the Steamer Cordova en route to Mobile for repairs. The Advance was covered with mud and was in a dilapidated condition from its long berth in the river.

The farmers of Dallas count, have grave fears of the effect of last week's cold snap on the young cotton. It is said by the old residents of Selma the coldest weather ever known for that time of year was felt and many farmers fear they will be forced to replant their cotton crop.

TIME TO FACE THE FACTS

"So much has been said against the use of patent medicines that I have had a strong prejudice against them. But after four years doctoring with six different doctors, without results, for acute indigestion, gastritis, constipation, appendicitis and other ailments, I was said to possess, I was encouraged to try Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, seeing what it had done for a friend similarly afflicted. I also was entirely relieved of my trouble, and am sure this medicine will do all and more than is claimed for it." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Alred Drug Co., and dealers everywhere.

FARM FOR SALE—I have a good farm consisting of 218 acres and has four houses on it. Will sell for $6000. Also good buggy and harness will sell for $45.00, and one-horse wagon with pole and shalves will sell for $15.00. Also some cattle for sale. If interested see or write Mrs. A. J. Williams, Verbena, Ala., R. 1. 7-19-3t-pd.

Rev. N. A. Long led the prayer meeting at the Congregational church Wednesday night in the absence of the pastor, Rev. J. W. Davenport, who begins his vacation for a month this week. In the meantime there will be regular services both morning and evening, on Sundays where there is no service in the other churches. Next Sunday morning Rev. E. W. Butler will preach at the regular hour and in the evening after Christian Endeavor, there will be a short song service together with the reading of a very interesting account of The merican Board (Congregational) missionary work in Turkey. A story of wonderful achievement. Services for the following Sunday will be announced next week.

POOR ORIGINAL

"TEAMWORK" IS TEXT OF BOOK BY L. & N. ROAD

History of Institution Is Told For Benefit of Employes.

"It ain't the guns and armaments,
Nor the army as a whole,
But the everlasting teamwork
Of every blooming soul."

With this philosophy of Kipling as a text, the Louisville and Nashville railroad has issued a booklet, to its employes from the president to the engine wiper, describing the system and in a word selling it to them.

It is a well gotten up booklet, admirably illustrated, and besides giving the business philosophy of the company, also presents a sketch of the history of transportation in general and of the L. & N. in particular.

The preface by President Mapother says in part, after stating that the road became a going concern March 5, 1850:

"With pride, may I call attention to the 'imponderables,' those principles of honesty, reliability, service—which among the policies of the L. & N. have remained stable and unchanged. The population has greatly increased; the country has developed; great wars have been fought and philosophies discredited; but moral principles are unconquerable, and the enterprise conducted on such principles is both deserving and assured of successful continuation——. earned for the L. & N. the confidence

"This manifestation of honesty has of the public, but such attainment could not have been accomplished on any railroad without the co-operation of the men who do the work—the man who handles the engine, the conductor who colelcts the tickets, the trackman who drives the spikes, and so on from the highest to the lowest."

Teamwork Wins

Speaking of teamwork, the booklet says—and it si good philosophy for any human endeavor:

"In railroading, every man is a link in the chain of co-ordinated service. Every man is a soldier in the army of transportation. If the units of this army do not function properly or if they do not work together, the service rendered will be poor. It takes teamwork to win. A man may be the brightest, cleverest person in the world, but he cannot accomplish a thing unless he has the help of others. It is a fact that in any organization it is better to have a well-knit, close-working force of less individual power or ability than an aggregation of more powerful and able men who do not work together. It is better to sacrifice individual ability in order to get the "pull-together" spirit of the whole crowd.

"It is better to have a team of oxen, or a team of mules, of moderate size and average weight that pull together than to have a team of more powerful oxen or mules that do not pul ltogether. Last year, the Giants beat the Yanks because they worked together almost perfectly. The Yanks had a million-dollar star, but the teamwork of the Giants won the pennant.

"Now, a railroad is not so small an organization as a baseball team, but the same general principles apply. Every worker in every office, freight yard or labor squad should pull together with every one of his co-workers; then every squad, or department, should pull together with every other squad or department. In other words, every employe of the L. & N. should vie with every other employe to secure the best teamwork for the company and to provide the best service for the public.

History of the L. & N.

Few persons know that one of the oldest railroads in America is the Pontchartrain railroad which runs from New Orleans to Lake Pontchartrain, now a part of the L. & N. system. It received its charter January 3, 1830. The Lexington & Ohio Railroad, likewise a part of the L. & N. system, received its charter January 7, 1830. Thus, two of the earliest railroads in the United States were built in Kentucky and Louisiana, showing that the States of the Middle West and far South were just as enterprising and up-to-date as those of the East. These two railroads first used horse power. In the construction of the Lexington & Ohio road longitudinal limestone sills and iron strips for rails were used so that it would be solid and thus endure forever. Unfortunately, the heavy winter frosts played havoc with the stone sills. An old book of that time states that many curves were put in the track by the construction engineers so that the conductor could see the end of his train now and then and be sure that all the coaches were there.

On March 5, 1850, the Louisville & Nashville railroad company received its charter and was given permission to organize, but it was not until September 4, 1851, that books of subscription were opened, when 1,058 shares were subscribed for. The first payment on the stock subscription was $58.00, of which $22.55 was paid out for advertising. The remainder was placed in the treasury. The Louisville & Nashville railroad company began its career with $35.-45. The first president of the road was Mr. L. L. Shreve. The first depot was at Tenth and Maples Sts., in Louisville. The first offices of the company were in Bullitt and Main Sts., in the Louisville Gas company building.

Capitalized at $3,000,000

The L. & N. railroad started off with an authorized capitalization of three million dollars, for which the city of Louisville subscribed one million, and several counties, three hundred thousand, one hundred thousand, etc. This stock was afterwards bought back from the cities and counties that subscribed for it and they received over four dollars for every dollar put into it.

The early promoters of the L. & N. probably did not have in mind running their road farther from Louisville than to Nashville. However, they later conceived the idea of going South to some point on the Mississippi river. The first sleeping cars from Louisville to New Orleans operated over the L. & N. via Humboldt, the Mobile & Ohio, the Mississippi Central, and the New Orleans, Jackson & Great Northern.

Of course, trains had been run to intremediate points before the operation of the through train to Nashville. In 1860, the road was 269 miles long. In 1871, the L. & N. railroad leased the Nashville & Decatur railroad and acquired the Memphis, Clarksville & Louisville railroad. In 1872, the L. & N. acquired the Memphis & Ohio railroad and commenced operating the South and North Alabama railroad. From 1879 to 1882, the L. & N. acquired the Mobile & Montgomery, the New Orleans, Mobile & Texas, the Pensacola railroad, and the Pensacola & Selma; and built the Pensacola & Atlantic. To the North, it acquired the Louisville, Cincinnati & Lexington and the Owensboro & Nashville; it acquired the Kentucky Central, the Evansville, Henderson & Nashville and leased the Southeast & St. Louis; it bought controlling interest in the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis railway; and leased the Georgia railroad jointly with the Atlantic Coast lines. Subsequently it constructed the Birmingham Mineral and the line to Norton, Va., and acquired the Alabama Mineral, the Atlanta, Knoxville & Northern and the Lexington & Eastern, extending the latter 100 miles into the coal fields.

COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

People seem not to like to be kept in the dark concerning school affairs. If the local papers will allow me space, I shall endeavor from now until school opens to have a few very timely remarks, judging from my point of view. If at any time you do not agree with me, please write me and show me a better way or a more feasible view to assume.

In the first place, I do not care to hear anyone's useless criticism. If you have anything which you think will help me to give you a better school, then tell me what you think ought to be done. I am not promising to do everything you tell me, but I think I can profit by good suggestions. I also think I can recognize a good suggestion when it is given. I have already gotten several good ideas from the records which Mr. Alverson kept. No man can please everybody, but if a person knows the feeling of a large number, he can please a larger number and also give better service by having had the suggestions.

In regard to the affiliation of the county high school with only five teachers, I can say that if the enrollment is no larger Chilton County High School will be affiliated with all the State colleges, but will not be accredited with the Southern Association of Colleges and Universities. It would take a budget of nine thousand dollars besides general running expenses to put the school on the accredited list.

I will be at the high school building nearly every day of the week from nine until twelve o'clock. If anyone is in doubt concerning his work, it might be well for him or her to come to find the facts. There are a large number who have conditions. I am checking the records to get a list of these so that I can notify them. All prospective seniors are urged to see or write me immediately. I see no chance for some who are probably expecting to graduate next spring. It may be that they have credits at other schools. I am willing to do everything that is fair to you and the reputation of the school, but I am not willing for you to take more than I know you are able to do thoroughly. We mean to have a hobby this year, and that hobby is "do well all you do."

All respective students who live in reach of Clanton are urged to come to see me next week, if you have never been to the Chilton County High School. On Monday morning, I would like to see all first year students whose names begin with A. B. C. D. or E; on Monday afternoon, all whose names begin with F. G. H. I, or J.; on Tuesday morning all whose names begin with K. L. M. or N.; on Tuesday afternoon, all whose names begin with O. P. Q. R. or S.; on Wednesday morning, all those whose names begin with T. U. V. W. X. Y. Z. My reason for this is to find out what you want to study, so I can begin work on the program for the recitation periods for the coming session. If you live an unreasonable distance, please write me what you prefer to study.

On Friday, August 17th, I will give examinations to all who care to try to remove a condition. Unless you have been in a summer school or have been coached by a first grade teacher, whose written statement you must bring, you can take on only one subject. If you have had six weeks or more under an approved teacher you may try to make up two. Under no condition will I allow you to take an examination on a new subject, you must have had the work in class the time required by law. Note change of date.

If you know of any who you think may not see this announcement, please tell them if you think they need to know about it.

Respectfully submitted,
IRA PEGUES, Principal
Chilton County High School.

LEGION MEN ALL READY FOR TRIP TO MITCHELL'S DAM

Final plans are being completed for an elaborate day's outing as guests of the Alabama Power Company at Mitchell Dam on July 28, by Montgomery Post No. 2, American Legion. Walter Bragg Smith, post commander, stated last Thursday that 500 ex-service men are expected to take advantage of the power company's proposal for making the trip to the dam.

Numbered among the prominent men who will probably accompany the Legionnaires are Gov. W. W. Brandon, Federal Judge Henry D. Clayton, Mayor W. A. Gunter, Jr., City Commissioners W. J. Orum and J. H. Hardaway, and county authorities.

A special train to depart from the Union Station at 9 o'clock on the morning of July 28 and to return at 5 o'clock the same afternoon has been secured by the power company.

The Value of Land Abstracts

It is not safe to buy land or to lend money and accept land as security without first investigating the title of the land. Often there are unpaid mortgages, judgments, or other liens affecting the title, which an abstract would set out. Therefore, when buying land or lending money thereon, it is important that an abstract of title be furnished. A few dollars spent for an abstract is cheaper than going ahead and having a law suit a little later on.

Right—Proposed Cherokee Bluffs storage dam, Tallapoosa River.

The first and most complete scheme ever devised, for the full utilization of the water resources of a river system, was designed by Major H. B. Ferguson, Corps of Engineers, U. S. Army, following his survey in 1909 and 1910 of the Etowah, Coosa, Tallapoosa and Alabama Rivers in Georgia and Alabama.

Congress had repeatedly refused to appropriate the millions of dollars necessary to make these streams navigable. The demand became insistent that private capital be induced to build power dams, which would open navigation at no expense to the State or Government. Congress then sought a solution of the problem by directing an—

*"examination for the improvement of the navigation of said rivers * * * and * * * investigations necessary to determine whether storage reservoirs at the headwaters of said rivers can be utilized to advantage, and if so, what portion of the cost of any such improvements, including reservoirs, should be borne by owners of water power and others."*

THE FERGUSON PLAN

Major Ferguson's report recommended power and navigation dams of such height and at such locations as would carry navigation over the rapids, with locks for the passage of boats, and for dams in the headwaters for the storage of destructive flood waters, which could be released so as to give a steady flow in the rivers below, so as to —afford from six to nine-foot navigation the year round; —permit every gallon of water to be converted into electric power, and —prevent the overflow of rich farm lands along the rivers except in extremely high water.

Under the co-operative plan of development suggested by Congress, the cost to the United States alone of carrying out the Ferguson plan was estimated to be in excess of $15,000,000.

Major Ferguson's plan was approved by the Government Engineers, but they refused to recommend to Congress that the Government undertake its part of the work. The development of these rivers thus devolved upon the shoulders of private capital.

Further studies of the Ferguson plan have been made by Government Engineers from year to year, and some modifications made in same: but it is essentially being carried out as originally proposed.

THE DEVELOPMENT OF THIS RIVER SYSTEM IS NOT, AND CANNOT BE, HAPHAZARD OR PIECE-MEAL. THE FERGUSON PLAN PLACES THE SYSTEMATIC DEVELOPMENT OF THESE RIVERS TWENTY YEARS AHEAD OF ANY OTHER KNOWN RIVER SYSTEM.

EACH PROJECT MUST BE AT THE LOCATION AND OF THE HEIGHT CONTEMPLATED IN THE GOVERNMENT-APPROVED FERGUSON PLAN; EACH MUST BE APPROVED BY ALABAMA PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION; A 50-YEAR LICENSE MUST BE ISSUED IN EACH CASE BY THE FEDERAL POWER COMMISSION; AND THE LAWS OF ALABAMA AND THE UNITED STATES MUST OTHERWISE BE COMPLIED WITH.

"Decrease in discontent is shown in Russia" says a headline. Perhaps the discontented have all been killed off.

It seems that the Democratic national convention will have plenty of timber to select their presidential nominee from. It seems that Wm. G. McAdoo bids fair to be their nominee now. Underwood occupies the third possibility.

Don't let anything prevent you from coming to the mass meeting at the court house Saturday. There will be something said and done which will be of vital interest to every tax payer of the county. This is not a Republican or a Democratic meeting, but one for all.

It seems that the people of Tuskegee are not getting much recognition from the government in regard to their appeal to have white doctors and nurses in charge of the negro veterans' hospital in that city. For our lives we can't see why the citizens of Tuskegee object to this institution being managed by negroes, since all the inmates of the hospital will be negroes. If they want white doctors and nurses in the negro hospital, then why not demand white teachers in the Tuskegee Institute? It must be the salaries they are after more than the principle of the thing.

That august body, the "organized democracy of Chilton County" says that the best citizens of Chilton county are opposed to having mass meetings of the citizens of the county to discuss the political issues of the day. Of course, that crowd is always opposed to coming out in the open with anything. Their policy is to secretly call a dozen of their selects together and railroad their pet schemes through without letting anybody know anything about it. The people of this county are wise to such manipulations, and they will not sit still and let a few machine politicians ruin our county government. There is going to be a mass meeting and the inside dope of these schemes is going to be brought to light. Don't fail to attend this meeting.

"THE T. W. K. MONTHLY"

We have received Volume I, Number I, of the new publication called the T. W. K. Monthly. This is a neatly gotten up magazine published in Birmingham, Ala., and as will be seen from the following clippnig from the first issue, it is strictly and heartily behind the splendid organization in our country called the Ku Klux Klan:

"With the publication of this the first issue of the T. W. K. Monthly Magazine, there will doubtless be many Klansmen throughout the width and breadth of this, the sovereign state of Alabama, hear of many criticisms regarding this periodical.

"But with this periodical, like the order you represent, it is needless to say that such criticisms are naturally to be looked for, but through this medium it is the earnest hope of the publisher to mold together this great and growing American organization known from the Canadian border to the Gulf and from the Pacific to the Atlantic as the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan and in its strength unquestionably lies the salvation of this the greatest government on earth."

GROUNDLESS APPREHENSIONS

The decisive vote by which the French senate ratified the Washington naval limitations treaty shows how groundless were apprehensions that France would not give the agreement her approval. The treaty now is ratified by all the five powers party to it, and the scrapping program to which it obligates the United States, Great Britain, and Japen can be carried out. During the debate in the French senate, it was made perfectly clear that the 5-5-3 ratio applies only to capital ships. That is a point that Americans should bear constantly in mind. France pins her hope in future wars on her air and submarine fleets, and she will make every effort to bring them to theh highest strength and efficiency. Other nations will do the same, and it behooves the United States to keep pace with them until a new agreement may be reached limiting those arms of warfare.

WE ARE NOT INVOLVED

The British proposal for an international commission to study the reparations question will not involve the United States. There are doubtless many Americans of ability who would be willing to serve on such a commission were they to receive a request to do so, but this country will take no official part in its proceedings. Any decision that the commission might reach would involve a certain moral responsibility for its enforcement. The United States cannot afford to become entangled in any such undertaking.

The total pay of railway employees in April of this year was 2.09 per cent higher than in April, 1922, while the number of employees increased 16.8 per cent in the same period. There was a substantial gain in the average wage paid. Rail workers have shared with wage earners in other industries the results of Republican prosperity.

PROGRESS IN EAST EUROPE

Vice-President Atterbury of the Pennsylvania Railroad has just returned from a trip through Europe, and reports that the Balkan States, Austria, and Czechoslovakia have made such progress since the war that they are not affected by the trouble in western Europe. The reason is that those states have not wasted their time angling for American philantrophy, but have gone about the business of working out their own salvation. All the former warring nations could have done as well if they had devoted more attention to production and less to nursing the animosities that lead to war.

GOMPERS vs. FOSTER

Mr. Gompers and his Federation are said to be in a fight to the finish with W. Z. Foster in the campaign to organize the steel workers. The last time an effort was made to unionize the steel industry Mr. Foster was in charge, with the enthusiastic support of Mr. Gompers. Foster may at least be credited with consistency. He is a radical syndicalist, and has always been so. He has written books on the subject and has orally urged his principles. Gompers knew, or should have known, what sort of a man he was when they worked together in the former steel campaign. Foster has not changed. Mr. Gompers either has repudiated the ideas he entertained a few years ago, or merely finds it convenient now to discredit Foster because the latter happens to be in popular disfavor.

"A Dead Shot"

What Is Weevilnip?

It is a liquid compound of molasses, poisons, vegetable and mineral extracts and flavors designed to attract the boll weevils and kill them.

Apply to cotton plant with a hand mop made of a rag and stick. Costs less than $5.00 an acre and insures full crop.

WEEVILNIP is no longer a new remedy. It is being successfully used for the third year.

Mt. Vernon, Ga., July 7th, 1923.

Mr. J. W. Ray,
Macon, Ga.

Dear Sir:—In reply to yours of the 6th inst., I have just returned from the fields where the Weevil Demonstrations are being conducted. I can state to you with pleasure that the owner of the farm where hte sedemonstrations are is a 100 per cent weevil fighter. I have assisted in some of the largest weevil control demonstrations ever put on in Georgia. I am frank to say that we have the skunk whippid to a finish despite the unfavorable weather conditions.

You can state to the world that cotton can be produced at a profit on an average crop year if the owner of the farm has pep and will hustle to beat the weevil in the beginning..

We would like for you to visit our work and see for yourself the results of all the poisons we have used. Also I would like for you to write Mr. W. G. Williamson, Uvalda, Ga., whose farm these demonstrations are on. Taffy him a little for his good work. Refer this work to the crank who said that there is nothing to poisoning the weevil. Send him down and we will fill his old skull full of weevil information.

Yours truly,
J. B. TYRE,
County Farm Demonstration Agent.

Note:—Mr. Tyre was selected by the Cotton Association as one of their demonstrators to give WEEVILNIP an official test.

Comer, Georgia, June 28th, 1923.

Mr. J. W. Ray,
Macon, Ga.

Dear Sir:—How are you getting along? Haven't heard from you in quite awhile and thought perhaps something must be wrong. Will you please see if you can hurry the fifty mops forward that we ordered some several days ago, possibly two weeks ago. We are having a 100 per cent satisfied reports. Not but one complaint this season and I simply got in my car and carried my boy with me to his house and got him and three other men, then went to his field to find the live boll weevils that the WEEVILNIP would not kill as he had reported to me the day before. We entered a field of approximately 16 acres and all six of us hunted for nearly an hour and not a single live boll weevil did we find. Could find plenty of dead ones. He was the cheapest looking man that you ever did hear of. He is absolutely satisfied now.

Come to see us when you can.

Yours very truly,
GEO. W. WHITEHEAD.

POOR ORIGINAL

THE ALABAMA LEGISLATURE

(By W. M. WYATT,
Representative From Chilton County).

During the past week the principal matter of interest in the state capitol was the consideration of the general revenue bill in the house of representatives. This bill was under a brisk fire for two days, Thursday and Friday, and when the irreconciliables of the house got through with it, the general opinion prevailed that it had been so changed, and mutliated in places, that it would not be recognized by the men who originally drew it up.

This measure is the general provisions for taxation of real estate and personal property in the state, and was designed by the state administration to take the place of the taxation laws which were destroyed last winter when the tax adjusters were put out of business by action of the law makers.

For considering the revenue bill the house was resolved into a committee of the whole house. The measure was taken up section by section, and many times the bloc of members who had already organized in opposition to certain provisions in the bill, showed their strength by mercilessly slashing and changing to their own liking.

Those who are close to the people aver that the present revenue bill and taxation machinery, as amended by the house, is very near what the people of the state want. It does away with the unpopular tax adjusting powers of the state tax commission in a much more definite way than did former laws, although it is not a complete return to the old method of allowing the tax payer to set the taxable values of his property.

The Commissioners Court and tax assessors are constituted a board of review in each county, to make valuations of all taxable property. No representative of the state tax commission is allowed to sit with the board of review under the revised bill. It was made as an argument by opponents of the original measure that allowing a representative of the tax commission to sit as a member of the board of review would in effect be just another style for the tax adjuster, and therefore the said representative of the state tax commission was promptly eliminated. But the state tax commission still has final power to pass upon valuations fixed by the board of review in any and all counties of the state.

The house took advantage of several opportunities in this bill to show how it felt about reducing expenses and cutting salaries. The original bill called for an appropriation of $125,000 to pay for operating the tax machinery in the state. This item was cut down to $75,000. Then again the original bill set the salaries of the state tax commission at $4,800 for the chairman, and $4,000 each for the associate members. The revision of the bill by the house cut the salary of the chairman to $4,000, and the salary of each of the associate members to $3,600. The members openly stated that they had not forgotten their promises to the people last year that they would fight for reduced expenses when they got to the legislature.

A new primary election measure has been formulated which does away with the present system of second choice voting in Alabama. It brings back the double primary arrangement which was in vogue in this state some years ago. All primary elections under the new bill, if made a law, will be held on the second Tuesday in May. If a second primary is necessary in order to determine a nominee, the date of that primary is made just one month later, on the second Tuesday in June.

That part of the bill providing for abolishing the office of tax colector in counties of less than 35,000 population was struck out, as it was not shown by advcates f the bill that it wuld save any expenses to put the colelction of taxes in the hands of the sheriff.

Much grumbling and growling is yet to be heard around the capitol in regard to the much discussed question of abolishing the convict lease system. That question is like a smoldering volcano which threatens at all times to break loose and wrap up everything with its smoke, fire and brimstone. There is much dissatistion among the members of the house and senate, with the manner in which debate on this matter was precluded by parliamentary intrigue.

A new Sunday observance bill is daily expected to be introduced, which, it is predicted, will hit straight at Sunday base ball and moving pictures, while being more lenient with bathing pools.

When the house on Friday evening had done everything else it could think of to the revenue bill, it was decided to bid the administration god speed by taking away from it that part of the gasoline tax that was awarded to the state by an act of the legislature at the last winter session. An amendment providing for the giving of all this tax to the counties on an equal basis was introduced and passed in an uproar.

It is freely predicted that the Senate is not going to, in any wise agree with the house on the amendments the latter put into the revenue bil. It is stated that the Senate is going to incline toward a support of the administration in requesting adoption of the measure just as it came frmo the hands of the recess committee which prepared it. If this be true, there is most certain to grow up a spirit of hostility between the two branches of our law-making body, the outcome of which cannot be safely predicted.

A bill by Mr. Culver of Etowah county would provide a state board of education to be elected by the people. This board would have one member elected from each Congressional District, and under the bill the State Superintendent of Education would be apointed by the members of the board so elected.

Represenative Sollie of Dale county poured into the hopper at one time forty bills which he had been prevailed upon to introduce by the womens organization. These bills deal with a wide range of subjects which women voters want enacted into law.

Representative Luck of Shelby county offered an amendment to the revenue bil lto exempt poultry from taxation up to $100 in value. Mr. Luck snid if this Democratic legislature should put a tax on chickens, he could not go back to Shelby county and stand the raket that would be raised against him by the Repubicans.

THE GREATEST SINGLE MOVE TOWARD PEACE

Washington, July 22.—Now that the Limitation of Armaments Treaties have been ratified by every nation a party therto, even the critics of the Harding Administration acknowledges that "this is the greatest single move ever made toward easing the world's burden of ramament expenditure and reducing the causes of war."

For many months Democrats have been taunting the Republicans because France had been postponing ratification of the treaties. Their taunts were of such a nature as to indicate their hope that France would persisit in the failure to ratify. Now, however, that France has ratified and the treaties have the heary support, not only in letter but in spirit, of all of the nations participating therein, the Democrats are forced to acknowledge the magnitude and importance of the accomplishment.

The Washington Conference was not called in a hurry. It was the outcome of thoughtful plannnig and not of hysteria. President Harding ascertained that the leading nations of the world would take kindly to such a project and then called a conference for certain speific purposes, thus eliminating the danger that its work would be jeopardized by injetion of other subjects not germane to the main purpose.

When the conference met in November, 1921, Secretary of State Hughes had a very carefully prepared proposal to submit. That this had been carefully thought out with due regard to the interests and rights of all nations, is indicated by the fact that it was adopted with very slight modifications after discussions covering only three months.

There were five treaties drawn up, the most important of which settled disagreements with regard to interests in the Paific and in the Orient and pledged all of the parties to the treaty to confer if there should develop between any of the high contracting parties a controversy arising out of any Pacific question. This treaty was a necessary forerunner of a limitation of armaments treaty, for Great Britain, the United States and Japen could not agree upon a ratio of armaments if there were a possibility not to say probability of war over Pacific questions. That treaty having been agreed to by the representatives at the conference, there was little difficulty in arriving at the agreement for a capital ship limitation based on a 5-5-3 ratio as among the United States, Great Britain and Japen, with a 1.75 ratio for France and Italy, respectively.

Immediately upon agreement upon these treaties the United States, Great Britain and Japan suspended work then in progress on capital ships in excess of the agreement. There was even more scrapping of ships of lesser importance and of almost obsolete character, which process of scrapping increased when the United States, Great Britain and Japan had ratified the treaties. It was announced, however, that there would be no real scrapping until France had also ratified.

Now that France has ratified by an overwhelming vote, all of the nations will enter heartily into the task of bringing their naval strength in capital ships to the required limit and there will probably be an effort among the diplomats of the different nations to agree upon further limitations on other classes of ships and probably airplanes as well, with a view to further lessening the load of taxation due to military preparedness.

IN HARD LINES

"I could not work at all and had to take to my bed with a high fever due to intestinal indigestion, gasses in my stomach and pain in my right side. I had spent my last cent for doctors and medicine, which gave me no relief. I was in despair. A lodge brother gave me a bottle of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, and the first dose relieved me. Thanks to this medicine I am now in the best of health." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation, which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Alred Drug Co.

YOUNG PEOPLES' COUNCIL

The Young Peoples' Council and July Quarterly meeting of the W. M. U., Unity Association, was held with the Ebenezer Baptist Church, Stanton, Ala., July 19, 1923, Mrs. J. P. Hayes, young peoples' leader, presiding.

After the opening song, "Onward Christian Soldiers," and prayer by Pastor Edwards of the Ebenezer church, the following program was rendered during the morning session:

Praise service, led by Miss Ruby Gregg, using 111th Psalm.

Prayer of Thanksgiving, Mrs. Hughes.

Glad words of welcome, Stanton G. A.

Gifts for the Master, Stanton Sunbeams.

Open conference on Standards of Excelelnce, led by Miss Willie elley Wooley, state worker.

Good times at Mentone, Mr. Edwards and others.

Address—Training for Leadership, Miss Willie K. Wooley.

Song, Golden Sunbeams, Stanton G. B.

The morning session ended with roll call of young peoples' societies. We showed a splendid attendance, de spite the fact that bad weather prevented several from attending.

The meeting was adjourned at 12 o'clock for the noon hour and a very delicious luncheon was served by the ladies of the Ebenezer W. M. S. After a very enjoyable hour the meeting re-assembled, devotional exercises being led by Rev. Cook. The following program was rendered during the afternoon session:

Our eMasuring Line, Eight Sunbeams.

Talk—Capturing Campaign Enemies, Rev. Edwards.

At this time the meeting was turned over to Mrs. Grady Broadhead, Associational Supt.

Roll call of W. M. S. and the banner was awarded to the Billingsley W. M. S. for the largest percentage present. It was voted to hold the young peoples' meeting separate from the W. M. S. meetings in the future and Clanton was chosen as the place for first meeting.

Miss Margie Murphy of Clanton was elected president; Miss Ruby Gregg, Stanton, vice-president; Mr. Willie Rayford Smith, Billingsley, secretary; Charles Patrick, Billingsley, treasurer; Miss Lorrene Dyer, Stanton, stewardship chairman.

We feel very grateful to the W. M. S. of Stanton for their generous hospitality, especially duing the noon hour and to Mrs. Dyer, Sunbeam leader for the pleasant program they rendered during the day, also to Miss Willie Kelley Wooley for the splendid talks given.

MRS. G. C. HARRIS, Secretary.

OAK HILL NEWS

Our singing society met in regular session Sunday evening with a large crowd in attendance. The house was called to order by President E. L. Glasscock, who sang the opening song, followed by a short prayer in which he invoked the divine blessings of our kind heavenly Father upon us all.

Those who directed were: Messrs. Henderson Hayes, L. Cobb, E. H. Foshee, Vester Campbell, G. D. Retherford, A. H. Glasscock, Jessie Jones and kins Collins. Organists were: Misses Genie Collins, Flossie Cobb and Emma Campbell. The Clanton quartette was with us and rendered a beautiful quartet between each director, which pas appreciated highly by all who heard them. The class sang beautifully and the only way it could have been made better would be more singers.

The Oak Grove class was with us and did their part in making it one among the best we have had yet. Everybody seemed to have a good time and enjoy the singing, for it was good to be there. Come again next fourth Sunday evening and let's have another good time together singing praises to our great Creator from whom cometh all good things.

We are expecting another great and good time next Sunday at New Hope church, or better known as the Smith School House, for there is going to be an all-day singing at that place. Let everybody who can go and help to make the day a great success.

The friends of Mr. J. B. Northcutt will regret to learn that there is a possibility of his having to be carried back to the Central Alabama Hospital and be operated on again, but we all hope and pray for him a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Annie Glasscock, who has been spending the week with her relatives, has returned home.

Many of the young folks around here are attending the protracted meeting which is in progress at Oak Grove this week.

Our Sunday school was disappointed last week when it rained so much we did not get to go on our annual picnic, but we expect to go some time in the near future. Come and join our school if you want to go with us and have a good time.

SINGING AT NEW HOPE
(Smith School House)

There will be an all-day singing at this place next Sunday, July 29. All singers and lovers of music are invited to come and bring their 1923 Showalter and other song books, and a well filled basket, and spend the day with us. We will have with us the Jemison quartette, and we are expecting the Clanton quartette also. So come; we are expecting a great time.

New Hope—better known as Smith School House, is about 5 miles northeast of Union Grove on the old Maplesville and Columbiana road. Come, don't miss it.

Mr. L. D. Crew, saw mill and lumber man of Billingsley, was in Clanton Tuesday looking after business matters. Mr. Crew left with The Union-Banner an order for some job printing.

If you lived in a community where you could catch all the fish you wanted, where you would not need any clothes except the skins from animals that you killed, where nature supplied your wants for eating and sleeping and keeping warm—without something additional, you would not be happy or comfortable. "Man shall not live by bread alone." He should have music, books, pictures and automobiles; play games; have entertainment. These things make civilization.

A man and his family could exist or live on very few things, but he must have railroads to bring to him the more complex things — the articles that give him happiness and pleasure. No matter where you live to-day in America, you can enjoy life just as much as if you lived in New York City, or any other population center. The railroads bring these things to you.

Do nothing that will hamper the railroads and prevent them from continuing to render good service.

UNCLE DOCK WELLS

The readers of The Banner may be somewhat surprised, to know that I was here when the Baptist and Methodist were both organized.

There was a lovely Sabbath school at each church all on a boom, one in the morning and the other in the afternoon.

They got up a dispute over Baptism; one said his way was right and the other said his'n; so they ask me to commence in time and let them know what I thought about the matter in a rhyme; I remember well when I commenced that day and this is what I had to say:

As I was passing Clanton the other day, I got near the center of the town, at once I heard both church bells ringing, how pretty was the sound; I called on a friend to know what was to pay, he said don't you remember the Sunday school services here the other day?

I simply ask the question, how come them apart; he couldn't give any reason only prejudice in their heart.

I now say religion and prejudice together cannot dwell; religion carries the soul to heaven while prejudice carries the soul to hell.

So go on Brother Methodist, I know that sprinkling is your mode; I wish you god-speed traveling on the road; the same to you Brother Baptist, I know that emersion is your mode; I wish you god-speed traveling on the road.

The mode of Baptism in the Bible was left blank, it ought'n to trouble no mind nor break neither rank.

I baptise you with water, John the Baptist cried; but never did he say here the matter was applied; some takes a type a figure of the Holy Ghost, of course on the day of Pentacost it come down on a mighty host.

I believe these Baptisms is all good and ought to fill the heart with delight; but Brethren, I ask you, are you living right?

Christ never was divided, especially by the railway; he is the same Christ yesterday forever He is the same Christ today.

Now I am a Methodist, I have a Baptist wife; I pray we may live together peaceful the balance of our life; we don't fall out over Baptism and disagree, I go with her to church and she goes with me.

Of course I was sprinkled and she was emersed; do you see any reason why we should always be kicking up a fuss? So farewell Brother Methodist and Brother Baptist too, I only want to tell you what prejudice will do. I hope no one will be offensive nor be alarmed, for I tell you plainly I don't mean any harm!

Yours truly,
UNCLE DOCK.

SINGING AT CEDAR GROVE

Alarge crowd gathered at Cedar Grove Sunday for the singing.

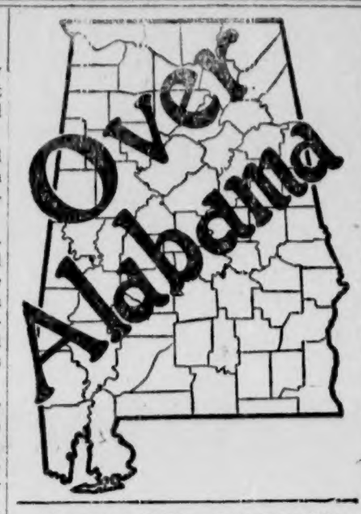
A goodly number of directors were on hand: J. W. Hayes, J. N. Scott, T. J. Jackson, M. V. Lawley, Prof. Franklin, Burl Martin, Mr. Hodgens, S. C. Hayes, T. A. Maddox, Mr. Melton, J. H. Martin.

Dinner was rich and abundant.

We seriously missed the Lomax directors. It was a good day. Among the visitors was Judge Reynolds, Col. Middleton, Prof. Bean, Sheriff Littlejohn and T. J. Hubbard.

Biliousness and Constipation

"For years I was troubled with biliousness and constipation, which made life miserable for me. My appetite failed me. I lost my usual force and vitality. Pepsin preparations and cathartics only made matters worse. I do not know where I should have been today had I not tried Chamberlain's Tablets. The tablets relieve the ill feeling at once, strengthen the digestive functions, helping the system to do its work naturally," writes Mrs. Rosa Potts, Birmingham, Ala.



ALABAMA NEWS HAPPENINGS.

A Resume of the More Important Events of Interest Condensed To An Epitomized Form.

S. S. Oates, convicted in Autauga County, June 15, 1908, of assault to murder and sentenced to a term of 15 years in the penitentiary, has been paroled three times. Oates was first paroled on November 1, 1912. The parole was revoked January 4, 1917. On February 1, 1917, the parole was reinstated, but was again revoked by Governor William W. Brandon April 4, 1923. The chief executive granted Oates another parole last week, conditioned upon his future good conduct and observance of the law.

At the regular luncheon of the Oneonta Service Club the publicity committee was authorized to undertake road improvement in each of the precincts of the county adjacent to the town. It will inaugurate a contest among the six precincts, offering a prize to the precinct showing the greatest improvement on roads leading to the town, within the next 60 days. The prize offered was a day's work by each member of the club under the overseer of the road in the precinct winning the prize.

Rainbow Lake, near Gadsden, is not to be closed on Sunday because bathers see fit to have a good time, according to official announcement. This is in spite of the fact that 148 residents of the neighborhood have asked that the resort be shut down on Sundays because the noise made by its patrons makes it a nuisance. It is said that a full investigation of the complaint has led the authorities to decide not to interfere with the place.

The contract for the erection of the T. M. McNeil county school at West Highlands, Bessemer, will be let in the near future, according to county education officials. Plans for the building have been about completed, and the contract will be let by the Bessemer Coal, Iron and Land Company, which firm is furnishing the ground for the school and is to loan the county money for its erection.

Manufacturing industries employing 15 persons or over will be exempted from city license and real and personal city tax for a period of 10 years after locating in Bessemer, according to an ordinance passed at the meeting of the city council. The ordinance was introduced and unanimous consent of aldermen given for its immediate passage at the request of representatives of the Chamber of Commerce who were present.

Attention of industrial circles in the state is being directed with growing interest to the West Indies, that group of islands belonging to many nations east of Cuba and between Cuba and South America. Commerce with these islands via Mobile is expanding rapidly. The Aluminum Steamship Company has found it advisable to place four ships on the run during the next month.

The Lowndes county board of revenue has assigned a force of hands, mules and road machines under the supervision of Mr. Dead of Lethatchee to place the Fort Deposit and Sandy Ridge public roads in a first class condition. This piece of road is a link in the state highway from Fort Deposit to the fine gravel roads of Montgomery county.

D. F. Deaver, commandant, and Bailey G. McClellan, adjutant, have issued a call for members of Camp William Henry Forney, United Confederate Veterans, and other veterans of Calhoun and adjoining counties to assemble at Schenck's Sulphur Springs August 8th for the 27th annual reunion.

Monroe Miller, who operates a pottery plant in Romulus beat in Tuscaloosa county, is arranging to build a considerable addition to his plant which will double the present output.

Petition for an initiative election to decide the fate of the jitneys in Birmingham has been filed with the clerk of the city commission. City officials say the necessary procedure will be followed and if all matters appertaining thereto are within the law, the election will be called.

An appropriation has been made by the Lowndes county board of education to remodel and repair the Lowndes County High School. Arrangements have been made and the work will commence at an early date.

Mrs. Ola Dennis of Mt. Creek is visiting relatives in Sylacauga this week.

WOCO-PEP A SURE THING

During the past few months much has been said about Woco-Pep gas and oil being sold in Clanton, but this time we have the straight dope on the proposition. Mr. Williams, a representative of the Wofford Oil Company has been in Clanton this week and made arrangements for the spur track to be built on the lot which Mr. Ellis originally bought for that purpose some five months ago. This lot is between the highway and the railroad just across the creek below town, on the old Hot Well property.

Mr. John T. Ellis is going to handle these products here through his filling station. There has been a considerable delay in getting this proposition through on account of the action of the railroad company, but we are pleased to state that the required arrangements have been made. Everybody knows what Woco-Pep is, and we are sure it will find a ready sale here to our many motor vehicle users.

OAK GROVE

Health in this community is very good at present, and everybody is enjoying life as they are about thru laying by their crops.

Our Sunday school is progressing very nicely. We have a large attendance and also a good school.

Mr. L. R. Cobb carried a truck load to Oak Hil lSunday p.m. to the singing. We always enjoy going to Oak Hill for we always have good singing there.

The revival meeting is going on at this place now and is expecting to run for two weeks.

We were glad to see Miss Ola Glass out at church Saturday night.

Miss Augusta Brown of Montgomery is spending a few days with relatives.

Miss Lorene Clements of Woodlawn is visiting her relatives and friends here.

Mr. William Satterwhite left last week and is in Woodward at work.

Mr. Vollie Glass went back to Birmingham to work last week. He is taking his same job again.

Messrs. Robert Northcutt and Leonard Martin have left for work. We hope all the boys much success.

Miss Golda Williams is spending a few days in Gadsden with her brother.

Mr. P. Q. Freeman was at home Sunday.

Miss Lesta Cobb dined with Myrtle Martin Sunday.

Misses Lola Mae Martin, Mattie Lea Glass and Urell Little dined with Miss Flossie Cobb Sunday.

Miss Lorene Clements dined with Ollie Glass Sunday.

Miss Augusta Brown spent Sunday night with Jessie Cobb.

Mrs. Wilkins is visiting her daughter, Mrs. W. A. Martin.

CO-OP. MARKETING SPREADS IN ALABAMA

Nearly $9,000,000 of 1922 Products Sold This Way.

Auburn, Ala., July 22.—By marketing co-operatively nearly $9,000,000 worth of their 1922 crops and livestock Alabama farmers are rapidly forging to the front rank in co-operative marketing. According to M. H. Pearson and K. G. Baker, marketing specialists for the Extension Service, co-operative marketing was almost unknown in Alabama ten years ago, but now at least 20,000 Alabama farmers are marketing one or more of their products by the co-operative method.

As reported by Mr. Pearson and Mr. Baker, the story of co-operative marketing is one of the most interesting chapters in the history of Alabama agriculture. few farmers were probably marketing co-operatively through local associations ten or more years ago, but the method was hardly known until the county agents in southeast Alabama began promoting co-operative hog sales associations in 1917.

From hogs this method of selling spread to other livestock and crops and the appreciation of co-operative marketing developed in this way was one of the big influences in the organization and operation of the Alabama Farm Bureau Cotton Association, which handled $8,000,000 worth of the 1922 crop. The Farm Bureau Hay Association handled over $226,000 worth of hay, and hogs, cattle, wool, Irish potatoes, sweet potatoes, peanuts, and truck crops were among the other products brought the total up to nearly $9,000,000.

With a membership in the co-operative marketing associations rapidly increasing it is expected that this amount will be fully doubled for the 1923 crop.

CARD OF THANKS

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space in the columns of your paper to express my thanks to the good people of my community for their untiring efforts through the sickness, death and burial of my darling baby. I sure can tell anybody that this is a Christian community. I cannot tell how I do appreciate them all. I can pray for them as I never prayed before.

A. Y. Williams and Wife.

Child-birth

Here is a wonderful message to all expectant mothers!

When the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says:

"With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used Mother's Friend and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes." Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., BA 46, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all drug stores—everywhere.

SACRED HARPIST OF COOSA SING AT MARBLE VALLEY

All-Day Harmony Convention Much Enjoyed by Big Crowd.

Goodwater, Ala., July 24.—The Seventeenth Annual Singing of the Coosa County Christian Harmony Convention was held Sunday at the Christian Church at Marble Valley, thirty-five miles west of this place. A large crowd was present, good singing was heard, a bountiful dinner was spread and every one enjoyed the occasion.

B. C. Hammond is presiding officer of this gathering and has been for a number of years. Besides Mr. Hammond the following were some of the leaders of the day: W. H. Baxley, Weogufka; Claude Acre, Marble Valley; John Allen Blankenship, Chilton county; J. L. Honeycutt, Marble Valley; Mr. Holmes of Talladega, and others.

One of the features of the singing on each of these occasions is the memorial songs for the departed singers during the past year, and which is a solemn and impressive ceremony.

Mrs. John A. Darden, of Goodwater, assisted by two small sons, Norman and Byran, rendered several pieces of music, in which the children sang while their mother performed at the organ.

This was enjoyed by the crowd.

CANE CREEK

Health is not so good around here. Several are on the sick lise this week, but we hope for them a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Essie Cleckler, who has had a severe attack of fever, was carried to the hospital last Thursday afternoon, but we are glad to know that she is some better now.

Mrs. George Williamson has been away for several days, attending the bedside of her mother, Mrs. F. A. Ellison, who has been seriously ill.

We are glad to announce that Mr. P. C. Weldon is slowly recovering from an operation of appendicitis.

Sunday school here is progressing nicely but there is still room for improvement.

The singing society met Sunday afternoon as usual with a large attendance. The house was called to order by the president. Two songs were rendered and prayer was offered by the president. Directors for the afternoon were as follaws: Mr. Jasper Oaks, Mr. Fonza Cleckler, Mr. Rennie Robinson, Mr. R. E. Jones, Mr. Willie Cleckler, Mr. Johnnie Miner, Mr. B. Adams, and Mr. J. H. Plier, singing three songs each.

Organists were: Mr. and Mrs. Fonza Cleckler and Miss Lillie Mae Weldon.

We wish to thank the Refuge class for being with us and extend to them a hearty welcome for another visit. We also invite any other class to be with us on every second and fourth Sunday afternoons.

Next first Sunday is our regular preaching day and the beginning of our protracted meeting. We are expecting to have some good services rendered during this meeting and cordially invite all who wish to attend.

Miss Hermie Gentry is away for a few weeks visiting relatives in Montgomery.

Miss Delene Lambert spent last Friday afternoon with Miss Bertha Giles.

Miss Sarah Lambert is making an Yates of Wetumpka.

Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Giles of Birmingham are visiting the former's mother, Mrs. Lula Giles this week.

Miss Nora Miner spent the wekeend with her sister, Mrs. John Thompson.

Mr. and Mrs. Hobson Kilgore visited their parents here Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Maddox of Birmingham, who have been visiting relatives here, returned home Sunday.

Inactive Liver

"I have had trouble with an inactive liver," wrote Mrs. S. Nichols, of 4412 Spencer St., Houston, Texas. "When I would get constipated, I would feel a light, dizzy feeling in my head. To get up in the morning with a lightness in the head and a trembly feeling is often a sign that the stomach is out of order. For this I took Thedford's Black-Draught, and without a doubt can say I have never found its equal in any liver medicine. It not only cleans the liver, but leaves you in such a good condition. I have used it a long time, when food does not seem to set well, or the stomach is a little sour."

If it isn't Thedford's it isn't BLACK-DRAUGHT Liver Medicine.

STATE NEWS HAPPENINGS

Within the next few days the Attalla council is expected to hold a special session for the purpose of calling an election to determine the question of issuing $35,000 worth of bonds to be used in erecting a new school building. It is understood that the city has already decided upon a site. An effort will be made to complete the building by the first of the year.

The First National Bank of Tuscumbia, through its building committee, has let the contract for a two-story bank building on the corner of Main and Fifth streets. It is to be a brick building with stone trimmings. The bank will occupy the corner building and the south room will be occupied for a modern business house.

Marvin Taylor, supervising engineer in charge of road work for the state highway commission, has moved his headquarters from Gadsden to Ashville in order to supervise the construction of the Gadsden-Birmingham Highway through St. Clair County. The contractors have already started work at Argo on the Jefferson County line.

Hereafter, when two or more routes are available between points of shipment and points of destination within the state, Alabama shippers will have the privilege of stating in writing at the time of shipment, the route over which such shipment shall move. The Alabama Public Service Commission makes this provision in an order recently issued.

A negro infant, carried to the office of a Selma surgeon, near death, will live, doctors state, as a result of a gift of blood by C. L. Orth, secretary of the Selma Young Men's Christian Association, who, by accident, learned of the case in time to come to the aid of the medical men.

An election held in two school districts in Lee county resulted in the levy of a 3-mill tax for building of consolidated schools. The districts voting were the Whatley district and the River Road district. In the latter district only two votes were cast against the tax.

Dr. A. T. Brack, chiropractor, of Decatur, who was recently pardoned by Governor Brandon, after being sentenced to serve a term of 30 days in jail for practicing medicine without license, declares that he intends to remain in Decatur and practice his profession.

An ordinance providing for the paving of eight streets and possibly two more thoroughfares has been adopted by the Decatur city council. A meeting will be held on August 7, at which time any citizen may appear and protest against the paving.

Reports are current to the effect that in an effort to provide more room for their shopped passenger coaches, the L. & N. railroad will increase the capacity of two of its over a dozen shops at its large repair plant at Decatur.

Street paving, sanitary and sidewalk bonds to the amount of $70,000, were sold by the city commissioners of Sheffield to Ward, Sterne & Co., and Caldwell & Co., of Birmingham. The same firms bought school bonds to the amount of $25,000.

Signal honor has been bestowed upon Claude Ritter, of Birmingham, senior member of the firm of Ritter, Wynn & Carmichael, by his election to the presidency of the Commercial Law League of America.

Sheriff Faulkner broke his record during the week ending July 17 in the capture of stills in Shelby county. He captured 15 stills, poured out and destroyed 16,000 gallons of beer and 65 gallons of whisky.

A $25,000 home will be erected in Fairfield by the Tennessee Land Company for Dr. Lloyd Noland, superintendent of the department of health for the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company.

LAWLEY NEWS

The revival services here at Rehoboth will begin the 3rd Sunday in August. Rev. Foster Mills of Tuscaloosa, pastor here, will conduct the services. Everybody is invited to attend.

Mrs. Grady Mills and children of Mobile were here last week visiting Mrs. James Bedford, sister-in-law of Mrs. Mills.

Mr. and Mrs. Sheb Holley left last Saturday for Tuscaloosa, where they will be with their children for several weeks. Mr. Holley will visit his sister, Mrs. C. L. Woolley at Green Pond, Ala., while away.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Head are now in Georgia visiting relatives. They intend to be away for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Haley, who did think for awhile that they would move to Texas, have decided to stay here another year or more. Their many friends are indeed very glad.

Many from here attended the barbecue at Shoults last Saturday and all reported a good time.

Mr. Rufus Smitherman of Cox community was buried here last Wednesday afternoon. He had a host of friends here who are grieved because of his death. He was a member of the church here at Rehoboth and a man of whom everybody who knew him loved. A wife, several brothers and sisters, a host of near relatives and friends are left to mourn his loss. Rev. Buford Lawrence of Jemison conducted the funeral services. Mr. Smitherman was only sick a few days with typhoid fever.

Misses Ethel and Lilla Collins and Feraba Latham returned home last Tuesday from Tuscalosoa, where they haye been for six weeks attending school. We are so glad for them to be back at home for they were so badly missed in Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. work.

Mr. Fred McGee of Plantersville was here last Sunday trying his new Ford. He returned to his home Sunday night, accompanied by his wife and two boys who have been here for several days visiting relatives.

Mrs. Sidera Johnson, who has been here for three weeks with her mother, Mrs. Celia Hicks, returned to her home in Birmingham last Sunday with her husband, Mr. Wheeler Johnson. They were accompanied back home by their mother, Mrs. Celia Hicks.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde McGee and little daughter, Iris spent last week-end at Maplesville with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. McGee.

Mrs. John Lawrence of Jemison, spent a few days last week here with her sisters, Mrs. Lum Hicks and Mrs. Alex Latham. Mrs. Lawrence is now with her son, Alfred at Shoults community.

POPLAR SPRINGS

Here we come again this week to report the results of our singing society and prayer meeting which met Sunday p.m.

We feel encouraged now as there were more people attended Sunday than usual. Directors for the afternoon were: Messrs. Newton Gilliland and Luther E. Little. Organist was Miss Jewell McDowell.

We wish to thank Mr. Little for coming over and helping us in the singing. We ask him to come again and help us; also other directors.

In addition to our singing we also had a good prayer meeting.

There wil lbe prayer meeting at this place again next Sunday night, promptly at 7:30 o'clock. Everybody come that can, and will. We are glad to have you any time.

Citizens Meeting at Clanton Saturday

Although Weather Was Very Unfavorable, Representative Meeting of Citizens From All Over the County Was Held.

The weather last Saturday was so disagreeable that it was impossible for many people to come to Clanton, however, there was a very good crowd present, which showed only the more the interest that the citizens of the county had in the matter for which the meeting was called. There were some present from practically every community of the county, and while the speaking was going on the court room was practically filled.

Hon. Thos. A. Curry and Hon. J. Osmond Middleton spoke in defense of the County Court of Chilton County and against the proposed bill before the state legislature to abolish said court. Very convincing arguments were presented by these gentlemen, which made it very plain to any conscientious citizen that the abolition of our County Court would be a very unwise step for our law makers to take. No speaker was presented to defend the proposed bill.

A committee of citizens from over the county was appointed to go before the House of Representatives for the purpose of trying to get that body to turn down the proposed bill. They will go before the House committee on Local Bills Wednesday and make an effort to get the committee to adverse the bill. If the committee passes the bill, they will make a fight before the House when it takes up the matter. The following men were named on the Committee:—J. O. Dickerson, C. H. Foshee, T. A. Curry, J. O. Middleton, Hill Foshee, W. M. Walker, T. B. Rainwater, C. P. Jeffcoat, W. R. Clements, H. A. Harris, and W. T. Bean.

Resolutions against the passage of this bill was adopted by the meeting, and not a man present voted against the adoption of same. There were three or four present who did not vote at all, however. Below we publish these resolutions:

Resolutions Adopted

"RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED BY A PUBLIC MEETING OF THE CITIZENS OF CHILTON COUNTY, JULY 28th, 1923.

"Whereas the present Senate of Alabama has recently passed a Bill entitled an Act to abolish the County Court of Chilton County, Alabama, and said Bill will presently be submitted to the House of Representatives of Alabama for its action thereon; and

"Whereas that said Bill, if enacted into law, will strike down an institution in Chilton County which is a valuable aid in the enforcement of the criminal laws of the State; will destroy a tribunal in which speedy and economical trials of misdemeanors are assured; will cause enlargement of the criminal dockets of the Circuit Court which means congestion of the business of the Circuit Court necessarily resulting in hardship to the citizen by drafts upon his time in attendance upon the various terms of the Circuit Court whether such attendance be as a party, witness, or juror; will make expensive drafts upon the Treasury of the County in payment for witnesses, jurors fees and other demands arising in the Circuit Court; and

"Whereas, said County Court is, and has been for many years, maintained at no costs whatever to the tax payers of the County, and has, and continues to maintain, an adequate Fine and Forfeiture Fund out of which the County has been, and is, enabled to pay all demands against it with a healthy balance on hand; and

"Whereas, said County Court, is, and has proven itself to be, for many years, a public necessity and without which the citizens of the County would be made to suffer great loss of time and money and would be without that protection of law which they now enjoy:

"BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED by the citizens of Chilton County, in Public Meeting Assembled and in which all trades, business, vocations, and political faiths represented in Chilton County, are present, and voting, that we respectfully protest against the enactment of said Bill.

"RESOLVED FURTHER that a copy of the foregoing Resolution be placed upon the desk of every member of the present House of Representatives and that said Resolutions be carefully considered by them.

CLUB ENCAMPMENT WAS BIG SUCCESS

Annual Meeting at Auburn Helpful to Young Farmers.

Auburn, Ala., July 30.—Information which will be invaluable to them in future, and experiences and pleasures which they will never forget, are the net gains of the agricultural club boys who attended the annual state encampment here, July 23-28.

State Club Leaders, T. A. Sims and J. L. Sibley, were in charge and the program included instructive talks and demonstrations on sanitation, livestock feeding, livestock judging, fruit growing, farm crops, fertilizers, insects, and other topics. All lessons were made simple and also practical.

Special assistance during the week was rendered by W. H. Kendrick, club leader for West Virginia, and F. G. Wrigley, secretary, State Boys' Work, Birmingham. Along with the work, games, swimming, picture shows and other recreations were featured.

During the encampment the boys were housed in the Alumni Gymnasium, and had their meals in the College co-operative dining hall, which is used by students during regular college sessions. The encampment was classed as an outstanding uccess.

PROTRACTED MEETING WEEK

Why it is that so many churches over the county selected the Fifth Sunday in July as the time to begin their revival meetings, we are not prepared to explain, but it is a noticeable fact, nevertheless. We have counted it up, and according to our figures there are at least a dozen churches within a radius of only a few miles of Clanton where protracted meetings are being held this week. The following churches are holding meetings, and we heard of two or three more:—Friendship, Concord, New Salem, Mulberry, East View, Chestnut Creek, Temple Church, Providence, and Macedonia.

This arrangement has very likely prevented numbers of people from attending as many big meetings as they wished, as they could not go to but one at a time. This is a rather peculiar coincidence, and one which we have not noticed of so forcibly before.

HOSPITAL STOCKHOLDERS MEETING

According to previous announcement the stockholders of the Central Alabama Hospital, Inc., met in regular annual session in Clanton Tuesday at 10 o'clock. Dr. V. J. Gragg, president, called the meeting to order, and the following business was transacted:

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:—President, Dr. V. J. Gragg; Vice-President, Dr. S. C. Wood; Treasurer, T. E. Wyatt; Secretary, Dr. T. J. Marcus; Board of Directors, J. Q. Wade, M. A. Gore, C. B. Cox, Dr. N. S. Johnson.

According to the reports made by the president and secretary of the hospital, the work of the institution is moving on very satisfactorily in every respect. The building has been completed, and they have about as many patients all the time as can be well cared for. The hospital has not failed to pay for itself a single month since its organization, and always realizes a nice surplus for its stockholders.

Only a small amount of the capital stock remains unsold. Some of the recent improvements made was the installation of the electric elevator and the paving of the walks all around the building.

The officers and Board of Directors are to be congratulated on the splendid way the affairs of the institution have been managed.

TERRACING WORK IS NOW TIMELY

To Withstand Winter Rains Terraces Should Be Constructed in Summer.

Auburn, Ala., July 30.—During the period between laying-by and harvest season terracing of stuble and other idle land will be urged by county demonstration agents and specialists of the Alabama Extension Service.

In a recent statement regarding this L. C. LeBron, specialist in terracing, states that this is a splendid season for terracing idle land, and that if work is done at this time it does not seriously interfere with other farm work.

"Terraces built during the summer and early fall," said Mr. LeBron, "become settled and are in better condition to withstand winter rains without injury."

Attention is called to the fact that washing can be prevented and leaching greatly reduced by terracing, and that the Federal Government places an additional value of $5.00 on each acre properly terraced.

For several years the Alabama Extension Service has been conducting demonstrations in the construction of low, broad-based terraces, which are rapidly becoming popular among the farmers of Alabama.

NEW OPERATING PROCESS

You have been reading in the daily papers about the doctors in the big cities recently performing operations without having to put the patient to sleep. Well, such practices are not out of line with Clanton surgeons either. One day last week Doctors Gragg and Marcus performed an operation on Tom McKee at the Central Alabama Hospital for appendicitis without putting Tom to sleep. The patient knew all about what was going on, and did not suffer any pain.

There is one thing that Clanton can brag about, and that is her doctors. We have some of the very best that can be found in any city, and they stay right jam up with the latest achievements in the medical and surgical world. They study out these late methods and apply them to their patients here at home with remarkable success.

The method Dr. Gragg used on Mr. McKee was the application of a local anaesthetic, that is a deadening medicine was applied locally on the place where the operating was to be done. Dr. Gragg said this operation was a success from every standpoint.

MANY STILLS CAPTURED BY STATE DEPUTIES

Numerous captures of stills and arrests for violation of the prohibition law were reported to headquarters of the state law enforcement department Monday.

Two sixty gallon stills, 200 gallons of beer, 10 gallons of whiskey and three men were captured in Montgomery county during the week-end by state and federal deputies.

In Jefferson county, a 350 gallon and a 100 gallon still, 1,750 gallons of beer. 10 gallons of whiskey and 3 men were taken.

Raids by state, county and federal deputies in Shelby county netted three 60, one 65 galoln, one 100 gallon and one 150 gallon still, with 2,400 gallons of beer, 5 gallons of whiskey and one man.

In addition, a Ford car was taken in Shelby, with 30 gallons of whiskey and 4 men, the sheriff's force aiding in the raid. Raids in Cleburne county by state and federal men yielded stills of 45 gallon, 50 gallon, one hundred, 150, eighty and 125 gallons capacity and nearly 5,000 gallons of beer.

APPLICATION FOR DAM FILED WITH COMMISSION

Application for a certificate of convenience and necessity, authorizing construction near Lock 2 on the Coosa river of a dam for the improvement of navigation and the development of hydro-electric power, was filed with the Alabama Public Service Commission Monday by the People's Hydro-Electric Power Company of Birmingham. The petition, which was filed by Roswell H. Cobb, president, and Armstrong Corey, counsel, of Birmingham, has been set down for consideration on the call of the commission's September docket.

KLINNER—HAYES

Mr. Narmon Klinner was married to Miss Evar Hayes Saturday night, July 15. It is reported that the young couple ran away from their parents to elope. They are of the Sardis community.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL OPENS 27th

Notice is hereby given that the Clanton Grammar School will open on Monday, August 27th. The incidental fee will be the same as it was last year. We are opening this school a little earlier than has been customary in order that it will not close at the same time the High school closes. You will find that the price of text books has advanced about 20 per cent since last year. Let me ask that each patron make as much preparation as possible for the opening of this school in order that we may get to work with the least possible delay.

W. E. MARTIN, Principal,
Clanton Grammar School.

MRS. RUTH KIRKLING

Mrs. Ruth Kirkling, age 64, died Wednesday night, July 25 at her home on Clanton, Route 5. She was buried the following day at Bay Springs Cemetery.

H. T. HENDERSON DEAD

Hubbard Townsend Henderson, age 66, died at his home two miles south of Clanton last Wednesday. He was buried Thursday at Samaria, Rev. T. J. Deason conducting the funeral services.

60-GALLON STILL DESTROYED

Sheriff Littlejohn and his force of deputies report that they destroyed a 60-gallon illicit distilling outfit near Pletcher last Thursday morning. The still was not in operation, but the operators had been there early that morning. There were also six barrels of beer at the still, which the officers destroyed.

BIG FISH CATCH

Messrs. Joe Gore, John Gore and Eugene Gore came into town Saturday morning with the biggest fish that has been caught this season. He was a yellow cat and weighed 73 1-2 pounds. They had several smaller ones. They caught the big fish on a trot line with a little 6-0 hook.

MULLINS CEMETERY

HOME COMING DAY IN COOSA COUNTY

Hundreds Gather at Flint Hill For Events—Prominent Speakers On Program.

Goodwater, Ala., July 31.—The home-coming at Flint Hill Methodist church, twenty miles west of here was largely attended from all sections of the state by those who formerly resided in that community. Several hundred gathered early and remained until four in the afternoon, during which time the regular program of the day was carried out.

Edmun B. Samuels, a resident of that community for more than forty years, presided with dignity and ease and made all feel at home.

W. J. Corley delivered the welcome address, and response was made by Rev. Butler Miller, pastor of First Church, Attalla, Ala., B. E. Samuels, leading attorney of Birmingham, also delivered an address in the morning. Rev. Walter Heflin, pastor of Central Park Methodist church, Birmingham, delivered an interesting sermon, the text being "What shall I do to be saved?" At the conclusion of the sermon, the old song, "Old Time Religion," was sung, and practically everyone present accepted the invitation of the minister to live a more consecrated life, and many were visibly affected by the sermon. Rev. Heflin was at one time pastor of Flint Hill church.

A bountiful dinner was spread in the shade of the grove and every one had an ample dinner of best things to eat.

In the afternoon, following dinner every person present who had ever attended school or taught there, formed in a column to twos, at the school building some three hundred yards away, and marched to the church, singing "Gathering Home." In this procession were men and women old and feeble, mixed with the present day school children, and line extended almost half way from church to school building. John A. Darden, attorney of Goodwater, and B. E. Samuels, attorney of Birmingham, led the procession, both of whom were reared and attended school in that community.

Other short speeches were made during the day by W. S. Darden and John A. Smith, Sr., both of whom attended school there over fifty years ago. Only three more were present who attended school there fifty years ago. Others were Prof. John Samuels, Gadsden, Ala., T. H. Smith, Goodwater, T. O. Kimbrough, Rockford, Brock King, Birmingham, John A. Darden, Goodwater and Veteran P. D. Culver, Rockford, who concluded his remarks by singing "Come Angel Band," which showed that the old soldier felt that his time was truly approaching was touching.

It is said that Flint Hill has sent out more men and women college graduates than any other community of the same population in this section.

Home Coming Day was truly a red letter day in the history of that community.

W. M. WYATT CALLED TO FORT PAYNE

On account of an urgent call back to his business in Fort Payne last Friday, Representative W. M. Wyatt from this county was unable to be present at the mass meeting here last Saturday. It is indeed a regret that Mr. Wyatt could not be present at this meeting.

President Harding Sick in Far West

Slowly Improving From Attack of Pneumonia—Physicians Hopeful of His Recovery.

BEDSIDE BULLETIN

The following bulletin was issued Tuesday afternoon:

"The president had a fairly comfortable night with considerable restful sleep.

"His temperature at 9 o.m. is 100; pulse 120; respiration 40 and regular. There has been no expansion of the pneumonic areas and the heart action is definitely improved.

"Nourishment and fluids are being taken regularly. Elimination is satisfactory.

"He expresses himself as feeling better and less exhausted.

"(Signed)
"C. E. SAWYER, M. D.
"RAY LIMAN WILBUR, M. D.
"C. M. COOPER, M. D.
"J. T. BOONE, M. D.
"HUBERT WORK, M. D."

Presidential Headquarters, Palace Hotel, San Francisco, July 31.—President Harding appeared Tuesday to have won the first preliminary skirmish in his fight against bronchopneumonia and attending complications.

An official bulletin issued by the five physicians attending him said there had been no extension during the night and earlier part of the day of the pneumonia areas and the heart action was definitely improved. It also added that he had benefitted by a fairly comfortable night with considerable restful sleep.

The president, the bulletin said, had expressed himself as feeling better and less exhausted. His temperature at 9 o'clock was given as 100, about a degree less than that of Monday; pulse 120, a drop of .5 from Monday, and his respiration 40 and regular as contrasted with 44 and irregular, as given in reports of Monday.

Equally as assuring as the oficial bulletin was the statement by Brig. Gen. Charles E. Sawyer, Harding's personal physician, made informally at 8 o'clock as follows:

"The president has had the best night comparatively that he has had since his illness began. That augurs well. The conditions seem to warrant the statement that apparently he has gotton into clear sailing."

Approximately six hours of sleep were obtained by the chief executive during the night and when he awakened about 6 o'clock his first request was for the morning newspapers.

CROPS OF CHILTON GOOD

According to reliable information gathered from all sections of Chilton County, the cotton crop is the best for several years. There seems to be generally a large healthy stalk, and the fruition is not at all bad. From all reports the boll weevil is not doing a great deal of damage in this county either. If the remainder of the season is favorable, there will be a bumper cotton crop made in Chilton county.

The corn crop does not average as high as the cotton, but with favorable conditions there will be lots of corn made. The garden and truck crops have produced well this time

INCREASING TRANSPORTATION TAX ON FARMERS AND WAGE EARNERS PROTESTED

Automobile Dealers and Repair Men Leaving Montgomery on the "Automotive Special" for Mobile Meeting.

Launching a state-wide fight to save owners of automobiles from additional heavy taxes, the Alabama Automotive Trades Association, composed of automobile dealers and repair men from all counties, met in Mobile on Monday, July 23rd, to protest against proposed legislation to increase the cost of operating automobiles in Alabama. A special train, with President Reese Adamson in charge, carried the delegates to the meeting, which was the seventeenth regular semi-annual gathering.

The automobile men contend that proposed legislation would increase the cost of operating automobiles in Alabama about 25 per cent. In view of the fact that 75 per cent of these cars are low-priced automobiles, owned by farmers and wage earners who use them to reach schools, churches and markets, it is argued that these farmers and wage earners who could least afford to pay the proposed tax, would bear the burden of this tax.

The meeting also strongly urged that the two-cent-per-gallon tax on motor fuel being collected at the present time should be spent entirely on the building and maintenance of highways, thus saving automobile owners the cost of depreciation and maintenance of cars due to poor roads.

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. NORTON, Manager)

A walk around the grounds and an inspection of the building where our public school is supposed to be held, and to begin early in September, reveals the fact that so far not a thing has been done towards making it a fit place for the assembling and teaching of the 150 or more boys and girls of Thorsby district.

Last year, for a part of the school term, one of the grades, as an emergency measure, were permitted to use a room in the Congregational church, but it may be stated as the consensus of opinion among officers and members of the church, that those responsible for providing accommodations for the school have had time enough since last March to make necessary preparation in some other way and should not ask to have such an emergency arrangement continued.

Having become unexpectedly available, Rev. N. A. Long preached Sunday morning at the Congregational church, in place of Rev. E. W. Butler, as announced last week. Mr. Long's sermon was delivered in simple discourse that closely held the attention of the entire audience, and was of a character likely to be remembered by most of the people who heard it. We consider Mr. Long, although as yet a student, a young man of considerable ability and a distinct acquisition to the ministry in this section.

On Sunday night, after the Christian Endeavor meeting, a sort of mass meeting was held, for a short time, composed of officers and members of the church and congregation, and a goodly number of people from other churches, or no church, who were present by invitation to hear and act upon the report of the committee, appointed two weeks previously, to confer with Rev. J. W. Davenport regarding his resignation as pastor of the church.

The report of the committee was unanimous and recommended that Bro. Davenport be requested to withdraw his resignation. Opportunity was given for free discussion of a motion to adopt the report of the committee, and when the people present were asked their wish by a rising vote, first on the affirmative then on the negative, there was but one dissenting vote and that with qualifications not necessary to a vote on the question before the meeting.

At the evening service, held after the mass meeting, Prof. C. M. Williams read two short and interesting magazine articles setting forth the present status of The American Board's Missionary work in Turkey. A quartette consisting of Misses Lorena and Lois Primm and Revs. Butler and Long, with Miss Bernice Williams at the organ sang "He Knows It All."

Next Sunday at 11 a.m., Rev. Butler is expected to preach, and at night, after Christias Endeavor meeting, a group of young people, under direction of Mrs. E. W. Butler will present a missionary play entitled "If They Only Knew."

Rev. J. W. Davenport spent the week-end in Atlanta. On next Sunday night he expects to deliver his illustrated lecture on "The Passion Play" at Liberty Church. This engagement is the direct result of a desire on the part of Rev. Foshee, the pastor of Liberty church, to give his people an opportunity to see these wonderful pictures and hear the story of "Passion Week" in the life of Jesus Christ.' If any are sensitive about going to church to see a play, we can assure them that if they do attend they will be neither shocked nor offended. In both the lecture and the missionary play legitimate use is made of means at hand to present in a graphic and understandable manner truths pertaining to religious affairs in different parts of the world.

The Ladies' Aid Social of the Congregational church will be held Thursday afternoon, August 3rd at the home of Mrs. C. M. Williams a half mile west of Thorsby.

Next week, Thursday, the Baptist Ladies' Aid will meet with Mrs. G. F. Harper.

Miss Lenore S. Goodwin and her adopted daughter, Agnes Lenore, who have been visiting Miss Goodwin's sister, Mrs. S. E. Norton for the past two weeks, left Tuesday night for their home at Fairhope, Ala., where they will remain for three weeks, then come back and spend the last week of August with the Nortons before returning to Tryon, N. C., where Miss Goodwin has been employed for more than a year past.

Mrs. Charles S. Howard and daughter, Ella also left Tuesday night for a visit to Mrs. Howard's parents at St. Elmo.

Mrs. Erdahl and daughter, Anna are moving from Thorsby to Birmingham, where Miss Inga Erdahl, another daughter is now employed and where Miss Anna hopes to find employment while the mother makes a home for all of them. Mrs. Erdahl is one of the pioneer colonists of Thorsby of sterling Scandanavian stock and will be greatly missed by her many friends and especially by members of the Lutheran church where she has been one of the active workers. We wish the family all success in their new home.

Mrs. Ethel Wright Loveland, of Thorsby Institute faculty, detailed for field work, is now in Alabama attending the various district association meetings of the Congregational denomination in the interest of the school. She has been several days in Southeast Alabama, returned to Thorsby Wednesday night and is intending to go to Christiana District Conference in northern Alabama the last of this week.

Mr. J. R. Martin, who owns the property formerly owned and occupied as a drug store by Mr. A. K. Horn, is now making such repairs on the building as will put it in shape for occupancy. It is reported on the street that Mrs. Bradford, wife of the former manager of Thorsby Drug Company, will open the Martin Store in the near future as an up-to-date cafe and delicatassen shop, soda fountain, etc.

Miss Ruth Gerald and Miss Esther Johnson, both graduates of Thorsby Institute, now occupy positions in the office of President Frank E. Jenkins at Piedmont College, Demorest, Ga., where they will enter as students in September. Miss Bessie Hughes and Miss Mary Ella Gerald, also graduates of Thorsby Institute, expect to enter Piedmont this fall. Mr. Sumner Gerald is now there as assistant to Dean Rogers, and will be a member of the faculty in the preparatory department of the college, where he graduated last June. Mr. Rasco Maddox of Thorsby, also a graduate of Thorsby Institute, will be a senior there, graduating next June. Every one of these young people made splendid records in scholarship in the Thorsby Institute, and have set a high standard of student quality in the college of their choice. These with others who have gone before them have won a name for Thorsby Institute graduates, which makes them extremely desirable to secure for the student body in that college.

The Hudgins bill, now being considered in the Alabama legislature, which provides for compulsory attendance at the public schools of the state, during sessions of the school, of all children between the ages of seven and sixteen, simply denotes the "Vaulting Ambition" of some of our law makers, who seem very anxious to get bills which bear their name on the statute books regardless of any possibility of enforcement or provision for it.

Everybody who is at al lfamiliar with educational facilities in Alabama knows that there is not and has not been in recent years either housing facilities or qualified teaching force, as requied by laws already adopted, to meet the requirements of those who want to go to school.

The attendance in our rural schools is increasing rapidly year by year and the number who graduate from the seventh grade and should enter junior high school is far beyond the capacity of the state schools to care for and will be until public sentiment is created that will sarifice in every way to provide necessary facilities. This bill, if adopted, would close the door of opportunity to thousands of boys and girls in Alabama now being educated, at no expense to the state, in the many private and denominational schools for either white or colored children who have graduated from the primary schools. Most of these schools are maintained by church denominations, and Christian influences are brought to bear on them which develops their spiritual natures. Can any one justly claim that this is a detriment to any citizen of the state? Many Christian parents prefer to have their children educated under such influences, and are willing to pay well for it. If these schools do not meet the lawful requirements of the state department of education as to standards or curriculum, or willingness to open their doors to state education officials, they should be closed. Otherwise they should be considered a valuable adjunct t othe educational system of the state. Another objection to this bill is its very doubtful constitutionality. Our law makers have so often put over that kind of legislation, that they can well afford to wait until the United States Supreme Court have passed upon the constitutionality of an almost identical bill passed by the legislature of another state and now up to this court for a decision.

Rev. J. A. Raines of Verbena was in Clanton Friday and Saturday of last week on business.

Examinations for removing conditions will be held Friday, August 17th. Entrance examinations come Saturday, August 25th. Registration of all first year students is set for Thursday, August 30; registration of second year, third year, and fourth year, Friday, August 31. Opening exercises to the public will be held on Friday evening, 8 o'clock, August 31. Lessons will be assigned on the day of registration and recitations will begin on Monday, September 3rd.

Books are about thirty per cent higher this year, so do not be surprised when the book store tells you the price. I do not think there were any changes made in the course of study, due to the fact that the State will have to adopt new texts next year or renew the contract again.

The Supreme Court has ruled that the special fees must be used for laboratory and shop equipment and material instead of partly for general running expenses as heretofore. This means that the matriculation fee must be raised, for a two and one-half dollars fee each term will not take care of the coal, insurance, janitor's salary, repairs, and other items of running expenses. The matriculation fee will be three and one-half dollars per term. Special fee for library and laboratory equipment will be two and one-half dollars per term. Thus the fees of each pupil will be six dollars ($6.00) per term. I shall appoint three members of the Senior class to keep a check on how the special fees are being paid out. I do not want any pupil to feel like he is paying a fee for library and laboratory and then the money be spent for something else. I have already ordered $175 worth of Chemistry equipment. This will be on hand when school opens. Every dollar that the pupils pay in for equipment is going to be used for that purpose. It is for this reason that I have raised the matriculation fee and the special fees. After the pupils see that there is really being added all the equipment possible to be bought with their fees, I think they will agree with me that it is better to raise the fees and equip the school than to keep them low and have nothing with which to work. The library is considered a "shop" for the English department. We hope to make it a "work-shop" this year.

The county board is positive in their attitude toward hazing. No pupil will be allowed to register until he or she has signed a pledge that he or she will not indulge in any form of hazing during the entire school year. Anyone who does not live up to his pledge will be dismissed from the school for the rest of the year. There will be no ten-day suspension for hazing. I know what hazing is in its various forms. I took mine in the Freshman year of college, but I never did think it was right. After I got out of the Freshman class, I did all I could to keep hazing within reason. It is like the liquor traffic, it is not based on reason and can not be regulated. For this reason I have decided to take a firm stand against it. The students must leave it off or leave school. Parents are cautioned now to let their children understand how they feel about it. If they want them to haze, then send them somewhere else. Chilton County High School has abolished hazing and everybody might as well let that point soak in good and deep before school opens. I have heard of a few who say that they are going to haze and that I can not stop it. The sooner they get that idea out of their heads the better it wil lbe for them.

PARENTS:—If your children indulge in hazing they will be dismissed from school. If you back them up in it, you will be to blame.

If the space is allowed, I have something else to tell you next week. This is about all you can stand at one time. Read the first paragraph again.

Respectfully submitted,
IRA PEGUES, Principal,
Chilton County High School.

NON-RESIDENT NOTICE

The State of Alabama, Chilton County. Circuit Court, in Equity.

Abbie Little, Complainant, vs. J. J. Little Defendant.

In this cause it is made to appear to the Register by the affidavit of Omar L. Reynolds, that the Defendant is a non-resident, and that his place of residence and post-office address is unknown, and that such address cannot be ascertained after reasonable effort; and, further, that, in the belief of said affiant, the Defendant is of the age of twenty-one years:

It is, therefore, ordered by the Register that publication be made in The Union-Banner, a newspaper published in the County of Chilton, once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring the said J. J. Little to plead, answer, or demur to the bill of complaint in this cause by the 31st day of August, 1923, or, in thirty days thereafter, a decree pró confesso may be taken against him.

Done at office in Clanton, this 28th day of July, 1923.

ALABAMA NEWS HAPPENINGS.

A Resume of the More Important Events of Interest Condensed To An Epitomized Form.

J. H. Hastie of Sylacauga has an old coin that was dug up in Talladega Creek, when some workmen were erecting a bridge. It is in almost perfect condition. It is made of silver, and is a Spanish coin dated 1778. It is neatly made and is just as perfect as one of modern times. It is 145 years old and if lost here at that time, this section was full of Indians and was explored by Spanish some time about that date. Other Spanish relics have been reported found in this section together with many Indian relics.

Bryce Insane Hospital authorities are gathering their first peach crop off the 1,500 trees planted on the hospital grounds. The trees are bearing beautifully. Already 500 bushels have been picked, which are being consumed by the inmates at the hospital. It is expected that between 1,000 and 1,500 bushels of peaches will be gatehred when the work of picking is completed. An unusually fine corn crop was raised on the hospital farm this year and ensilage is being cut to be usel for the dairy herd. A fine sweet potato crop is expected and all other farm products are good this year, from present indications.

The Coosa River bridge, at the old B. & A. Railroad crossing, which Talladega has been tirelessly working to be made a free bridge, was taken over by the state highway department when Talladega and St. Clair counties each paid into the state treasury $12,500, and the state issued a check for $75,000 to pay for the bridge after the deeds were turned over to the state. In other words, the State of Alabama owns the bridge, having paid $50,000 of the purchase price of $75,000.

Of the $6 000,000 of highway improvement bonds sold by the state of Alabama, there is still to the credit of Chairman John A. Rogers of the $2,830,280.41, according to a statement of Chairman Jhn A. Rogers of the State Highway Commission. In other words the amount of this money so far expended upon the building of roads and bridges in the state is only a little in excess of $3,000,000, or in exact figures, $2,169,719.59.

A big planing mill, with a daily capacity of 125,000 feet of dressed lumber, recently erected at Fort Deposit, and equipped with the latest modern machinery, owned and operated by Marks & Betty, of Montgomery, has commenced operations. There has recently been installed near Fort Deposit a number of new sawmills which will supply raw material for this big plant.

Tuscaloosa will make an effort to secure the 1924 convention of the State Christian Harmony Singing association at the state convention in Birmingham August 17, 18 and 19, according to G. T. O'Guinn, president of the Tuscaloosa association. The state convention, Mr. O'Guinn states, is attended by 2,000 or more persons, and he believes Tuescaloosa's bid will be accepted.

A white infant was found within a few miles of Mulg buried in the woods, by a group of boys who were passing. The infant was wrapped in a cloth and buried under about six inches of earth, according to Chief J. I. Reeder, who was called to the scene. There were marks of violence on the head, the skull being crushed.

John Riley who was run over and seriously injured by a car two years ago, was knocked down by a car in much the same way near Attalla recently. He was hurled 25 feet in the air. He was rolling a disabled car out of the road when a big automobile came along and ran into him it is stated.

Money has been appropriated for the improvement of both the high and grammar schools at Fort Deposit.

A get-together meeting of Tuscaloosa county farmers and merchants was held at Moore's bridge in that county. About 400 persons attended, and a big barbecue was enjoyed.

Actual construction of the Birmingham-Gadsden highway in St. Clair county has begun. The work is being done between Ashville and the Jefferson county line.

Mrs. Ola Dennis of Mt. Creek is visiting relatives in Sylacauga this week.

ALABAMA POWER COMPANY AND THE PUBLIC

Our Power Policy

It is the policy of Alabama Power Company to develop and distribute electric power so as to make its service available over the greatest possible area; to the greatest possible number of people of Alabama, and at the lowest rates consistent with an adequate return upon its investment.

Alabama Power Company realizes the part electric power plays in the economic life of our State. It is endeavoring to visualize Alabama's future as well as her present needs, and fashion its policy in a broad, constructive way to fit these needs.

In fashioning its policy, Alabama Power Company is actuated by a desire to serve all classes of industry and citizens of our State.

It is constructing its power lines, where practicable, parallel to railroad lines, first because the greatest number of industrial plants and people may be served thereby, and second, because of the fact that some day, perhaps not far off, many of these railroads will be electrified.

It considers it an obligation not only to extend its service to the large cities and towns, the centers of population, but to the villages, semi-rural and rural communities, wherever it is economically feasible to do so. It hopes to be able to extend its service to—

THE MANUFACTURER, that his output may be increased, his costs reduced, his profits enlarged, and that he may be able to compete with others enjoying power service;

THE WORKER, that he may make electricity his servant, to perform his every command at the touch of a button or switch, and be freed from inhuman toil;

THE MERCHANT, that his store and windows may be well-lighted, that his name be flashed by an electric sign, and thus keep pace with others;

THE HOUSEWIFE, that she may be freed from drudgery by the magic of the numberless electric household appliances of today; and

THE FARMER, that his arduous toil may be lessened and his productivity increased by the application of electricity where practicable to his many tasks.

Yet in prosecuting this policy, Alabama Power Company is aware of the difficulties which it will and is now encountering in carrying it out.

The cost of distribution of electric power is in direct proportion to the amount of power and the distance service is to be extended. ALABAMA POWER COMPANY'S RATES ARE PRACTICALLY UNIFORM THROUGHOUT THE STATE. Where the load is sufficient and the distance not too great, it is entirely practicable to extend service without a loss. But in semi-rural and rural communities, where there are few if any manufactories, and business houses and homes are widely scattered, it is a difficult problem to make our service available, except at a loss or an increase in rates, both of which are equally undesirable. The service of communities of this class presents a problem to which we are devoting considerable time with the hope that it may be solved. Our engineers are attempting to devise cheaper yet durable types of construction for rural service.

The helpful and constructive suggestions and co-operation of citizens of Alabama will go far toward hastening the day when the benefits of electric power service will be enjoyed almost universally in our State.

The Value of Land Abstracts

It is not safe to buy land or to lend money and accept land as security without first investigating the title of the land. Often there are unpaid mortgages, judgments, or other liens affecting the title, which an abstract would set out. Therefore, when buying land or lending money thereon, it is important that an abstract of title be furnished. A few dollars spent for an abstract is cheaper than going ahead and having a law suit a little later on.

We have quit hearing anything about the state-wide stock law bill before the Legislature. It is a pity but that our law makers would stop quibbling over frivilous politics and give us some real legislation.

Since Oscar Underwood got in Montgomery the legislators have quit making laws and gone to campaigning for Underwood for president of the United States. Well, it will take some campaigning to get him there.

During the first six months of this year the county court of Chilton County netted for the county the sum of $5,144.22. Besides this, it gives to us quick disposition of our small criminal cases. It would be a poor policy for us to try to get along without this necessary institution.

There was a noticeable difference between the mass meeting at the court house last Saturday to work against the passage of the bills to abolish our county and commissioners court and the little coterie that met secretly in an unknown place a few weeks ago and framed those outrageous schemes. Although the weather was very disagreeable, the court room was almost full, and there was not a soul present who voted in favor of passing such a law. The Republican party believes in letting the people talk; the Democrats believe in machine rule.

It is amusing how the Democrats love to talk negro. They have always pretended to advocate a distinct line of separation between the two races, but in the case of the Tuskegee Hospital for negro soldiers they have exactly reversed their so-called separation policy. They want President Harding to supply white doctors and nurses to wait on those sick negro ex-soldiers. Now isn't that a nice example of distinction between the whites and blacks. Just think of Democrats wanting their wives and daughters in the capacity of nurses to take the jobs of working in the sick rooms with those negro men. And still they continue to blow about "the Lilly-White Democratic Party." There's one thing we have to hand to the Democrats, and that is that they have got the nerve.

"REDS" RETREAT

The "Reds" announce that they "believe in any means to attain our ends." When a bunch of them started for Texas to resort to some of those means, the Texans dropped a hint that they were ready to use any means to defend their lives and property, whereupon the reds decided to stop short of Texas. Force will win unless it is met with force. There is no policy more disastrous than pacificism gone to seed.

WHY SO MODEST?

Hamilton Holt, who wants the United States to surrender to the League of Nations, says that "What we need in Washington is some one with the courage of Roosevelt, the humanity of Taft, or the vision of Wilson, but I see no one there with any of these qualities." Well, why doesn't he run for President himself, or for Senator from New York, and thus give the country the benefit of the services of a man who thinks he possesses all three of the desired qualities?

ONE REAL BASIS

Fundamentally at the bottom of the movement now so auspiciously beginning to advertise Alabama and its resources and opportunities to the world is the purpose to assist and energize the state's agricultural activities and make the man who follows the plow his own master by surrounding him with those economic conditions that will bring him wealth and prosperity. When this is done, all else will be added unto us.—Selma Times-Journal. (Editorial, Birmingham Age-Herald, Birmingham, Ala., July 10, 1923.)

CAN HULL COMMIT HIS PARTY?

Old line Democrats in Oklahoma are refusing to bow to the Farmer-Labor leaders who have sought to steal the Democratic strength for themselves. Those officials of the Democratic National Committee who boast of the part they played in electing Senator Magnus Johnson in Minnesota would do well to listen to reports from other States. Respectable Democrats do not propose to see their party made a tool of the so-called Farmer-Labor group, and there are enough of them to turn out of office those party leaders whose sympathies are with Johnson and his followers.

HANK THE PLUTE

In the last ten years the Rockefeller Foundation has received about $183,000,000 from John D. Rockefeller, and has disbursed about $94,000,000, besides pledging $15,000,000 from future income. Nobody doubts that the money has been most wisely spent for the benefit of mankind. Mr. Rockefeller is no longer the world's richest man. Henry Ford has taken his place. When will the latter be able to give an accounting such as that for the Rockefeller fortune? Perhaps he thinks that the marketing of cheap automobiles confers a marked benefit on the world, even though he makes a hundred millions a year in the process.

ENTANGLEMENTS AVOIDED

Washington, July 30.—"The people of the United States have just witnessed one more demonstration of the wisdom of their leaders in international diplomacy," asserts the Republican Publicity Association, thru its President, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr. "By keeping its head and proceeding in a careful and dignified manner, the Harding administration avoided serious entanglements in the quarrels of the Near East.

"Less than a year ago the Turks turned on the Greek Army in Asia Minor, threw it out of the country, and captured Symrna. The civilian Greeks in the Near East found themselves in such a plight that the United States was urged to send ships and soldiers to hold the Turks in check. The alleged horrible conditions of so-called 'Christian minorities' became the theme of internationalists, pacifists, and ill-advised but well meaning ministers of the gospel, and petitions poured in on President Harding demanding that he use all the power of the United States to turn back the terrible Turk and save the poor 'Christians' from his clutches. To his everlasting credit be it said, Mr. Harding refused to rush into war at the behest of some of our hysterical citizens. A number of warships were dispatched to the Near East to maintain American rights, but there was no deviation from the American policy of no foreign entanglements.

"Subsequent events have proved the wisdom of the President's course. A treaty has been signed between Turkey on the one hand and Great Britain, France, Italy, Japan, Roumania and Greece on the other, which establishes peace in the Near East. Its terms reveal the complete unconcern of those countries for the 'Christian minorities,' that is, the Greeks, in Turkey. They are to be removed, forcibly if need be, from their homes and returned to Greece. Europe has little sympathy for those people now, and had little last year when the Turkish army was pressing them. The real object of all the agitation for the United States to rescue them was to draw this country into the European maelstrom. Numerous other schemes had failed, but if we could be induced to send an army and navy against the Turks, for the purpose of aiding the Christians in Asia Minor, we would not only pull some British, French, and Grecian chestnuts out of the fire, but would become inextricably involved in Old World diplomacy and would be called upon to bear further and greater burdens.

"President Harding sensed the situation accurately, and it is due to his judgment and foresight that billions have not been added to the national debt, and thousands of lives sacrificed. The United States has been kept free from being a party to the recent treaty concluded at Lausanne, with all the obligations it entails upon its signers.

"Americans should have a proper appreciation of the momentous events in the Near East during the past year, and how fundamentally they would have affected this country had a Wilson administration, with its policy of 'supreme sacrifice,' been in power, or had President Harding been animated with any less concern for his country's welfare.

"The United States owes a debt to Warren G. Harding in this matter which it can never repay."

"EXPERIENCE HAS TAUGHT"

Russia is slowly arriving at the point where she admits the need of capital in industry. General Kameneff is quoted in a speech as saying, "Experience has taught us that we were not sufficiently prepared and that we cannot get along without capital." He is urging a temporary denationalization of industries. In view of the intolerant attitude of the soviets since they assumed power, Kameneff's statement is a big concession. If the Russian government will recognize the right of property ownership so that capital can enter the country with confidence, it may be that the end of Russian communism will be in sight. The benefits will be so great and immediate that there will be little desire to return to the old system.

QUEZON RUNS AMUCK

And now the political rash has broken out in the Philippines and a young roisterer named Quezon is raising hob. Quezon was one time Philippine delegate to Congress. He is a Tagalog full of perfervid oratory and swollen with ambition. Outside of that he amounts to little. If he could have his way the Filipinos would revert to type in a generation, if the Moros didn't eviscerate them in the meantime. Wood is a patient man and can handle the situation in Manila if any one can. But he must agree with the South Carolina editor and with us, and wonder "will the world ever settle down so a man can go bass fishing?"

REV. COLLEY TO PREACH

We are requested to announce that Rev. J. O. Colley of Selma will preach at the Clanton Baptist Church next Sunday at 11 o'clock. It is not known yet whether he will preach at the night service, but announcement of that will be made later.

MARCH OF THE SOUTH

The facts to support this claim are formidable. The South has $4,000,000,000 more capital invested in manufactures than the United States had in 1880. Its investment in cotton mills is five times as great as the National investment in 1880. It produces almost as much pig iron, more than twice as much coal, and 12 times as much petroleum as the Nation did in 1880.

Its railroad mileage is equal to the entire Nation's in 1880, the value of its agricultural products is more than double the Nation's in 1880, and its exports, expressed in dolalrs are half a billion in excess of the Nation's figures in 1880.

Between 1900 and 1920, Southern farm property quadrupled in value, rising from $5,262,000,000 to $21,685,000,000. Between 1904 and 1921, Southern home insurance in Southern companies grew to $1,714,000,000, an increase of 6358 per cent. Total bank deposits in the South, $6,273,000,000 in 1922, were nearly ten times those of 20 years ago.—Cincinnati Times-Star. (Editorial, The Selma Times-Journal, July 5, 1923.)

OBITUARY

Our community was saddened last Sunday morning when we learned the angel of death with its cold icy arms took away the sweet and loving wife of Mr. J. M. Ramsey. She died Sunday morning at 2:30. She was in the hospital just three days before death claimed her sweet spirit. Oh how sad it was and such a shock to us all. She was in one hospital, her husband in another. He was too weak to be with her but he sent word not to spare expenses, do everything that could be done to save his wife, and everything that doctors and nurses and loved ones could do was done, but God knew best; His will must be done. We all have got to submit to it. The Lord giveth and He taketh away when He sees fit. We know she had a good earthly home; she had such a kind and devoted husband; done everything for her comfort; stood by her in her former sickness, never leaving her side only a few moments at the time. She was conscious nearly to the end, asked about her husband several times. She bore her suffering so patiently, never murmuring, but her sweet spirit is at rest. They lived happily together for eighteen years and seven months; always did everything for each other's hapiness.

Weep not dear ones for your loved one that is gone, for she is with Jesus, where there is no more suffering. Your loss is her eternal gain. She is gone where all is peace and love. We can't comfort these mourning ones, can only sympathize and commend them to the love and mercy of God, who doeth all things right; for God alone can calm the waves of sorrow, bring peace and comfort to those aching hearts.

She was a devoted wife and loving Christian. None never knew her but what loved her. She was a friend to all; always willing to do what she could for others. So kind and sweet—always had a smile for everyone.

Weep not dear ones, live as she has lived, righteous unto the end when you leave this sad world she will meet you at the golden gates, where there will be no more parting, no sad farewells, for she is now enjoying the glories of Heaven

She leaves a father and mother and several brothers and sisters, and husband and a host of relatives and friends to mourn her loss. Her husband attended her funeral by a doctor coming with him.

SCHOOL NOTICE

The County Board of Education has requested me to announce to the public:—

1st.—That all communities will be expected to meet on Aug. 11th at their school buildings and select trustees for each school of the county to serve for the next two years, and 2nd.—That all contracts for transportation will be considered at the next meeting of the Board, Aug. 31st. Any one desiring to bid on any route please have bid ready by that date.

HOWARD L. FOSHEE,
8-2-2t. County Supt. Education.

Mrs. Lucinda Dunlap of South Clanton was very pleased to have her son and daughter from Sylacauga with her for a few days, Miss Beulah Dunlap and Bro. Morris.

The Railroads Are Spending Millions of Dollars in order to Better Serve You

The railroads of this country have recently expended or have authorized for improvements sums aggregating $1,540,000,000. This is equivalent to an average of approximately $6,600 per mile.

During the 12 months ending May 1, 1923, the L. & N. Railroad has expended and authorized a total of $52,486,510—an amount 3 times greater than the actual income from the operation of its property—equivalent to an average of $10,411 per mile. This large expenditure of money—far above the National average—is being made by the L. & N. to provide more freight cars and locomotives, bridges, terminal facilities, etc. and place the whole plant equipment in shape to render better service to the public; and this is being done in spite of the fact that, since the end of Federal control, the average rate of return earned by the L. & N. has been only 2.33 per cent.

The railroads are doing their best to furnish efficient transportation at the lowest possible cost. Do nothing that will hamper them.

WEEVILNIP

Never Fails to NIP THE WEEVIL When Properly Applied

Now is the time to use your WEEVILNIP. Don't let the weevils get your best crop of fruitage. You can beat them to it if you will use WEEVILNIP.

Washington, Ga., July 17th, 1923.
Mr. J. W. Ray,
Macon, Ga.
Dear Sir:—

I have your letter regarding the poisoning of boll weevils and am very glad to state that WEEVILNIP is proving very satisfactory on our cotton. A good many of our men are using your poison and I am very glad to say that every comment I have heard regarding it has been very praise-worthy.

I do not know of a single field of cotton in the county that is not being poisoned this year, and the prospects are very favorable at this time for the cotton crop, and we have been having some extremely hot weather for the last six weeks. We have had our first rain today and all farm crops were needing it, especially corn and hay crops.

Very truly yours,
F. O. MONTAGUE,
County Farm Demonstration Agent for the Georgia State College of Agriculture.

Watkinsville, Ga., July 17, 1923.
Mr. J. W. Ray,
Macon, Ga.
Dear Sir:—

. . . . I have 5 acres that I am using WEEVILNIP on in different sections of the country, and the last trip round to look over the demonstrations I failed to find any weevils at all. . . . . If we continue to hold the weevils down we can make a crop without very much trouble and expense.

Yours truly,
S. D. TRUITT, Farm Demonstrator
For Oconee County Public Schools.

POOR ORIGINAL

L. H. Reynolds Writes Regarding County Court

Clanton, Ala., Aug. 2, 1923.
Editor Union-Banner:

If you will allow me space in your peaper I will say a few words in regard to the proposed bill now pending before the legislature to abolish the county court of Chilton county.

This bill in effect provides that the county court shall be abolished and its jurisdiction conferred upon the circuit court. The fight in opposition to this bill has not been characterized by lines of partnership altogether for Democrats as well as Republicans have lined up in opposition to it. Below are given some facts relative to a comparison of the county court and circuit court during the first six months of the year 1923:

Ciruit court disposed of 26 criminal ases during this period.

County court disposed of 118 criminal cases during this period.

The expenses of the circuit court was	$1961.40
The total amount paid into the county treasury by the circuit court was	345.00
The circuit court therefore operated at a loss of	$716.40
The total expense of county court was—
Judge's salary	$150.00
Solicitor's salary	300.00
For this period, making a total of	$450.00
The total amount of fines paid into the county treasury during said period was	$5594.22
The county court therefore netting the county	$5144.22

The circuit court was in session six days and the county court approximately eight days.

Eight of the 118 cases were appealed from county court to circuit court and five of the 26 cases were appealed from ircuit court to the court of appeals.

If the county court had been abolished during this period the 110 cases disposed of by county court would of necessity have arisen in county court and at the rate the circuit court has heretofore disposed of cases, it would have required four weeks for the ircuit court to have disposed of this number of cases at a cost of approximately $4,000, while the county court disposed of this number of cases at a cost of $450.00.

The county court has in the last four years transferred to the road fund to work the public roads $9,762.52. May I ask you what would have become of these roads if it had not been for this money?

The proposed bill does not abolish the office of county solicitor and therefore the only saving is the $300 paid the Judge of Probate. The proposed bill provides for a trial by jury if the party so desires and the record shows that in misdemeanor cases in circuit court more than 98 per cent demand jury trials. So no matter how frivolous the case might be the result would be that juries would have to be empanelled at numerous times of the year to try these frivolous cases at a cost of approximately $150 a day, whereas county court operates at a cost of $2.50 a day and is always open for the trial and dispositions of petty litigation. It is cognizant to the fair minded man that every time a misdemeanant in the nature of a recalcitrant boy, or one riding a freight train and numerous other petty litigations that does arise and must arise in every county must have a jury of the best citizenship of our county, leaving the crops and businesses at great expense to themselves and county or else the misdemeanant would of necessity have to await his turn until the term of circuit court arrives, or in case of inability to make bond will have to remain in jail, being fed at the expense of the county as well as being done an injustice himself.

It is also apparent that from the nature of the method of procedure in the county court and circuit court the docket would in a very short while beome so congested that in great many cases trials would be so delayed that witnesses would remove themselves from the locality and die and in this way numerous defendants would escape justice.

From a lawyer's standpoint it is practically indisputable that the abolition of the county court would be in their favor. It is well known that delays in criminal cases is one of the best, if not the main, fighting tool of a lawyer.

In the county court during the first six months of this year 24 per cent of the defendants were reprented by lawyers, the other 76 per cent pleading guilty and generally managing their own cases. However the records in circuit court show that 98 per cent of the defendants were represented by lawyers as the procedure of circuit court is more compliated and legal tactics are more strictly adhered to. To again quote a few more figures, your county solicitor and judge of your county court have disposed of during the above stated time around 200 cases without lawyers being employed. Estimating that the average lawyer's fee for each case would be $20, this was a saving to the people of the county of over $4,000. Now if the county court had been abolished and these cases had arisen in circuit court the records show that 98 per cent have heretofore hired lawyers. So if the reports are true that a lawyer in Montgomery drafted this bill and that it was sanctioned and proposed by two lawyers and affirmed by some political aspirants of Clanton, you can readily see why.

All of the above data is given without any reflections whatever upon the circuit court or its officers because it is not blamable to either, but we all know the reason, for the different method of proedure in the circuit court from that in the county court which makes it impossible for the ircuit court to dispose of as muh work as the ounty court. I am sincere in saying that our present circuit judge is a very able and apable judge and very efficient in the handling of his work, but on account of the handicaps in circuit ourt in the way of a strit proedure and legal technicalities, I do not believe that the ounty would be benefitted by having small petty litigations transferred to the circuit court.

The charge is being made that my two sons get most of the practice in the county court. However they get a larger per cent of the practice in the circuit court than they do in county court and the per cent of their practice in chancery court is about the same. I don't think any self-thinking man could for one minute claim that I have any influence over the circuit court or chancery court. Yet the records show (which I will gladly produce upon the demand of any person) that the practice of my sons is practically as large in hancery court and even larger in circuit court than it is in county court which I think clearly refutes those charges being made. On the other hand these two lawyers who I have been informed are responsible for this bill, from the records (also which I will gladly produce on request) show that one of them has had seven cases in county court and one in criminal court and that the other lawyer has not had a single case in either court from Jan. 1, 1922 to March 1, 1923. So it is self-evident why some are so anxious to have the county court abolished.

I simply wanted to call the attention of the people of this county to a few facts in connection with this bill, as I have been informed that some self-styled politicians have been misinforming the people; that one politician, of whom we all know, has been making the assert.on that the county court costs the county $9,000 per year, thereby securing names on the petition by this false misrepresentation. I have also been informed that a certain preacher has been standing on the streets of Jemison informing the people that I get $5.00 for every case tried.

As I stated above, both Democrats and Republicans, in a large measure, have joined hands to defeat this proposed bill, and it does not stand for reason that the legislature being cognizant of the fact that this bill will govern the life, liberty and property of 24,000 people will arbitrarily or capriciously make laws or break laws to suit the convenience of two dissatisfied lawyers or a body of political aspirants at the sacrifice and expense to the great body of the tax payers of Chilton county.

Yours very truly,
L. H. REYNOLDS.

NOTICE TO TOMATO GROWERS:

Crates for hauling tomatoes to the factory will be ready for growers any time after Friday, August 3, and can be obtained at the factory. Growers should see Mr. J. W. Dixon at the factory for directions as to when to bring tomatoes in for canning.

United Farmers are also notified that the county office has been moved to the canning factory.

Everybody come. Barbecue given by members of Vermont Local No. 339, U. F. of A.

SUCH IS LIFE

"Eighteen years ago I had three ribs broken, fourteen years ago my right leg; eleven years ago I nearly went over with typhoid fever and since then have had awful stomach and liver trouble. Was filled with gas most all the time. I would have colic attacks so bad as to become unconscious. No medicine helped me and dotors advised an operation. One day talking with a stranger he recommended Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, which helped me at once." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. Inactive Liver

"I have had trouble with an inactive liver," wrote Mrs. S. Nichols, of 4412 Spencer St., Houston, Texas. "When I would get constipated, I would feel a light, dizzy feeling in my head. To get up in the morning with a lightness in the head and a trembly feeling is often a sign that the stomach is out of order. For this I took Thedford's Black-Draught, and without a doubt can say I have never found its equal in any liver medicine. It not only cleans the liver, but leaves you in such a good condition. I have used it a long time, when food does not seem to set well, or the stomach is a little sour."

MAPLESVILLE DOTS

We are all glad indeed to see Miss Nell Potts back home from the hospital and improving.

The farmers are now rejoicing over the beautiful weather and to see the crops growing. They are all through laying by and are resting up for the harvest. While the crops are now left alone I just bet Mr. Boll Weevil will have the grandest time feasting on the cotton while the farmers will be feasting on watermelons, fruits and other things.

The play that was presented at this place Saturday night wasn't a good success as we hoped it to be. Only the sum of $29 was received, but it was on account of the terrible rain Saturday. The roads were bad and also a bad night, but we were glad to have what we did. Probably we will put it on again soon, for it is sure an excelelnt play.

Our B. Y. P. U. is still progressing very nicely, though we would like to have more join us and help us carry on the work. Miss Annie Spivey was in lead Sunday night. A very good program was rendered.

Our Sunday school was not as good Sunday as usual. A good many was absent, but we are hoping to see them all present next Sunday.

We are very sorry to hear of Mrs. J. E. Dennis resigning from her Sunday school class. Mrs. P. C. Pullian was elected in her place. Hope her much success with her new place.

Our Methodist revival is now going on. We are hoping to have a glorious meeting. Everybody come and be with us.

Pimples

BLOOD impurities are pumped by the heart into the face. That is what causes that grainy appearance, that muddiness, sallowness, pimples, blackheads, acne, red spots, and that impossible "something" which no face cream, massage, or face powder can cover up or beautify! The foundation for a beautiful skin simply is not there, and no face treatment can give it to you. But increase your red-blood-cells,—and quickly the ruby tint of purity begins to glow in the cheeks, the complexion becomes venus-like and immaculate! Try it. It will do it every time. S. S. S. builds the red-blood-cells you need for a beautiful complexion. Begin using S. S. S. at once, and give yourself what you have been working for, for years.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

Child-birth

Here is a wonderful message to all expectant mothers!

When the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says:

"With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used Mother's Friend and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes." Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., BA 46, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all drug stores—everywhere.

UNCLE ELISHA CARROLL DEAD

On July the 11th, 1923, at the home of Mr. E. H. Carroll, the death angel came and wafted the spirit of his father, Uncle Elisha Carroll, to the great beyond, although his death was not unexpected for he had been in feeble health for several years. He was in his 88th year at the time of his death. All was done for him that loving hands could do to make his last days pleasant.

He was a member of the Christian church and ever had a kind word to all. At the time of his death he was living with his fourth wife. He will be greatly missed in the home circle, but we must all submit to God's will, for He doeth all things well and never makes a mistake.

Uncle Elisha leaves a wife, several children, grand children, and great grand children and a host of friends. The deceased was laid to rest at Liberty Hill Cemetery. The funeral services were conducted by Bro. J. T. Daniel.

WIDESPREAD INTEREST FOLLOWS STUDEBAKER'S ANNOUNCEMENT 1924 CARS

New Models, Offered in Twelve Body Types, Received With Enthusiasm Throughout the Country—Local Dealers Pleased With Reception Given Cars.

"The announcement of the new 1924 model Studebaker cars has aroused widespread interest in Clanton. It would be difficult to state which of the new models—the Big-Six, the Special-Six or the Light-Six—has commanded greatest attention. Each seems to have excited the public interest to an unsual degree, 'a'cordnig to Polk Bros., local Studebaker dealers.

"Our new models naturally appeal to large numbers of people because we handle a complete line of cars, comprising twelve body types and therefore have a car of the right size, style and price that will interest every buyer.

"The interest in the 1924 Studebakers is county-wide. They have been received with the greatest enthusiasm everywhere. We appreciate the fine reception and splendid approval the cars have received locally and want to express our thanks."

The Big-Six Line

Refinements and a few mechanical changes have been made in the Big-Six which has established an enviable record for five years. Everything for which one can wish in motoring comfort, convenience and utility has been provided. Equipment is complete.

Disc wheels, and front and rear bumpers are standard equipment on the 1924 series Bix-Sixes. An extra wheel, complete with cord tire, tube and tire carrier is provided on each Big-Six model (two on Speedster and Sedan). Features that add to the completeness and utility of the Touring car are: the one-piece, rain-proof windshield with glare-proof visor, rear-view mirrow and automatic windshield cleaner; walnut all-wood steering wheel with new type spark and throttle control; automatic gasoline signal mounted on the instrument board; aluminum-bound running boards with corrugated rubber mats and step pads and aluminum kick plates; quick-action cowl ventilator; clock; courtesy light, cowl lights, tonneau lamp with long extension cord and combination stop-and-tail light; grip handles on body rails; tool kit in left front door and snubbers.

A large, roomy trunk is regular equipment on the Big-Six Sedan, Coupe and Speedster, while the closed cars have, among many other desirable features, heater, flower vase, interior reading lights, and, in addition, the Sedan is furnished with sliver finished vanity case and smoking set.

The Big-Six line comprises four models, mounted on the standard 126-inch chassis with 60 horsepower, 3-7|8 x 5 inch motor; seven-passenger Touring car, five-passenger Speedster, five-passenger Coupe and seven-passenger Sedan.

The Special-Six Line

Radiator, hood, cowl, ' and body changes have been made in the Special-Six, with minor mechanical changes and refinements in the chassis. The Special-Six has for five successive years added luster to the name Studebaker. It is one of the most satisfactory and finest cars on the market.

The 1924 Special-Six models are equipped with a one-piece, rain-proof windshild which provides unobstructed view of the road ahead; glare-proof visor, automatic windshild cleaner and rear-view mirror; running board step pads and aluminum kick plates; American walnut all-wood steering wheel with new type spark and throttle control; cowl lights, combination stop-and-tail light; quick-acton cowl ventiator of cast alumnum and eght-day clock.

Standard equipment of the open cars also includes an inspection lamp, mounted on the instrument board, and, in the Touring car, a complete tool kit is carried in the left front door (left door in the Roadster). Grip handles on the body rails are a feature of the Touring car.

The closed cars are furnished with a heater and silver finished flower vase and, in addition, the Sedan is fitted with handsome vanity case and smoking set carried in the back of the front seat.

The Special-Six line comprises four models, mounted on the standard 119-inch chassis with 50 horsepower, 3-1|2 x 5-inch motor; two-passenger Roadster, five-passenger Touring car, five-passenger Coupe and five-passenger Sedan.

The Light-Six Line

No body or mechanical changes except refinements have been made in the Light-Six. Over 130,000 Light-Sixes have been produced in the new, modern $30,000,000 Studebaker plant at South Bend, Indiana, under most economical and almost ideal manufacturing conditions.

Among many unusual features of the Light-Six Touring car are the all-steel body; one-piece, rain-proof windshild with cowl lights set in the base; quick-action cowl ventilator; close fitting curtains; large rectangular window in the rear curtain and thief-proof transmission lock.

The closed cars are equipped with glare-proof visor, windshield cleaner, clock, coach lamps and many other desirable features.

SINGNIG AT CENTERVILLE

Editor Union-Banner:

It may be your readers will be interested in reading a brief report of the Bibb County Annual Christian Harmony singing held at Centerville Court House last Thursday.

Having an invitation to attend that service, at an early hour we were on the way. Arriving about 9 o'clock, we found a goodly number gathered, and more coming.

About 9:30 services were opened by song and prayer. Then one of the Centerville attorneys, (Mr. Lavender) appeared before the audience and made everybody feel welcome.

He stressed the value of the singing as a protection to the boys and girls connected with it in their critical time. Also its worth as being the original style of music, without the addition of paid choirs. He alluded to the Harmony convention at Tuscaloosa the day before, where people became shouting happy. His talk was fine and appreciated.

We were forcibly impressed with the large number of boys and girls called out as directors during the day. Some of them probably not over 14 years old could direct compositions that would stagger many grown-up people.

The enthusiasm of those children was plainly visible, and manifested careful home training.

We noted the deep spirituality of the singers. Indeed we noted some spiritual evidence in that singing we never had noticed in any other.

At noon a nice dinner was spread on the Court House Lawn, free for all. As the day passed the singing seemed to grow better.

Each of the four parts had a free quota of singers. Those from Chilton were J. H. Martin and Burl Martin of Providence; Mr. and Mrs. Z. J. Jones of west Chilton, Proctor Nix of Jmeison.

Visitors were given marked courtesy. It was prepared to invite Chilton and other nearby counties to join the movement, next year. Our visit to the Bibb singing will long be remembered with pleasure.

CARD OF THANKS

We wsh to express our thanks to the good people for the kndness and untiring efforts that was shown us during the sickness and death of our husband and father, H. L. Henderson. Also we thank the people for the many flowers. We cannot tell how much we appreciate them all.

LAWLEY NEWS

The people of this community was again made sad by the death of Mrs. Mattie Hayes, a resident of this community all her life until a few years ago. She went to Tuscaloosa to live with her daughter, Mrs. Monteen Daniel. It was at this home that Mrs. Hayes died last Saturday and was buried here last Sunday. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Foster Mills of Tuscaloosa. Seven children, Croff, Critt, Morgan and Monteen of Tuscaloosa, Dessie and Minnie of Lawley and Sopha of Birmingham. A host of near relatives are left to mourn her loss. To know her was to love her. She was 81 years old.

We feel that she loved her Lord with such a tenderness of pure affection as only a woman of the truest sort knows.

We are having such a live Sunday school here now. Our superintendent, Mr. James Wright is such a wonderful man, he is always present to do his part. Since the return of Misses Ethel and Lilla Collins from Tuscaloosa, the junior and primary classes seem to have taken up a lot of new inspiration. These girls are the most splendid junior and primary teachers imaginable.

Mr. and Mrs. Newt Latham, Mrs. James Bedford have had as their guest for the past two weeks, Miss Ruth Powell of Tuscaloosa.

Mr. Manly Latham of Tuscaloosa was here last week for several days looking after his saw mill business.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Crowe of Oakmulgee community are the proud parents of a fine baby girl. Mrs. Crowe is one of our home girls and will be remembered as Miss Buna Moore

All W. M. U. members are urged to be present next Saturday afternoon at the church for the purpose of electing new officers.

The W. M. U. members have recently bought a silver water pitcher for the church and paid for same.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hicks and daughter Ellois spent last Monday with Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Hicks.

Misses Ethel, Lilla and Bessie Lee Collins entertained at a dinner party last week, honoring Miss Ruth Powell of Tuscaloosa, the guest of Mrs. Newt Latham. Many friends enjoyed this hospitality.

Cards from Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Head from places in Georgia, convey the information that they are spending a very delightful time with their relatives, and will remain several weeks.

Mr. Sidney Collins has a position at Tuscaloosa where he will work until school opens.

Mr. Brooks Latham of Gadsden was here a few days last week visiting home folks. He returned last week accompanied by his father, Mr. Jessie Latham.

There will be a working at the cemetery here next Thursday. Everybody come.

Give us your next job printing.

Hall's Catarrh Medicine

Those who are in a "run down" condition will notice that Catarrh bothers them much more than when they are in good health. This fact proves that while Catarrh is a local disease, it is greatly influenced by constitutional conditions.

The Union-Banner Cash Prize Contest

The hundreds of people who do their trading in Clanton will do well to read every word on the page about our big prize contest, which begins today and lasts for thirteen weeks. The rules explaining the contest will be found on that page of the paper, and are so simple that anyone can understand them. It is just simply a chance whereby you can pick up $25 or maybe $50 with very little effort on your part. All you have to do is to do your trading with the merchants who give away coupons with all their sales, and save your coupons until the close of the contest. You may get as many to help you save coupons as you wish, but what you want to do is get an even start and work like fury to get the first prize. It will be worth your working for.

Before you go any further, turn to the page in the paper and read every word on it, so that you may see the rules of the whole thing and so that you may know what merchants are giving coupons. Every merchant whose advertisement appears on that page is giving coupons with every cash purchase. So, when you make a purchase there, don't fail to ask them for trade coupons.

As laid out in the rules of the contest, The Union-Banner is going to make the game doubly interesting by doubling the prizes to every winner who any time during the thirteen weeks brings us in as many as ten new subscribers to the paper. These subscriptions need not all be brought in at one time, but the whole amount of ten will have to be brought in before the contest closes, if you expect to qualify your chance for a double prize. By this means, the first prize will be $50 instead of $25, and all the rest of the prizes will be doubled also.

The Union-Banner wishes to state that this paper is strictly behind this contest, and no one need fear that it will be carried out strictly according to order. This paper has had on several contests before, and we have not fallen down on anyone of them.

So, the big game now is to trade with the merchants giving away coupons, and save every single one you can get your hands on. Read carefully the rules which will be published every week, and be sure to follow them. Read the advertisements every week, because these merchants will have something interesting to tell you every week about what they have to sell and about the way to win the prizes.

CANNING FACTORY IS NOW COMPLETED

Machinery Is All Placed, and Outfit Is Ready to Go to Canning Tomatoes.

The Peterman Construction and Supply Company has finished the building of the United Farmers Canning Factory in Clanton. Mr. J. W. Dixon, the construction engineer, reported to us last Saturday that the building was all completed and that all the machinery necessary for taking care of the tomato crop was now ready for operation.

So you see, the thing that couldn't be done has been done, notwithstanding the pessimistic predictions that some people made when the proposition was first undertaken. The fidelity and integrity of the Clanton Chamber of Commerce and the United Farmers of America are responsible for the success of the undertaking.

There were at the factory Tuesday several gallons of tomatoes ready for canning; and just as soon as the cans arrive active work will begin on the canning. The tomatoes that were at the factory were the finest we have ever seen, and when they are canned, they will be unsurpassed by anything on the market. The Chilton county farmers have shown their ability to raise fine tomatoes, and have also exhibited a fine spirit of co-operation in the work.

The United Farmers Canning Factory is going to prove one of the finest things Chilton county has ever had. It is going to give to the farmers of this section a chance to make some easy money by some other means other than raising cotton.

THOSE GO-TO-THE-RIGHT SIGNS

Clanton is fast forging into a real city. The city officials have put up signs in the center of the streets at the important corners directing automobile drivers to stay on the right side of the street. In turning street corners cars should not cut through to the left of these signs but should always pull around to the right of them. By obeying these rules all head-end collisians on street corners will be avoided.

These signs not only greatly facilitate driving in the crowded strets, but it makes the place look 100 per cent more city-like. This is indeed a wise step, since there are so many automobiles in use in Clanton.

COULD YOU USE $50.00?

Well, you can get it with just a little effort. The way to do it is simply this:—Save coupons in the Banner Cash Prize Contest. Read the advertisements of the merchants on our contest page, do your trading with these merchants and always ask for your coupons. Save all your coupons till Saturday, October 20 and turn them in to the Banner office together with ten new subscriptions to the paper. If you have the highest number of votes you get the first prize of $50, second prize $25, and so on down the line. If you turn in no subscriptions, your prize will be just half as much. Read the full particulars on the contest page.

$25 REWARD

A reward of Twenty-five Dollars will be paid for the arrest, or information leading to the arrest of Harry Corley, who is charged with deserting his wife and child.

MEMORIAL SERVICE HERE FRIDAY AT 2:00 O'CLOCK

Services to be Held in Front of the Court House in Memory of the Late President Harding.

At a meeting of a few of the citizens of Clanton Monday afternoon arrangements were made to observe the proclamation recently issued by President Coolidge to hold memorial service next Friday in honor of the life and death of our late president.

At this meeting the following committees were formed:—On Publicity, C. E. Marcus, T. E. Wyatt and W. B. Corley; On Program, Omar Reynolds, Percy Pitts, Prof. Ira Pegues, Tom Littlejohn, John Gore, Miss Beverly Hester; On Flag Pole, Clay Marcus, Leon Kemp, and Victor Heard.

The program will last about one hour, and will take place under the shade trees in front of the court house. The program wil consist of several band numbers, choir singing, raising of the American flag, and speaking by some of the best speakers of the state. It is the duty of every American citizen to observe this occasion in memory of the life and death of our beloved president.

Dr. Guy Snavely, president of Birmingham Southern College, has been procured to make the memorial address. Dr. Snavely was inaugurated as president of that institution by President Harding when he was in Birmingham two years ago.

Mayor's Proclamation

The following proclamation has been issued by Mayor V. J. Gragg:

Whereas, on August 2nd, 1923, President Warren G. Harding, died, and whereas, our President has designated and proclaimed August 10th, 1923, as a day for jrayer and mourning, and whereas, it is meet and proper that the citizens of the Town of Clanton, Alabama, should join in carrying out and observing said day in obedience to said proclamation, and whereas our deceased President will be buried on said day.

Now therefore, I, V. G. Gragg, mayor of the Town of Clanton, Alabama, hereby designate and proclaim August 10th, 1923, as a day for prayer and mourning in respect to our deceased President, and I call upon all citizens of the Town and community to join together on said day, at their respective places of worship or at a meeting to be held in the town, for prayer and mourning. I also request that all places of business within the town be closed from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. on said date.

Done this the 7th day of August, 1923.

V. J. GRAGG,
Mayor of the Town of Clanton, Ala.

NOTICE OF REWARD

The Town of Clanton, Alabama, will pay a Reward of Fifty Dollars ($50.00) for the arrest and conviction of the party or parties who stole the street sign from the street at or near Robinson's Planing Mill on the night of August 6th, 1923. The sign had the following words on it: "Clanton, Welcome, Drive Slowly."

V. J. GRAGG, Mayor.
J. H. FOSHEE, Chief of Police.

CALVIN COOLIDGE NOW IS PRESIDENT

Takes Oath of Office at His Father's Home in Vermont and Hastens to Washington to Assume Duties of Chief Executive.

HIGH SPOTS IN COOLIDGE'S CAREER

Born July 4, 1872, at Plymouth, Vt.

Graduated from Amherst college, 1895. Studied law Northampton, Mass.

Married Grace A. Goodhue, Burlington, Vt., 1905.

Councilman of Northampton; city solicitor; clerk of courts; chairman Republican city committee, 1890 to 1904.

Member general court of Maschusetts, 1907-'08.

Mayor of Northampton, 1910-1911.

Member state senate, 1912-'15.

President of senate, 1914-'15.

Lieutenant governor Massachusetts, 1916-'17-'18.

Governor of Massachusetts, 1919-'20.

Elected vice president of United States, 1920.

Washington.—President Calvin Coolidge has succeeded Warren G. Harding. He is the thirtieth president of the United States. He is the sixth vice president to succeed through the death of the president. The five other presidents were William Henry Harrison, Taylor, Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley.

Calvin Coolidge took the oath as President of the United States at Plymouth, Vt., at 2:47 a. m. Friday, August 3. The ceremony took place in the living room of the residence of the new President's father, John C. Coolidge. The oath of office was administered by the father, who is a notary public. The text of the presidential oath had been telephoned to Mr. Coolidge at Plymouth from the White House.

Statement by New Chief.

President Coolidge received the news of the death of President Harding and of his own elevation to the presidency at ten minutes before midnight, standard time, Thursday.

Mr. Coolidge received the first news through telegrams from George C. Christian, Jr., secretary to President Harding.

PRESIDENT CALVIN COOLIDGE

Mr. Coolidge issued the following statement:

"Reports have reached me, which I fear are correct, that President Harding is gone. The world has lost a great and good man. I mourn his loss. He was my chief and my friend. It will be my purpose to carry out the policies which he has begun for the service of the American people and for meeting their responsibilities wherever they may arise.

"For this purpose, I shall seek the co-operation of all those who have been associated with the President during his term of office. Those who have given their efforts to assist him I wish to remain in office, that they may assist me.

"I have faith that God will direct the destinies of our nation."

The following telegram was sent to Mrs. Harding:

"Plymouth, Vt., Aug. 3, 1923.

"Mrs. Warren G. Harding, San Francisco, Cal.: We offer you our deepest sympathy. May God bless you and keep you.

"CALVIN COOLIDGE,
"GRACE COOLIDGE."

Message Tells of Death.

The telegram announcing the death of the President was as follows:

"Palace hotel, San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 3, 1923.—Mr. Calvin Coolidge, Plymouth, Vt.: The President died, instantaneously and without warning, while conversing with members of his family, at 7:30 p. m. His physicians report that death was apparently due to some brain embolism, probably an apoplexy.

"GEORGE B. CHRISTIAN, JR.,
"Secretary."

This telegram was brought to the Coolidge home at Plymouth Notch by W. A. Perkins of Bridgewater, who owns the telephone line running from Bridgewater to Plymouth. About five minutes later newspaper men arrived in Ludlow.

A drive of thirty miles through the mountains brought them to the Coolidge summer home.

Mr. Coolidge and Mrs. Coolidge had retired about an hour before the death messages were received. Ten minutes after the arrival of the newspaper men Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge came downstairs into the sitting room of the Coolidge home. Mr. Coolidge was dressed in a black suck suit and wore a black necktie. Mrs. Coolidge wore a black and white gown, white shoes and stockings. Mr. Coolidge was very pale and showed deep regret for President Harding's death. He seated himself at a table, while Mrs. Coolidge brought a lamp and read the telegrams he had received.

He then called his assistant secretary, Irwin Geisser, and dictated to him his statement and the telegram to Mrs. Harding.

Mrs. Coolidge Weeps.

In the meantime people were arriving from all directions. Mr. Coolidge, seeing the house becoming crowded, gave orders that an adjoining house be opened for use as press headquarters.

Meanwhile, the new first lady of the land sat weeping softly and exclaiming in sympathy for the bereaved first lady in San Francisco.

"What a blow—what a terrible blow to poor Mrs. Harding," she said. "She had had such a heavy burden, in her own illness, to bear up under—and now this!"

Finally Secretary Geisser returned with the press copies of the statements, and pushing back the old photograph album and the family Bible on the center table, Mrs. Coolidge busied herself with the work of helping distribute them.

The newspaper men had scarcely gotten out of sight when another telegraph messenger arrived with a copy of the presidential oath from Washington. In the same sitting room with its hand-braided rugs, its clutter of venerable colonial furniture, its old wood stove and its family Bible—Calvin Coolidge received the oath of office from his father, and became America's thirtieth president.

For more than twenty years prior to his election as vice president he had been in political life, starting almost immediately after finishing college. His first political office was in the city council of Northampton, Mass., where he had settled. For years he held various offices in that city, including those of city solicitor and mayor; then he was elected to the Massachusetts house of representatives. Later he won a seat in the state senate and was its president.

Coolidge was lieutenant governor of Massachusetts and in 1919 was elected to the governorship in the first campaign won by the Republican party in several years. He was governor for two years. It was during this term he during his term as governor that he first attained nation-wide prominence. This was in connection with the policemen's strike in Boston. He took firm control of the situation, ordered the state guard to patrol the streets, and kept down rioting, taking the stand that law and order must be preserved. The strike was a complete failure.

He was mentioned as a possibility for the presidential nomination prior to the 1920 campaign, but he made a public announcement that he would not consider the nomination. His nomination and election to the vice presidency followed.

Mr. Coolidge comes of a long line of New England ancestors who came to America in 1630, settling near Watertown, Mass. President Coolidge has two sons, Calvin, Jr., and John. Neither he nor his wife has been particularly active socially. A man of simple tastes, a thorough student, a hard worker, he is looked upon by his friends as a clear-headed, solid American. Although shy, he remains unperturbed no matter how exciting the situation may be. The keynote of his nature is dependability. In dress he is conservative, usually the opposite of extravagant, but always immaculate.

In Washington Mr. Coolidge has been ranked as a clear thinker, careful in speech, a fair mixer—as aggressive as any vice president can be.

DR. ARTHUR JOHNSON RETURNS

Dr. Arthur Johnson has returned from Chicago, where he has been for the past few weeks taking a special course in medicine. He returned Monday afternoon, and has already resumed his regular practice here.

Mr. Varnie Wyatt and Miss Vida Poole were quietly married in Clanton last Monday night. Varnie is the son of Tom Wyatt of Route 2, and is an employee of the Johnson Drug Company. His young bride is the daughter of Mr. W. M. Poole of Temple community.

BIG CROWD AT COUNTY COURT HERE MONDAY

The largest crowd ever in attendance at County Court was present here Monday. While the trials were going on the spaceous court room was packed to overflowing. Quite a heavy docket was disposed of, but the court was ready to adjourn shortly before noon. At the close of the court Col. J. O. Middleton made a short but impressive talk on the value of the county court to this county. Col. Middleton said that the legisltaure could abolish our courts but they could not make Democrats out of Republicans of Chilton County.

The following cases were disposed of in the county court last Monday, Judge L. H. Reynolds, presiding:

R. C. Burnett, violating prohibition law; plead guilty, fined $50.00 and costs.

Johnnie Burnett, violating prohibition law; discharged.

PRESENT STATUS OF CO. COURT BILL

Bill to Abolish County Court of Chilton County Now Pending Before House.

The bill before the Legislature of Alabama to abolish the County Court of Chilton County is as good as passed. As stated last week, the Senate has already passed the bill, and the House Committee on Local Bills has entered it on the House Calendar.

A delegation of citizens from here went down to Montgomery last Wednesday and went before the House Committee in regard to the passage of the bill. Those appearing before this committee advocating the passage of this bill were:—J. J. Pickens, J. L. Johnson, L. F. Gerald, Victor Heard, Judge S. M. Adams, T. C. McSwain, Cecil Smith, Howard L. Foshee, and J. B. Atkinson. Those appearing before the committee condemning the passage of the bill were:—Thos. A. Curry, Hill Foshee, G. W. Fox, C. D. Foshee, Jess Moates, Mack Wyatt, L. H. Reynolds, Grady Reynolds, J. Z. Mims, Tom Rockett, and J. O. Middleton.

After a very heated debate, the committee voted to place the bill on the calendar to be voted on by the House some time in the near future.

Bill Passed House Tuesday

This bill was voted on in the House of Representatives Tuesday afternoon, passing by a vote of 63 to 13. Representative Wyatt from this county introduced an amendment to this measure which provided that the abolition of the county court not become effective until it was submitted to a vote of the people of the county. The steam roller was promptly applied to this amendment, and the bill was passed as originally introduced.

All this bill lacks of being a law now is the signature of the Governor of Alabama.

MANY STILLS SEIZED BY STATE DEPUTIES

Deputies of the state law enforcement department were busy during the week-end, as shown by reports received at headquarters in Montgomery Monday. Three stills were captured in Shelby county, one of 250 and two of 150 gallons, with 1,000 gallons of beer and 10 gallons of whiskey. Federal deputies ailed in the raid.

A 30 gallon still was captured in Elmore county, and in Walker county two 150 gallon stills, 1,800 galolns of beer and 8 galolns of whiskey were taken. eLe county witnessed the capture of the biggest still report for the weke-end, a 750 gallon machine, with 300 gallons of beer and two men being captured there. Other seizures reported were: A 35, a 50, and a 65 gallon still in Coosa county; and a 300 gallon still in Choctaw county.

MRS. S. E. HOLCOMB DEAD

Mrs. S. E. Holcomb died last Tuesday at the home of Mrs. McDonald at Mt. Creek. Mrs. Holcomb was 64 years old and leaves two sons and three daughters. One son, Harry Holcomb lives at Mt. Creek, and the other children live in Texas.

The body was shipped to Houston, Texas for burial. The old lady had been sick for several weeks, and said just before she died that she was perfectly resigned to meet her Maker. She was a good Christian woman and was loved by all who was acquainted with her.

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. NORTON, Manager)

Mr. Conrad Carlson, who received serious internal injuries by being thrown at the end of a rope attached to a cow he was trying to lead, is reported to be still very ill. We sincerely hope he will soon be well on the road to reiovery.

Mrs. C. W. Karlson returned home last Wednesday night, after a delightful visit among kin-folks and friends in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Soberg, who have been visiting their children and friends in Chicago and Wisconsin, are expeuted home at the end of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Norton have in their bark yard at their home a gorgeous boquet of immense proportions, consisting of a crepe myrtle bush or tree fifty 12 feet in diameter, and about the same height, thickly covered with the showy pink clusters of this well known flower. There are few flowering shrubs that attain such size, such prolific bloom or that remain in flower so long.

Friends of Miss May Stoddard will be pleased to know that she has been spending several weeks, delightfully, at a camp in Vermont.

A letter has recently been received from Miss Ellsworth, saying that she is sick at her home in Portland, Conn. and does not expect to teach the coming school year.

Miss Helen C. Jenkins is spending a few weeks with her mother at Old Orchard, Maine, Mrs. Jenkins having been advised to try the bracing air of that section for a throat trouble which has caused her to lose her voice for aboiut a year.

Mrs. C. H. Thomsen has gone to Memphis to spend a few weeks with her daughter and grand children.

Mrs. Hamilton, of Fort Worth, Texas, is visiting her brother, Mr. Tom Burdett and Mrs. C. M. Williams an old time school mate and friend.

The magnificent shower of last Monday evening seemed to be a local affair for the benefit of Thorsby only, reports from the territory a mile and a half either east or west state the ground is still dry and dusty.

Word comes from Mrs. Chas. S. Howard at St. Elmo, Ala., near Mobile, that she and the children, Lloyd and Ella, are having a fine time at the home of Mrs. Howard's parents.

Rev. J. W. Davenport is making arrangements to put on a series of four lectures, illustrated by Stereopticon pictures, to be given at Bates Hall on the evenings of August 20-21-22 and 24. Tickets at 75c for the entire course will soon be offered for sale and it is hoped the patronage will be liberal, as no other entertainment course has been given in Thorsby for several months. Please remember the dates and make no other engagements.

The Ladies' Guild of Thorsby will have "Something Doing" on Thursday evening, August 23rd, on Thorsby Institute campus. A more definite announcement will be made later.

We are pleased to note that Mrs. W. L. Leary, who has been quite ill for several days, has so far recovered as to be able to be out again.

Unless other arrangements are made in the meantime, the service to follow the session of the Sunday school at the Congregational church next Sunday morning will consist chiefly in the reading of a very interesting account of the activities of a Chinese Christian who holds high rank in the Chinese army, and his division of "Sure Enough" Christian Soldiers. It is a story that demonstrates the dawning of a new day in the "Celestial Empire."

A second carload if those fine cedar shingles has been received by Thorsby Hardware Company, and 35,000 of them have been sold to Thorsby Institute to provide a new covering for Bates Hall.

A very substantial improvement has been made inside and outside of one of the Thorsby Institute buildings used for a boys' dormitory. A fine two story porch has been added, a shower bath installed and the rooms wals-boarded and nicely painted, all of which makes for a more comfortable habitation for our boys.

Miss Jenkins writes of the engagement of a young man who is to succeed Mr. Sappington as athletic coarh and superintendent of boys, who with his wife will live in the rejuvenated building.

SHOULTS NEWS

There was preaching at the Methodist church Sunday p.m. by Bro. Jones. He delivered a very interesting sermon. Every one seemed to enjoy it, as it was made ho plain.

STATE NEWS HAPPENINGS

Fredom didn't look so good to William Coleman, 18-year old negro, after he had gained it. When Warden Wall of the state prison opened his front door on a recent morning and glanced out on the lawn, there stood Coleman, for whom search has been carried on since he attained freedom on July 19. Grinning sheepishly the negro approached the warden: "Here I is Mr. Warden. I got hongry and walked back frum Tuscaloosa to be here when you riz dis mawning. Prison wall sho'ly do look good to dis starvin' nigger."

John L. Davis, who has been in charge of the cemetery at Davisville, for about fifty-nine years, has issued a call for a gathering of eastern Calhoun people at that point on Saturday, August 18, to renew the mounds and clearing away the debris and decorating the cemetery. Mr. Davis has announced that he will give up the work after the assembly of the people at the cemetery and let some younger and more active man have charge of the community work.

Nellie Bestor, negro woman, will not be hanged in Bibb county August 3 for the murder of her husband. Governor Brandon issued an order granting her respite until October 12 in order that time may be allowed for an investigation of the case. Gov. Brandon does not desire to consider the appeal for commutation until the legislature has adjourned and it will probably be in session until late September.

Judge W. T. Harris, chairman of Perry county, has issued an invitation the public to be present at the n. session of the commissioners to offer their advice upon two important matters. The question of the appropriation for the continuance of the office of county farm demonstrator will be one matter discussed. The other will be the choosing of the next road which Perry county is to receive under the state and federal aid system.

Phenix City and Girard will be merged under the name of Brandon under three bills which were passed by the house. They were introduced by Senator Waddell, of Russell, and passed the senate several days ago. Governor Brandon will name the first city commission, which will have authority to designate the name of the consolidated city. Citizens in mass meeting have already named it "Brandon," after Governor Brandon.

A conference between officials of the Warrior river barge line and the Southern railway on the question of the division of rates on traffic moving between Mobile and Birmingham will be held at Washington, according to advices received. The Southern railroad handles the freight from Birmingport to the city of Birmingham.

For the first time in the history of Jefferson county the board of revenue has appropriated 50 cents for every man, woman and child, black and white, in that part of the county outside of Birmingham to be disbursed by the department of public health in prosecuting its fight against disease.

Contract for the construction of the foundation and basement wall of the new Masonic building on the corner of Fourteenth and Noble Streets, Anniston has been awarder by the directors to Algeruan Blair of Montgomery and the succesful bidder for the work announced that the work would be started as rapidly as possible.

In all probability there will be a general increase in rentals in Birmingham effective October 1, ranging from 10 to 20 per cent real estate men state. Although this is not expected to occur in every case the agents expect instruction from the majority of landlords asking that the rents be raised this fall.

The fourth steel barge built by the Alabama Dry Docks and Shipbuilding Company for the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company has been launchedat Mobile. Nine barges in all are being constructed by the Mobile concern for the United States Steel Corporation subsidiary.

The Tennessee valley is given several pages of publicity this month in the current issue of the Mississippi Valley association's magazine. A number of the pages are devoted to telling of the resources of the valley, including sections near Albany, Decatur, Florence and Sheffield.

The prospects in upper Tennessee Valley for a corn crop have never been excelled. If a plentiful rainfall continues through next month a tremendous crop of corn will be yielded. The boll weevil has appeared in places among the cotton, but not in alarming numbers.

The Hackleburg Junior High School will have a much better show in athletics this school year than they have ever been able to do before, because they have engaged a coach, who has proved that he is a capable man for a coach by putting out a very successful team last year.

The post office and three stores in Gurley were looted by thieves, who are believed to have gotten less than $75 for all their pains. The stores robbed were the Williamson Drug Co., J. C. Haislip's dry goods store, Hereford's grocery. The combination of the safe in the post office was knocked out.

Federal and state experts will go to Gadsden about August 15th for the purpose of making tuberculin tests of the dairy herds in that city and vicinity.

Child-birth

Here is a wonderful message to all expectant mothers!

When the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says:

"With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used Mother's Friend and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes." Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., BA 46, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all drug stores—everywhere.

ARMY WORM BILLED TO INVADE ALABAMA

Dr. Hinds Fears That Insect Will Greatly Damage Cotton Crop This Year.

Auburn, Ala., Aug. 3.—The well known cotton caterpillar, which is also known as army worm and cotton leaf worm is liable to appear in Alabama any day. It has already appeared in South Georgia and in other states east of the Mississippi river and conditions are very favorable for its appearance in Alabama.

In making the above statements Dr. W. E. Hinds, Entomologist for the experiment station and extension service, expressed fear that they may do serious damage to Alabama cotton crop this year. He declared that in 1911, when cotton was seriously injured by them they appeared the last week of July and that conditions this year are very similar to those of 1911, except that cotton is probably later. In 1911 they swept practically the entire states.

At the suggestion of Dr. Hinds, the district agents, W. D. Barton, W. O. Winston, E. E. Binford and J. T. High, have requested the county agents to make immediate reports of army worm outbreaks in order that necessary control work may be done. According to Dr. Hinds, dusting with calcium arsenate, just as is done for boll weevil control, is a very satisfactory control method.

As pointed out by Dr. Hinds, attacks are liable to appear on the largest cotton first. Adults, which lay the eggs from which these caterpillars are hatched, are already flying, and many fly several hundred miles.

METHODIST CONFERENCE

Dr. George Stoves, pastor of West End Methodist Church, Nashville, Tenn., will be one of the principal speakers at the Sunday School Conference for the 600 Methodist Sunday Schools of central and south Alabama and West Florida. The conference meets in Pensacola, Fla., August 28-30.

Dr. Stoves is well known in the Methodist Church as a forceful and interesting pulpitter and it is confidently expected that he will bring the conference a great message on "Religion is Taught Not Caught."

Other speakers for the conference already announced are Governor William W. Brandon of Alabama; S. H. Blan, Secretary of State in Alabama and Lay Leader of the Alabama Conference; Clarence M. Dannelly, Superintendent of Sunday School work in the Alabama Conference.

DISTURBANCE AT CANE CREEK

According to reports, there was quite a bit of trouble raised at Cane Creek Sunday night. The protracted meeting was going on at that place and Rev. W. W. Robinson was assisting the pastor, Rev. M. J. Parrish in the preaching. Reports say that quite a bit of noise and disturbance was noticed while preaching was going on, but not so much that the service had to be stopped. After the meeting closed investigations were made, and it was found that two young men had been fighting near the church. It appears that the difficulty was between Leonard Easterling and Lon Robinson. We could not learn how the trouble between the young men originated, but it resulted in Easterling getting a severe cut across the head and probably some other minor bruises on the head and body. Robinson, we understand, was not hurt as bad as Easterling, however, when the skirmish was over, they were both as bloody as if they had been butchering a cow.

It is reported that several others were around the church drunk.

Leonard Easterling is the son of Bill Eatserling of Temple Community and Lon Robinson is the son of John Robinson of Cane Creek.

If any arrests were made, we have not been able to learn of it. It is reported however, that the matter will be turned over to the law.

NON-RESIDENT NOTICE

The State of Alabama, Chilton County. Circuit Court, in Equity.

Abbie Little, Complainant, vs. J. J. Little Defendant.

In this cause it is made to appear to the Register by the affidavit of Omar L. Reynolds, that the Defendant is a non-resident, and that his place of residence and post-office address is unknown, and that such address cannot be ascertained after reasonable effort; and, further, that, in the belief of said affiant, the Defendant is of the age of twenty-one years:

It is, therefore, ordered by the Register that publication be made in The Union-Banner, a newspaper published in the County of Chilton, once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring the said J. J. Little to plead, answer, or demur to the bill of complaint in this cause by the 31st day of August, 1923, or, in thirty days thereafter, a decree pro confesso may be taken against him.

Done at office in Clanton, this 28th day of July, 1923.

ALABAMA NEWS HAPPENINGS.

A Resume of the More Important Events of Interest Condensed To An Epitomized Form.

An increase of more than three-quarters of a million dollars was shown in the bank clearings for the city of Mobile during the month of July as compared with the same month last year, according to figures made public by the Clearing House association.

Alabama will probably be represented at the internatiinal first aid and mine rescue meet to be held in Salt Lake City August 27-30 by the team of the Woodward Iron cimpany at Mulga. This team was twice winner in the Alabama meet held in Birmingham. Among the prizes to be awarded is a congressional bronze medallion.

The Tuscaloosa county fair will be held this fall on Twelfth Street, in the city of Tuscaloosa, the city commision giving the premit to erect the tents and buildings on the city property adjoining Evergreen cemetery, which is a large tract of land beautifully shaded. A comittee will be appointed by the Chamber of Commerce and the fair bureau to work out details of the fair. On account of Birmingham having no fair this year it is expected to draw large crowds to that city.

As the result of the formation of a community association at Keena a new community auditorium 40x24 feet, kitchen and library seem to be assured. The home demonstration club of the Keena neighborhood has taken the lead in the work to obtain the new club house. At a recent meeting of the club members and others in the community, an evecutive committee appointed to prepare for the farming of the community associaton. Richard Marlow has donated the site for the club house and considerable lumber for the proposed building.

The condition of cotton in Alabama —66 per cent normal, found on July 25, indicates a yield of 132 pounds of lint per acre and a total production og 914,000 bales, according to a statement issued by F. W. Gist, agricultural statistician, on receipt of the cotton report from Washington. The indicated yield is ten pounds under that realized last year, but the increase in acreage given as an indicated production as stated above, compared with 823,000 bales finally ginned from the crop of 1922.

Suit for $20,000 damages was filed in Jefferson circuit court by J. W. Connally, an ex-convict, against the Pratt Consolidated Coal Company, charging that the company forced him to work in their mines when he was physically unable, suffering especially from an attack of appendicitis. He was sentenced to serve 100 days by a jury in Jackson county in April, 1922, the defendant avers that he was leased to the Pratt Company.

Alabama coal production maintains an average of $350,000 tons a week, compared with 400,000 tons at the peak in March. The production is regarded as normal for the summer season. Domestic and commercial mines have not been as busy as the mines of industrial corporations. Production for the week ending July 21 was 258,000 tons and for the preceding weeks was 340,000, 294,000, 365,000, 352,000 and 269,000.

John T. Harrell and Walter McMichael were indicted by the Houston county gand jury and charged with second degree arson and John Stewart and Sam Pearce charged with obtaining money by fraudulent insurance of automobiles, according to reports from Dothan received in the office of C. E. Johnson, state fire marshall.

A corps of engineers and draftsmen of the Central of Georgia Railway Co. has been making surveys and plans to cut out a large number of curves near Goodwater and lower a number of the steepest grades. Sometimes as many as 35 trains pass Goodwater within 24 hours. This division has the largest locomotives of the company on it.

Reorganization of the Dauphin Island company has been completed and incorporation papers were filed in the Jefferson probate office. The object of the corporation is to develop Dauphin Island properties for harbor purposes and a coaling station.

. All doors to Jefferson county public schools which have not been equipped with safety doors will be fixed, according to an announcement by the superintendent of public schools. The doors will lock on the oitside and will open outward.

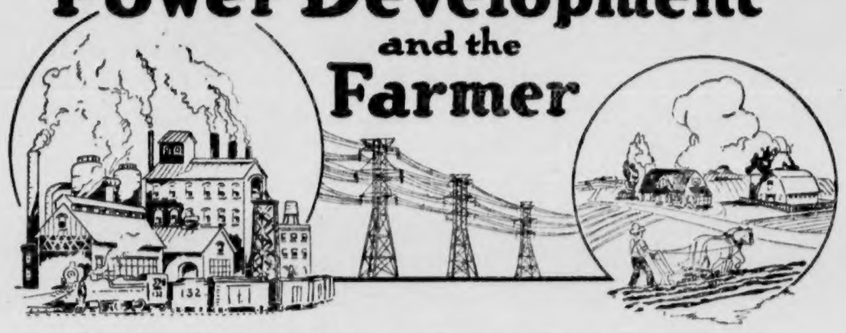
ALABAMA POWER COMPANY AND THE PUBLIC

Power Development and the Farmer



President Harding said in a recent speech in Spokane, Wash.:

"The great power development will mark sites of industrial centers, adjacent to which will grow up rich areas of intensive agricultural production. The industrial populations will provide markets, without impossible transportation expenditure for the products of the soil; and in turn the people on the soil will afford markets for the products of industry."

No other natural resource nets a greater return to the farmer than water that turns the huge generators of the Alabama Power Company.

No other natural resource spreads its benefits over a greater area.

Covering a territory of more than 25,000 square miles, a great network of high-powered transmission lines silently convey their indescribable force to more than 750,000 Alabamians and more than one hundred and seventy major industries. In these industries approximately 150,000 industrial workers look to a continuous flow of current to keep their jobs intact and to feed and clothe 500,000 or more dependents.

Each of these 150,000 workers, while a producer of raw materials and manufactured products, is a consumer of agricultural products.

Cognizant of the fact that these consumers could only be procured by the creation of new industries or the enlargement of existing ones, Alabama Power Company has ever assisted in the development of Alabama's manufactories, and is now engaged in a nation-wide campaign to attract new capital to Alabama for the development of her resources.

It is the Power Company's task to keep the wheels of these industries turning—to keep these workers employed—to keep wages in their pockets to buy things which they do not produce.

It is the farmers' job to feed and clothe them.

So, there is an appreciable common interest between the Power Company and the farmer in the great work of building Alabama industrially and agriculturally. This great network of transmission lines is constantly growing, each extension creating new markets for our farm products and inviting new industries to come in.

That these two great forces—industry and agriculture—are going hand-in-hand is shown conclusively in the following figures reproduced from the Blue Book of Southern Progress:

	1900	1910	1920
Value Alabama Farm Products	$73,191,000	$137,541,000	$304,349,000
Capital Invested in Manufactories	$60,165,904	$173,180,038	$455,593,000

Co-ordinated effort between Alabama Power Company and the other agencies which are endeavoring to build up our State, and the farmer, will rapidly bring Alabama to the forefront as the matchless industrial and agricultural area of the country.

A recent survey of conditions in Illinois disclosed the fact that manufacturing is leaving the large, congested and expensive districts and going to the open areas. This is carrying industrial progress to the rural communities, thereby establishing new markets right at the door of the farmer. In its efforts to attract new manufactories to the State, and in extending its lines into the small communities, the Alabama Power Company believes ultimately the manufacturing and industrial activities of Alabama will not be confined to certain restricted centers but to every section of the State, thereby increasing land values and removing the distance between the farm and its market.

The Value of Land Abstracts

It is not safe to buy land or to lend money and accept land as security without first investigating the title of the land. Often there are unpaid mortgages, judgments, or other liens affecting the title, which an abstract would set out. Therefore, when buying land or lending money thereon, it is important that an abstract of title be furnished. A few dollars spent for an abstract is cheaper than going ahead and having a law suit a little later on.

MRS. T. B. STEEL DEAD

On July 30, 1923, at the home of Mr. T. B. Steel the death angel came and taken from them their beloved wife and mother, Mrs. Thomas Steel, who before her marriage was Miss Euna Glenn.

She had been seriously ill for a good while, although her death was not unexpected. All was done for her that loving hands could do, to make her last days pleasant.

Mrs. Steel leaves a husband and two children, several sisters and brothers and a large host of friends to mourn her loss.

The deceased was laid to rest at Providence. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Joe Raines.

By reading the names of those who appeared before the House of Representatives last week regarding the county court bill, one can readily see who is and who is not when it comes to the welfare of Chilton county. Read them.

Calvin Coolidge is a strong man and has a strong political and public record behind him. It is very likely that he will be the Republican nominee for president next year; and if he does we venture to say that he will be our next president.

Former President Wilson has a good word to say for the Russian revolutionary leaders in the same article in which he asserts that the world has been made safe for democracy. But nowhere on earth is there less democracy today than in Russia.

The death of President Harding has materially changed the political aspect of this country. His nomination as Republican candidate in 1923 was a certainty. The question now is, will Coolidge assume the political standing of President Harding as well as his official standing?

Last year it was mosquitoes—this year it is gnats. By the way, what has ever become of that drainage petition? Can we afford to give up this matter completely, after we went as far as we did? Why doesn't our mayor and city officials get busy on this proposition and push it through?

A traveling man passing through here the other day said that he had been in almost every town in Alabama and several other states, and that there was more business transacted in Clanton than in any other town of its size he had ever visited. He said that there were more autobiles here according to the size of the town than there are in Birmingham. Yes, Buddie, Clanton is some town—that is city.

A Democratic Representative in the Legislature, speaking in favor of the bill to abolish the county court of Chilton county, said that he was in favor of getting Republicans out of office in Alabama with no regard to the manner in which it was done. And this man is no exception in the Democratic party. We have scores of just such Democrats in Chilton county—in fact the Democratic party is controlled by this element of men. God pity Alabama and the South just so long as we stay bound down under the fangs of such narrow political vampires.

HON. J. OSMOND MIDDLETON

We have never believed in withholding all the laurels of a man and placing them upon his grave after he is dead, but that some of them should be presented to him while he is here. The past life of J. Osmond Middleton deserves some special mention, since he has been for the past several years continually fighting the battles of the people of Chilton county.

There has not been a political campaign in this county of much importance for the past fifteen years that Colonel Middleton did not take the stump and help out in always championing the rights of the common people of Chilton county. And where do we find him today? He is still giving his time and using his keen energetic brain to the cause of the people of Chilton county. He is alert to the tricks and schemes of the adversary, and is always found fighting them with all the power he has.

In the recent fight that the citizens of the county have been making against the passage of the bill to abolish our county court, in which the vital interest of the whole county is at stake, we have found Middleton right in the thickest of the fight voicing his opposition to an ill-begotten device to do injury to the tax payers and citizens of this our fair county. He has given his time and gone to quite an expense without expecting a cent in return.

Although Mr. Middleton moved away from this county a few years ago, yet he did not forget about us. He continually wrote back home and told us about what he was doing and expressed his interest in the welfare of Chilton county. While he still resided away from here he came back on several occasions to help us over the political snags and bumps we were up against.

Just to make a long story short, we wish that we had more Middletons in our county than we have got.

CHARTED WATERS

Washington, Aug. 6.—President Harding will go down in history as the greatest of our constructive executives. When he entered the White House he found chaos on every hand. It became his duty to restore order, reorganize the government along sound business lines, and salvage the wreckage of war. In the two years and four months that he directed the affairs of state a record of accomplishment was set never equaled before in the history of any government in the world, and likely never to be approached again.

He foresaw that the task ahead far exceeded the capacity of any one man to handle successfully, and he proceeded to surround himself with a cabinet who could not only give sound advice when called upon, but who could be trusted to manage the executive departments in the way the situation demanded. In his selection of executive assistants the President showed rare judgment. His appointees were men of marked managerial ability, and all were skilled in the work that Mr. Harding allotted to them. What they did under his direction and guidance will forever remain an example to succeeding administrations.

Economy was the watchword, and in the Treasury Department the effect of the Harding policies was most prominent. Just before he left for the West the President had the satisfaction of announcing to the country that the last fiscal year indicated a big surplus instead of the usual deficit to which the people had been so accustomed. The reduction of expenditures and the increase of receipts made possible large cuts in the national war debt and warranted a substantial lightening of the tax burden. Future payment of almost half of the huge allied loan was also assured through the funding agreement with Great Britain.

In the War and Navy Departments the President has caused the conversion of huge surplus stores of supplies into cash, and in the Shipping Board his appointees have struggled successfully with heartbreaking discouragements. Under the Harding policies the Department of Commerce has become a practical aid to exporters, the Department of the Interior has brought new efficiency to the administration of the public domain, the Post Office Department is operating within its appropriations for the first time, the Department of Agriculture is headed by a man familiar with both the practical and legislative aspects of farming, and the State Department has restored American prestige among the nations of the world.

In place of the disorder which he inherited, Mr. Harding bequeaths to his successor an organization laid out according to approved business principles, one that already has had a two-year demonstration of its ability to function according to the best interests of the people. It is due to his foresight that the man who is to direct that organization is already trained for the task. Mr. Harding established the precedent of inviting the Vice-President to attend the cabinet meetings. His purpose was not only to receive the benefit of Mr. Coolidge's sound comment on affairs of state, but to familiarize the Vice-President with the duties of the Executive Department so that, in the event of an emergency like the present, he could step into the Presdient's office with no disturbance to the nation's business.

Never has a President's death been more deeply regretted, but never has a President left his office in more orderly condition than Mr. Harding. President Coolidge can take up the reins where his predecessor has dropped them and pursue the Harding policies to the end already mapped out for them. Mr. Harding met and successfully mastered the crisis incident to the abrupt change from war to peace, and Mr. Coolidge has but to follow the comparatively smooth road ahead. Mr. Harding has paid the penalty for his overwork in behalf of the people. His memory will be gratefully treasured by them.

SOUR GRAPES

England's poet laureate has taken a day off to direct a shaft at the United States. It is entitled, "To America's Statue of Liberty," and reads as follows:

"Proud thing of fame,
"How strange at last thy doom;
"Liberty's image—

American liberty needs no defense, neither is it necessary to compare the liberty of an American citizen with that of a citizen of any other country in the world. Americans appraise it correctly, and have no desire to expatriate themselves. Other peoples place an accurate value on it, too, and our immigration laws and the capacity of ocean liners are the only restrictions that prevent millions of Old World subjects coming to our shores annualy. Poet Laureate Watson is a small man and afflicted with a bad case of sour grapes. England tried to bring our liberty within her control, through the league of nations, and failed. Whereupon, Watson would have us believe it is no good, anyway.

LOST DOG—Last Monday week, July 30th. Parties were seen with him on highway south of Clanton in automobile going south. Medium size Cur dog, color red brown, a little white on toe nails, wrinkles in skin in forehead. Reward for his location.—L. D. Popwell, Clanton, Ala. 8-9-2t-pd.

INTO THESE HANDS

Washington, Aug. 6.—The accession of President Coolidge to the White House should bring with it no economic or political disturbance. His hearty support of the policies followed by Mr. Harding is well known, and he will be surrounded by the same men who have carried them to such successful application. The strictest economy will continue to be practiced, the reduction of the debt will go on, the lessening of the tax burden will be accomplished as soon as the condition of the Treasury may warrant, and the administration of the executive departments will be on the same high plane of efficiency as before.

President Coolidge's administration will be based essentially on law and order. He became a national figure when, as Governor of Massachusetts, he stood out boldly against the striking Boston policemen. "There is no right to strike," said he on that occasion, "against the public safety of anybody, anywhere, any time." It was probably that courageous statement, more than any other act of his career, that brought him prominently to the attention of the Chicago convention in 1920 and won him the vice-presidential nomination.

"Mr. Coolidge's concern for the welfare of the people, as distinguished from the interests of any special class, has been evidenced on numerous occasions since the Boston police episode. "I am for a government of all the people," he declared at another time, "founded on right, and truth, and justice. I am against a government of force or terrorism, of group, or class, or selfish interest." It is his bold championship of the rights of the public at large that has endeared him to the hearts of the people, and that assures their support if his term as president develops any emergency in which those rights are assailed.

But President Coolidge's vigorous espousal of the public's cause has not blinded his judgmtnt to the rights of organized labor. Representatives of labor who dealt with him while he was the Governor of Massachusetts testify to his fair treatment of them. "In all my years of work with the legislature," remarked one Massachusetts labor official, "I have never met a man in whose sense of justice and courage I had more trust." As President Mr. Coolidge will have frequent opportunity to weigh the counter claims of labor and employers of labor in various fields and will be called upon ao strike a balance that will be fair to both parties while conserving the interests of the people at large. His record in that respect commands our confidence.

Mr. Coolidge is a worker without ostentation. "We need more of the office desk," he once remarked, "and less of the show window in politics. Let men in office substitute the midnight oil for the limelight." We may rest assured that those thoughts will control his actions while in the White House, and that reports of actual accomplishments, rather than promises of future achievements, will feature the news from the Executive Mansion.

President Coolidge is fortunate in having in his wife an aid to his success as chief executive. Possessed of marked tact, an unusual faculty for making herself popular with her associates, and a high degree of personal grace and charm, Mrs. Coolidge will emulate the fascinating social atmosphere which Mrs. Harding bestowed on the White House.

The administration of President Coolidge will have the support of the people. He deserves only good wishes for his success, and there is every indication that he possesses them in generous measure.

FISHER ON STRIKES

Prof. Irving Fisher of Yale puts the open shop at the head of a list of suggestions for averting future strikes. He also recommends the incorporation of unions so that they may be held more responsible to contracts; fact-finding commissions to aid in the solution of strikes; and means for providing arbitration. It is apparent, however, that strikes will continue so long as it is a debatable question whether a man can accept work without first enrolling in a union. The moment that strike leaders have it brought home to them that they cannot prevent others from taking the places left vacant by the strikers, the incentive to quit will be largely lost.

TAILOR COMING TO CLANTON

Clanton is going to have a real tailor in a few days. Mr. Frank Lowci of Birmingham is coming here this week, and will open up a first class tailor business up stairs over the Upchurch Drug Co. Mr. Lowci has been in the tailor business for nearly forty years, and has worked for some of the best clothing establishments in this country. He will do suit making, altering, pressing and cleaning.

Mr. Lowci will move his family to Clanton and make their home here. We are glad to have a man of Mr. Lowci's type here with us, as he is not only an experienced man in his business, but he believes in helping to build up the community in which he lives.

Circuit Clerk J. Z. Mims left Monday afternoon for Birmingham, where he will attend a state meeting of the Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows, in session there Tuesday and Wednesday. Mrs. Mims attended to the affairs of the Clerk's office while he was away.

OLD BAPTIST CHURCH BURNS

About 1:30 o'clock Saturday night the fire alarm was given out, and upon arising from bed it was found that the old Baptist Church Building then being used by Mr. C. W. Wade for his theatre, was well under way of being burned. The fire department was called out at once, and they did some heroic work in keeping the blaze from spreading to any of the other buildings. All of the buildings close to the old church were brick buildings except Uncle Tom Taylor's grist mill which was made of lumber and stood only a few feet away. The old mill house caught on fire, but was outed before much damage was done.

The total loss to Mr. Wade was $7,500 and he carried only $1,000 insurance.

Mr. Made asks us to announce that his show will be run for a few days in the Miles Garage Building.

A DIRTY TRICK

There is always an element that uses everything in its power to tear down every good thing that the enterprising citizens of a community try to foster. A very striking example of this was enacted Monday night when somebody took away the welcome sign which the city officials had placed on the road which leads into Clanton from the south. The purpose the city had in erecting these signs was to show to traveling people that we are not a selfish people, but that we always welcome visitors to come here.

The person or persons who did this naughty deed ought to be apprehended and brought to justice for such a pernicious act. Anything resembling a decent citizen would not commit such a low down stunt.

LAND FOR SALE—80 acres, 6½ miles north of Clanton, 20 acres in cultivation. Anyone interested, call on or write A. L. Robinson, Thorsby, Ala. 8-9-3t-pd.

Your Insurance Is Backed By Railroad Securities ~

Fact No. 5

Almost everyone owns an insurance policy, but few people know or realize that almost every insurance policy is backed to some degree by the underwriting company's ownership of railroad securities.

Take the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, as an example: Their President states that they have two hundred and sixty six million dollars invested in railroad securities. These securities are owned by the many thousands of people who have policies in the "Metropolitan."

The people who own the railroads are the people of this country---largely the small investors; the owners of life insurance policies---not a few extremely wealthy people, as agitators would have you believe.

When hampering regulations and unjust legislation diminish the value of railroad bonds and scare people from investments for the promotion of railroads---for their extension and their proper equipment---the masses of the common people are the real sufferers.

WEEVILNIP

Never Fails to NIP THE WEEVIL When Properly Applied

Now is the time to use your WEEVILNIP. Don't let the weevils get your best crop of fruitage. You can beat them to it if you will use WEEVILNIP.

Antreville, South Carolina, July 27th, 1923.

Gentlemen:—

I am this year using WEEVILNIP exclusively on my farm, only work about 18 acres of cotton, but if I had a much larger farm I would not hesitate to trust WEEVILNIP. I have found it to be very effective, while I did not begin poisoning as early as I think I should, yet I consider my fields almost 100 per cent free from weevils. I firmly believe we should begin mopping as soon as buds begin to appear on cotton, while as stated above I consider my fields almost free from weevils at this time. I have given your Mr. A. B. Cochran another order for WEEVILNIP, which I expect to begin using about the 5th to 10th of August to take care of weevils migrating or any that might be in the fields today. I firmly believe with fair seasons I will be able to make some good cotton, I am,

Yours very truly,
E. A. PATTERSON,
Cashier Bank of Antreville.

Antreville, S. C., July 29th, 1923.

Dear Sir:—

I have been over a large part of three farms today where WEEVILNIP is being used to control the boll weevil and can truthfully say that we (there were thre in the party) did not find a single weevil nor a single punctured square or boll. We crossed the road into another farm about thirty feet where cotton had been poisoned only once and just recently with a "home mixture" and found punctured squares in large numbers—in fact there were three on the first stalk examined.

We have a number of WEEVILNIP users who do not hesitate to say they have a 100 per cent control. In fact everyone who has used it as directed will say it can't be beat for boll weveil control.

Yours very truly,
A. B. COCHRAN.

POOR ORIGINAL

Brief Sketch of Warren G. Harding's Life

Warren Gamaliel Harding, twenty-ninth president of the United States, was born November 2, 1865, on his grandfather's farm just outside the village of Blooming Grove, in Morrow county, Ohio. He was descended from two pioneer American families, hardy Holland Dutch on the one side and liberty-loving Scotch on the other. His father, Dr. George T. Harding, is still a practicing physician in Marion, O., despite his advanced age of seventy-nine years. His mother was Phoebe Elizabeth Dickerson Harding.

Mr. Harding was a self-made man in the best sense of the phrase. He worked on his grandfather's farm and attended the village school until he was fourteen years old, and then he entered the Ohio Central college at Iberia. He worked his way through that institution by cutting corn, painting his neighbor's barns and, helping on the grading of the roadbed of the T. & O. C. railroad. He also played in the village band and was editor of the college paper.

When he graduated from the college, Warren went to work in the village printing office. At the time he was nineteen years old, his father moved to Marion with the family and there aided Warren financially in gaining control of the Marion Star, of which he was publisher until after he assumed office of president of the United States. Already he knew how to set type and to do all the other duties of a printer, and when the linotype was introduced he learned to operate that machine. Always he carried as a pocket piece the printer's rule he used in those days.

The Star was his idol and he was very proud of it and of the more than friendly relations that existed between him and his employees. There was never a strike on the paper, and about 14 years ago he instituted a profit-sharing plan whereby the employees received dividends that were paid them in the form of stock in the paper. Mr. Harding was identified also with the industries that sprang up in Marion as it grew from a town of 4,000 to a city of more than 30,000. He was a director in a bank and in several manufacturing companies, and was a trustee of Trinity Baptist church.

His Rise in Politics.

As editor and publisher of a lively Republican paper it was inevitable that Mr. Harding should take an active interest in politics, and his attainments brought him to the front in the state. He was a member of the Ohio senate from 1900 to 1904, and then served as lieutenant governor of the state. In 1910 he was the Republican nominee for governor, but was defeated. In 1915 he was sent to the United States senate, serving until 1920, when he resigned to make the campaign for the presidency. In the preconvention campaign that year he had been looked on as one of the possible nominees for the high office, but his defeat in the primaries for election of delegates from Ohio seemed to spoil his chances. However, the conservative leaders of the Republican party prevailed in the gathering in the Chicago Coliseum, and Mr. Harding was nominated. His campaign was based largely on opposition to American participation in the League of Nations, and was so successful that in the election of November 4 he received 404 electoral votes to 127 for James M. Cox, the Democratic nominee. He was inaugurated March 4, 1921, with a degree of simplicity in the ceremonies that pleased the American people.

Classed, when in the senate, as a conservative, President Harding did not depart markedly from conservative lines when in the White House, though his supporters always said he was as progressive as the good of the country warranted and as conditions permitted. He, like President Roosevelt, had a great coal miners' strike on his hands, and labored hard and with a measure of success to bring it to a peaceful and just end.

Arms Limitation Conference.

The outstanding accomplishment of his administration was the great international conference for the limitation of armament held in Washington, opening on Armistice day, November 11, 1921. At his instigation the conference was authorized by congress and after feeling out the big powers and finding them agreeable he issued invitations to Great Britain, France, Belgium, Italy, Japan, China, the Netherlands and Portugal. Each country sent some of its most eminent statesmen as delegates, those of the United States being Secretary of State Hughes, chairman of the conference; Senators Lodge of Massachusetts and Underwood of Alabama, and ex-Secretary of State Elihu Root.

The conference adjourned February 6, 1922, after negotiating these treaties:

A covenant of limitation to naval armament between the United States, Great Britain, France, Japan and Italy.

A treaty between the same powers as to the use of submarines and noxious gases in warfare.

A treaty between the United States, Great Britain, France and Japan relating to their insular possessions and their insular dominions in the Pacific, with a declaration reserving American rights in mandated territory.

A treaty between the nine powers in the conference relating to principles and policies to be followed in matters concerning China.

A treaty between the nine powers relating to Chinese customs tariff. France refusing to consider the limitation of land armament at the present time, that part of the conference fell through. But what it did achieve was considered a great step toward the attainment of world peace. The treaties were soon ratified by the United States senate and the British parliament, and the other nations followed suit, though for a long time it was feared France would not accept the pacts. However, President Harding lived to see them ratified by the French chamber and senate.

Favored Entering World Court.

Mr. Harding had not been long in the White House before it appeared that he did not favor entire isolation of the United States from European affairs, but believed this country would have to do its part in the restoration of Europe to peace and stability. This feeling became more evident early in 1923 when he proposed that America should accept membership in the International Court of Justice which had been founded under the auspices of the League of Nations. The President was as insistent as ever that this country should keep out of the league, but believed the court was or would be independent of the greater organization. Against the advice of some leaders of his party, he reiterated this advice on several occasions, and his plan formed the subject of some of his addresses on his last and fatal trip through the West. He did not think it would split his party, and boldly continued to advocate it. Notwithstanding this, it was assumed to be almost a certainty that President Harding would be nominated in the Republican national convention of 1924.

WARREN G. HARDING

Mr. Harding's home life was ideal save that he had no children. He and Mrs. Harding, who was Miss Florence Kling of Marion, were devoted to each other and she was always his true helpmate, both in Ohio and in Washington. In the national capital Mrs. Harding quickly made herself loved by all with whom she came in contact, and during the Western trip she was more eager even than the President to meet and mix with all kinds of people.

His Western Trip.

President Harding's Alaska trip was originally planned for the summer of 1922. He inherited the so-called "Alaska problem." Alaska seemed to be on the down grade, with decrease in population and mining output, threatened extinction of the fishing industry and numerous other unfavorable symptoms. The situation apparently called for the establishment of a definite Alaskan policy. Various plans were discussed, including a transfer of control to the Interior department from the score or more of governing bureaus. President Harding's plans for 1922 came to naught, but this year he determined to get first-hand information. He was accompanied by Secretary Work of the Interior department, Secretary Wallace of the Agricultural department and Secretary Hoover of the Department of Commerce, all of whom are immediately concerned in the Alaskan situation.

The President left Washington at the end of June and journeyed leisurely to the Pacific Northwest by special train, making speeches at St. Louis, Denver, Helena, Spokane and other cities. Incidentally he visited two of the national parks. First he went to Zion in Utah, the newest of our national parks, which is a many-colored gorge cut by the Rio Virgin. Next he visited Yellowstone in Wyoming, created in 1872, the first national park in history and largest and most famous of the nineteen parks of our system. Here he motored, boated, fished, fed the bears and had a good time. His plans also included a visit to Yosemite upon his return trip, but that was abandoned.

Saw Much of Alaska.

The President celebrated the Fourth of July in the United States and then started for Alaska on the U. S. transport Henderson. His Alaskan trip was extensive. He went the length of the new government railroad and visited the capital, Juneau, and the principal cities. He also was shown the best of the majestic scenery.

On his return trip Mr. Harding stopped off at Vancouver, creating precedent in that he was the first American president to step on Canadian soil.

The President arrived at Seattle July 27 and reviewed from the bridge of the Henderson a fleet of a dozen or so battleships under command of Admiral H. P. Jones, each of which gave him the national salute of twenty-one guns. Even then he was suffering from the ailment that resulted in his death, and soon after that the rest of his trip, which was to include a return to the East via the Panama canal, was canceled.

President Harding made a public address at Seattle, setting forth his views on the Alaskan situation. Some of his points were these:

"Alaska for Alaskans."

"There is no need of government-managed, federally-pair-for hothouse development . . . there must be no reckless sacrificing of resources."

"Alaska is destined for statehood in a few years."

"Where there is possibility of betterment in federal machinery of administration, improvement should and will be effected."

Other conclusions presented by President Harding were:

That generous appropriation should be made for road building.

That the federal government should be more liberal in encouraging the technical, scientific and demonstration work in agriculture.

That restrictions should be laid on the fisheries and on the forests.

That the development of the coal mines must await time and economic conditions.

That the government should retain ownership and operation of the Alaskan railroad.

During the President's illness the greatest concern was felt and expressed in all foreign countries, and their governments were constantly advised of his condition.

UNITED FARMERS RALLY AND WATERMELON CUTTING HELD

Saturday, Aug. 4, the members of Littlejohn Local No. 225, held a rally and watermelon cutting at Littlejohn school house about three miles northwest of Clanton. The meeting was called to order at 2:30 p.m. by Mr. J. W. Lowery, president fo the local, and the members of the singing school at Liberty Hill sang two songs. These songs and others that followed were appreciated by all present and were sufficient proof that their instructor was getting results.

Following the evenings songs, Rev. A. L. Foshee gave a welcome address extending a hearty welcome to all visitors present. Next Mr. O. H. Mastin, county business agent, gave an instructive talk on co-operation and a brief report of the National Convention at Caruthersville, Mo. He called attention to the fact that Littlejohn Local was the first local of the U. F. of A. organized in Alabama and spoke of the progress made since that time. Next Mr. J. O. Middleton of Clanton spoke and among other things stated that in his opinion if, al business and professional men really understood the principles and methods of the U. F. of A. they would support it.

Hon. L. H. Reynolds, probate judge of Chilton county was the next speaker, giving an excellent talk in support of co-operation. He stated that the greatest difficulty confornting us is the fact that many of the members do not realize the full benefits of the union as many of the benefits come indirectly. He stated that if every farmer in the county would join the union ond wark withh it in just one year the conditoin in the county would beg reatly improved.

The last speaker of the day was Mr. A. E. Baxley who gave a short but entertaining talk.

After the speaking everyone was invited to help eat watermelons and tho everyone did his best there were some left. Needlesh to say everyon njoyed the rally and went home with firmer determination to support the union.

A RESOLUTION

To Whom It May Concern:

Whereas, the Railroads are transporting in a satisfactory manner the largest amount of traffic ever known, and,

Whereas, the Railroads, through the American Railway Association, individually and colectively are making enormous expenditures for improvements, rolling stock and other new equipment, and,

Whereas, the Railroads are doing everything possbile to co-operate with the shipping public and urging full car loading and release of equipment and have called upon them to co-operate through regional shippers advisory boards to function with the car service division of the American Railway Association, and,

Whereas, the American Railways are maintaining and improving the most economically and efficiently managed transportation systems in the world and for the first time since government control ceased, are earning for their owners a satisfactory net income;

Be it Resolved by the Board of Directors of the Thorsby Chamber of Commerce that it denounce any political agitation for government control and ownership of the railroads for economical and patriotic reasons.

Be it further Resolved that it is the position of the Thorsby Chamber of Commerce that the railroads should be trammeled less by national legislation and that the matter of arriving at fair and equiptable valuation of railroads should be left with the Interestate Commerce Commission, in co-operation with the various state service commissions as provided by law.

Thorsby Chamber of Commerce,
J. W. DAVENPORT,
President.
N. C. PETERSEN,
Secretary.

TO UNITED FARMERS OF CHILTON COUNTY:

Members who want vetch seed or crimson or bur clover seed should place their order with their local business agent or at the county office as soon as possible. Local business agents are asked to forward orders to county office without delay. Prices are as follows: Vetch, 22c per lb.; Crimson Clover, 15c per lb.; and Bur Clover, $1.25 per bushel.

Both for winter pastures and as soil improvers these legumes have proved to be very profitable crops on many southern farms and we recommend them to our members.

O. H. MASTIN,
County Business Agent.

PUT TRASH IN CAN

The city officials have placed garbage cans all over the business section of Clanton, and the reason is not to ornament the streets but to provide a place to put the trash in to keep it off the streets. There are twenty-four of these cans, and they art put at places so as to make it as convenient as possible to put all trash in. So, when you buy a dozen bananas do not throw the peels on the sidewalks for some one to slip down on and break his head, but put them in one of those garbage cans. Or if you buy a package of peanuts, throw the hulls in those cans or else put them in your pocket until you get out of town then empty your pocket. These garbage cans are put there for the people to use, so let's make use of them.

NON-RESIDENT NOTICE

tThe State of Alabama, Chilton County. Circuit Court. In Equity.

Ervin Allen, Complainant, vs. Lula Allen, Defendant.

In this cause it is made to appear to the Register by the affidavit of Omar L. Reynolds, that the Defendant is a non-resident, and that his place of residence and post-office address is unknown, and that such address cannot be ascertained after reasonable effort; and, further, that, in the belief of said affiant, the Defendant is of the age of twenty-one years:

It is, therefore, ordered by the Register that publication be made in The Union-Banner, a newspaper published in the County of Chilton, once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring her, the said Lula Allen, to plead, answer, or demur to the bill of complaint in this cause by the 9th day of September, 1923, or, in thirty days thereafter, a decree pro confesso may be taken against her.

Done at office in Clanton, this 6th day of August, 1923.

W. D. SPIGENER, Register.

KU KLUX VISIT CANE CREEK

Just before preaching began at Cane Creek Tuesday night in came a klan consisting of some half a dozen or more Ku Klux. They marched right up to the preacher and handed him a donation and walked right back out. We were not there but we have been told that everything assumed an atmosphere of considerable quietude when these hooded klansmen walked in. We don't think any of the boys had any fights or did any cutting up while the Ku Klux were there either.

Working at Night!

ALEX PETERSON NOT GUILTY

Recent developments in the matter of Alex Peterson, who was alleged to have broken into the home of Mr. Walter Martin a few nights ago, go to prove that "Pete" was not the negro that broke into the home. The negro's trial was calltd in county court Monday, but no evidence was produced against him, so the case was continued for ten days to give Mr. Martin a chance to investigate further into the matter.

The following letters received by Mr. J. W. Franklin from the State Warden at Spigener will probably serve to clear up the implications of this negro in the case:

First Letter

Speigner Prison, July 24, 1923.

To Whom It May Concern:

Mr. J. W. Franklin of Clanton, brought to this prison a pair of shoes to see if they could be identified as shoes that were worn by Will Coleman, an escaped convict at the time of his escape.

I would not say that these were the shoes but will say the State issues this exact pattern and a good many of the inmates and several of the Guards claim they resemble very much the ones worn by Will Coleman. At the time of his escape he was the coal roller for the Alabama Cotton Mills. Mr. Russell, the man on the gate where Will Coleman passed several times a day, says that Will wore his shoes untied and in a slouchy condition.

The prisoners cut their shoes very bad on account of the weight, and they are vey bad about trading shoes to one another, therefore, we could not say positive these were the shoes issued to Will Coleman.

This negro was serving four sentences for burglary and grand larceny.

Very truly yours,
GEO. P. WALLS, Warden.

Second Letter

Speigner, Ala., Aug. 4, 1923.

Mr. J. W. Franklin,
Clanton, Ala.

Dear Sir:

Your letter of Aug. 4th, received. The shoes that were found, did belong to Will Coleman, and your negro should be turned loose.

I would appreciate it the first time you are passing that you would bring us the shoes or send them as we may need them in this case.

I hope this information will clear your negro. Will Coleman says he was without food, and went in this house for that purpose. He went in the house alone. Anything else I can help you in this case, I will be glad to do so.

Very truly yours,
GEO. P. WALLS, Warden.

How to build up your Weight

TO be under weight often proves low fighting-power in the body. It often means you are minus nerve-power, minus red-cells in your blood, minus health, minus vitality. It is serious to be minus, but the moment you increase the number of your red-blood-cells, you begin to become plus. That's why S. S. S., since 1826, has meant to thousands of underweight men and women, a plus in their strength. Your body fills to the point of power, your flesh becomes firmer, the age lines that come from thinness disappear. You look younger, firmer, happier, and you feel it, too, all over your body. More red-blood-cells! S. S. S. will build them.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

CALVIN COOLIDGE IS CONGREGATIONALIST

Attends Church With Mrs. Coolidge, Who Has Been Member Since Childhood.

Washington, Aug. 4.—For the first time in history the Congregational church, through the rise of Calvin Coolidge to the presidency, will be able to claim the nation's executive.

Although not a member, Mr. Coolidge for many years has been a regular attendant at Congregational churches here and in Massachusetts, accompanying Mrs. Coolidge, an actual member of the church since childhood.

The First Congregational church tomorrow becomes the presidential church of the capital. The president and Mrs. Coolidge plan to attend morning services there. They have attended the First church constantly during Mr. Coolidge's term as vice-president, and will keep it as their place of worship in the future.

It was founded in 1865, and is of old-fashioned architecture, a large but not imposing red brick structure, and is located downtown at Tenth and G streets. The pastor is the Reverend Jason N. Pierce, who called upon the president today.

President Coolidge, although not a member of the church, is the first president associated with the Congregational faith. He and Mrs. Coolidge rarely miss Sunday services. She is affiliated with the Edwards Congregational church of Northampton, Mass.

In his first church attendance as president tomorrow, Mr. Coolidge had planned to attend Calvary Baptist church, of which President Harding was a member, and take part in a memorial service for Mr. Harding. But when it was learned later that the ceremony was not to be a formal memorial, they changed their plans.

The memorial service at the Calvary church will be held after the return to Washington of Mr. Harding's pastor, who is in Europe.

McADORY'S FORCES SEIZE 112 STILLS AND MUCH LIQUOR

Monthly Report Shows That Almost 70,000 Gallons of Beer Captured in July.

Stills captured by deputies of the state law enforcement department during the month of July reached a figure of 112, according to the monthly report of Chief Walter K. McAdory, submitted to Governor W. W. Brandon Tuesday. More than a thousand gallons of whiskey and nearly seventy thousand gallons of beer and several hunldred gallons of wine, were destroyed by the law enforcers during the month and 237 arrests were made.

The month witnessed a big capture of automobiles, confiscated because of having been used for illicit transportation of whiskey. A total of eleven automobiles were captured, also a mule and a buggy.

The financial statement shows that for July, as in the past, the receipts of the department, secured from the pockets of lawbreakers well ahead of its total expenditures. Cash fines assessed during July amounted to $8,527.95 while the total expenditures for salaries and all other expenses amounted to only $4,774.39, leaving a net profit of nearly four thousand dollars in addition to the destruction of stills and the sentences imposed.

The following disposition was made of cases during the month: convictions, 114; nol prossed, 3; acquitted, '6. Two sentences of a year and a day and two sentences of 2 years and 6 months to 2 years 9 months were imposed.

Captures for the month were: 112 stills, 67,670 gallons of beer, 1012 gallons of whiskey and 290 gallons of wine. The automobiles confiscated comprised six oFrds, and one each of the following makes: Hudson, Oldsmobile, Cadillac, Marmon and Chervolet.

The total number of 237 arrests was divided as follows: violation of the prohibition law, 116; operating still, 33; possessing still 8; conspiracy to violate the Volstead Act, 2; public drunkeness, 21; gaming, 30; operating a gambling house, 1; assault to murder, 5; abusive language, 1; resisting an officer, 1; murder, 2; vagrancy, 5; disorderly conduct, 5; carrying concealed weapons, 2; grand larceny, 2; assault with weapon, 1; assault and battery, 1; robbery, 1.

POOR ORIGINAL

PRESIDENT HARDING PASSES AWAY SUDDENLY IN WEST

Stroke of Apoplexy Is Fatal When His Recovery Was Deemed Certain—Mrs. Harding With Him at the End—Whole World Is Shocked.

BODY OF DEAD NATION'S HEAD REACHED WASHINGTON TUESDAY

Washington.—Death claimed Warren G. Harding with shocking suddenness at 7:30 p. m. Thursday at San Francisco. In the midst of apparent recovery he was stricken with apoplexy while Mrs. Harding was reading to him. The end came quickly.

The special train left San Francisco at 7 p. m. Friday, routed directly to the capital by way of Reno, Ogden, Cheyenne, Omaha and Chicago.

The train made no stops en route except those necessary for its operation. The body of the President was borne in the rear car. The car was lighted at night, and at all times two soldiers and two sailors, a part of a naval and military guard of sixteen enlisted men, stood at attention guarding the casket.

The train carried the presidential party as composed during the trip across the country to Alaska, and also Genera' Pershing, Attorney General Daugherty, and Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Remsberg and family, Mrs. Remsberg being a sister of the President.

Untold thousands of American citizens stood with uncovered heads, day and night, as the train passed.

Through Nevada in the hours of daylight and darkness there were mourners at the stations. Utah contributed its thousands the next day. Wyoming's citizens mourned en masse. And so on across the continent. At the cities, especially, large crowds assembled at the stations.

President Harding died of a stroke of apoplexy at 7:30 o'clock Thursday night (10:30 p. m., New York time). His exact age was fifty-seven years and nine months.

The end came suddenly while Mrs. Harding was reading to him from a magazine and after what had been called the best day he had had since the beginning of his illness exactly one week before.

Suddenly it was noticed that the President was shuddering and gasping. Mrs. Harding ran to him, but he was unable to respond to her inquiries. She then ran to the door of the sick room and called to the secret service man there to summon the President's physicians.

When General Sawyer reached the room the President was still alive, but he died almost at once.

Collapse Is Sudden.

In greater detail the facts of the death are related. With Mrs. Harding in the sickroom were two nurses. Due to the seeming improvement in the President's condition, members of his party, including the physicians who had remained in constant call, were confident they could leave the hotel for a few hours' relaxation. Many of them were at dinner.

Mrs. Harding, however, refusing to desert the post, was seated by the bedside, reading to her husband, when at 7:10 o'clock the President suddenly collapsed. His breathing, which had been quick ever since the illness overtook him, suddenly became spasmodic. Mrs. Harding, leaving the nurse to take whatever steps they could in the emergency, ran to the door of the presidential suite.

"Get the doctors," she called, as she ran part way into the almost deserted corridor. A secret service operative was seated about twenty feet down the hall. She hurriedly told the secret service man that the President had had a sudden and seemingly severe relapse, and begged the detective to try to locate Doctor Boone or any of the other physicians.

The secret service man took up the search for the physicians, while Mrs. Harding returned to the bedside. They located Doctor Sawyer at once.

Hoover Arrives Quickly.

Word of the President's sudden turn for the worse spread through the hotel and efforts were launched at once to try to locate the members of his official party.

Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce and one of the closest cabinet members to the President, was the first of the cabinet members to reach the bedside. He hurr'ed into the corridor, already aware that the President's life was ebbing fast, and the door to the suite closed behind him. A short time after he came out. He was completely broken up and could not speak to the newspaper men as they gathered around him on his way down to his own quarters. Tears were running down his cheeks and he seemed to be stunned by grief as he made his way to the elevator.

Mayor James Rolph of San Francisco was the next to arrive, and he, too, after a visit to the death room, was inarticulate.

Official Statement.

It was about twenty minutes from the time Mr. Harding was stricken (7:10 p. m.) until he died (7:30). The circumstance is told briefly in the following formal announcement:

"The President died at 7:30 p. m. Mrs. Harding and the two nurses, Miss Ruth Powderly and Miss Sue Drusser, were in the room at the time. Mrs. Harding was reading to the President when utterly without warning a slight shudder passed through his frame, he collapsed, and all recognized that the end had come. A stroke of apoplexy was the cause of his death.

"Within a few moments all of the President's official party had been summoned."

Dr. Boone said later that Miss Powderly looked at the President while Mrs. Harding was reading to him and was struck by a great improvement in the patient's appearance.

"Doesn't he look fine?" she said, turning to Mrs. Harding.

Then the nurse turned back to look at the President to verify her comment. Mrs. Harding looked, too. They saw a shudder pass over the sick man's frame. That marked the stroke that produced death.

The following telegram from the members of the cabinet who are here was immediately sent to Vice President Coolidge, Chief Justice Taft, and those members of the cabinet who were not in San Francisco:

"The President died at 7:30 p. m. from a stroke of cerebral apoplexy. The end came peacefully and without warning.

"DAUGHERTY,
"WORK,
"WALLACE,
"HOOVER."

A Shocking Surprise.

Nothing could have been a more shocking surprise. But an hour earlier General Sawyer had been telling newspaper men that Mr. Harding had had the best day since he became seriously ill the preceding Saturday. He said that the President had definitely entered upon the stage of convalescence and that everything went to show that Mr. Harding was on the road to ultimate recovery.

The members of the official party—those who had accompanied the President and Mrs. Harding—had no warning that the President was in danger. They, like the newspaper men, had been assured that a fatal termination of the President's illness was a thing not to be expected, in view of his apparent improvement—the evident lessening of serious symptoms—in the last 48 hours.

George B. Christian, Jr., secretary to the President and his devoted friend, was in Los Angeles with Mrs. Christian. He had gone there at the President's solicitation to read at a Masonic gathering an address which the President had prepared in the expectation that he would deliver it in person.

The newspaper men had an engagement with General Sawyer for 8 o'clock. He was to tell them then how the President was progressing toward recovery. The bulletin came at 7:30. Instead of informing them that the President's condition continued to improve it gave them the astounding information that he was dead.

Regarding the manner in which Mrs. Harding sustained the shock, an official statement given to the press by Judson D. Welliver of the White House staff, a member of the President's official party, said:

"Mrs. Harding, who from the beginning of the President's illness had expressed complete confidence in his recovery, did not break down. On the other hand, she continued, as from the beginning, the bravest member of the group. When it was realized that the President had actually passed away, she turned to those in the room, whose concern had turned to her, and said: 'I am not going to break down.'"

COOLIDGE WELL EQUIPPED FOR PRESIDENTIAL DUTIES

President Calvin Coolidge is perhaps better equipped by experience to take up his administrative duties in the White House than was any of his predecessors who have been called to that high office by the death of a president.

He has kept throughout the Harding administration closely advised as to the problems of the federal government and has assisted in shaping administration policy by his constant attendance at cabinet meetings.

Although vice presidents usually have no other duties to perform than that of presiding over the senate, casting the deciding vote when that body finds itself in a tie, Mr. Coolidge absented himself from its sessions every Tuesday and Friday to participate in the cabinet deliberations. Thus he became familiar not only with all angles of the major public questions, but also with the reasons actuating the President in his decisions.

Body Arrives in Washington

Washington, Aug. 7.—President Harding's funeral train, freighted with the sorrow of the nation, reached Washington at 10:22 o'clock tonight.

Although the train was nine hours late, thousands jammed the station concourse, waiting for hours packed against the iron fence that shuts off the train platform, to be first to give their silent tribute to the dead chieftain.

The train backed into the station so that thef uneral car with its flag-draped casket rolled in first, to stop where the little group headed by President Coolidge waited.

COTTON GOES $6 A BALE HIGHER WHILE STOCKS REFLECT CONFIDENCE

New York, Aug. 6.—Recent increases in the price of cotton, caused by prospects of a sharp reduction in the Texas crop, will mean a gain of approximately $80,000,000 to farmers who have cotton to sell, William Mitchell, of Gwathmey and Company, cotton brokers, estimated today.

Houses and plunging customers who traded in cotton were caught short today as the price of that commodity was advanced more than $6 a bale on top of an advance of $10 a bale in the last three trading days. The rush to cover was accelerated by further unfavorable crop reports from Texas.

Confidence in Coolidge

Wall street's confidence in President Coolidge, which has been voiced by many of its banking and business leaders, found expression in today's stock market, the first full day session since the death of President Harding when prices recovered the ground lost Saturday and mounted toward higher levels than those prevailing at the close of business last Thursday.

The rally, which really began in the late trading on Saturday, originated in the buying orders of professional operators, who either covered stocks previously sold short or bought for a turn on the theory that the market had been temporarily oversold. The volume of sales was relatively small, a number of the large traders showing no disposition to extend their commitments pending a definite announcement of the new administration's policy and the outcome of developments abroad. Commission houses reported little public participation in the day's business.

The net gain in the averages of 20 leading railroad stocks and the 20 leading industrials was about 1 1-4 points each, U. S. Steel, Baldwin and Studebaker, often referred to as pivoted stocks, showed net gains of about two points each.

OAK GROVE NEWS

MACEDONIA NEWS

Boys and girls, it is just a few more days till our protracted services will begin. Let us pray for the success of these services, that much and lasting good may be accomplished. Truly the harvest is great and, reapers fun; let each one stop and think, am I living that pure and noble life that God would have me to live? Girls, Christ has made us man's comrades and calabare, and we can be principal characters in this important work. When we look about us and see the wideness of God's hand work, we are amazed at the vastness of His power and the infinitude of His love. A sense of gratitude ought to overwhelm each one of us and stimulate a passion for service that we may pay back at least in part the incalculable debt we owe.

Mrs. Mattie Armstrong fell Sunday and broke her arm and collar bone. Her many friends hope for her a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Williams and children of Maplesville were visitors here Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dock Hodgens of Pleasant Grove visited relatives here Sunday.

Misses Taber Atchison and Bernice Nix spent Sunday with Miss Nettie Mae Hayes.

Rev. M. C. Crumpton of Childersburg visited his parents here recently.

On last Saturday the people met and finished the work on the cemetery.

Several from here attended the protracted services at Shady Grove last week and had the soul's gratifying pleasure of hearing some more of Rev. Dykes' heart-thrilling sormons.

Misses Taber Atchison, Nettie Mae Hayes, Bernice Nix, Messrs. J. D. Hayes, Ira and Joe Atchison motored out to Randolph Sunday afternoon.

Last week was home-coming time at Mr. W. M. Merchant's. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Allen and children, and Mr. and Mrs. Johs Merchant, Jr., of Jackson, Tenn., and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Collins of eBrry, Ala., and Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Brown of Randolph, spent the week with their parents.

Mr. S. D. Jones and daughters, Minnie Murl and Mittie Fae, and Jessie Mae Nix attended the family reunion at Jones Town Sunday.

CLANTON TO PLAY BALL

Manager Victor J. Heard of the Clanton base ball team informs us that he has booked for the next few weeks games with four of the best amateur teams in the state. The following engagements have been made:

Hill Creek team, at Blocton, Thursday, Aug. 9.

Siluria team at Clanton, Friday, Aug. 10.

Mignon Hill team, at Sylacauga, Aug. 11.

Lafayette, three games Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Aug. 13, 14, and 15, in Lafayette.

He also has under consideration, Hill Creek club of West Blocton, here Friday, Aug. 17, and Saturday, the 18th a double header.

The above games will close this base ball season.

We are asked to make special mention of the game to be played here against Siluria on next Friday, Aug. 10. This promises to be a game well worth your seeing. Everybody who enjoys a good ball game will miss a treat if they do not come.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Mr. Thorington of Montgomery will preach for the Presbyterian church on Sunday, Aug. 12th, at 11 o'clock. The public is cordially invited.

Also there is Sunday school every Sunday beginning at 9:45 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Thompson and little son, Tom, Jr., of Selma, returned home recently after a two week's visit to Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Gore, father and mother of Mrs. Thompson.

HAPPY PICNIC PARTY

The Oak Hill Sunday school pupils passed through Clanton Tuesday on their way to Mim's Pond, where they went to spend the day on a picnic. There were forty-two in number, and they were in the charge of Messrs. E. L. and A. H. Glasscock, who are officers and leaders in the Oak Hill Sunday school.

As the children returned through Clanton in the afternoon they came to The Union-Banner office to see how the paper was printed. They happened to come in just as we were running off the first run of the paper and while the Linotype machine was busy setting up the type. This was the first time most of the children had ever visited a printing office, and it was quite amusing to them to see how it is done.

The Union-Banner extended them a glad welcome.

HIGH SCHOOL COLUMN

This article is writen primarily to give the parents my ideas along the lines discussed herein. I do not ask you to accept my ideas, I merely ask you to carefully consider them and then accept whatever good you may find.

One of the most striking developments in recent educational history is the rapid change that has taken place in the prevailing conceptions of the purposes of the high school. The importance of this fact is not always realized by the teacher or the patron. One of the principal differences which arise is the antithesis between the cultural and the vocational aspect of the school. From 1500 to 1750 the high school was composed of a selective group and generally aristocratic in its tendencies. Down to the time of Queen Elizabeth, who died in 1603, Latin occupied the principal place in the curriculum. Soon after her death the modern languages replaced Latin in the commercial world and Latin declined in the schools. In Boston, the first English High School was opened in 1821. The public high schools have been very slow to adopt vocational courses. This is shown by the large number of private schools which were founded in the East to teach the usable subjects such as Composition, Rhetoric, Arithmetic, Trigonometry and Surveying. As the public high schools began to take over the vocational or usable subjects, the private Academies were forced to drop back to the purely so-called cultural subjects. It is not surprising, therefore, that Latin has been practically abolished from the course of study in the public schools all over the country. The majority of those which do teach Latin, do not require Latin but allow the pupils to choose it.

To my way of thinking there seems to be a misconception of what are cultural and what are vocational subjects. The wrong basis seems to have been taken for a determination of what are cultural subjects. People have been taught to think in terms of the subjects of themselves rather than in terms of the vocation or occupation of the learner. What is vocational for one may be cultural for another. Take the study of Chemistry, for example, which is purely vocational for the future Chemist, yet for the Classical student Chemistry is strictly a cultural subject. There are some who think that Latin, Greek, French, and Grammar are the only cultural subjects in the curriculum. I studied all of them, and I do not believe either one of them is near as cultural as the study of Plane and Solid Geometry, judging from the subject itself. Judging from the new point of view which is fast becoming commonly accepted, Latin is vocational to a very few professions. It is fast dying in the high schools. I rejoice to see the day when not more than two years will be permitted in the high school. (I can see some of you throw up your hands in horror). Economics is vocational to the man who expects to enter business, but it is cultural to the language scholar. Language studied for the commercial purpose becomes vocational and loses its cultural aspect. Any subject not in line with the field in which a pupil is doing his work to prepare for a vocation is strictly cultural, while any which is in line with his vocation becomes purely vocational.

Turning now to concrete things I call to your attention a few which you already know. The home must take back some of the responsibility which has been shunted to the school in the training of the child. Some people send their children to school and expect the teacher to turn them out polished young men and young ladies, yet the same people are not willing to do their part to give the expected polish. If the parents allow their children to interrupt the conversation of people much their elder, how can they blame the school for letting a few things go by. Some argue that the teacher is hired to do those things. My goodness, ought not the parents to have a thousand times more interest in the welfare of their children than the teacher who is merely "an hired servant?" I have heard parents say that they sent their children to school to keep from being bothered with them. Some in Clanton have gone almost that far in their statements. If you do not want to be bothered with them why pick on the school by sending them there to be a source of trouble and worry to the teachers?

All human beings make mistakes. However much some of you may doubt it, all teachers are human beings. Therefore, all teachers make mistakes. When a teacher makes a mistake, how many of you go to that teacher and tell him in a nice way of his error? Do you not rather prefer to get off somewhere and "preach his funeral" to somebody and begin to lay plans to get rid of him? Last spring I heard the air filled with such a voluminous stream of obnoxious words of condemnation that only the goodness of the Divinity in sending a wind purify. Goodness gracious, if you will pardon a colloquialism, why not help the teacher instead of making his course as hard as you possibly can make it? Many times a good teacher has to leave a community just because of the little things which someone or ones hold against him. Oftentimes the trouble could have been remedied and the teacher have remained on the job for years if the ones who hold the grudge had been broad-minded enough to have gone to the teacher and got an understanding.

There are some people who rather then go to the teacher and try to get an understanding would rather see him or her make a complete failure so that they, the patrons, might get rid of him or her at the end of the year and thus satisfy a personal grudge. Have you ever seen such people? I have. I grant to every man the inalienable right to his or her opinion but I demand the right to have mine.

I want your co-operation, I need your co-operation, I must have your co-operation to give you the best of service. If every patron will back up the faculty for the entire year and will not let little things get into the way, I believe we can do some effective work this year. I am not promising to please you even then, but we are going to do our best. If that does not suit you, then kick us out and get a new crowd. I do bid for your support for the full year, however, so as to give us a fair chance. You must realize that we have a big task before us, made greater by the fact that we are all new on the job at the high school. If you see us get off the track, come tell us about it instead of getting out on the street and "knocking" us. A school man never knows whether he is satisfying unless someone tells him so, or more often begins to "knock" him.

My subject next week will be "The Submarine Attack."

LAWLEY NEWS

Many visitors from other communities attended B. Y. P. U. services here last Sunday night. We are always glad to have them. Hope they will come again.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Head, who have been visiting in Georgia for some time, returned home last Saturday, accompanied by Mrs. Julia Smith, sister of Mr. Head.

Mr. Jim Lawrence wants to sell his home here, and if he sells, his intentions are to move to Tuscaloosa where he has been working since returning from Florida. This family has many friends here who will regret to see them move away.

Mr. W. P. Collins is beginning to build some on his home here in Lawley. But it will be some time before it will be completed, as he is just beginning.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred McGee and two boys of Plantersville were here last Sunday visiting relatives. We hear that Mr. and Mrs. McGee are planning to move back with Mrs. Celia Hicks, mother of Mrs. McGee, some time soon.

Mr. Charlie King has moved into the house recently vacated by Mr. Emmett Lawrence. Mr. Lawrence has gone to Maplesville.

Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Walker of Shoults community spent last Sunday here with their daughter, Mrs. W. P. Hicks.

Mr. and Mrs. Sheb Holley returned home last Saturday, after visiting for two weeks at Tuscaloosa with their children.

Miss Nannie Bell Head, one of our most attractive young ladies, who works at Centerville, spent last week-end at home here with her parents.

Quite a crowd of boys and girls from this place are preparing to go to Centerville this year to school, which will begin Aug. 29th.

Rev. Foster Mills did not preach last Saturday, on account of being called to preach a funeral at his home town, at Tuscaloosa.

Those who are in a "run down" condition will notice that Catarrh bothers them much more than when they are in good health. This fact proves that while Catarrh is a local disease, it is greatly influenced by constitutional conditions.

HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE consists of an Ointment which Quickly Relieves by local application, and the Internal Medicine, a Tonic, which assists in improving the General Health.

CORN YIELDS MORE BY WINTER LEGUMES

Experiments Show Folly of Leaving Land Idle During Winter.

Auburn, Ala., Aug. 6.—The fall season is a good time to begin work for larger corn yields the following year. This is clearly shown in records of experiments conducted by the Alabama Experiment Station here and compiled by Prof. M. J. Funchess.

In compiling these results Prof. Funchess compares corn yields under different conditions, showing that in 1921 corn on land left idle during the previous winter produced 28.4 bushels per acre; on land after vetch, cut for hay, 36.6 bushels; on land after a mixture of vetch and oats, cut for hay, 32.1 bushels; and after crimson clover, cut for hay, 40 bushels.

In commenting on this, Prof. Funchess calls attention to the fact that the land having cover crops during the winter not only produced several bushels more corn per acre but also hay at the rate of more than 1½ tons per acre.

"These figures," said Prof. Funchess, "show one of the many reasons why it is so very important for Alabama farmers to grow winter legumes."

RESTAURANT MAN DIDN'T EAT HIS OWN FOOD

"It's pretty tough for a restaurant man to have stomach trouble. My customers were always telling me I ought to eat in a good restaurant. The fact was I couldn't eat a thing that didn't bloat me up and no medicine or doctors helped me. I tried everything recommended and at last Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, and I assure you I didn't have to look any further. Since taking it I have been a well man." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Alred Drug Co. and druggists everywhere.

A FINE SPECIMEN

Mr. G. C. Powell of Providence brought into our office Monday a specimen of his tomatoes, which he said weighed exactly one and five-eighths pounds. This is by far the largest tomato we have ever seen, and within itself would about fill an ordinary size tomato can. Mr. Powell is raising tomatoes this year to sell to the United Farmers to be canned here, and he says that his tomatoes are already ripening fast.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL OPENS 27th

Notice is hereby given that the Clanton Grammar School will open on Monday, August 27th. The incidental fee will be the same as it was last year. We are opening this school a little earlier than has been customary in order that it will not close at the same time the High school closes. You will find that the price of text books has advanced about 20 per cent since last year. Let me ask that each patron make as much preparation as possible for the opening of this school in order that we may get to work with the least possible delay.

TUSKEGEE ACCEPTS COMPROMISE PLAN

General Hines Will Take Suggestion to President Coolidge Satisfactory to Whites.

Tuskegee, Ala., Aug. 6.—State Senator R. W. Campbell, the committee which conferred with General Frank T. Hines, head of the eVterans Bureau, in Washington last Thursday and Friday, made their report to the white citizens here today. The report contained a suggestion by General Hines for a white chief surgeon, two other white doctors and the remainder of the mdical parsonnal all negroes at the governmental hospital.

This was in the nature of a compdomise and after considerable discussion was accepted by ythe white people. Notice was wired General Hines of the acceptance and he will take the suggestion to President Coolidge. It is considered likely that the new president, not being familiar with the controversy over the negro hospital, will leave the matter in the hands of the head of the veterans bureau and the suggestion will be put into effect.

UP IN THE AIR FOR GRAY CARS

The demand for Gray cars has become so heavy in Cleveland that Arthur Haas, Manager of Mall Motor Company, distributors for the Gray in the state of Ohio, has found it necessary to take to the air in order to speed up his deliveries. Mr. Haas and his entire retail selling organization made their first flight to the factory this week, returning via the drive-away system.

This is one of the first instances in the history of the automobile industry that entire selling organizations have used this speedy means of travel. Mr. Haas says, however, that he has found that it will be necessary to continue the same plan during the remainder of the season in order to get enough Gray automobiles in Cleveland to satisfy the demand. "By flying to Detroit in ninety minutes and piling our selling organization in drive aways, we have discovered, we believe, the most effective and swiftest manner of car delivery."

The Mall organization upon its arrival in Detroit was welcomed by Gray Motor officials and taken to the Detroit Yacht Club for luncheon. Immediately following luncheon they left for the home city.

Mrs. R. E. Luckie, Editor

Study Club.

Mrs. Erir Hart was the charming hostess to the Study Club on last Friday afternoon. The apartments were very attractive in marigolds. The meeting was called to order by the President, Mrs. B. M. Roberts. After the business session the following program was carried out—subject: Rugs and Weaving:

Paper—Development of Art, Mrs. Guy Roberts.

Talk—American Rug Weaving, Mrs. VanDerveer.

Paper—Oriental Rugs, Mrs. S. E. Johnson.

After which the hostess, assisted by Miss Maud Mulilns and little Miss Hilda Hart served a delicious ice course. Among those present beside the club members were Mesdames J. C. Jones, J. W. Hayes, Hance Alread, Watts Moore, Carrie Mulilns, Gowan of Brewton, Harris of Mumford, Hart of Demopolis and Miss Maud Mullins.

Bridge Club Meets.

On last Wednesday afternoon Miss Kathleen Mullins was hostess to the Bridge Club and a few invited guests. The charm of the living room where the guests were entertained was enhanced by vases of Killarny roses and Gladiolos. The club prize, a flower bowl was won by Mrs. Hance Alred. The guest prize, a score pad fell to Mrs. Amzi Gowan. A salad plate was served at the close of the game. Besides the club members, Misses Bettie Mullins, Maud Mullins, Madelyn Orr, Beverly Hester, Mesdames Amzi Gowan, Dick Hayes, Hugh Jones, Hosea Downs and Hugh Simpson were present.

Miss Mary Mullins, who has been visiting in Tuscaloosa and Birmingham, returned home Tuesday.

MRS. MIDDLETON AND MISS CURRY IN CENTERVILLE

The congregation of the Presbyterian Church was given a most pleasant treat on Sunday morning, when a delegation of ladies who are stopping at Gary Springs filled the choir and rendered a most pleasing program. Mrs. Wailes Wallace of Columbiana, presided at the organ, while Mrs. Middleton of Montevallo, accompanied on the violin, and Miss Roberta Curry of Clanton, sang. Miss Curry's ease and sweetness of voice, with the strains of sweet music, made the service a most pleasing and impressive one.—Centerville Press.

It is with more than passing interest to our home folks to note the many complimentary expressions made by The Centerville Press in regard to some of the guests of Gary Springs. . Miss Curry and Mrs. Middleton are residents of Clanton, and contrary though it may be to the rule concerning prophets, both enjoy honor in their own county. Each is an artist, respectively in piano and voice, and piano and violin.

Miss Curry has just closed her second successful session as instructor of muic in our county high school and in the early autumn will enter upon a course of study in voice under the guidance of one of New York City's celebrated instructors.

Mrs. Middleton has spent a number of years as teacher of piano and violin in Clanton, Montevallo and Columbiana. She has been prevailed upon by a number of friends to open a musical studio in Clanton for the forthcoming year. Her leavening influence will be felt by many, for Clanton and Chilton county are appreciative and usually accord honor where honor is due.

We are glad Bibb county is enjoying their guests from Clanton.

THE ALABAMA LEGISLATURE

(By W. M. WYATT,
Representative From Chilton County).

The 1923 session of the Legislature of Alabama is a few days over half gone, and as many of the members express themselves, the big problems of the session are yet in front of us. The revenue bill, one of the biggest pieces of legislation on the program, has had one skirmish in the house, and is at present undergoing the restorative processes of the senate, perhaps with an attempt upon the part of the upper house to put back in the bill some of the things that were eliminated by the lower house. The same is true of the Code. The lower house has adopted it, and the action of the Senate is yet to be made on the measure.

Next to the revenue bill, that which has created the biggest flurry of debate in the house was the question of adopting the new code of laws. The revised code was presented to the house by the recess code committee, with the recommendation that same be adopted. Lee Long started an assault against the idea of adopting the new code without knowing what was in it, and Representative Glover of Henry County offered a resolution requiring the committee to have printed and placed in the hands of all members, a report showing all the changes they had made in revising and harmonizing the new code. Mr. Long characterized the code as a huge capsule which the committee asked the house to swallow without knowing what was inside of it. He objected vigorously to such medicine, and raised as much sand as a fretting child when its mother attempts to administer a dose of castor oil.

Representative Travis Williams of Franklin county made a speech in which he urged the members of the house to have faith and confidence in the code committee, and adopt the code as they recommended it. Mr. Williams asserted that he supposed the revolting members had denominated the code as a terrible capsule was because the manuscript for same was being stored in a large trunk in the office of Dr. Welch of the Health Department.

The Speaker of the House, Mr. Merrill, displayed some fine fighting qualities in his debate in support of the recess code committee. The members of the house took a keen interest in the speeches of the Speaker, as it was the first time they had seen him under fire of debate. It is the opinion of many house members that a mighty good floor leader was sacrificed when Mr. Merrill was placed upon the bench of the Speaker.

When the code was called up for consideration Mr. Merrill called Representative Tunstall to the chair, and took his place on the floor of the house with his fellow members to fight for the adoption of the new document. The final vote was reached Thursday afternoon, when the tally stood 60 to 39 in favor of accepting the new code as it came from the hands of the recess committee.

Visitors to the assembly hall of the United States Senate are said to find a great deal of interest in the carvings and pen knife inscriptions which have been engraved upon their desks by the Senators during the wearing hours that are consumed by long speeches and debates which they do not listen to. One writer says that the desk of Senator Tom Heflin of Alabama has engraved across its top these words: "William Poison Gas Harding," which may possibly be associated with the profound animosity of Mr. Heflin to the former governor of the Federal Reserve System. I have not seen any carvings on the desks of the house members here; but there is a large blotter on the desk of the newspaper reporters which bears the name of Dr. Frank Willis Barnett of the Birmingham News. In addition to his name there are some other epitaphs and maxims. It may be that Dr. Barnett amuses himself by scribbling upon the desk blotter while Mike Sollie was engaged in his desperate oratorical efforts to find out what was in the capsule in the office of Dr. Welch.

Representative Will Walton of Chambers was making a speech on the floor of the house Thursday in reference to the "capsule" and among other things he stated that there is a standing reward for all Republicans above the number of twenty in his county. I failed to see just what the scarcity of Republicans in Chambers county has to do with the much mooted question of what is in the big capsule in the office of Dr. Welch; but it is my opinion that it would be a mighty good thing for Chambers county if my friend Walton should be called upon to pay about a couple of thousand of those standing rewards. I think too that Mr. Walton would develop into a real statesman if he lived in a place where he would have to back up against the opposition of Republicans.

One day last week Uncle Jim Parker, the genial Representative from Coosa county, treated the members and attaches of the house and senate to a good old-fashioned watermelon cutting. The melons for the occasion were furnished by Mr. Parker, right fresh from his "patch" in Coosa. It was an occasion much enjoyed by the members of the two houses. Representative Ware of Randolph county won the prize for eating the most melon, having consumed four of the biggest Watsons in the bunch.

The gentleman from Coosa augmented the fame which he gained by the watermelon cutting when he took the floor for a speech about the adoption of the code, or as he expressed it, in reference to taking the capsule without first finding out what was in it. Mr. Parker stated that he had never been guilty of buying a cat in a bag; nor of marrying a woman without first looking her over. Therefore he could not vote for adoption of the code without first seeing what was contained in it.

Mr. Bealle of Tuscaloosa paid a high tribute to Mike Sollie as the leader of the anti-capsule bloc. He stated that the gentleman from Dale was so effluent in his speech and so learned in his arguments that the common kind of Representative sometimes could not reach high enough with his mental and linguistic powers to "catch on" to what the Judge was talking about. Those who heard Mr. Sollie's Chiropractic address last winter surely know how to appreciate the expression of the gentleman from Tuscaloosa.

During the past week most of the members of the Legislature put aside the cares of things legislative, and joined the throngs of Alabama Democrats high and low in the matter of launching the campaign of Oscar Underwood for President of the United States. This was accomplished with much satisfaction to practically all the Democrats of the state. The Alabama Senator was the center of attraction and there was a continuous session of festivities in his honor, from the time of his arrival here Monday afternoon until his departure on Thursday. Chief among the events of his visit here was the joint session of the house and senate at which Mr. Underwood made the first public declaration of his willingness to enter the 1924 campaign as a candidate for the Presidency. This event brought into agreement and harmony some Alabama Democrats who have heretofore been as far apart as the east is from the west.

Prior to the speech of Mr. Underwood at the joint session there was much speculation among the dry forces of Alabama Democracy as to whether they could safely follow his leadership. As to this phase of the subject, we point out that Lee Long and Dr. W. B. Crumpton have both agreed upon Mr. Underwood as a safe and logical candidate, therefore we see no reason why any Democrat should object to him for any reason, wet or dry. No two greater extremes could be found than Mr. Long and Dr. Crumpton as relates to the wet and dry subject in past years.

It now appears that the senate of Alabama has accomplished the death blow to the general bill providing for popular election of county superintendents of education. The Haley bill to this effect was passed by the house last winter. When it went over to the Senate it was shifted from pillar to post, and from pigeon hole to pigeon hole, until final action being compelled, it found a place on the adverse calendar. The attempt which was made this week to take it from the adverse calendar failed, and therefore it may be said that the bill is dead.

Even in those counties where the election of superintendents by the people may be accomplished by the operation of local acts passed at this session, it is definitely settled that the standard of qualifications for the school heads will not be lowered. This was determined by the refusal of Governor Brandon to sign the Coffee county local bill until the qualifications of the office were restored to the same standard as now obtains for superintendents under the general law as it has been operating for the past four years.

Proof of what can be accomplished by the country newspapers of Alabama can be found in the change of sentiment among the law makers and state officials as regards the subject of publicity for the various departments of the government. Last winter nobody seemed to take seriously the suggestion of various publicity laws. But they have changed their minds since the Sun has shone upon them at intervals during the spring and summer. This change of sentiment was observed with much satisfaction by many editors of the state who were visitors to the capitol during the past week.

Just as Ed Doty has made himself famous by advocating the publicity bills, so does Bob Vail of the Bay Minette Times bid fair to rise to heights sublime through his attacks upon the iniquities of the agriculture bill. Bob says the thing is loaded with dynamite, and will ruin the agriculture of this state if made a law. We look for some interesting revelations when this corpulent document is placed upon the dissecting table of the house. Many legislative knives that were dulled upon the revenue bill are being resharpened for the work upon the agricultural code.

Out of respect and honor to the late President Harding, the two houses of the Legislature suspended business at noon on Friday of last week, standing adjourned until Tuesday of this week at 2 p.m. Appropriate and fitting resolutions of respect for the departed national leader were adopted by the two houses and promptly transmitted to San Francisco by Governor Brandon.

Inactive Liver

"I have had trouble with an inactive liver," wrote Mrs. S. Nichols, of 4412 Spencer St., Houston, Texas. "When I would get constipated, I would feel a light, dizzy feeling in my head. To get up in the morning with a lightness in the head and a trembly feeling is often a sign that the stomach is out of order. For this I took Thedford's Black-Draught, and without a doubt can say I have never found its equal in any liver medicine. It not only cleans the liver, but leaves you in such a good condition. I have used it a long time, when food does not seem to set well, or the stomach is a little sour."

If it isn't Thedford's it isn't BLACK-DRAUGHT Liver Medicine.

AN OLD-TIME BARBECUE

There is to be an old-time barbecue at Blue Star Ball Ground, one-half mile north of Sardis Church, on Saturday, August 11th. The meat will be free to all. Everybody has an invitation to come, especially all United Farmers of America. The program for the day will be, ball games, speaking on U. F. of A. and old-fashioned hand-shakes with friends.

We haven't met in many years. We invite everyone who has once lived here to come and bring somebody with them. The meat will be free to all, and we will have all kinds of refreshments to sell, the proceeds to go to build the new Methodist church.

Everybody come. Barbecue given by members of Vermont Local No. 339, U. F. of A.

OFF ON A TRIP

Mr. J. C. Jones of the Clanton Mercantile Company and his wife are away on a visit. Mrs. Clara Mullins, also of the Clanton Mercantile Company will accompany them to St. Louis, where Mr. Jones will assist her in purchasing goods for their firm for fall trade. Mr. and Mrs. Jones will continue their trip to Washington and New York and other points. Mrs. Mullins will return to Clanton after she finishes buying. Mr. and Mrs. Jones will be gone for two or three weeks.

LOCK 12 COMMUNITY

Mrs. J. E. Robinson and daughter, Stella from Texas are visiting relatives in Alabama, having been at Mrs. J. M. Mahan's for the past three weeks.

COURT ABOLITION ALARMS AUTAUGA

Citizens Oppose Bill in Legislature Doing Away With County Courts.

Prattville, Ala., Aug. 8.—Citizens are alarmed over the report that the legislature is about to abolish the county court. Judge J. F. Posey held court all day Monday and was unable to finish his docket of more than twenty cases, practically misdemeanors.

A large majority of these cases are tried and finally disposed of by the county court. The few that are appealed to the circuit court for a jury trial do not clog that court nearly so much as all these cases would have done.

Several leading citizens are pronounced in their opinion as to the harm that will grow out of the abolition of the county court to public morals. George P. Walls, new state warden at Speigner's said no one knew better than he the result of abolishing the county court on the morals of the county. He was sheriff of this county last term.—Montgomery Advertiser.

AUBREY FINLEY DEAD

A very sad accident resulting in the death of Aubrey Finley happened at Roebuck Mines near Helena last Friday. Aubrey was 16 years old and was the son of the late George Finley, who lived in Clanton and run a grist mill and store up to about eight years ago. The Finley family has been at Roebuck ever since they left Clanton.

The boy was working in the mine when a large rock fell across his body severely injuring him internally. The accident happened Friday about 11 o'clock and the boy lived till Saturday shortly after noon. He was conscious until an hour of his death. Reports say that Aubrey was a fine young man and was deeply religious, expressing before his death a complete readiness to go.

The young man leaves a mother, two older brothers and one younger brother to mourn after him. Funeral services were held at the Clanton Cemetery Sunday afternoon, where interment was made.

BEAN AND GARRETT CAUGHT

Last Monday the sheriff, assisted by Gillespie, went up in the Providence community near the Shelby county line and arrested William Bean and Floss Garrett, who had four gallons of whiskey in their possession. When the officers got them they had just left the still where they had made the whiskey. After taking the men in custody the officers went to the still, finding it still hot from the run which had just been made. The still was destroyed and Bean and Garrett were brought to Clanton and placed in the county jail. These men are still in jail awaiting trial.

VERBENA WOMAN IS AUTO VICTIM

Mrs. Pattillo Killed When Car Driven By Husband Passes Over Her Body.

Verbena, Ala., Aug. 13.—Frightened when the car in which she was riding with her husband and three children began skidding down a steep incline up which they were driving, Mrs. J. C. Pattillo jumped from the automobile and was run over and killed by her husband, J. C. Pattillo, near here Sunday afternoon. It was one of the most peculiar accidents ever occurring in this section.

The family had set out for Mitchell Dam for an afternoon's drive and when the car stalled midway up the incline it began a rapid descent, rear first, down the hill. It appears that Mrs. Pattillo became frightened and jumped from thhe car just as her husband gave the wheel a cut to one side. She fell across the road in the path of the car, the rear wheels passing over her breast.

She was taken to the hospital of the Alabama Power Company which was only a short distance away, dying shortly after she had reached the hospital. The three children in the car, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Patillo escaped unhurt, as did Mr. Patillo, who regained control of the car after the unfortunate accident had happened.

Mr. Pattillo is connected with the estate of D. I. Deramus of Verbena, in an executive position and is head of the board of trustees of the Verbena high school. He is also a good church worker of the district and is prominent socially.

Mrs. Pattillo is survived by her husband, three daughters, three sisters and two brothers.

Funeral services were held at the Verbena Methodist church at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon. Interment was made in the Verbena cemetery.

COMMISSIONERS COURT

The regular quarterly session of the Commissioners Court of Chilton county was in session at the court house Monday and Tuesday. All the members of the court were present and ready for business bright and early Monday morning. They were kept real busy during both days transacting the business of the county. The session extended over into Wednesday.

BACK FROM TRIP TO TEXAS

Mr. Bud Jones of Clanton returned Sunday from a week's visit to relatives in Texas. Bud reports that he had an exceptionally nice trip. He went by way of southern Louisiana. Mr. Jones says that the crops where he went, in the vicinity of Waco, are very sorry. He says that the cotton out there will make about a bale to every ten acres. According to his reports, the sugar cane crop in Louisiana is somewhat better than the cotton in Texas, but it will hardly measure up to the average.

CAUGHT WITH WHISKEY

The sheriff's force last Sunday night laid hands on Newt Foshee, who was carrying a small amount of whiskey on a Ford truck. The officers caught him near the home of J. C. Price, between Clanton and Thorsby. Foshee was arrested, and the truck was taken in charge by the officers. Only a small amount of whiskey was found, but there was enough for the course of the law to be pursued.

NEW CHURCH BEING BUILT

Work began the first of this week on the construction of a new church building in Clanton. This church is being built by the Christian denomination and will be known as the Clanton Church of Christ. The site of the building is in the north-east corner of the hitching ground block, or rather on the corner of Sixth Street and Fourth Avenue. The basement of the building will be of brick, but the main part of the structure which will be large and spaceous will be framed. The total cost of the building and lot will be about $4,500.

The building will be ready for worship about the middle of October. The Christians have arranged to start a two-weeks revival on the 14th of October, so the building will have to be finished by then. It will be of much interest to the people of this county to learn that the services of Prof. J. D. Patton have been procured as mu:cal director for this revival. They also promise that a very able preacher has been secured to do the preaching. He is Elder Price Billingsley of Columbia, Tenn. The Christians promise to have a very good revival, and issue a special invitation to everybody who can to come.

The Christian Church of Clanton was organized November 12, 1922, and since that date has been holding its meetings in the Woodmen Hall. After the new church has been completed there will be services there every Sunday. No regular pastor has been procured for the church as yet, but they intend to get one just as soon as possible.

The present membership of the church is about forty. The officers consist of: A. B. Baxley, Elder; R. D. Horton and W. T. Bean, Deacons. The membership is composed of some of the best people we have, and the church is an institution of which Clanton should be proud.

In behalf of the Christian Church, we wish to state that some of the most prominent people of Alabama belong to this denomination. Nearly everybody in the county knows more or less about Prof. J. D. Patton, the big singer. Well, he is a member of the Christian Church. Everybody in Clanton knows Prof. J. S. Thomas, dean of the University of Alabama. This splendid man has made several speeches in Clanton and has been here on several occasions. He is also a member of the Christian Church. There are numbers of other prominent men of the state who are members. So, don't get it in your head that the Christian Church is a back number, because that is badly wrong.

We learn that the Clanton Baptist Church has partially made arrangements to have their revival at the same time the Christians had their date set for. As the Christians have had their arrangements set for several months and cannot change their time of meeting, it is hoped that the Baptists can change the date of their revival if it can be done without materially interfering with their plans. It would be very detrimental to both meetings to have them both at the same time. So we hope that the two churches can get together on this matter so that there will be no conflict in the revival services.

To the promoters of this new church, The Union-Banner for one, wishes to extend to them our best wishes. This is an organization of which we are really and truly proud, and the other denominations of the town ought to be and we believe are proud to have them come into our midst and exert their broad influence toward evangelizing and Christianizing our community. So, again we extend to the Christian Church a hearty welcome, and wish them well.

BIG RATTLE SNAKE

Howard L. Foshee, county superintendent of education of Chilton county, gives out a very startling report of a large rattle snake which he killed Sunday. Mr. Foshee had taken his wife and children out to the home of his mother a few miles from town. The children were out in the yard playing among the flowers, and after they had been playing for an hour or two, a sharp scream from the little 2-year old boy attracted the attention of the older folks in the house. On going out in the yard where the children were it was discovered that the boy was standing within a few inches of a large rattle snake lying right out in an open place in the yard. The little boy was told to run for his life, which he immediately did.

The reptile was killed, and upon measuring him it was found that he was 44 inches long and had eleven rattles and a button. Some half a dozen children ranging in age from one to ten years old had been playing in the yard around where the snake was for some two or three hours, but the snake bit none of them.

Howard says he doesn't know which was scared the worse, he or the little boy.

Mrs. Hazel Gilbert of Atlanta, Ga., is spending several days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Gore of Friendship.

MRS. W. W. FOX

One of the most shocking accidents that the people of Clanton and Chilton county have ever been called upon to encounter is that recently occurring to Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Fox. These two people left over a month ago in their automobile for a trip up through the North and West. On their return trip they were coming back through Huntsville to visit Mrs. Fox's relatives and to visit their friends in that vicinity where they resided before they came to Clanton.

Just before reaching Huntsville they two being the only passengers in the car happened to a very tragic and regrettable accident. It seems that the road was slick from recent rain, and somehow the big car skidded into a ditch on the side of the road and was almost instantly capsized. Both Mr. and Mrs. Fox were fastened under the car in such a manner that neither could get out. It was some distance to where anybody lived, and these two people, both hurt bad but not unconscious, were penned there in the greatest of agony and pain. Shortly after the car turned over it caught on fire, and they knew that it could be only a few minutes before the gasoline tank would become ignited and explode, setting everything around there on fire. So, there these two were, spending what seemed inevitable their last few minutes before being burned to death.

It is reported that they were both talking to each other, but neither could assist the other in their perilous condition. Death to both seemed certain, so Mrs. Fox asked her husband if he was ready to die. The old man replied that he was not, and asked her the same question to which she answered, yes. About this time the hot acid from the battery of the car began leeking through on Mrs. Fox, and she told her husband that their time was drawing near. All this time they were both screaming for help, and finally an old man living not far away heard their screams and came to see what was the matter. This old man could do them no good, but went back to the house and phoned for help. In a short while there were some ten or twelve men on the scene. These men, seeing that the car was fast being consumed and that the gas tank was likely to explode any second, were afraid to venture near the scene; but finally they decided to go into it. They all grabbed hold of the car and removed it from the suffering bodies. Just a minute or two after the car was lifted off, the gasoline tank exploded.

Mr. and Mrs. Fox were taken to a hospital at Huntsville. It was found that Mr. Fox was not seriously hurt, but his wife was bruised up considerably. This happened Monday of last week. They both remained in the hospital until Saturday, when the good lady died. By this time Mr. Fox was able to be up a little. The body was shipped to Clanton Sunday morning. The funeral was preached at the Baptist Church Sunday afternoon by Rev. C. C. Wilkerson, and the remains were placed in the Clanton cemetery.

Mrs. Fox before her marriage was a Stewart and was a native of Huntsville. She has some relatives and a multitude of friends in and around Clanton, who join with her sorrowing husband in lamanting her untimely death.

OUR TRIP TO CHATTANOOGA

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Giles and Mr. Sam Vinson left last Wednesday morning at 5:30 o'clock for Chattanooga, Tenn. Made several stops on the way. At 9:50 o'clock Wednesday night we parked the car at Grand Hotel, Chattanooga. Spent Thursday and Friday with Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Ellison. We took in the scenes of the city and Lookout Mountain. Saturday morning at 6 o'clock we started for home. At 9:22 Saturday night we arrived at Clanton. We had a fine trip. All enjoyed it very much. Had no car trouble at all, and the roads in and around Chattanooga are ideal. I can't see why we all don't boost good roads for Alabama. So, we had a nice trip, and will go again some day.

MRS. ED GILES.

TWO-HEADED SNAKE

Some boys had a snake in Clanton last Saturday which created quite a bit of excitement among the townspeople. The reptile was about three or four inches long and had two perfectly developed heads. The body of the snake was in one piece, but then there were grown out from its rear end two very small tails about an inch long. Although the snake's body was crumpled up, yet its two heads and its tails were very active.

The snake was found near Coopers by Isaac L. Bice. It was either a chicken snake or a rattle snake.

The snake is now at the Banner office, and anyone may see it by calling here.

Miss Edna Wyatt went down to Montgomery Monday night to spend a few days with relatives there. She went down with her brother, Representative W. M. Wyatt, who was returning to the state legislature.

GASOLINE REDUCED AND INDEPENDENTS DREAD RUIN

Standard Oil Makes Drastic Cut of Six and Six-Tenths Cents Per Gallon, Selling Below Cost

Chicago, Aug. 13.—The Standard Oil Company of Indiana announced tonight that it will reduce the price of gasoline six and six-tenths cents a gallon throughout its entire territory, effective tomorrow morning. At the same time L. V. Nicholas, head of the National Petroleum Marketers' Association, announced he had notified the independents to reduce prices five cents a gallon.

The territory affected includes Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Kansas, Missouri and part of Oklahoma. The cut is already effective in South Dakota.

MEMORIAL SERVICES FRIDAY

The citizens of Clanton and adjoining territory met at the court house last Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock for the purpose of joining in service in honor of the late President Warren G. Harding. J. Osmond Middleton acted as chairman, and called the meeting to order by making a few remarks regarding the purpose of the occasion. The first number on the program was a song by the choir, "Lead Kindly Light." The congregation then joined in silent prayer for one minute. The choir again joined in singing "Abide with Me."

The chairman arose and made a few fitting and choice remarks in introducing the speaker for the afternoon. Dr. Guy E. Snavely of Birmingham, president of the Birmingham-Southern College came forward and delivered the memorial address. Dr. Snavely made a fine talk, clearly depicting the noble life and staunch character of the dead statesman. The speaker was especially well adapted for the task of speaking of the life of President Harding, since he was a close friend of the president. Dr. Snavely was inaugurated as president of the Birmingham College by President Harding when he was in Birmingham two years ago.

After Dr. Snavely finished his address the chairman again took the floor for a few minutes and in a series of very fitting words made a beautiful eulogy of the life and personality of President Harding. The meeting was closed with prayer by Rev. C. C. Wilkerson. The service lasted for about one hour, and during this time the court house was packed to capacity by sorrowing people who were there to pay their last respects to our great and loving president.

DEASON VAT BLOWN UP

The cattle dipping vat near Monroe Deason's, known as the Deason vat, was blown up last Thursday night. Some of the interested citizens of the community got in behind the fellows doing the work and run down Lum Pate and Oscar Turner, whom evidence indicates were the ones who did the blasting of the vat. These two men were placed in the charge of the sheriff, and made bond.

Hugh Headley of Stumps Hills was in Clanton Tuesday. He was here seeing about material for building a dipping vat in his community.

Arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Foshee, a fine baby girl. Mother and baby doing fine. They have named her Ella Everee.

DAIRY PROGRESS GOOD IN ALABAMA

Over 6,000,000 Pounds of Butter Manufactured Annually by 30 Creameries.

Auburn, Ala., Aug. 13.—Alabama continues to make progress in dairying. According to William Hardie, dairy specialist for the Extension Service, between 6,000,000 and 7,000,000 pounds of butter are now being made in Alabama annually.

In a report of dairy development in Alabama Mr. Hardie shows that a creamery was established by the Agricultural College at Auburn in January, 1915, and that the first commercial creamery in Alabama was established at Selma in July, following. During its first month the Selma creamery manufactured 300 pounds of butter. This was the beginning of a dairy industry which has established the Selma district as the leading dairy center of the South. It is reported that two creameries in Selma are now paying annually $1,000,000 for milk and butterfat.

Following the establishment of the first creamery at Auburn in January, 1915, 30 creameries are now in operation, and practically every Alabama farmer is in reach of one or more creameries and in this way has access to a good market for butterfat. Mr. Hardie makes special mention of the fact that throughout the United States dairy farmers are known as prosperous farmers, which is also true in Alabama. It is strongly urged as a part of diversified farming.

A FINE PLACE

The different industries of Clanton are constantly improving in order that they may keep pace with the progress of the times. One particular example of this progress is evidenced by the recent actions of our well known veteran of the fresh meat business, Uncle George Marcus. Uncle George has moved his market into the new Eiland Building on Seventh Street next to Powell Pressing Company, and he has made numerous improvements which deserve special mention.

His feature improvement is the installation of an electric freezing machine. This machine lowers the atmosphere to about twelve degrees below freezing point without using a speck of ice. Uncle George has this machine connected up with his large refrigerator, also with a fine large display counter which he has recently installed. By means of this machine which goes off and on automatically when the temperature warrants it, meats may be kept frozen every hour of the day and night. The machine works the same by night as by day, whether there is anyone in the market or not.

The nice counters which are being arranged, the display shelves for canned goods, and the general arrangement of the place will make it, when completed just as nice if not nicer than anything in Birmingham or Montgomery. In this building they have plenty of room, and when everything is finished and varnished up it will present an exceptionally attractive appearance.

Mr. W. M. Gray of Jemison was in Clanton Tuesday. While here he came to the Banner office and gave us his subscription together with an advertisement of his farm for sale.

Peoples Savings Bank

THE OLDEST BANK In Chilton County

PLUMS—AND PRUNES

The good things of this world have to be planned for, worked for, struggled for. There is no easy road to success. The plums are few—the prunes many.
Nothing will insure the success of your plans quite so certainly, as a well-formed saving habit. An account at the bank, no matter how small, is an incentive to further saving. THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. NORTON, Manager)

The many friends of Rev. J. W. Davenport, in Thorsby and other sections of Alabama, will regret to learn that all efforts to induce him to withdraw his resignation as pastor of The United Protestant Church of Thorsby (Congregational) have failed, and that at a meeting of the church, held last Sunday morning, the committee having the matter in charge reported this fact, whereupon it was moved and voted that the resignation be accepted. It was then voted to instruct the Clerk of the Church to open correspondence having for its purpose the securing of a new pastor to succeed Bro. Davenport when he retires about October 1st.

As evidence that Rev. Davenport is not leaving Thorsby because he is dissatisfied with the church or the people of the community, we call your attention to the advertisement of the Picture-Lecture-Course which he is putting on nex week to help raise money to make a payment on the church parsonage. This is an ambitious undertaking involving a lot of work, during his vacation too, mind you. We just want to say that for the conception of the idea, securing the equipment and carrying out the program Mr. Davenport is almost entirely responsible. We bespeak for him such an appreciation on the part of Thorsby and the larger community as shall be manifest by a full house each night.

Last Sunday morning at the Congregational church there was no preaching, on account of it being vacatio ntime for the pastor, but the service hour was very profitably and enjoyably occupied by hearing Miss Lorena Graham tell of General Feng, inspector general of the Chinese army, who is a notable Christian, and has been influential in converting thousands of soldiers under him, also in introducing many reforms in civil life, while he was governor of a province containing a population of 35,000,000 people. In the evening, after Christian Endeavor meeting, there was a splendid song service led by Mr. Glover Smith, with Miss Lois Primm at the organ and Mr. Frank Mastin accompanying on his violin.

The many friends of Rev. Wilhelm Petterson will regret to learn that he has been called to Minneapolis, Minn., on account of the serious illness of his daughter, Leona, was hos pneumonia. A letter from Rev. Petterson reports that although she has passed the crisis of that trouble she is only waiting to recover sufficient strength to undergo an operation for appendicitis.

Rev. Petterson had intended to return to Thorsby and hold services morning and evening in the Lutheran church, to which tre people of the Congregational church had been invited, but under the circumstances does not now plan to come.

Since no other services are arranged for at either the Lutheran or Baptist church for next Sunday, mornink or evening, arrangements will be made to have services of some kind both morning and evening at the Congregational church.

At the Baptist church on Friday of this week, at 3 p.m. there wil lbe a Baptismal service, and at 7:30 p.m. of the same day preaching by the retiring pastor, Rev. Samue Heath.

Mrs. G. F. Harper has as her guests for two weeks the Misses Burke of DeFuniak Springs, Fla.

On Friday evening, August 10th, a dinner was given to a few guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Goddard, in celebration of the 79th anniversary of the birth of Mr. Goddard. The guests were Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Davenport and sons, Wm. and Paul; Mr. and Mrs. Robert oJhnson; Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Carlson; Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Peterson; Mr. C. S. Howard.

On Saturday night at the close of the Masonic Lodge meeting, the members were surprised to find Mrs. J. H. Goddard and Mrs. T. W. Robinson in the dining room waiting to serve refreshments; the occasion being a sort of celebration staged by Mr. J. H. Goddard as a surprise to his brother members, and in honor of his 79th birthday anniversary, which occurred the day before. They all greatly enjoyed the festivities and wished some other brother would soon have a birthday. Just ask R. N. Smith how the surprise affected him.

On Friday afternoon Mrs. Carl C. Petersen entertained at her home in honor of Mrs. Karl Peterson from Indiana. Those present were Mrs. Karl Peterson, Mesdames J. M. Bosworth, C. R. Foss, A. E. Reagan, J. W. Davenport, H. W. Petersen, J. H. Goddard, N. C. Petersen, J. M. Graham, C. A. Peterson, Robert Johnson, Martin Petersen, Anna Villadsen, C. W. Karlson, L. E. Diefenderfer, S. E. Norton and Miss Nellie Shannon.

Miss Agnes Leary and Mr. Earl Leary have as their week-end guests Mr. Harold B. Saltsman, Miss Alison Saltsman, Mr. Frank Hicks from Barth, Fla., and Miss Gladys Souell of Mobile, the quartette having motored from Barth, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Garrick of Birmingham spent the week-end with Rev. and Mrs. W. P. Lowery, parents of Mrs. Garrick.

Mrs. C. M. Williams is entertaining her father, Mr. G. W. Garrick from Senoia, Ga.

Mrs. J. D. Littleton of Bessemer is spending several days with Mrs. Aaron Littleton in Thorsby. The Misses Bertha and Versie Littleton expect to go to Birmingham with their mother early next week and remain for two weeks.

For the past two years Thorsby has had no gin and very little business in "the fleecy staple" has been done in this section. Today we are pleased to note the practical completion, by Mr. Wm. H. Godogame of an up-to-date gin and warehouse, costing upwrads of $10,000. The equipment is of the most modern type known as "The Gullette System," consisting of a cleaner, a cleaner feeder, and a double rib huller, al of which are employed to clear the lint from dirt and trash before it enters one of the set of three 80 saw ginning machines, from where it goes to an improved baling press, and from there, if not to be immediately taken away by the owner, to the warehouse, suspended on a cable and transported by gravity. The whole outfit from blower to boiler stack is brand new, and has a capacity of 50 bales per day. Such an industry cannot fail to be of great benefit to our town. Mr. Goodgame informs us that he will buy cotton and seed at the best market prices.

On Wednesday of last week Mr. and Mrs. Chas. A. Peterson gave a supper in celebration of their 33rd wedding anniversary. The table was set in a grove commanding an extensive and pleasing view. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Goddard, Mr. and Mrs. Carl C. Petersen with Jack and Rachel, Mrs. and Miss Lefstead, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Peterson.

Mr. Maynard Johnson of Gary, Indiana, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Johnson.

Miss Leora Goodgame delightfully entertained a number of her friends at her home on last Saturday evening.

Miss Edith Robinson left Tuesday morning for Greenville, Ala., where she will visit friends.

Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Bentley and Miss Jennye Robinson motored to Birmingham one day last week.

On last Monday afternoon Miss Lorena Graham entertained at a five o'clock tea in honor of her guest, Miss Eloise Abernathy. Those enjoying Miss Graham's hospitality were the Misses Jennye and Edith Robinson, Leora Goodgame, Agnes Leary, Pearl Steiner, May Oma Seiner, Eloise Abernahy and Nell Shannon.

Mrs. Ehel Loveland has reurned from a rip o Souh Alabama, where she aended he Souh Alabma Association of Congregational Churches. Miss Ida Lockwood, a former teacher of Thorsby Institute, also attended this meeting. Mrs. Loveland reports a very nice time while she was away and states she especially enjoyed the re-union of a number of former students of Thorsby Institute. Those present at the re-union wer the Misses Odie Lee Arthur, Dora Bracken, Mae Ward, Susie Adams, Messrs. Spurgeon eKley, Ben Brown, Payne Bryan, Walton Bracken, Webster Johnson, and Codie Bell. The time was pleasantly passed in telling of the pranks and good times, also hard work, which they had enjoyed as students of T. I. The sentiment of all, without exception, was that they wished that September 12th would find them among those to be enrolled.

An incident which manifested "the mind of the people" in Thorsby, occurred last Friday afternoon in the President Harding memorial service, held at the Congregational church.

Earlier in the week the matter had been discussed by some and it was decided that on account of the absence of men capable of speaking on such an occasion it would be impracticable to atetmpt to hold a meeting. By noon Friday, Senator Adams, Rev. J. W. Davenport, Rev. N. A. Long and Rev. E. W. Butler were known to be in town. Somebody got busy. The church bell rang at 2 o'clock, and again at three, when the church was fairly well filled. Several members of Thorsby Concert Band, with their instruments were in attendance, and Miss Lois Primm was at the organ. Senator Adams led the meeting and delivered an address, followed by Revs. Long, Butler and Davenport, and the folks went away feeling that they had had at least a small part in honoring the nation's dead leader.

Friday night of this week was preempted by the Ladies' Guild of Thorsby, before the lecture course was fully planned. The ladies have made preparation to hold an open air social on Thorsby Institute campus that night. They will have ice cream and cake for sale, in an effort to replenish their somewhat depleted treasury. There will be no set program, but Thorsby people can be depended on to have a godo time whenever they are given an opporunity.

Mrs. G. L. Foshee, who has been quite ill at her home for several weeks, is reported as on ther oad to recovery.

The sociable of the Lutheran Ladies Aid Society will be held Thursday afternoon of this week at the home of Mrh. Conrad Carlson.

Mr. Chas. A. Peterson is responsible for the statement that the public school building will be repaired, a second room provided on the upper floor, and it is expected to have it ready when it is time for schol to open in September.

Miss Eloise Abernathy of iBrmingham, is visiting Miss Lorena Graham.

Mr. S. P. Shaw has recently returned from an extended auto trip to the northwest. While away he visited Pikes Peak and other interesting points. He carried his family with him and the visit lasted for about a month.

Good Roads Meeting Here On Saturday, August 25th

GET-TOGETHER MEETING OF ALL THE PEOPLE TO DISCUSS GOOD ROADS.

The Commissioner's Court wishes to call the attention of the people of Chilton County to a very important meeting in regard to the building and improvement of the roads of our county which is to be held at the court house on Saturday, the 25th day of August, 1923, at 10:00 o'clock a.m.

Chilton county is now on an era of better road building, as we have the gasoline tax which as the law says must be applied upon the roads. In compliance with this the Commissioner's Court has purchased one tractor and one road machine for each Commissioner's district to be used exclusively on the roads. It is a purpose of the Commissioner's Court to make several changes in the method of working the roads and we are anxious to have the suggestions and criticisms of all the people of the county regardless of your political faith. As stated above with the additional tax now coming in from the gasoline and which will probably come from other sources it is the purpose of the court to construct and maintain and improve the roade of this county in a manner in keeping with the improvements of the times.

One change the court is contemplating making is to permit all hands to pay a road compensation in place of working. eW especially urge all the opportioners and overseers to be present at this meeting. Let us also urge both county papers to give their support to this new project and at all times stand ready to co-operate wtih the court, as we believe the good roads will be of a benefit to the people of our county. We are expecting to have with us on that day the Probate Judge of Talladega county who is an expert on good road building to make a speech on the subject.

Of course it will take some time to get this under way and in the meantime the court urges all the apportioners and overseers to see that every road hand, subject to road duty work the ten days as required by law, and do not wait until the winter rains set in, but commence filling up the muddy placeh and repairing the roads now while plenty of dry material is acessible.

In conclusion let us urge all the citizens of the county to be present at this meeting and come prepared to ofer suggestions and make criticisms and co-operate with the county in its endeavor to have god roads over the entire terrtory of Chilton county.

Child-birth

Here is a wonderful message to all expectant mothers!

When the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says:

"With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used Mother's Friend and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes." Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., BA 46, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all drug stores—everywhere.

HARRY LAUDER ON THRIFT

The train that get's "behind time" must sometimes lie for hours on side-tracks while other trains that are on time go by.

Passengers on such trains waste a lot of valuable time. They miss connections and consequently fail to keep their appointments. They lose money as well as time.

People who do not SAVE regularly, also lose the right of way. They fall behind and are side-tracked while the more successful ones pass by.

Trains sometimes make up lost time. You can do the same with a steady growing savings account. Start here today before it is too late—and catch up.

S. S. CONFERENCE

Completed plans for the Sunday School Conference of Methodists in the 600 Sunday schools of central and south Alabama and west Florida are rapidly nearing completion, according to Clarence M. Dannelly, superintendent of Sunday school work in the Alabama Conference. The Conference opens Tuesday night, August 28, and lasts until Thursday noon, August 30.

Rev. W. C. Owen of the General Sunday school board will deliver two messages to the Conference—one on Adult Bible Class Work and the other on Home Nuture and Training.

Mr. E. O. Harbin of the General Epworth League Board will direct the music and the officials in charge are delighted at his being on hand. Miss Violet Horne, accomplished pianist of Blountstown, Fla., will be the Conference pianist.

Hon. R. H. Mangum of Selma will speak on "The Risen Christ," proving from a lawyer's viewpoint with all evidence in hand that Christ arose from the dead.

Other speakers include William W. Brandon, governor of Alabama; Dr. George Stoves of Nashville, Tenn.; Rev. J. F. McLeod of DeFuniak Springs; Dr. Walter D. Agnew, president of the Woman's College. Hon. S. H. Blan of Troy, is prsident of the Conference.

NON-RESIDENT NOTICE

The State of Alabama, Chilton County. Circuit Court, in Equity.

Abbie Little, Complainant, vs. J. J. Little Defendant.

In this cause it is made to appear to the Register by the affidavit of Omar L. Reynolds, that the Defendant is a non-resident, and that his place of residence and post-office address is unknown, and that such address cannot be ascertained after reasonable effort; and, further, that, in the belief of said affiant, the Defendant is of the age of twenty-one years:

It is, therefore, ordered by the Register that publication be made in The Union-Banner, a newspaper published in the County of Chilton, once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring the said J. J. Little to plead, answer, or demur to the bill of complaint in this cause by the 31st day of August, 1923, or, in thirty days thereafter, a decree pro confesso may be taken against him.

Done at office in Clanton, this 28th day of July, 1923.

MAPLESVILLE NEWS

Health of this community is not very good at present. We are sorry to say whooping caugh is in town. Mrs. I. A. Dennis' children are almost well now. We are hoping all a speedy recovery.

We are sorry indeed to learn of Mrs. Clint Cobern going to Selma for an operation. Mrs. Cobern has been in bad health a good while. We are hoping she will stand the operation.

Miss Ethel Seales has been very ill for the past week with indigestion.

Mr. and Mrs. Clanton Jarrett were the proud parents of a fine baby girl on August 6th, 1923.

Listen boys and girls, it is just a few days till our revival services will begin, and let us all pray for this revival to he the best one ever was in Maplesville. It begins Aug. 19th.

The Methodist revival was a grand and glorious one. Bro. Wilkerson delivered interesting sermons. Everybody seemed to enjoy his messages to us. Bro. Ezell is to conduct our Baptist revival for us.

Our Sunday school is progressing very nicely. Had a very large crowd Sunday. Boys and girls, let's try and have present 100 next Sunday.

We are so glad to know that our B. Y. P. U. is growing so fast. We had a splendid program Sunday night with Miss Annie Spivey in lead. We were glad indeed to have Mr. Brady McAfee with us as visitor in B. Y. P. U. Sunday night.

Mr. Ralph Calloway has sold his home to Mrs. Henry Latham. Mr. Calloway has moved in the old school building. Mrs. Henry Latham I learn is to occupy her new home this week. We will be glad indeed to have them in town with us. Mrs. Latham was the wife of Mr. Latham who was kileld on the railroad some time ago.

There was a school meeting here Saturday night to elect new trustees. Messrs. Ed Smitherman, L. L. Seales and Cal Foshee are our new trustees.

Miss Georgia Foshee of Birmingham spent the week-end with her mother; also Miss Ila Culver of Birmingham came with her. We were all glad to see them.

Miss Mary Ellen Robinson of Birmingham returned home last week, after a week's visit to her aunt, Mrs. Pearl Thomas.

Miss Mary Brooks spent a few days last week with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Abney. She returned home Saturday p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Williams motored to Sardis Saturday to the barbecue, also Misses Elva, Mattie Mae, Olys, and Mrs. L. L. Seales, and Marie Roberts went to the barbecue and are attending the revival there this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred and little daughter, Katherine of Montgomery are spending a few days with Mrs. Henderson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Seales.

Mr. Brady McAfee of Tuscaloosa was the guest of Messrs. Cleveland and Preston McGee Sunday night.

Mr. P. C. Pullian from Montgomery spent the week-end with family.

Mr. H. A. Harris' father and mother spent the week-end with him.

Mr. G. C. Kemp left here Monday a.m. for Birmingham to his job there.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Paten and little son, Talmadge, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Hayes and family, also Mr. and Mrs. Ed Milfred went to Sardis Saturday to the barbecue and spent Saturday night out there with relatives, returning home Sunday.

Mr. Jasper Smith spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. Tom Wallace.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Atchison and family have returned home from a week's visit to north Alabama.

Dr. and Mrs. Nix are off on a camping trip taking his vacation in traveling.

Misses Willie Dean, Mary D., Annie, Sarah and little Mr. Van Potts of Greenville, Ala., are visiting grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. Van Potts this week.

We are very glad to know that Miss Nell Potts is improving fast from her operation.

Maplesvile ball team, or rather a mixed team, mostly Maplesville boys, played a game with Stanton Saturday p.m., Maplesville winning by a score of 2 to 0.

Mrs. C. N. Parnell and children are spending a few weeks in Mobile. We learn they are having a grand time down there.

Miss Ola Mae Seales and Mrs. David Vines and children of Selma were visiting friends and relatives here last Friday.

We are very glad to have in town Mr. Emmett Lawrence, who moved here about two weeks ago from Lawley. He has a store in Maplesville.

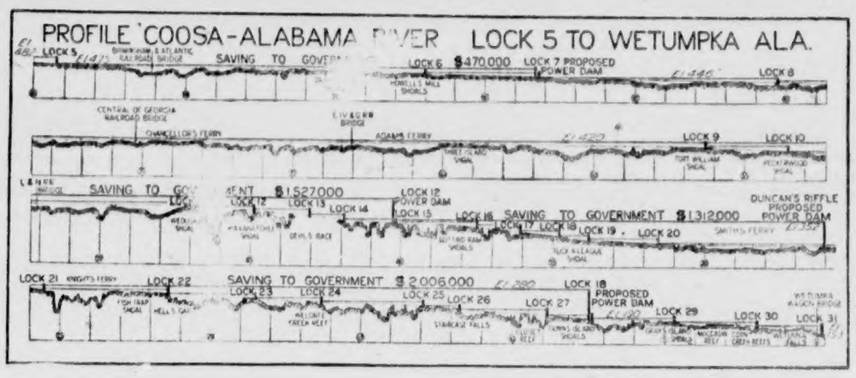
THE PUBLIC AND ALABAMA POWER COMPANY

Power Dams Making Rivers Navigable

Power dams being erected by Alabama Power Company at various points are gradually opening up Alabama's rivers to navigation at no expense to the State or Federal Government, except for purely navigation structures, such as locks, etc.



LOCK 12 opened to navigation 25 MILES of the Coosa River.

MITCHELL DAM opened to navigation 15 MILES of the Coosa River.

CHEROKEE BLUFFS will open to navigation 340 MILES of the Alabama River.

The Cherokee Bluffs dam, through the storage of waters during floods and their release in times of drought, will provide a 4½-foot navigation stage the year around in the Alabama River to Mobile.

40 MILES have been and 340 MILES will be made navigable on these rivers through the erection of these power dams by Alabama Power Company.

During a period of 55 YEARS the Federal Government expended $2,686,583.20 for improving navigation on the Coosa River between Rome, Ga., and Wetumpka, Ala., although only 36 MILES of the river, between Greensport and Riverside, were actually made navigable.

In 12 YEARS Alabama Power Company has opened 40 MILES of the Coosa River to 6-foot navigation, and in 3 MORE YEARS will have provided 4½-foot navigation on 340 MILES of the Alabama River; all at no expense to the State or Federal Government.

Alabama Power Company acts as an agent of the United States in constructing these power developments on account of their effect upon navigation. The Government might construct these dams at its own expense, but Congress prefers to obtain the improvement of navigation through private agencies at no expense, which it is doing through the medium of power developments under the Federal Water Power Act.

The power developments made by Alabama Power Company are a part of a comprehensive plan to make these rivers navigable. Each project must be at the exact location and of the specific height designated by U. S. Government engineers so as to open Alabama's rivers to navigation.

The Value of Land Abstracts

It is not safe to buy land or to lend money and accept land as security without first investigating the title of the land. Often there are unpaid mortgages, judgments, or other liens affecting the title, which an abstract would set out. Therefore, when buying land or lending money thereon, it is important that an abstract of title be furnished. A few dollars spent for an abstract is cheaper than going ahead and having a law suit a little later on.

NEW DODGE CARS

Marked improvement in appearance and comfort is apparent in the new line of Dodge Brothers Motor Cars, in the production of which the factory has been gathering momentum since July 1. Hundreds of dealers are now supplied with display cars of the new tyype, and from every source the factory is receiving reports of enthusiastic approval by the public.

While the basic characteristics of the familiar Dodge Brothers cars of recent days are still present, there is an air of distinctiveness that surpasses all previous efforts of this concern to build a moderately priced car of commendable appearance as well as quality.

The wheelbase is a trifle longer, the body is lower and the read springs changed to semi-elliptical type are under-slung, and increased from 45 to 55 inches in length.

All the features so popular with the public today are embodied in the design of the complete line, which includes a touring car, roadster, coupe, two types of sedan, and screen side and panel side commercial cars of 3-4 ton capacity. All steel bodies—as first introduced by Dodge Brothers in their open passenger cars several years ago—are now used for all types.

The effect of the longer and lower body and longer wheelbase, combined with the new lines and lower seats, is very fine. According to dealers and others who have driven the new cars, the improvement in riding qualities is no less pronounced than the improvement in general design. The reduction in body height lowers the center of gravity and thereby reduces sides-way, while rebound shocks are effectively dissipated by the improved front and rear springs. The car holds the road easily and gracefully and affords real riding comfort.

Another distinct new feature is the louvers or ventilator slits in the sides of the hood panels. This change increases the flow of air through the radiator and reduces the flow of hot air to the floor boards, making summer driving most comfortable.

The rear seat and all upholstery of the touring car are removable, affording a large space for loading luggage or other articles. Seats in all types are deeper and lower, adding to comfort and leg room.

The instrument board is greatly improved in appearance, with instruments grouped on a raised panel and with longer lighting switch lever, facilitating control of the lights while driving.

Head lamps are specially designed to harmonize with the new body lines. A combination caution signal and tail lamp is mounted rigidly on the license plate bracket and conforms with the requirements of all states having lighting regulations.

Brake pedal pads are larger and of a design which makes for greater ease and safety. The hand brake lever, like the shifting lever, is moved forward, giving more leg room and making it easier to get in and out. A Yale lock is built into the transmission, making it possible to double-lock the car when idle.

The steering wheel is materially improved in appearance and all electrical connections are inside the steering column.

The front springs are increased in length and from 1 3-4 to 2 inches in width and built of more leaves of a thinner stock. The rear springs, in addition to being longer, are now semi-elliptic and flat.

The camber, or in-tilt of the front wheels, is increased, making steering easier. A new gear ratio of the rear axle gives increased flexibility and adds to the ability of Dodge Brothers cars as hill climbers.

CARD OF THANKS

To All Friends and Loved Ones:

I wish to express my heartfelt gratitude to all friends in the different communities in this county, and also in Chilton county, for their many deeds of kindness and tokens of love and sympathy, in the recent bereavement which was mine—the illness and death of my beloved wife; and also for the many offerings of beautiful flowers.

May God's blessings attend you everyone.

A $20,000,000 loan for Switzerland is being floated in the United States, thus adding substantially to the billions already advanced by this country to Europe.

A local bill is before the legislature providing for the abolishing of the office of Deputy Solicitor of Chilton county. Since we have no county court, we have no use for a county solicitor.

We suppose that the tick eradication law and the compulsory school attendance law may be enforced in Chilton county since Judge Reynolds is no longer allowed to decide the cases. You've got the rope now boys, so go to it.

Can't Clanton adjourn politics long enough to reinstate that worthy move to drain off these swamps around town? Brother Fox has returned home, so now let's get together and push this matter through. It is a thing we can't afford to let die.

An organization in New York City known as the "Italian Chamber of Commerce" is protesting against certain lines of propaganda in the United States. Its protest will get a more friendly hearing when it drops its alien name.

Tht state-wide stock law measure is still pending before the legislature. We hope that this bill is made a law. As we now stand, with some beats in stock law and some out, it makes the handling of cattle mighty troublesome. If we had solid stock law it would be much better for all.

Some of our Democratic and pro-Democratic friends seemed not to exactly approve of their names being published as having favored the abolishing of the county court of Chilton county. Well, we don't blame them. We would be ashamed for our names to go before the public as having favored such a deleterious contrivance.

The county court of Chilton county is no more. Although an appeal was made by our Republican Representative to allow the people of the county to vote on the question, the Democrats abolished it completely. They did not give a rap what the sentiment of the people of the county was. All they wanted was to knock the Republican party, regardless of the consequences.

We are publishing a bill this week to be introduced before the legislature of Alabama providing for the election of our County Superintendent of Education. This bill will change only the manner of choosing our superintendent. The qualifications and salary, under this bill, will remain the same. We believe that this bill ought to be enacted into law by all means. The people ought to have a right to elect by direct vote all of their officers. The people have to pay them their salaries, so they ought to have the right to say whom they shall hire to fill the job. This business of electing the county board and letting the board elect the superintendent is a farce so far as popular government is concerned. It gives too much chance for dickering and playing personal politics.

THE FIRST "ADVANTAGE"

Chilton County is already reaping the "benefits" from having the county court abolished. Last Friday Oscar Broadhead, a non compos mentis, was brought from his home near Sardis to Clanton for the purpose of being sent to the insane asylum at Tuscaloosa. Upon arriving the man was carried to the Probate Office for the proper papers to be arranged, whereupon Judge Reynolds had to inform them that he no longer had the authority to fix up such things since the county court had been taken away. So, the poor man is now lying in jail, and he cannot be taken away until the authorities get in touch with the Circuit Judge and get him released. This is the first example of the "efficiency" of having no county court. While we had a county court it always took only a few hours to get a crazy man to the asylum, while under the present arrangement it may take several days.

Mat Ware is prepared to feed you on short notice. Go to his place in Popwell Bldg., for anything to eat.

IMMIGRANT EXPLOITATION

The Commissioner General of immigration charges that the steamship companies are responsible for bringing in aliens over the quotas and causing the congestion at Ellis Island. The stories of midnight races to port by Atlantic liners in a mad rush to bring their passengers in within the quota limit lends color to the charge. The House of Commons has been treated to some very sarcastic references to the handling of immigrants at our ports. It is very probable that a large part of the fault lies at the doors of the very countries from which complaints come. If their steamship companies subordinated their greed for profits to a decent respect for American laws there would be fewer disappointed immigrants.

A DANGEROUS PARTNERSHIP

Those who are directing the affairs of the Democratic party may get what satisfaction they please out of the election of Senator Magnus Johnson. They practically admit that Democratic votes combined with radical votes to put Johnson across. It may be that a majority of the Democrats in Minnesota are gratified at the result, but it would be interesting to know how their party colleagues in other parts of the country feel about it. If the present party leaders want to deliver their strength to radical candidates they are likely to be speedily thrown from power by men who want to see the Democratic party retain some of its old time dignity and self-respect.

THE OBVIOUS REMEDY

There has been some agitation for an extra session of Congress for the purpose of fixing the price of wheat. The present wheat price is due solely to the law of supply and demand, which cannot be repealed by any enactment of Congress. A price might be fixed and temporary aid provided, but there must come a day of reckoning when the taxpayers would pay the bill. The obvious remedy for the wheat farmer is to reduce his wheat crop and become more diversified in his activities. Beef cattle, sheep, dairying, and a variety of market crops point the way to the farmers' salvation.

READY FOR SCRAPPING

Plans are being worked out for scrapping 21 warships in accordance with the Washington armaments treaty. Just as soon as the ratifications of the treaty have been properly exchanged, the Navy Department will start the process of destruction. Six of the ships are huge battle cruisers tn various stages of completion, and the cost of breaking up the new steel that has gone into their hulls will be sufficient to offset any profit from its sale. But the cost of maintenance of those 21 ships had they been kept in commission will be a big annual saving, estimated at about $200,000,000 at the time of the conference.

ANOTHER FIZZLE

A committee of the league of nations has drawn up a scheme for the limitation of European armaments. In general it provides that treaties shall give mutaul pledges of military assistance to a nation to the extent to which that nation has reduced its army. It is an ingenious plan, but what assurance is there that the makers of such treaties would observe their provisions any more than they have observed the obligations of the covenant of the league of nations? Those obligations are notoriously a dead letter, and the protection they were supposed to afford the league members is valueless.

IN MEMORY

On last Thursday morning at 2 o'clock the death angel visited the home of Mr. W. B. Jones and taken from him his dear wife and our grandmother, Mrs. Gatsy Jones, who was 76 years old. She was a devoted Christian and a loving mother. To know her was to love her.

The remains were laid to rest at Corinth cemetery. Rev. J. D. Hughes conducted the funeral services.

We want to thank the people for their kindness through her sickness and death.

The lonely voice of evening in silence still rang out. The darling mother we shall remember is gone forever gone. The one we once loved dearly has left the old homestead. She's gone to dwell in safety with loved ones ahead.

Life's evening time is blending. The shadows come and go, and restless thus life floweth we wonder to and fro. When the weary days are over and the sun sinks in the west, do not worry father or children, for we know she's at rest.

Tho again at sunny noon time comes a word of pure delight from across the Jordan river, and it seems she's most in sight.

Pray tell me why this life is lonely; why do friends once more forsake; why do shadows fill our pathway that golden sunlight ought to break?

A GRAND SON.

TOMATO GROWERS

Clanton, Ala., Aug. 14, 1923.
To Tomato Growers:

As there seems to be some misunderstanding about some things concerning the canning factory, I am writing this letter to clear these misunderstandings. First, in regard to the price paid for tomatoes. The agreement with the grower at the time he signed the contract to grow the tomatoes, was that the grower should get all of the money their tomatoes sold for when they were canned after the expense of canning was paid and 1-4 cent per can was taken out to pay interest on the money invested. And this is what will be done! As most of the growers do not want to wait until all of the tomatoes are sold to get some money on their tomatoes, they are to be paid $12.00 per ton first, then after the tomatoes are sold they will be paid the rest of their money. The amount they will be paid this second time will depend upon how much profit the factory makes. And right here is where it will pay the grower to bring in tomatoes in the proper condition. If the tomatoes are so green that they cannot be used, the factory will make very little profit and the grower will get only a small second payment. If the tomatoes are ripe so all of them can be used and the canned goods will be first class so it will sell at a good price, then the factory will make a nice profit and the grower will get a nice second payment. Keep this in mind and remember that at other canning factories the growers furnish tomatoes of the proper ripeness and we can and should do the same thing. Also at most canning factories $12.00 per ton is all the growers are paid.

We will get more than $12.00 per ton for our tomatoes, but even if we did not we would make as much or more money on tomatoes as on cotton. We have been raising cotton all our lives and have never made a profit raising it unless it was during the war. If we failed one year we put more in next year. Have we tried tomatoes? One man who has 1-2 acre in tomatoes told me last week that he had not put in a full day's work altogether since he planted them and they were looking fine.

Therefore practically all of the work he will have to do with his tomatoes is to haul them to the factory. How many days do we have to put in on each acre of cotton to produce it? And how much of the cotton does the boll weevil get? Boll weevils do not bother tomatoes. Worms do, but they can be absolutely destroyed by spraying two or three times at very little expense.

The mistake nearly every grower made this year was in planting too small an acreage. It takes as much time to haul 100 lbs. of tomatoes to the factory as it does 900 lbs. If each man had two or more acres planted to tomatoes instead of 1-2 acre it would not take any more time to do the hauling or only a little more time and then he could make a real profit on them. We all know this has been a hard year on everything and we got a late start on our tomatoes. Next year we can do better.

Now, the thing to do is to take all of the tomatoes to the factory when they get ripe enough to can. Then next year plant two or three acres instead of 1-2 acre and let's not let King Cotton rule us always.

My only purpose in writing this article and in giving my time to the canning factory is to help the farmers of Chilton county—members of the United Farmers—to get more money from their farms. I sincerely hope that my efforts may not be in vain.

Yours truly,
O. H. MASTIN.

Inactive Liver

"I have had trouble with an inactive liver," wrote Mrs. S. Nichols, of 4412 Spencer St., Houston, Texas. "When I would get constipated, I would feel a light, dizzy feeling in my head. To get up in the morning with a lightness in the head and a trembly feeling is often a sign that the stomach is out of order. For this I took Thedford's Black-Draught, and without a doubt can say I have never found its equal in any liver medicine. It not only cleans the liver, but leaves you in such a good condition. I have used it a long time, when food does not seem to set well, or the stomach is a little sour."

If it isn't Thedford's it isn't BLACK-DRAUGHT Liver Medicine.

CANE CREEK NEWS

Health of this community is good at present, except a few cases of cold.

Sunday school is progressing nicely with a large number on roll.

The singing society met with a large crowd Sunday and a splendid program was rendered. The president being sick, Mr. Rennie Robinson acted as chairman. After a few songs and prayer the following directors rendered three songs each:

Mr. Rennie Robinsin, Miss Zula Willis, Miss Lillie Mae Weldon, Mr. E. F. Taylor, Mr. Jasper Oaks. Organists for the afternoon were: Misses Lillie Mae Weldon and Zula Willis.

Our singing school began here Monday morning with Prof. Rennie Robinson teacher. We have a large school and are expecting others to enter right away. The prospects are good for a splendid school and with the hearty co-operation of the parents, teacher and students we hope it to be a success.

Miss Bertha Giles, who has been visiting her brother in Birmingham has returned home.

Mr. Marion Giles and son, Mallie, spent a few days at home last week.

Miss Hermie Gentry, who has been visiting relatives in Montgomery is at home with a severe attack of cold.

Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Willaimson attended the singing here Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lonie Robinson and children visited here last week.

The Railroads Pay Large Sums in Taxes

Few people know the amount of taxes paid into the public funds by the railroads—to be used in building better streets and roads; establishing and operating schools; promoting sanitary and health conditions; maintaining police and governmental regulations; and for all of the other things for which public money is spent in order to make the community a better place in which to live. Thus through taxes, the railroads certainly contribute their full share of the cost of civic progress in every community.

The Louisville & Nashville Railroad pays annually in State, County and City taxes, in the 13 states in which it operates, the vast sum of four million six hundred and eighty six thousand one hundred and forty nine dollars ($4,686,149.)

These figures show the importance of the L. & N. as a tax payer and an aid in community building throughout the territory it serves.

POOR ORIGINAL

NOTICE OF LOCAL LAW

Notice is hereby given that the proposed local bill which is hereinafter set out will be introduced at the present session of the legislature of Alabama.

A BILL
To be entitled
AN ACT

To provide for the election of a County Superintendent of Education for Chilton County, Alabama, to fix his term of office, to prescribe his salary, and the way and manner of payment, to define his qualifications, powers and duties, to provide the way and manner of filling vacancy in said office, to provide the manner and method and causes for removing the said County Superintendent of Education, to provide for a special election to be held to elect such County Superintendent under this act and to provide for the election of his successor in office, and to provide for the repeal of all laws in conflict with the provisions of this act.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF ALABAMA:

Section 1. That a County Superintendent of Education for Chilton County, Alabama, shall be elected by the qualified electors of Chilton County, Alabama, who shall hold office until his successor is elected and qualified as hereinafter provided. That within three months after the passage and approval of this act a special election shall be held on a day to be designated and fixed by the Probate Judge of Chilton County, Alabama, for the election of a County Superintendent of Education, who shall hold office until the next general election to be held in the State of Alabama and said County of Chilton, and until his successor elected therein shall have qualified; that said special election shall be conducted and the vote canvassed and the results declared in all respects as now provided by the general election laws of Alabama for the election of County officers. Provided that the person elected as County Superintendent at said special election shall enter upon the duties of his office as soon as he shall qualify thereafter.

Section 2. That at the next general election to be held in said county and state a County Superintendent of Education for Chilton County, Alabama, shall be elected, who shall hold office for a term of four years and until his successor is elected and qualified, unless sooner removed for good cause, and each four years thereafter a County Superintendent of Education for Chilton County, Alabama, shall be elected by the qualified voters of said County at the regular election, nomination for which office may be made in primary elections as other County officers. in Maplesville.

Section 3. That the salary of the said County Superintendent of Education shall be fixed by the County Board of Education of said county at not less than fifteen hundred ($1500) dollars per annum, which salary shall be paid in the same way and manner as now provided under the general laws of the state for the payment of salaries of County Superintendents in the several counties.

Section 4. That said County Superintendent of Education shall be charged with the same duties and shall exercise the same powers as are now provided by the general school laws of the state in the conduct of the office of County Superintendent of Education.

No person shall be eligible for political party nomination or for election to the office of County Superintendent of Education of said county who does not as now required hold an Alabama certificate in administration and supervision based as a minimum upon graduation from a standard normal school or equivalent education with at least one year of additional study of college grade and proof of three years of successful educational work within the next preceding five years; provided that, if no person meeting these requirements qualifies for nomination and election as provided in this act, the County Board of Education shall appoint a County Superintendent of Education as provided by the law regulating the appointment of superintendents.

Section 5. That in the event of a vacancy in said office for any cause, except removal, such vacancy shall be filled by the County Board of Education, and the person so appointed shall hold office until the next general election thereafter when his successor shall be elected; that should any County Superintendent be removed for cause by the County Board of Education of Chilton County, such vacancy shall be filled by appointment of the State Superintendent of Education, and his appointee shall hold office as in the case provided by appointment of the County Board of Education. Provided, that the County Board of Education may remove the County Superintendent of Education for immorality, misconduct in office, incompetency, or willful neglect of duty, or when, the best interests of the schools require it; any of which causes must be alleged and proved, and the County Superintendent of Education shall have the right to be heard in his defense as in cases of impeachment against County officers, and all such hearings shall be before the County Board of Education and shall be conducted as in cases provided under the general laws for the impeachment of County officers, and provided that upon such removal for cause any County Superintendent may appeal to the Circuit Court and have a trial by jury.

Section 6. That the duties and powers prescribed by the general laws of Alabama for the office of County Superintendents in the supervision of the schools of the several counties shall apply to and be incumbent upon the County Superintendent. The County Superintendent elected or appointed under the provisions of this act, and before entering upon the duties of said office he must take the oath of office prescribed by the Constitution, and give bond in an amount to be fixed by the State Board of Education in a reputable surety company authorized to do business in Alabama, conditioned upon the faithful performance of the duties of his office, and upon the accounting and paying over to the proper authority of all moneys coming into his hands.

Section 7. That all laws and parts of laws in conflict with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

Hall of Julia Beauchamp Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, Number 271
Clanton, Ala., Aug. 9th, 1923.

To the Worthy Matron, Officers and Members of Julia Beauchamp, Chapter Order of the Eastern Star, Number 271:

We, the undersigned committee, respectfully beg leave to submit for your approval and adoption the following preambles and resolutions:

Joseph P. VanDerveer was born in the city of Montgomery on November 30th, 1858. Residing here during his boyhood and early manhood, he received a good training and a generous education at the hands of good parentage. He was graduated from Georgetown College when a young man, and thence removing to Clear Creek where he was engaged in farming, until about thirty years of age. While there he married Miss Cornelia E. McMath of Montevallo, Alabama, about the year 1880, who now survives his death. Brother VanDerveer next removed to Jemison, Alabama, remaining there only two years. It was in Jemison that our brother received his first degrees in Masonry in the year 1891 from Jemison Lodge Number 411. Also while residing in Jemison Brother aVnDerveer was elected to the office of Clerk of the Circuit Court of Chilton County, Alabama, which necessitated his moving to Clanton where he spent the remainder of his years. After the expiration of his term as Circuit Clerk, he served in the capacity of tax adjuster and abstracting land titles until that office was abolished four years ago. Since that time and until his death he was engaged in the real estate and insurance business.

His Masonic and public activities were quite extensive. He was the author of the Charter of the Town of Clanton under which the town now labors, also serving in the capacity of mayor and councilman. He installed the first electric light plant in the county about the year 1908. He was one of the charter members of Julia Beauchamp Chapter and served as first Worthy Patron. Brother VanDerveer received the Baptismal Rites of the Baptist Church of Clanton along with his younger daughter, Bessie, about fifteen years prior to his death. He is survived by one son, John M., and two daughters, Pattie May Powe and Mrs. Bessie Richards, and by his widow, Cornelia E. VanDerveer, two of hsi sons, William P. and Joseph P., Jr., having died several years previous.

His remains were laid to rest with Masonic honors at Clanton Cemetery on May 7th, 1923. The Knight Templars officiating with the other lodges of which he was a member assisting, accompanied by members of Jemison Lodge and other Masons and numerous friends. The Reverend S. J. Edell of the Clanton Baptist church conducted the funeral services, assisted by the Reverend Charles C. Wilkerson of the Clanton Methodist church.

Whereas the Great Giver of life has seen fit to take from our friend and brother the life with which he was so richly bestowed, and on Saturday afternoon, on May the 5th, 1923, while he was in the confines of his home, and at peace with the world just as the evening sun was closing, so it was that the evening sun of our friend was closing, and he was taken to peace and rest with his Fathers.

Therefore since it is so, it is meet that we, should pay the last respects to our departed dead, and utter semblances of condolences to the bereaved family.

Therefore be it resolved by Julia Beauchamp Chapter, that in the death of Brother VanDerveer the community has lost a good and valuable citizen.

Be it further resolved by this Chapter that his family has lost a kind and affectionate husband and father, and that in this their ineffable loss, may they be comforted by the thought that he has gone to reap his reward for the good deeds done on this earth, where as our Poet has said:

And the night shall be filled with music,
And the cares that infest the day
Shall fold their tents like the Arabs,
And as silently pass away.

Be it lastly resloved, that in the death of our brother a void has been made a chair left vacant. As of one accord this Chapter regretfully pays its last tribute of respect to the worthy dead. His loving smile and kindness were characteristics of which we al lmourn their loss and shall greatly miss their presence. His Masonic career was prompted by the spirit that Masonry unites men of every sect, country and opinion, and this same spirit was carried along in his connection with the work of the Eastern Star. He was a friend to the defenseless and oppressed, and it was said of him that he could see something of good in every one. He was a man and citizen of rare culture and a source of honest information to the old and young alike, of strong convictions of high intelligence and great significance. He was a stock of the passing southern gentlemen, of the old school, where chivalry held the sway and a man must be a gentleman above all else. He was a man with a big heart of sympathy, and was always on hand to attend the sick and bury them dead. His yreatest spirit was his fraternal one and truly he was a friend to man. As he vrew old his kindness mellowed with age, and his age was beautified with grace. He now lies in the majestic arms of death, but his goodness on this earth shall be felt down through the ages.

We beg to suggest that a copy of these resolutions be furnished the widow and family of our deceased brother.

Respectfully submitted,
J. C. JONES,
MRS. CALESTE HAYES,
MRS. ELIZABETH HIGGINS.

UNITED FARMERS CANNING CO.

The formation of this company began some few weeks ago and like all other institutions of a constructive nature, had the opposing side. Many spoke of the canning company just as they did the United Farmers of America when the organization was introduced here only one year ago, saying, "It can't be done," and we see now that such a prophecy was wholly without foundation. The United Farmers of America is putting into operation certain principles that no other organization on record has been able to do, "and day by day in every way is getting better."

Now, we have that pessimistic class of people who speak of the canning factory just as some spoke of the organization in the beginning. I wonder how long it would take this class of people to build a town. It is a real pity that these chronic knockers do not kick clear out of town and stay out. It is rather amusing to see a man make a mule of himself by announcing and declaring any enterprise a failure before he has seen it tried out or given a chance. And that poor fellow who has the disease of "running off at the mouth," if he is not careful he will let folks find out how much he knows.

The United Farmers Canning Co., has for its Board of Directors and officers: W. T. Bean, president; J. P. Lawrence, 1st vice-president; D. O. Manning, 2nd vice-president; O. H. Mastin, secretary-treasurer, and J. B. Gardener. I predict that with these men in the lead and with J. W. Dixon manager, twelve months from today the canning factory will have many friends among men and women that it really can't claim today.

The factory is running full blast and so far as I am able to tell is putting up a product second to none of its kind. The public price being paid for timatoes is $12.00 per ton and then when the season is over each man who signed the contract will share in the profits in proportion to the amount of tomatoes that he delivered to the factory. This will amount to a good deal more than the average acre will make in cotton. Keep books on it and see. Then, next year we will start in with strawberries, English peas, tomatoes, beans, sweet potatoes and pumpkins. This will give about a nine months run.

Now come on fellows, let's try boosting awhile. If you can't boost just step out of town and let a man get in that can.

Yours for real co-operation,
A. B. BAXLEY.

MET PRESIDENT'S FUNERAL TRAIN

So far as we know the only former Chilton county person who had the distinction of seeing the funeral train of the late President was Mrs. Morton Gibbons, daughter of Mrs. B. H. Vickers, who is now a resident of Akron. Mrs. Gibbons wrote back to her people here that she saw the train as it went through her city, and that she was going to attend the funeral if she could. We have not learned whether she attended the funeral or not.

CLANTON LOSES TWO GAMES

The Clanton base ball team went over to Sylacauga to play against the Mignon team. The Clanton boys were defeated 10 to 1. They played in Lafayette Monday, the score resulting in 16 to 4 in favor of Lafayette.

Clanton will play at home Friday and Saturday. The opposing team will be Blocton, and the games Saturday will close this season.

Mr. Judson Strock of Verbena was in Clanton Wednesday.

NON-RESIDENT NOTICE

tThe State of Alabama, Chilton County. Circuit Court. In Equity.

Ervin Allen, Complainant, vs. Lula Allen, Defendant.

In this cause it is made to appear to the Register by the affidavit of Omar L. Reynolds, that the Defendant is a non-resident, and that his place of residence and post-office address is unknown, and that such address cannot be ascertained after reasonable effort; and, further, that, in the belief of said affiant, the Defendant is of the age of twenty-one years:

It is, therefore, ordered by the Register that publication be made in The Union-Banner, a newspaper published in the County of Chilton, once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring her, the said Lula Allen, to plead, answer, or demur to the bill of complaint in this cause by the 9th day of September, 1923, or, in thirty days thereafter, a decree pro confesso may be taken against her.

Done at office in Clanton, this 6th day of August, 1923.

The Misses Erman are down from Birmingham visiting their old homestead.

Miss Glennie McMorris returned yesterday after an extended visit in South Alabama.

Mr. W. A. Candler lost a horse last week which he rode to school when a boy. The horse was 37 years old and Mr. Candler had owned him 30 years.

Mr. W. T. Callen and wife are spending a few days with relatives in West Chilton.

Mr. J. H. Middleton left for Brandon, Texas, Monday where he will go into the mercantile business.

Mrs. G. V. Teel has returned after a pleasant visit in Columbiana.

E. R. PETERSON NOT GUILTY OF BURGLARY

Owing to the fact that so much interest has been aroused in the burglary of my home, I wish to state some facts to the public in connection with this matter.

At first circumstantial evidence was so strong that it seemd that there was no doubt as to E. R. Peterson's guilt. Since that time, we have received information that causes us to believe that Peterson is not guilty. My mind is not satisfied as to who is guilty and probably will never be.

I went to Speigners last Sunday to investigate Will Coleman's confession. Most of his statements are very inaccurate, but the prison officials are so positive that Coleman is the one who broke into my house that I am willing to abide by their decision.

So far as I am concerned, no further attempt will be made to have Petersn punshed n court or in any other way. I was honest in my first opinion that Peterson was guilty, but I did not want him punished so long as there was any doubt in this matter. Nearly every one who investigated this matter had the same opinion that I had, and I do not want people to think that I was the only person who at first thought that Peterson was guilty.

"My Rheumatism is gone—"

"THERE are thousands of you men and women, just like I once was—slaves to rheumatism, muscle pains, joint pains, and horrible stiffness. I had the wrong idea about rheumatism for years. I didn't realize that increasing blood-cells had the effect of completely knocking out rheumatic impurities from the system. That is why I began using S. S. S.! Today I have the strength I used to have years ago! I don't use my crutches any more." S. S. S. makes people talk about themselves the way it builds up their strength. Start S. S. S. today for that rheumatism. You'll feel the difference shortly.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

MAPLE SPRINGS

The singing school at this place taught by O. L. Devaughn closed last Saturday with a good atendance for the weather to be so bad.

Mr. L. T. Grant and Mr. W. M. Devaughn with part of their school from Chestnut Creek Church was with us. The patrons of the school took well filled baskets and oh, how the singers did enjoy that. The class was not all there to render the program just as it should have been but we had just as good singing as could be asked for. The teacher with all singers seemed to try to sing with the spirit and understanding and it was rendered in a way that made the people rejoice and filled their hearts and souls full of love for their children for their teacher and for their God, because they can see that their children have been taught not only to sing but to live what they sing.

Mr. Devaughn was reared near here, is a member at this place, is a man that wants everybody to live right, and we recommend him and believe that any place will do well to get him to teach for them.

We thank all who helped us out in our little singing. Come again.

ISABELLA AGRICULTURAL HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

Last Saturday, even though the skies were darkened with the grey mist and a few hearts beat heavy on account of the absence of sunshine, the best program ever rendered was presented in the old school building at Isabella. Even if it was raining, at 9 o'clock the crowd began to gather, and at 10 o'clock our program was begun. Prof. Griffin, our principal, opened exercises with a short talk, and introduced Prof. Pegues of Clanton, who made and interesting talk and showed why boys and girls should attend high school at home. Our friend, J. B. Atkinson of Clanton, made a short but to the point talk on community co-operation. He was followed by a man who has been everywhere, and heard many fine jokes, Frank Willis Barnett, writer for the Birmingham News. He gave us a very fine talk on co-operation and with beautiful illustrations of same. Also Mr. Barnett gave us some good laughable jokes. These talks made us all forget the weather and cotton insects and really enjoy ourselves for two hours.

Then came the noon recess. I tell you now, to have seen that table 80 or 90 feet long simply piled up with eats, you would not think anything ever had or could trouble the Isabella community. I never saw quite so much to eat in one place since the war. Here everyone spent a pleasant and happy hour.

In the afternoon session Senator S. M. Adams gave us a splendid talk on education. He seemed to feel his subject and had the word and expression to make his audience feel what he said. It was a splendid talk. He was followed by our State Supervisor of Vocational Agricultural Schools, Mr. J. B. Hobdy. He made a fine talk and explained thoroughly what agriculture meant to a community and stated he thought the right community had been picked for a school of this sort when they picked Isabella. Mr. Hobdy was followed by Mr. A. B. Baxley, representative of the United Farmers, on organizations. He gave a splendid talk on this subject. His whole emphasis was to get-to-gether, pull-to-gether, and enjoy it together.

Friends, those of you who missed this certainly missed a grand time. The speeches all were great and some very valuable points were made. They all were to the point and very interesting, and I tell you that dinner, that dinner!

Boys, line up with Vocational Agriculture at Isabella Agricultural High School.

We learn that Mr. Johnnie Conway and his son, Denson from Coosa will live on Mr. R. J. Williams farm next year, in some of his renter's houses.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Deshazo will visit their son, Guy next week, who is now working with t he DeKalb County Republican at Fort Payne.

Among our visitors last Saturday at Isabella were Misses Della Williams, Mary Hennis and Mrs. Dr. Will Stroth of Verbena. Mrs. Stroth was better known as Miss Scottie Logan of Coosa county.

Mr. Lafayette Lecroy from Coosa is visiting his relatives in our community this week.

Mr. George Wheeler from Shelby was in our community last Monday looking for him a home.

We are sory to learn of the sudden illness of Mrs. Brown. We wish for her a speedy recovery.

Bro. B. Lawrence was at Mulberry Church last Sunday as usual to fill his regular appointment but as Bro. Goss from Mt. Creek was there, he did the preaching and preached an able sermon.

Messrs. Ben and Tom Mooney and their families from Florida are on an extended visit to their mother, Mrs. Mooney. Both of them say they like to live in Florida and Mrs. Mooney will accompany them home to spend the winter months.

Mrs. Jessie Sumner of Ensley returned home Sunday after spending several weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Will Wright.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Williams, who are living now in Birmingham, were visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Williams last week.

VERBENA NEWS

Health of this community is very good at present.

We are all very sorry to hear that Mr. Lloyd Williams has his jaw-bone broken in three places.

Mr. Graham Gilmore of Clanton is visiting relatives in Mt. Creek and Wetumpka.

Miss Evelyn Kelley spent the day with Dorothy McKinnon Sunday and reported a nice time.

The revival services which begun at the aBptist church the first Sunday in August closed last Friday night.

Misses Gertrude Harris and Leona Williams spent the day with Nora Kelley Sunday and reported a nice time.

Mr. J. D. Harris of Verbena is visiting down in Jacksonville, Fla. We hope him to return home soon.

ON ROAD TO BONEYARD

"I have just finished a treatment of your wonderful remedy and can say it has done wonders for me already. For the past five years I have been unable to eat any but the lightest food and that but sparingly, as any food caused me to bloat with gas. I was reduced to a skeleton of ninety pounds, and was on the road to the boneyard. A friend in Birmingham sent me a bottle of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, which I took, and I am sure it will entirely cure me of my trouble, judging from what it brought from me and the way I feel." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.—Alred Drug Co., and druggists everywhere.

Frank Lowci is now ready for work—over Upchurch Drug Store.

LOST—Tuesday p.m., Aug. 14th, at L. & N. station, ladies' Elgin wrist watch. Finder please return to Mrs. J. P. Hayes and get reward. tf

REFUGE NEWS

Our Sunday school is getting along fine.

Sunday is our regular meeting day. Everybody is invited to come, for Rev. M. J. Parrish always has something good for his listeners.

I am glad to announce that Prof. O. L. Devaughn took up a singing school at this place Monday for fifteen days, with a good attendance, but there is room for some more. Say, as we are spending lots of money about, why not let's spend a few dollars in preparing ourselves that we might do a better work for our master? So come on one and all and let us try to make this the best school that we have ever had and now to do that you know we have got to do lots of work. So come on and let us go.

Sunday evening is our regular time to meet in our singing society. All singers are cordially invited to come, and listeners will be welcome. Everybody come and let us join in together in singing praises to God.

THE ALABAMA LEGISLATURE

(By W. M. WYATT,

Representative From Chilton County).

The present week will see the general revenue bill come into prominence again. That measure was a special order for the senate on Tuesday afternoon. The indications are that an understanding has been reached on the important sections of the bill and that its passage will be accomplished without delay. It is stated that no effort will be made in the senate to change the action of the house in giving all of the gasoline tax to the counties. It is practically assured now that each of the 67 counties in the future will receive an equal portion of the $1,200,000.00 revenue that will be raised by the two-cent tax on gasoline. This is estimated to net about $1,500 per month for each county.

So far as can be ascertained in advance, the only action of the senate on the gasoline tax will be an amendment requiring county boards of revenue to use the entire proceeds from the tax in construction and maintenance of roads, and will provide for impeachment and removal from office for officials who use the funds for any other purpose. Such action of the senate will no doubt meet the hearty aproval of the house.

Several amendments to the revenue bill have been made by the senate committee on finance and taxation. One amendment will restore the appropriation of $125,000.00 a year for expenses of operating the tax machinery. This figure was cut by the house to $75,000.00. Another senate amendment would make the salary of the chairman of the tax commission $4,800 a year, and the salary of the associate members $4,000 a year. The house cut the salary of the chairman to $4,000 and the associate members to $3,600.

If the senate should pass the revenue bill this week, and certain agreements reached with the house on disputed points, this legislature would then be ready to get down to real business. It is freely stated by many members that it is high time some real business be done, inasmuch as thirty of the fifty legislative days have already been used. The passage of the revenue bill now would be something of a new order for the legislature. In former years the general revenue measures have been among the last to reach the desk of the governor.

The passage of the revenue bill would mean that the budget commission would without delay, report to the legislature the needs of the various state departments and institutions, and then the appropriation bills covering the needs based upon the revenue anticipated from the operation of the revenue law. A simple explanation of what is meant by "revenue bill" and "appropriation bills" might be stated in this manner: The revenue bill is the means whereby the state provides for the raising of money through taxation. Appropriation measures are the means whereby the state spends the tax money that is collected.

In former years it has been the order of legislatures to make the appropriations, and then set about some way of finding how to raise enough taxes to pay the bills. A better plan has been adopted this time if it is only adhered to faithfully. The program of former years has been reversed by bringing up the revenue bills first. Now when it is determined how much taxes the revenue machinery will raise for the state, then the proper thing to do is to make the appropriations come within the amount raised. In other words it is absolutely foolish for a legislature to make appropriations which the state will not have the money to pay.

Among the big subjects of legislation yet ahead of us are the agricultural code, conservation legislation, the port bills, highway legislation, supplemental license bills, and automobile regulations.

Bob Vail and his Baldwin Times are making some of the legislators sit up and take notice of the agricultural code. Mr. Vail has made a close study of the document, and he is voicing his numerous objections in thunder tones. One legislator was heard to remark that Bob thinks he has found a mare's nest, to which another added: Yes, and it seems that he is calling upon somebody to help him count the eggs. But be that as it may, we are sure that somebody has already seen the red lantern, and the warnings of Bob are going to be looked into with care and discretion when the big code comes up for consideration.

Democrats in the legislature are just like they are everywhere else. Some of them are honest and conscientious, and will stand for what is right in spite of politics. Others of them will get out of the way to keep from facing an issue, while most of them care not a thought about the right or wrong of a question—if it is an issue in which there is a Republican concerned, they just close their eyes and vote "Democratic." Such is what happened last week when the bill to abolish the county court of Chilton county came up in the house. In opposing this bill I was joined by the other two Republican members, and ten Democrats, who were men enough to vote for what they believed to be right, even if it did mean alignment with a Republican. After the fight was over and the time came to vote, about fifteen Democrats who knew they ought to vote against the bill left the house chamber while the roll was being called, because they found it easier to be absent than to muster the courage to vote their honest convictions. It is a sad fact that men in politics and many other activities, often choose the course of least resistance and dodge an issue, rather than buck up to the line and stand for what they know to be the right. But the most of the boys, like the good Democrats which they undoubtedly are, just closed their eyes and swallowed her down with a resounding "aye," just because Pickens and Johnson and Adams had whispered in their ears that to adopt the bill would be a stab at the Republicans of Chilton county.

It must be a great consolation to the Democrats of Chilton county to feel that what they lack in beating the Republicans at the ballot box can be pieced out to a full and complete Democratic triumph by appealing to the legislature of the state.

The bill abolishing the county court of Chilton county was signed by Governor Brandon last Thursday, and now since Judge Reynolds is not on the bench any more, maybe Pickens and Johnson can get somebody convicted for not dipping their cows, and perhaps too, Grady and Omar will have to divide up some of their lucrative law practice with J. B., Vick and Gerald. Oh my, I know things are going to move along fine now. But I fear that Judge Reynolds may fall into the hands of Uncle Dock Gentry, since he will be deprived of the dollar a day for holding the county court.

United Farmers are also notified that the county office has been moved to the canning factory.

HIGH SCHOOL COLUMN

"The Submarine Attack"

Fog and mist were everywhere. The ship was steadily plowing its way through the turbulent and perilous sea. On the forecastle the seaman on anchor watch marched with his steady tramp! tramp! tramp! across the liner's prow. Within the ship all was quiet. The duties of each man who made up the ship's crew had been assigned and orders given to perform the tasks with as little noise as possible. . . . . In another quarter of the sea there lay the enemy, silent and waiting for the on-coming vessel. The man at the detectephone had his ear trained to catch the sounds of the pulsating engine. At a critical moment, the submarine sends forth a torpedo to work its deadly and cowardly work. The result is apparent.

But you are perhaps wondering what that has to do with the administration of a high school. If I am able to carry through the comparison which I have started you will see the point. The principal is the man on the forecastle; the ship is the school; the crew are the teachers; and the submarine is an enemy of the school or of the pilot. Such an enemy usually hangs around the street corner and listens to every bit of gossip which goes out. He never visits the school to learn for himself if the things which he hears are true, but accepts them and immediately becomes the most wise, yea the best informed person in the county as to the status of affairs at the high school. I wonder if you have ever heard anybody talking about a school anywhere or at any time who reminds you of the case I have just described.

If all the things are true which I have heard then it is high time some of the parents were waking up to the acts of their children. I do not believe half I hear because I know some of it was spurred by an ugly feeling. Then again, if it is true, the school is not altogether to blame. There are in any school pupils of all classes socially and morally. Which class your child is in does not depend on the school near so much as upon YOU. . . . . .

Miss Johnson will teach expression at the high school and at the elementary school. Those who expressed the hope last spring that I get an expression teacher now have a chance to show whether they really wanted such a teacher or whether they were just talking. She also teaches novelty arts. This course will be open to any resident of the town or county. To take novelty arts, one does not have to enroll as a regular student. He or she, (the course is principally for women), will be asked to enroll as a special student to come only for the class and then return to his or her home. Tuition will be charged for Miss Johnson's courses the same as for music courses.

Respectfully,

COTTON WORMS

In 1922 the cotton worms appeared at my place Aug. 15th, (first crop), and second crop Sept. 1st. This time the first crop is one week or more earlier than last year, with the number several times greater and crop at least two weeks later. I had one piece cut at least last year 20 per cent. I feel sure if something is not done this time with the number now on hand my crop will be cut at least one-half. I expect to do all I can to poison them and keep them down all I can. I did not figure to try to poison the first crop but I see now if something is not done they will destroy my crop on the first go around, or at least some pieces. I would advise everybody to be ready for second crop which will appear about Aug. 25.

COOLIDGE SELECTS A SOUTHERN MAN

Ex-Congressman C. Bascom Slemp of Virginia Receives Appointment to High Position.

From the time President Coolidge took the oath of office political writers the country over started voluminous discussion as to what manner of man he is. The general verdict seems to have been that he is an eager listener, a cautious talker who keeps his counsel to himself until he is ready to act. That view has gained strength from the several recent incidents, and notably from the appointment of former Congressman C. Bascom Slemp, of Virginia, as his private secretary. It was generally assumed that the president would appoint his former secretary, who served during the vice-presidential term. The choice of Mr. Slemp, who had not been thought of, much less mentioned, came as a surprise.

Mr. Slemp is a shrewd and trained politician. He served in the house for some fourteen years, is able, resourceful and wealthy, and has been a life-long Republican. He has had a wide experience in organization. His clerical assistance to the president will be negligible, while the salary of $7,500 a year means nothing to an industrial magnate who pays more than that to some of his employes. Mr. Slemp probably knows more about white Republican politics in the South than does any other man. He has made a specialty of organization among Southern white Republicans for years. He did a lot of that kind of work for President Harding. After March 4, 1921, Mr. Slemp was patronage arbiter. For a long time his offices were crowded with men who desired to serve their country at so much per.

Naturally under these circumstances there is no little speculation in connection with the appointment, and considerable discussion as to the appointee's duties. The private secretaryship is not a clerical, but rather a political advisory job. With his experience in public life, his wide acquaintance among Southern Republicans, his genius for organization, at cetera, the inference is that his work for months will consist mainly of rounding up Republican delegates from the South for somebody in the next national convention. Further inference is that President Colidge has done considerable thinking, if little talking, about the 1924 convention. At least, such is the political dope that is going the rounds.

FORD'S MISSISSIPPI PROJECT

As required by the Federal Water Power Act, Henry Ford has filed with the power commission detailed plans for the development of his Mississippi River project between Minneapolis and St. Paul. There is every reason to believe his application will be granted, and that there will be a power development at that point that will bring profits to the communities, and to all concerned. If he had complied with the Power Act in his efforts to acquire Muscle Shoals, instead of seeking special favors from Congress, he might be in possession of that great project now.

Mrs. Mack Wyatt, Miss Theda and Jim Alex returned to Clanton from Montgomery Friday afternoon, where they have been for the past several days. They have been down there with Mack, who is in the state legislature.

COMMISSIONERS CALL MEET AT COURT HOUSE SATURDAY TO DISCUSS BUILDING ROADS

The Commissioner's Court wishes to call the attention of the people of Chilton County to a very important meeting in regard to the building and improvement of the roads of our county which is to be held at the court house on Saturday, the 25th day of August, 1923, at 10:00 o'clock a.m.

Chilton county is now on an era of better road building, as we have the gasoline tax which as the law says must be applied upon the roads. In compliance with this the Commissioner's Court has purchased one tractor and one road machine for each Commissioner's district to be used exclusively on the roads. It is a purpose of the Commissioner's Court to make several changes in the method of working the roads and we are anxious to have the suggestions and criticisms of all the people of the county regardless of your political faith. As stated above with the additional tax now coming in from the gasoline and which will probably come from other sources it is the purpose of the court to construct and maintain and improve the roads of this county in a manner in keeping with the improvements of the times.

One change the court is contemplating making is to permit all hands to pay a road compensation in place of working. eW especially urge all the opportioners and overseers to be present at this meeting. Let us also urge both county papers to give their support to this new project and at all times stand ready to co-operate wtih the court, as we believe the good roads will be of a benefit to the people of our county. We are expecting to have with us on that day the Probate Judge of Talladega county who is an expert on good road building to make a speech on the subject.

Of course it will take some time to get this under way and in the meantime the court urges all the apportioners and overseers to see that every road hand, subject to road duty work the ten days as required by law, and do not wait until the winter rains set in, but commence filling up the muddy placeh and repairing the roads now while plenty of dry material is acessible.

Mr. S. P. Shaw has recently returned from an extended auto trip to the northwest. While away he visited Pikes Peak and other interesting points. He carried his family with him and the visit lasted for about a month.

In conclusion let us urge all the citizens of the county to be present at this meeting and come prepared to ofer suggestions and make criticisms and co-operate with the county in its endeavor to have god roads over the entire terrtory of Chlton county.

Very respectfully,
L. H. REYNOLDS, Chm.

NEW ISABELLA HIGH SCHOOL IS NOW READY FOR BUSINESS

Big Gathering of Patrons, and Appropriate Program Is Staged; Frank Willis Barnett Speaks.

Saturday, August 11, was a great day for the people of Mulberry and the Isabella School District. On that day was held the dedication services of the new Isabella Agricultural High School, which has recently been transformed from a regular public school into a high school which carries in its connection courses in all kinds of vocational training. Isabella is the only school in Chilton county offering these courses.

One of the main features of the program put on at the dedication services was the speech by Dr. Frank Willis Barnett, feature writer for the Birmingham News. In last Sunday's News Dr. Barnett had almost a full page write-up of the dedication day and general facts concerning the Isabella School. Below we publish a part of Dr. Barnett's article:

Dr. Barnett's Article

The writer made a trip down into Chilton county on Saturday, Aug. 11, getting off the train at Clanton and driving through to Maplesville, a distance of about 17 miles, the former being on the L. & N., and the latter on the Southern and M. & O.

He was surprised to find such evidences of improvement at Clanton since he wrote the story of it some months back. On all sides there were signs of progress. New stores, dwellings, filling stations and other improvements. West End, a suburb, is growing rapidly.

Chilton is one of the Alabama counties which was created after the Civil War. Its territory was taken from Autauga, Bibb, Perry and Shelby counties, Dec. 30, 1868. Its area is 729 square miles, or 466,360 acres. It is one of the counties whose name has been changed. At first it was known as Baker county, being so called in honor of Alfred aBker, a citizen of the Autauga section of the county, but on Dec. 17, 1871, it was changed to Chilton, in respect to Judge William aPrrish Chilton, chief justice of the supreme court, and later a member of the provisional and regular Congress of the Confederacy from Montgomery county.

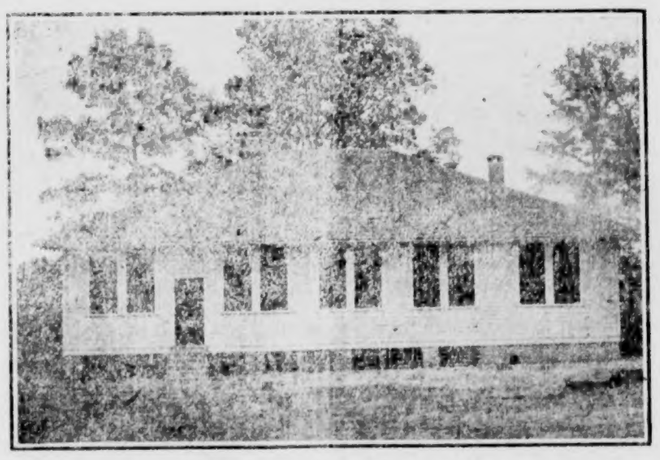
How Town Got Its Name

The writer in a talk stated that one of the first things he tried to ascertain on reaching a place was to ascertain how it got its name, and so from the rostrum asked if some man had named it after his sweetheart or wife, to be told from the floor that it took its name from the nearby Methodist Church. Later on the ground he learned that Isaiah George, one of the pioneer settlers, was a member of the body and when a sharp difference arose over naming the church, he suggested that they call it "Isabella," after his daughter. This was done.

In those early days a few settlers came in and cleared the land, then a store and a smithy were set up, and by this time a school and church were needed. The Methodists a century back got a hold at Isabella while the Baptists settled around Old Mulberry about three-quarters of a mile away. Thomas J. Sandford donated the land to the Methodists. Among the oldest families in the settlement were the Williams, Hunnicutts, Campbells and Walkers. Joe Williams, Anderson Hunnicutt and Aaron Campbell were leaders in the Baptist church at Mulberry. Buford Lawrence is the present pastor, while A. V. Jones is pastor of the Isabella Methodist church.

The Mulberry Baptist church is more than 100 years old. It was a member of the Mulberry Association, which was constituted of churches from the counties of Autauga, Bibb, Shelby, Talladega, Dallas and Perry, in 1828. Most of the churches had withdrawn from the Cahaba Association. Mulberry Church was one of the churches which went into the body, but when the movement some years back towards organizing associations on county lines was begun, it became a member of the Chilton County Association.



AGRICULTURAL BUILDING

The writer, when he got into the Isabella neighborhood, little dreamed that, in trying to find out about the early Methodists and Baptists, the records of the Mulberry Association would turn up such interesting data concerning the social customs of our forefathers.

Into the Isabella settlement came settlers from the Carolinas and Georgia and to understand fully Chilton County it would be necessary to familiarize one's self with the story of Autauga, Bibb, Perry and Shelby counties, for its teritory was carved out of them. The county lay within the domains of the Upper Creeks. Along Mulberry Creek, from which the Mulberry Association took its name and the larger streams, are unidentified village sites.

This has been a roundabout way to get to the school end of this narrative. When the writer received a special invitation from H. L. Foshee, county superintendent of education, to come down and be one of the speakers on [illegible] last when the new building dedicated to vocational agriculture was to be received, by R. E. Ledbetter, supervisor of rural schools, with "dinner on the ground" he accepted with pleasure and alacrity.

County Active in Education

Chilton County is doing things along educational lines. For proof Mr. Ledbetter had an 80-mile trip in the country mapped out for the day as he was to inspect the new buildings at Jemison, Maplesville, Stanton, Enterprise and Isabella. The writer had been at Jemison on its great school day and seen with his own eyes the handsome new structure which replaced the old unsightly and dilapidated one which was used when he had written his story about the town. Jemison fired other communities. It's always the case that when one town gets a good building all the towns around it covet one for themselves.

Jemison School has seven rooms and is built on the modern plan, costing more than $10,000. Maplesville

CHILTON COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL OPENS THURSDAY OF NEXT WEEK, AUG. 30

At eight-thirty o'clock on the morning of August 30th, which will be Thursday of next week the Chilton County High School will open to enroll the Freshmen or pupils of the eighth grade. Everybody is urged to enroll and get started the first day. At the end of every six weeks period final examinations will be given. This is a new rule for the high school but I believe it will be beneficial, for it means a pupil can not loaf a whole term and then expect to cram up for mid-term or finale. It will require that a pupil do some work all during the term. The word has been passed down the line that the high schools must tighten up all over the State. The colleges are raising complaint that too many of the pupils are not thorough in their work. A considerable tightening was noticeable in the summer sessions of the Normal schools and colleges this summer. I hope we may have that said about us at the high school the coming session. Since we do have final examinations at the end of every six weeks, it is almost a necessity that a pupil get started on time or he will be so far behind that he cannot catch up by the time the first set of examinations come.

On Friday, the 31st, we will be ready to enroll the Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors. That night will be the time for the opening exercises to the public. Everybody is invited whether pupil, patron, or friend.

As nearly as I can tell until the faculty get here for a conference, the teachers will teach the subjects as given below:

Ira Pegues, Latin and English III.
J. A. Peterson, Science and Athletics.
D. W. Dark, Mathematics and Biology.
Miss Wynness Tate, English and Hygiene.
Miss Inis Carter, History and Home Economics.
Miss Annie Johnson, Expression.
Mrs. Barney M. Roberts, Music.

It is my understanding that Mrs. Middleton will open a studio somewhere near the high school. If so, those pupils who care to take music from her will be allowed to do so.

Respectfully,
IRA PEGUES.

OSCAR BROADHEAD IS CARRIED OFF

Oscar Broadhead, a crazy man, who was brought from his home near Sardis two weeks ago, was taken by the sheriff to the asylum at Tuscaloosa Tuesday. The man had to be held here in jail due to the fact that no action could be taken in the matter until an order was received from the circuit judge. The probate judge has been attending to such matters, but since his commission as judge of the county court has been taken from him, he no longer has the right to dispose of such cases.

MRS. W. P. LOWERY IN HOSPITAL

Rev. W. P. Lowery of Thorsby came down to Clanton Tuesday morning to bring his wife to the Central Alabama Hospital for treatment. Mrs. Lowery has been in very bad health for several months, and for the past two weeks her health has been failing her fast. So they thought it best to have her brought to the hospital for more careful medical attention.

Late reports say that she is improving.

CANNING FACTORY RUNNING STRONG

Employs Forty People and Turns Out 20,000 Cans of Tomatoes Daily.

The United Farmers Canning Factory at Clanton is now turning out canned tomatoes by the thousands. The factory began operation over a week ago, and is now running almost full time. The authorities say that in spite of the shortage in the tomato crop caused by recent excessive rain, an enormous amount of the finished canned product will be realized from the county as a whole.

The United Farmers Canning Factory was built by the county organization of the United Farmers of America at a cost of $15,000. The factory is being operated by that organization, and is therefore owned and operated by the farmers of Chilton county. Although the principal product to be canned this year is tomatoes, yet the factory is equipped to can potatoes, strawberries, blackberries, cabbage, apples, peaches, grapes, and almost any other canable product.

Since beginning operation the average number of cans turned out per day is about 20,000. The capacity of the plant is several thousand above this, but on account of the shortage in this year's crop the plant has not reached its full capacity yet. The company gives employment to around forty workmen, who put in practically full time. Most of those who work at the factory are women and girls who live in this vicinity.

The brand under which the new product is marketed is "U-Ca-Co Tomatoes." The word U-Ca-Co is formed from the name of the organization, United Farmers Canning Co. Those who have examined the canned tomatoes say that they are of the very highest quality, and are canned in a way that is unsurpassed by any of the standard brands. The system is proving to be a very valuable asset to the farmers of this section.

CAROL Y. HOLLEY DIES IN CALIFORNIA TUESDAY

The dead body of Carol Y. Holley arrived in Clanton Monday of this week, the young man having died in an army hospital in Banning, Calif., Tuesday, August 14th. Death came as a result of being gassed while fighting in France during the world war. The young man had been in the government hospital ever since he was discharged from the service shortly after the war closed.

The deceased was a son of our fellow-citizen, J. R. Holley of Clanton, Route 6, and at the time of his death was 28 years of age. The remains were buried at Mt. Pisgah Monday afternoon, Rev. Perry Mims conducting the funeral services. The young man leaves a father, mother, and several brothers and sisters to lament his death.

THE BETHSALEM REVIVAL

The revival held at Bethsalem church last week was a grand success. The regular pastor, Rev. More, was assisted by Rev. J. E. George. During the meeting sixteen joined the church.

If there ever was a time when the Lord was with us, we believe it was in this revival. It was an awakening to the unawakened; it was a learning to the unlearned.

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. NORTON, Manager)

Rev. J. W. Davenport, having completed his vacation, will take up his regular work as pastor of the Congregational Church, this week.

Arrangements have now been completed for the Ladies' Guild open air social to be held on Thorsby Institute Campus this week, Thursday, beginning at 4 o'clock p.m. and continuing as long as folks care to stay at night. This social is not for ladies only, but the husbands, brothers, uncles and cousins of "The Guild" are expected to make up the company and help somebody else to have a good time. The invitation is also extended to those who may not happen to be kin to The Guild, but who may still be capable of social enjoyment when accompanied by ice cream and cake for sale at so much per. To people with automobiles and congenial company it will be some good place to go.

The Picture Lecture Course which Rev. J. W. Davenport is putting on at Bates Hall, each night this week, except Thursday and Saturday, constitute a series of really high class entertainments. The pictures are not only beautiful but the illumination is strong enough to show them up clear and distinct, and the reading of the lectures, which give ample descriptions of the views, are given in a manner to be heard in all parts of the house. Altogether this is really one of the best entertainment series ever offed the Thorsby public. Friday night will close the series. Don't miss it.

Mr. John Ford, one of Thorsby Institute students who enlisted in the U. S. Army in 1917 and spent nearly two years in France, then two years at Auburn Technological Institute, and the past two years at Cornell University at Ithica, N. Y., where he has just graduated, spent the weekend visiting friends in Thorsby. Mr. Ford has taken a course to fit himself for the profession of Landscape Gardener or Architect. One of the kind of men who can take a raw piece of land and make of it a symmetrical and beautiful landscape, park, or private grounds for the homes of those who care to live in a pleasing environment. He is withal a young man of good character and pleasing personality, and we have reason to suspect that he has more than a casual interest in one of our Thorsby girls who is of a like character.

Revs. Davenport, Butler and Long, with Mrs. Loveland, returned Saturday night from the conference of The Central ssociation of Congregational churches held at Union Church, about seven miles east of Mountain Creek.

Miss Mattie Scott has as her guest this week Miss Jessie Williams, her cousin, from Billingsley, Ala.

Mrs. K. A. Ekblad returned from a visit of several weeks at the North, Tuesday.

Miss Lenore Goodwin and little Agnes Lenore have returned to Thorsby for another week's visit with the Norton's before they return to Tryon, N. C.

The Thorsby Band spent a very pleasant evening on last Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Meade. The band played many beautiful selections, to the delight of all those who were fortunate enough to hear them. At the end of the practice, Mrs. Meade served defreshments and we are sure that the Thorsby band would be perfectly willing to meet with the Meades again.

Mrs. J. M. Bosworth entertained on last Saturday afternoon, in honor of her sister, Mrs. Karl Peterson, of Indiana.

Mrs. E. H. Hanson will entertain in honor of Mrs. Peterson next Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Peterson expects to leave for her home at LaPorte, Ind., next Sunday.

Miss Eloise Abernathy, who has been visiting Miss Lorena Graham, has returned to her home in Birmingham.

Work is now going forward in making repairs on our public school building.

Senator Samuel Adams preached a fine sermon at the Congregational church last Sunday morning.

Mrs. W. P. Lowery was carried to Clanton Infirmary last Tuesday. She has been very ill for about three months.

Messrs. E. L. Burnett and Edgar Collins returned Tuesday morning from a somewhat extended stay at Dr. L. V. Stabler's Infirmary at Greenville, Ala. Dr. Stabler will be remembered by long residents in Thorsby as at one time a much loved and very efficient doctor who lived in the house now owned and occupied by Mr. Jim Pate.

The monthly social of The Ladies' Guild will be held on the 5th Thursday of August at the home of Mrs. O. L.Jackson.

STILLS CAPTURED IN VARIOUS COUNTIES

The following still captures were reported to headquarters of the state law enforcement department Tuesday:

Shelby county, one 150 and one 250-gallon stills, and 1,300 gallons of beer. Firing of a shot in this raid gave the alarm, and the moonshiners escaped.

In Russell county a 100-gallon still was captured, and four men arrested for violation of the prohibition law.

In Pickens county, three 60-gallon stills were captured, with 500 gallons of beer. Federal deputies co-operated in the raids in the three counties mentioned.

In Tuscaloosa county, a Ford car, 2 gallons of whiskey and five men were seized.

NEW ISABELLA HIGH SCHOOL NOW READY FOR BUSINESS

has a building project well under way for a seven-room building with offices, library and auditorium to cost at least $15,000. Stanton, with its five class rooms, office, library and auditorium, represents an investment of $12,000. Enterprise, with its four classrooms, totals a cost of $8,000. Last comes Isabella, which already has a main building with clasrooms to care for ten grades, but the people in the community desired a vocational building for agriculture and the mechanical arts, and so went to work and put up an up-to-date building which is the last thing in the way of school architecture. It took money and sacrifice, but today it stands a monument to the Isabella neighborhood.

Sentiment For Better Schools

There is a great wave of sentiment for better schools and better buildings, and better equipment, and what is better, for better teachers, sweeping over the state. It has struck Chilton county with the force of a tornado, and many old ranshackle school buildings are being razed to the ground, which means that new and better ones are taking their places.

Take the little community of Isabella. If some one had five years ago predicted that such a school plant would be built, he or she would have been set down as foolish prophets. A score of years back the people were content with a little one-room affair, but some got dissatisfied, and a two-room school was built, and this a few years later called for an addition of three rooms more. The wave of educational reform rolled on until the patrons said, "We'll have the best for our children," and so they went down into their pockets and pulled off their coats and went to work in order that their sons and daughters might stay at home and get a chance without having to go to town.

The Isabella School is a consolidated one and operates five transportation wagons covering a radius of four miles. In the consolidation are Isabella, Mt. Carmel and Pleasant Ridge. More and more the people are beginning to see that the best and cheapest way to get good schools is for the smaller ones to come together. It spells better teachers, better buildings, better equipment, but better still, it produces a better community spirit.

J. D. Griffin, a Mercer University graduate, is the principal of the Isabella School, and is mighty proud of his plant; and his sentiments are shared by his faculty which is made up of a wide-awake bunch of teachers. H. W. Caldwell is the supervisor of vocational education and joys in the fact that he has such building in which to work with the boys and girls. Miss Elizabeth Cook, the first assistant, who teaches English and history, is a graduate of aBritt College, Tennessee. Miss Icie Bell Coburn, of Mountain Creek, has the fourth, fifth and sixth grades, besides home economics. She was trained at the Troy Normal and at Montevallo. Mrs. A. J. Lecroy is a well-equipped and beloved teacher, having had long and varied experience in the schoolrom. She has the second and third grades. Miss Vera White, of the Florence Normal, has the first grade. The school enrolled last year 180 pupils.

Too much cannot be said of the way in which the trustees have done their part in making it possible for Isabella to have such a fine school plant, situated on a five-acre tract of land. T. L. Lecroy is chairman; D. M. Martin, treasurer, and G. C. Mims. The building committee wrought well with D. O. Manning chariman. He had behind him W. T. White, S. J. M. Webb and T. L. Lecroy.

A new board of trustees has been selected which is composed of T. L. Lecroy, chairman; A. D. Martin, secretary; S. J. M. Webb, treasurer; Hugh Davenport and W. H. Veazey.

Interesting Program Arranged

An interesting program had been arranged, and while a goodly crowd was present, but for the rain there would have been a greater throng. The exercises were called to order by J. D. Griffin, who stated the object of the gathering and welcomed the people. Ira Pegues, principal of the Chilton County High School at Clanton, in a few forceful words presented the cause of the institution over which he presided, stressing the fact that it was not Clanton's school but Chilton County's. He was followed by J. B. Atkinson, a talented young lawyer of Clanton, who holds the position of "attendance officer." He spoke briefly, but well, on co-operation, and was heard attentively and with pleasure. Then the writer talked, and when he finished everyone was ready for dinner, and so was he. Senator S. M. Adams and Prof. J. B. Hobby, director of vocational education, spoke after dinner, but the writer had to leave without hearing them in order to make his train.

School Opens September 10th

Prof. Griffin has recently published a nice 24-page catalogue explaining the course of study, etc., of this session of the school which will open on Monday, September 10. All pupils are urged to begin the first day of school so that they may get an even start.

HALL OF THE CHILTON COUNTY MASONIC CONFERENCE

Clanton, Ala., Aug. 17th, 1923.

To the Worshipful Master, Wardens, and Bhethren of the Chilton County Masonic Conference:

We, the undersigned Memorial Committee, beg leave t osubmit for your approval and adoption the following preambles and resolutions:

The Great Giver of life, in His infinite mercy, has deemed it necessary to take from our midst, since the last Masonic Conference the following Brethren: J. B. Crysell of Jemison Lodge, No. 411; Thomas M. Bosworth of Thorsby Lodge, No. 759; I. O. Retherford and J. P. VanDerveer of Clanton Lodge, No. 423;

Therefore since it is so, it is but meet that we who have been spared should pay the last tribute of respect to our departed dead and utter semblances of condolence to their bereaved families.

Therefore be it Resolved, by the Chilton County Masonic Conference that in the death of our Brethren the county has lost good and valuable citizens, men who were loved and trusted.

Be it further Resolved, by this Conference that in the death of our Brethren, their families have suffered an irreparable loss, and that in this their great loss and in this their hour of bereavement, may their pangs of sorrow be ameliorated by the Divine thought that they have all gone to reap their rewards for the good deeds done on this earth. We extend to the families and relatives our heartfelt sympathy and may the soothing hand of time remove the sting of death from the grave and place a crown of victory there.

Be it further Resolved, that in our several lodges a great sadness has come over us for the loss of our Brethren, and as of one accord, this body regretfully memorializes our worthy dead. They were all good men and true, and learned the principle that Masonry unites men of every sect,, country and opinion. It is so that darkness has come upon our Brethren, but only to give forth brightness and a new day, with undiminished lustre, brighter and happier than any earthly one.

There has come to the attention of this Conference that J. C. Pattillo, one of our Brethren, has had taken from him a possession greater than life itself. We regretfully learned of the sad death of his loving wife which occurred on August 12th, 1923. But it is not alone to the departed dead that we pay our respect but to the unfortunate living as well, to soothe the unhappy, to compassionate their miseries and to restore peace to their troubled minds is the great aim we have in view.

Therefore be it further and lastly Resolved, by the Chilton County Masonic Conference that we as rother Masons, extend to rother Pattillo our greatest sympathy in this his ineffable loss, and commend him to the Heavenly Father who alone can ease the heart aches of this world, where as the poet has said:

And the night shall be filled with music,
And the cares that infest the day,
Shall fold their tents like the Arabs,
And as silently pass away.

We beg to suggest that a copy of these resolutions be furnished the families of our departed rethren, and that a copy be spread upon the minutes of this Conference.

Respectfully submitted,
OMAR L. REYNOLDS,
J. L. WILLIAMS,
G. L. GRIFFIN,
Committee.

Child-birth

Here is a wonderful message to all expectant mothers!

When the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says:

"With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used Mother's Friend and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes." Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., BA 46, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all drug stores—everywhere.

The train that get's "behind time" must sometimes lie for hours on side-tracks while other trains that are on time go by.

Passengers on such trains waste a lot of valuable time. They miss connections and consequently fail to keep their appointments. They lose money as well as time.

People who do not SAVE regularly, also lose the right of way. They fall behind and are side-tracked while the more successful ones pass by.

Trains sometimes make up lost time. You can do the same with a steady growing savings account. Start here today before it is too late—and catch up.

SEXTETTS BORN

We get an unverified report that six children were recently born to Mr. and Mrs. Will Stewart, who live near Tuscaloosa. Mr. and Mrs. Stewart are well known in the western part of this county, having formerly lived in Maplesville. They now live at Henderson's saw mill near Tuscaloosa. Reports have it that one of the children died, but the other five are living and doing well.

We were pleased the other day when we saw the smiling face of an old friend who had been absent for several months. This was the happy countenance of Marvin Marcus, otherwise known as "Mutt." Marvin hales this time from Memphis, Tenn., where he is doing sign painting.

JEMISON HIGH SCHOOL TO OPEN ON SEPT. 3

The Jemison High School will open Sept. 3. Last year we had to open in temporary quarters which almost seemed like permanent ones before were were out of them. The new building is now completed and ready for use. In spite of the above mentioned handicaps of last year, we were successful beyond all expectations. This year we expect to outstrip anything done in the past. We have every reason to believe we shall. We have one of the best schools in the county. The State has placed us on the list of accredited schools. That means we are on the same basis as the county high schools and that a graduate from here is admitted to any college in the State without examination.

Board can be had in private homes at very moderate rates. I shall be glad to answer any inquiry relative to the school, or to assist in finding a boarding place for any student wishing it.

B. LAWRENCE, Principal.

CEDAR GROVE

Next Saturday and Sunday are our regular preaching days and we would like to see a large crowd out.

There will be singing at this place next Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Everybody is cordially invited to come and bring their song books.

NON-RESIDENT NOTICE

The State of Alabama, Chilton County. Circuit Court, in Equity.

Abbie Little, Complainant, vs. J. J. Little Defendant.

In this cause it is made to appear to the Register by the affidavit of Omar L. Reynolds, that the Defendant is a non-resident, and that his place of residence and post-office address is unknown, and that such address cannot be ascertained after reasonable effort; and, further, that, in the belief of said affiant, the Defendant is of the age of twenty-one years:

It is, therefore, ordered by the Register that publication be made in The Union-Banner, a newspaper published in the County of Chilton, once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring the said J. J. Little to plead, answer, or demur to the bill of complaint in this cause by the 31st day of August, 1923, or, in thirty days thereafter, a decree pro confesso may be taken against him.

Done at office in Clanton, this 28th day of July, 1923.

ALABAMA MERCHANTS TO MEET IN BIRMINGHAM

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 20.—More than 1500 Alabama merchants have already accepted invitations to attend the seventh annual convention of the Alabama Merchants Association at Birmingham on August 28, 29 and 30, and the committee in charge now estimate that fully 3,000 will be here on that occasion. These conventions are getting to be more and more attractive with their varied programs of business and amusements.

Several score of pretty girls have signified their intention of taking part in the Bathing Revue at East Lake on the evening of August 30, at which time there will also be a magnificent display of fire works.

Young women and costumes for the fashion show at the Phillips High school building on the evening of August 29, have been engaged and this promises to be one of the most interesting features of the three days meeting. Some of the costumes, it is stated, will be valued at upwards of $1,000 and the jewelry displayed will be worth several times that amount.

President Cranford and members of the executive committee will be here a day or two in advance of the meeting to work out all details and make sure that an interesting program is arranged.

In addition to giving away two automobiles the Birmingham wholesale merchants and manufacturers, who are to be hosts to the visitors, will refund railroad fare of out-of-town merchants who comply with the association's regulations.

A BILL

Notice is hereby given that the following bill will be introduced at the present session of the legislature of Alabama:

AN ACT

To abolish the office of Deputy Solicitor of Chilton County, and to repeal all laws general, special or local in conflict with the provisions of this Act insofar as they relate to Chilton County.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF ALABAMA:

Section 1. The office of Deputy Solicitor of Chilton County is hereby abolished.

Section 2. All laws general, special or local in conflict with the provisions of this Act are hereby repealed insofar as they relate to Chilton County.

Section 3. This Act shall go into effect immediately upon its approval.

LAWLEY NEWS

The revival services are now going on here and we have had a wonderful meeting so far. Rev. Foster Mills is conducting the services.

We are very sad to say that Mrs. Decatur Smitherman will be carried to Birmingham this week for an operation. Mrs. Smitherman has been in ill health for a long time, having undergone an operation several years ago in Mobile. We regret to see her go for she was such a good Christian woman, that we will sadly miss her. Her many friends hope she will soon be well.

Mrs. W. P. Hicks and little son, Philip spent last week at Centerville with her sister, Mrs. Carson Snead, and while there she was taking treatment from a physician.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred McGee of Plantersville are spending a few days here with their mother, Mrs. Celia Hicks, and are attending revival services.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. McGee, who moved to Maplesville some time ago, have moved back. We'll say there's no place like Lawley.

Mrs. Julia Smith, sister of Mr. H. F. Head, who is visiting this place, went to Centerville one night last week to visit her cousin, Mrs. Carson Snead.

Mrs. W. P. Hicks states that while she was in Centerville last week, she had the pleasure of attending a play given by the Christian Endeavor of Centerville at the school auditorium, "Mrs. and Mr. Polly Tickk," a play of three acts; musical comedy, arranged by Hettie Jane Dunaway, directed by Etta Walton Jones. Mrs. Hicks says the play was perfect throughout, and so very amusing.

Messrs. Allan and Raymond Lawrence and families of Birmingham, former Lawley boys and who resided here until a few years ago, were here last Saturday greeting old friends. They were on their way to Plantersville and Clanton to visit relatives. They have many friends here who are always glad to welcome them.

The carpenters who are working on the new house of Mr. W. P. Collins, have the frame work almost completed. They are going right on with the work, and it will be only a matter of a few weeks until it will be finished.

The B. Y. P. U. rendered an interesting program at the church Sunday night. The leaders were Misses Olivia Latham, Maggie Mae Head. Those having a part on the program were Mr. Pervis Hicks, Will Joe Mount, Edwin Lovelady, Misses Adell Moore and eBssie Lee Collins. We are indeed very proud of our young people.

The Value of Land Abstracts

It is not safe to buy land or to lend money and accept land as security without first investigating the title of the land. Often there are unpaid mortgages, judgments, or other liens affecting the title, which an abstract would set out. Therefore, when buying land or lending money thereon, it is important that an abstract of title be furnished. A few dollars spent for an abstract is cheaper than going ahead and having a law suit a little later on.

LAST SURVIVORS OF FAMOUS UNIT IN CIVIL WAR MEET

Three Veterans Hold Annual Reunion at Mountain Creek; Recall War Memories.

Sole survivors of that great fighting force that wore the Gray in '61 through '65, three men met in annual reunion Sunday at Mountain Creek, under the shadows of where hundreds of their companions in those historic days now rest.

There were just three of them—three with memories of all that younger men study as history. They aided in the making of that history, these three remaining galants of Company D, Third Battalion, Hilliard's Legion, Grace's Brigade of the Confederate Army.

They are believed to be the only remaining ones of that company, although yesterday with many a slow drawl, one would ask the other whether "Andy" Jackson still lived in his home in Texas.

Judge John B. Fuller, of Montgomery, served as host to Morgan Hoffman, a resident of LaPine, and Jarrett Jones, of Crenshaw county.

Saturday night, they met. They meet every year and have been doing so since that day at Appomattox when General Robert E. Lee laid down his arms. 'Tis true many more were with them at previous meetings, but the same old comradery existed Saturday and Sunday that existed before.

Sleep came late Saturday night. While others in Montgomery may have been doing something else, these three stayed up late in the night. Their talk—those days of Chickamauga, Snodgrass Hill and other places where Union forces took heavy toll from the brave but outnumbered Southerners. Out of bed early the next morning, they again resumed their exchange of memories of other days—days before Drury's Bluffs, Petersburg, Burmody and others. Pleasure then, now that it is over, but vividly do they remember those days.

Word pictures come easily to them as they traveled out to Mountain Creek. There, they ears went back as they saw grave after grave of those they had known, and still know, but who had been called away into the other world.

The men returned to Montgomery last night. Mr. Jones and Mr. Hoffman returned to their homes today—each waiting for their meeting next year, where they do not know yet.

GONE TO GILBERTOWN

All the Seventh-Day Adventists of Clanton are in Gilbertown attending the annual Camp Meeting of that denomination. The camp meeting has been held in Clanton for the past two years. The conference this year will last for about three weeks.

BAD LUCK AND THE DEVIL PURSUED HIM

"I don't think any one has had more bad luck and sickness than I have. In 1905 I had two ribs, an arm and collar bone broken in a railroad accident. Then I had pneumonia. After recovering I crossed a pasture when a bull chased me, tossed me over the fence and broke my right leg. In 1910 I had typhoid fever; since then severe stomach and liver trouble, which no medicine or doctor touched until tyo years ago I got a bottle of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, which proved the first ray of light in thirteen years." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Alred Drug Co., and druggists everywhere.

They say Mrs. Calvin Coolidge is an exceptionally fine cook and dish washer. Yes; and Abraham Lincoln was an awful good rail splitter, too. But he quit splitting rails when he got in the White House.

Those go-to-the-right signs in Clanton are proving to be a decided advantage in keeping traffic straight. However, it is not an uncommon sight yet to see somebody halted by Mr. Hawk or Mr. Foshee and shown which is their right hand.

The bill before the legislature purporting to combine the offices of circuit clerk and register in chancery in the small counties is a very worthy measure. In small counties like Chilton one man can easily look after these two duties.

Yes, indeed, it pays to advertise. Since we published last week that we had a two-headed snake at our office, we have had more visitors than we have ever had before in ten times that length of time. So you see, the people don't fail to read The Union-Banner.

The recent action of President Coolidge in appointing Ex-Congressman Slemp of Virginia as his private secretary has caused some comment and much thought in political circles. It shows that our new president has a keen eye for business. It is lucky that we have one president who realizes that the South is a part of the Union.

The Alabama Power Company, in making E. C. Melvin of Selma its director, takes a broad step toward making the company a real Alabama concern. Mr. Melvin has built his fortune, made his friends and hewed an enviable career from Alabama materials. He is a typical example of that American manhood which Alabama produces.

The Union-Banner appeals to the citizens of the county to stand behind the new road law which the commissioner's court is now framing. No system of working the public roads can be a success without the undivided support of the citizenship of the county. So, let us not allow politics to enter into our road work and hamper it as we have several other things in the county. A shovel full of gravel in the road is worth more than a ton of politics.

We are continually getting letters from various members of the state legislature appealing to the people of the state to help out in getting certain measures enacted into law. Now, if this isn't the height of folly, we don't know what the term means. If every citizen in the state were to get down on their knees and beg that body till doom's day for certain legislation they wouldn't get it unless it was the will of the Democratic machine at the State Capitol. So, why do they ask for the help of the people?

CAR LOADINGS

The week ended July 28 marked a new record for car loadings. In that week 1,041,044 cars were loaded with revenue producing freight. Ever since the first of the year the figure has been mounting, indicating a steady increase in industrial and agricultural production.

CONFIDENCE IN COOLIDGE

Everybody who comes from a conference with President Coolidge predicts that there will be no coal strike. Just what measures the President will take to protect the public is not disclosed, but that the public will be protected every one may rest assured. Enforcement of the law is the cardinal feature of Mr. Coolidge's public policy.

FREE AND IMPARTIAL

Relations between Great Britain and France are becoming more and more strained. One can imagine the position of the United States were this country a member of the league of nations and forced to take a stand on the difficulties that keep those two governments apart. Thanks to the fundamental Republican doctrine of non-entanglement, we are free to maintain the friendliest relations with both the English and the French.

HUNDREDS VISIT BANNER OFFICE TO SEE FREAK

Since the paper was published last week announcing that we had at our office a real snake with two heads, there have been hundreds of anxious, curious spectators here to see this exceptional freak of nature. There have been people here from all parts of the county—both young and old have shown a profound desire to see what this by-cephalic amphisbaena looked like. We wish that we could publish all the different and varied ideas that have been expressed regarding this snake and also the different names that have been given the reptile, but if we should we would not have room in the paper for anything else.

But some one of those hundreds who came here must have slightly misconstrued our invitation to come here and see the snake; because when we started to write a letter Saturday evening we found that we were minus a perfectly good brand new five-dollar fountain pen which was left lying on the desk during the day. But probably someone thinking that we sold fountain pens here just bought that one and forgot to say anything about it. If this be the case, we are sure that when that person sees this their memory will be refreshed and they will come back and make the proper arrangements with us. However, if this shoud not be the case, we sincerely hope that the present possessor of the fountain pen gets the full five-dollars worth of good out of the article.

MINNESOTA MENTION

Minnesota attracted attention to itself by electing Magnus Johnson to the United States Senate. Now its principal city, Minneapolis, breaks into the limelight. Its socialist city council gave a public banquet to a citizen just returned from serving two years in Leavenworth prison for obstructing the conduct of the war. In responding to his welcome, the ex-convict declared that he was proud of his war record. Demonstrations of that sort may be classed as sporadic. The sentiment that now seems to control Minnesota does not appeal to the rest of the country, and will soon give way to a healthy patriotism.

CABINET PAT

It is understood that all members of the Harding cabinet, with the exception of Mr. Mellon from whom word is expected, have assured President Coolidge that they will remain at their posts. All of their assistants have given similar assurance. That means that the men who supervised the details that made the Harding administration so successful will continue their effective direction of the executive departments. Their action is also a testimony to the high regard in which they hold Mr. Coolidge. The cabinet members see in the new President a man eminently suited to carry forward the Harding policies, which they all had a hand in framing.

NEW ROAD BUILDING SCHEME

The commissioners court, in session last week, settled on a new plan of keeping up the roads over the county. As we understand it the new system is something like this: With the gasoline tax money the county is to buy four tractors and four complete road scrapes and road working outfits. One of these outfits is to be placed in each of the four commissioner districts of the county and is to be kept there to work the roads of that district. We understand that the present system of working everybody on the road ten days each year will be abandoned and that everybody will be required to pay instead of work.

From what we have been able to learn, this seems to be a very feasible scheme, and with the extra road money derived from the gasoline tax together with the regular road fund of the county, there ought to be enough road money colected to keep the work going.

The commissioners sincerely ask the co-operatio nof the citizens of the county in this work, because no system can successfully work the roads all over the county unless the people stand behind it. A public meeting is called at the court house next Saturday for the purpose of discussing and hearing discussed the different phases and problems now confronting the county. We hope that as many people as can will meet the commissioners here Saturday and exchange ideas regarding the building of our county's roads.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

The Commissioner's Court of Chilton County, Alabama, will let a contract for the erection of a steel bridge at Cooper, Alabama, over the Chestnut Creek. Bridge will be in two strands, one 60 feet in length, the other 80. The court desires two propositions, one steel bridge with cement floor, the other steel bridge with wooden floor. Bridge will be paid for in county warrants. All bids must be filed with the court on or before September 24, 1923, at 10:00 o'clock a.m. The Commissioner's Court reserves the right to reject any and all bids. File bids with L. H. Reynolds, Chairman Court of County Commissioners, Clanton, Alabama.

HOME STRUCK BY LIGHTNING ON LAST SUNDAY MORNING

During the rain and thunder storm Sunday at noon the home of Mr. Ed Kelley of Maple Springs community was struck by a bolt of lightning. Four occupants of the house were badly hurt, and the 3-year old baby of Mr. Kelley is dead from the result of the stroke.

The lightning seemed to have struck the top of the stack-chmney, coming down it into the house. Mrs. Kelley and her mother, Mrs. DuBose were sitting one on each side of the fire place, and the baby was on the floor in front of the fire place. The lightning severely tore up the mantle and the wall next to the chimney, and one small prong of the stroke came up through the floor from under the house and tore a hole in the floor very similar to that where a bullet is shot from a rifle through a plank. Mrs. Kelley was struck on her left side, and the shoe on her left foot was torn off and literally torn into shreds, although her foot was not badly hurt. The clothes of Mrs. DuBose were set on fire, and she was quite seriously burned.

A young girl, Miss Blalock, who was visiting there, was in the dining room, which joins the room where Mrs. Kelley and her mother were, and she was shocked badly. A cupboard which was in the dining room was almost torn to pieces. The course which the lightning took in the walls of the house is very mysterious, and it seems almost a miracle that the house was not set on fire.

NEW 10-POUND BOY

A big 10-pound boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Ben Duke of Route 4 Saturday night. Ben now boasts that he has two boys and one girl to call him daddy.

WILL WILSON COMING BACK

Dr. Will S. Wilson, dentist, who has been practicing his profession in Montevallo for the past two years is making his arrangements to come back to Clanton. He will be located in the south-east corner of the second story of the new Hayes Building, and will be ready for business about the 10th of September.

BUSINESS CONCERN SOLD

Tom Taylor and Jesse Baker have sold out their store on Main Street to Mr. V. J. Elmore. We have not learned what style of business Mr. Elmore will operate there, but we feel safe in saying that it will be a wide-awake, jam-up place of business of some kind. Mr. Elmore is a hustling young business mas, and is always on his job when it comes to doing things.

LIBERTY HILL NEWS

Our singing society met Sunday afternoon with a large crowd. Our directors were Mr. Leonard Culp, Calvin Parrish, Misses Birdie Bridges, Etta Foshee, Frances Lowery, Neacie and Claudie Smith. Organists were Misses Marie Morris, Gussie Littlejohn, Lillie and Caudie Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Littlejohn were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Littlejohn Saturday.

We have Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. every Sunday morning. Everybody come and be with us.

TAX COLLECTOR HURT

Mr. J. T. Rockett, our tax collector, was very painfully and very near seriously hurt one day last week. He fell backward and the sharp corner of a plank struck him in the small of the back. Tom says that he came as near as a pea breaking his back. He is able to be about again now.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Minor spent Wednesday in Montgomery.

"Feeling Fine!"

"I was pale and thin, hardly able to go," says Mrs. Bessie Bearden, of Central, S. C. "I would suffer, when I stood on my feet, with bearing-down pains in my sides and the lower part of my body. I did not rest well and didn't want anything to eat. My color was bad and I felt miserable. A friend of mine told me of

CARDUI

and I then remembered my mother used to take it. . . After the first bottle I was better. I began to fleshen up and I regained my strength and good, healthy color. I am feeling fine. I took twelve bottles (of Cardui) and haven't had a bit of trouble since."

Thousands of other women have had similar experiences in the use of Cardui, which has brought relief where other medicines had failed.

If you suffer from female ailments, take Cardui. It is a woman's medicine. It may be just what you need.

CLANTON GRAMMAR SCHOOL OPENS ON NEXT MONDAY

Please allow me to remind you that the Clanton Grammar School will open on next Monday, August 27th. The incidental fee will be the same as it was last year. You can get your receipts for this fee at the Alred Drug Store. Let me insist that you buy your text books before Sept. 1st, if possible, as the price of school books will advance from 10 to 100 per cent on that date.

I hope that I may have your co-operation in this school, for without it, it would be impossible to conduct a successful school. With your co-operation it would be possible for a very poor teacher to teach a successful school, but without your co-operation the best teacher in the country would fail. We earnestly ask you to give us a fair chance before offering any criticism.

I shall offer a list of suggestions through the county papers from time to time. I will thank you to read these suggestions and apply them as much as possible. Before offering these suggestions, they must meet the approval of the teachers and school board.

I know of nothing that will help the schoo slo much as for us to have a friendly conversation in regard to the school and your children. If your child has any peculiarities or physical defects, please make this known to us before school opens.

Hoping that we may have your co-operation in conducting this school I am,

Yours truly,
W. E. MARTIN, Principal.

We are indeed proud to see Joe Mims out on the street again. Joe has had a tough time fighting against a severe attack of colities, and his many friends are proud to learn that he is now well on the road to recovery.

BOLL WEEVILS ARE BAD

WHEN IT RAINS SO MUCH

Army worms are threatening Chilton County cotton. WEEVILNIP will kill all the boll weevils if you will use it according to directions. Guaranteed to do as well as dusted calcium arsenate and to cost less, and to be more easily applied. NOTICE OF LOCAL LAW

Notice is hereby given that the proposed local bill which is hereinafter set out will be introduced at the present session of the legislature of Alabama.

A BILL
To be entitled
AN ACT

To provide for the election of a County Superintendent of Education for Chilton County, Alabama, to fix his term of office, to prescribe his salary, and the way and manner of payment, to define his qualifications, powers and duties, to provide the way and manner of filling vacancy in said office, to provide the manner and method and causes for removing the said County Superintendent of Education, to provide for a special election to be held to elect such County Superintendent under this act and to provide for the election of his successor in office, and to provide for the repeal of all laws in conflict with the provisions of this act.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF ALABAMA:

Section 1. That a County Superintendent of Education for Chilton County, Alabama, shall be elected by the qualified electors of Chilton County, Alabama, who shall hold office until his successor is elected and qualified as hereinafter provided. That within three months after the passage and approval of this act a special election shall be held on a day to be designated and fixed by the Probate Judge of Chilton County, Alabama, for the election of a County Superintendent of Education, who shall hold office until the next general election to be held in the State of Alabama and said County of Chilton, and until his successor elected therein shall have qualified; that said special election shall be conducted and the vote canvassed and the results declared in all respects as now provided by the general election laws of Alabama for the election of County officers. Provided that the person elected as County Superintendent at said special election shall enter upon the duties of his office as soon as he shall qualify thereafter.

Section 2. That at the next general election to be held in said county and state a County Superintendent of Education for Chilton County, Alabama, shall be elected, who shall hold office for a term of four years and until his successor is elected and qualified, unless sooner removed for good cause, and each four years thereafter a County Superintendent of Education for Chilton County, Alabama, shall be elected by the qualified voters of said County at the regular election, nomination for which office may be made in primary elections as other County officers. in Maplesville.

Section 3. That the salary of the said County Superintendent of Education shall be fixed by the County Board of Education of said county at not less than fifteen hundred ($1500) dollars per annum, which salary shall be paid in the same way and manner as now provided under the general laws of the state for the payment of salaries of County Superintendents in the several counties.

Section 4. That said County Superintendent of Education shall be charged with the same duties and shall exercise the same powers as are now provided by the general school laws of the state in the conduct of the office of County Superintendent of Education.

No person shall be eligible for political party nomination or for election to the office of County Superintendent of Education of said county who does not as now required hold an Alabama certificate in administration and supervision based as a minimum upon graduation from a standard normal school or equivalent education with at least one year of additional study of college grade and proof of three years of successful educational work within the next preceding five years; provided that, if no person meeting these requirements qualifies for nomination and election as provided in this act, the County Board of Education shall appoint a County Superintendent of Education as provided by the law regulating the appointment of superintendents.

Section 5. That in the event of a vacancy in said office for any cause, except removal, such vacancy shall be filled by the County Board of Education, and the person so appointed shall hold office until the next general election thereafter when his successor shall be elected; that should any County Superintendent be removed for cause by the County Board of Education of Chilton County, such vacancy shall be filled by appointment of the State Superintendent of Education, and his appointee shall hold office as in the case provided by appointment of the County Board of Education. Provided, that the County Board of Education may remove the County Superintendent of Education for immorality, misconduct in office, incompetency, or willful neglect of duty, or when, the best interests of the schools require it; any of which causes must be alleged and proved, and the County Superintendent of Education shall have the right to be heard in his defense as in cases of impeachment against County officers, and all such hearings shall be before the County Board of Education and shall be conducted as in cases provided under the general laws for the impeachment of County officers, and provided that upon such removal for cause any County Superintendent may appeal to the Circuit Court and have a trial by jury.

Section 6. That the duties and powers prescribed by the general laws of Alabama for the office of County Superintendents in the supervision of the schools of the several counties shall apply to and be incumbent upon the County Superintendent. The County Superintendent elected or appointed under the provisions of this act, and before entering upon the duties of said office he must take the oath of office prescribed by the Constitution, and give bond in an amount to be fixed by the State Board of Education in a reputable surety company authorized to do business in Alabama, conditioned upon the faithful performance of the duties of his office, and upon the accounting and paying over to the proper authority of all moneys coming into his hands.

Section 7. That all laws and parts of laws in conflict with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed.

NON-RESIDENT NOTICE

tThe State of Alabama, Chilton County. Circuit Court. In Equity.

Ervin Allen, Complainant, vs. Lula Allen, Defendant.

In this cause it is made to appear to the Register by the affidavit of Omar L. Reynolds, that the Defendant is a non-resident, and that his place of residence and post-office address is unknown, and that such address cannot be ascertained after reasonable effort; and, further, that, in the belief of said affiant, the Defendant is of the age of twenty-one years:

It is, therefore, ordered by the Register that publication be made in The Union-Banner, a newspaper published in the County of Chilton, once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring her, the said Lula Allen, to plead, answer, or demur to the bill of complaint in this cause by the 9th day of September, 1923, or, in thirty days thereafter, a decree pro confesso may be taken against her.

Done at office in Clanton, this 6th day of August, 1923.

OAK GROVE NEWS

Our singing school is progresing very nicely, but the rain caught several out and didn't get there but there was Sunday school all the same.

Our singing society met Sunday p.m., with a very good attendance. Directors for the evening were Messrs. L. R. Cobb, E. H. Foshee, Bill Cofer, Ernest Scott, Misses Flossie Cobb, Mabeth Northcutt, Flora Cobb, Olie Glass. Organists were Flossie Cobb and Esther Atkinson.

The B. Y. P. U. met Sunday night at 7 o'clock. The Juniors had a splendid program. After which the Seniors followed and had a fine program. Had three good quartetts and also a arge attendance.

A Birthday Party

Mr. Volie Glass celebrated his 19th birthday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Martin, where a delicious dinner was served in his honor. There were thirteen present and supper at his parents, where eleven friends were present. Several games were played and watermelon, ice cream and cake were served. There were 55 who enjoyed the party during the evening. He received several nice presents.

Miss Rosalia Martin came home Saturday from school at Florence. Everybody was glad to se her back for she has been greatly missed.

CLAUDE MARCUS OPERATED ON

Mr. Claude E. Marcus, son of Dr. T. J. Marcus, was operated on at the Central Alabama Hospital Saturday night for appendicitis. The doctors say that Claude is doing fine, and present indications are that he will be up again shortly. The fact that Dr. Marcus carried this case to the Clanton hospital goes to show how the doctors here feel about the treatment which patients receive at this hospital. If Dr. Marcus did not know that his son would get good treatment at the Central Alabama Hospital he would have carried him elsewhere. But the service there is just as good as can be gotten anywhere, hence the doctor had his son operated upon here.

Rev. Joe Thomas from Elmore stopped off in Clanton Sunday night and went out to Friendship church and preached. He returned home on Monday morning.

COOLIDGE TO VISIT SOUTHERN STATES

New Orleans May Be Objective of President Through the Southern States.

New Orleans, Aug. 20.—President Colidge's first official trip from the national capital since his elevation to the presidency is likely to have this city as its point of destination. Announcement was made Monday by Edward S. Butler, president of the New Orleans Cotton Exchange, that the president had advised him he hoped to attend the National Boll Weevil Menace Convention which is to be held here Oct. 16 and 17.

The purpose of the convention is to devise ways and means of reducing the damage done by the boll weevil in the South. Statistics compiled by the New Orleans Cotton Exchange place the damage by the boll weevil during the last five years at $1,500,000,000.

SHOULTS NEWS

Our Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. are doing fine. Miss Eva Hall is president of the B. Y. P. U., and she with the help of other officers is doing some good work. Misses Stella McGee and Fay McAfee are the group leaders.

Bro. Edwards preached at this place Saturday night and Sunday p.m. His text for Sunday p.m. was a revival, the need of it, and how to get it. I wish every one could have heard it. There are stones to be moved in this community and unless they are moved out of the way we will not have a revival. So, boys and girls, let's get busy and prepare ourselves for a revival here at Pleasant Grove church for we need it.

Our meeting begins Sunday night, Aug. 26th. Bro. Edwards' brother will preach for us then. We will have with us also Bro. Jones from Maplesville.

WHAT A SUCCESSFUL EDITOR MUST DO

To be a sucessful country editor calls for a variety of talents. An all-round newspaper man should be able to write a poem, discuss the tariff and all other political questions, umpire a ball game, superintend a Sunday school, preach the gospel, beat lawyers, report a wedding, saw wood, describe a fire, make one dollar do the work of two, shine in high society, abuse public evils, test moonshine, subscribe to charity, go without meals, sneer at snobbery, wear diamonds, invent advertisements, overlook scandals, praise babies, delight pumpkin raisers, administer to the afflicted, heal the disgruntled, fight to the finish, set type, mould opinions, sweep the office, move the world, scorn the flesh and the devil, be everything, see everything on this footstool, and support a family on a small salary.—Ex.

A Resume of the More Important Events of Interest Condensed To An Epitomized Form.

Huntsville real estate circles have been enlivened by the announcement that a Huntsville syndicate, of which Mrs. Holmes Crebs is the nominal head, has purchased the West Huntsville realty holdings of the New York-Alabama Oil and Gas Company, in which John Waters and E. I. DuPont of Deleware are the principal stockholders, and will divide the property which consists of 450 acres situated between Merrimack and the Southern railway into lots for residences and manufacturing plants and place it on the market.

Parrish was plunged into one of the most sweeping school campaigns known in its history when the committee soliciting subscriptions for the seating and equipment fund for the new high school announced that premiums valued at between $3,000 and $5,000 had been donated to the equipment fund, and that John M. Johnson, manager of the Star Theatre at Parrish, had agreed to give the net earnings of the afternoon performance of his theatre for one month to the fund.

That the water furnished for the public school at Lewisburg, Jefferson County, was impure, and contained typhoid germs, and that two pupils at the school named in separate suits, were confined to bed suffering from typhoid fever for several weeks, are the alegations in two suits filed in the civil division of Jefferson county by C. M. Ellard, for Claude Ellard, 11 years old, and Felix Ellard, nine years old, against the Alabama Company, for $50,000 in each case.

Jacksonville is taking no chances with malaria, the city having started a vigorous mosquito control campaign. All puddles are being drained or oiled, all vessels harboring wrigglers done away with and the alleys cleared of all accumulations of trash. There are no cases of malaria in the city and the officials are taking these precautions to keep it free of disease.

The railroads of the State have entered fully into the campaign against the cotton pest and orders have been issued that orders for calcium arsenate shall be handled at the earliest possible moment by agents of the companies even if it necessitates the stopping of some of the larger trains at places at which they do not ordinarly stop.

A second bill of complaint, asking a permanent injunction to prevent officials of the city of Dothan from proceeding with the construction of the proposed hydro-electric development at Chaliser's Bluff, was filed with Register in Caancery C. E. Harmon. It was signed by five of the most prominent cititens of the city.

People of Hartselle are interested in the completion of the school building at Danville in Morgan county. Danville is one of the oldest and best known county seats of education in the state. C. K. Parker has been secured to head the Danville school, which is scheduled to open September 3rd.

Invitations have been sent out by Wholesale Merchants' and Manufacturer's association of the Birmingham Chamber of Commerce, extending to "you and your family a cordial invitation to attend the seventh annual convention of the Alabama Merchants' association.

A big barbecue was given August 15th by the women citizens of Uniontown. Large crowds attended from Selma, Marion, Camden, Faunsdale, Demopolis and other places, even from Birmingham and Montgomery.

Bessemer has provided additional school facilities for approximately 3,000 school children in the past 10 months, according to Supt. L. L. Vann.

The Opelika Fair, to be held Oct. 15 to Oct. 20, is expected to be the largest since its organization, it is stated.

Construction is to be started soon on the $600,000 plant of the Harbinson-Walker Refractory to be erected at Bessemer.

At a meeting of the commissioners court of Talladega County an election was ordered re-levying a three-mill tax in the Fayetteville consolidated school district for a period of 10 years.

MAPLESVILLE NEWS

The revival services are being conducted at the Baptist church by Rev. S. J. Ezell. We are praying for this meeting to be a grand and glorious one. Let's all work together and be at church on time, and help out in the singing.

Mr. Tom Crumpton, Jr., is putting up a first class cotton gin in Maplesville. The many farmers in and around Maplesville are very glad to see this building going up, for it was talk at one time that there would be no gin in Maplesville this season.

Mrs. Emmie Bankhead and little daughters are spending a few weeks in Maplesville as the guests of Mrs. T. U. Crumpton.

Misses Oma and Sva Seales have returned to their home in Maplesville after spending a week in Sardis.

Mr. and Mrs Reuben Bearden and little Reuben, Jr., of Boothton spent the week-end in Maplesville with Mrs. John Edd Bearden.

Miss Goren Calloway and Mr. Donald Merchant motored over to Clanton one day last week.

Mr. Bert Coleman of Birmingham spent last Saturday and Sunday in Maplesville.

Misses Ethel Mize and Cleo King returned to their homes in Maplesville Saturday night from Montevallo where they attended summer school.

Mr. Horton of Selma was in Maplesville Sunday and called over to see Miss Ollie Bearden.

Messrs. Paul McCrary and J. W. Gwin were among those from Maplesville that attended the picnic at Antioch Wednesday.

Mrs. Anna aLtham made a business trip to Centerville last uesday.

Mrs. C. N. Parnell and children have returned home from Mobile, where they spent their vacation.

Mr. om Perry left Monday for his home in Oklahoma. Mr. Perry will be missed very much while away on his vacation, as he is the head clerk in the Crumpton store.

Dr. and Mrs. Nix have returned home from their vacation.

MANY are the eyes that are turned to gaze with keen admiration on the well developed, healthy girl no matter where she may be—on the rapidly moving thoroughfare or gliding gracefully over the dance floor.

All eyes turn because we all appreciate the girl with the figure so firm and plump—the girl with radiantly red cheeks, cheeks that carry a touch of roses from nature's own garden——the girl with the sparkling eyes, keen and sharp—the girl with buoyancy and the swing of youth.

Not necessarily an out-of-doors girl. Just a girl with ever increasing blood cells. Just a girl filled with the vim and vigor of youth.

S. S. S., since 1826, has stood for increased blood cells. S. S. S. means restored strength—rekindled vitality—added energy. Take S. S. S. and watch the bloom of youth return to your cheeks. Watch that flabby, ill nourished flesh fade away before flesh that is firm and plump. Red blood cells will do it and S. S. S. will build them. It contains only pure vegetable ingredients. S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores. The large size bottle is more economical.

HALL OF THE CHILTON COUNTY MASONIC CONFERENCE

Clanton, Ala., Aug. 17, 1923.
To the Worshipful Master, Wardens, and Brethren of the Chilton County Masonic Conference:

Be it Resolved by the Chilton County Masocinc Conference in session at Clanton, Alabama, from August 15th to 17th, both inclusive, as follows:

That the Conference extends its sincere thanks and appreciation to Clanton Lodge, No. 423, A. F. and A. M., and to the entire community for its cordial reception and genuine hospitality. An especial appreciation is extended to the Wilson Hotel for its manifold courtesies shown to the delegates in looking after their pleasure, welfare, and comfort.

We are especially grateful to Brother Thomas Jones, member of the Committee of Work of the Grand Lodge of Alabama, for his presence, and for the able instructions given the Conference.

The thanks of the Conference are heartily extended to Brother J. B. Atkinson, district lecturer for Chilton and Bibb counties; for his untiring efforts to make the Conference a success; and especially do we commend the aMsonic zeal of Brother Atkinson, and we give his work and leadership our hearty endorsement.

We are greatly pleased by the large attendance of delegates representing practically every lodge in the county, including Marbury in Autauga county, and we rejoice at the fraternal spirit which was so prevalent during the entire Conference, which is typical of the fraternal spirit in that lodge beyond the grave —"that house not made with hands" —eternal in the Heavens

IN MEMORY OF OUR DECEASED BROTHER, J. B. NORTHCUTT

Whereas, an allwise Creator has removed from our midst, our beloved friend and brother, J. B. Northcutt, who was born on Feb. 1st, 1872, and died Aug. 8th, 1923. Brother Northcutt was married to Miss Laura Glass March 12th, 1899, and to this union there was 6 children born. He was a consistent member of the M. E. Church, South, since childhood.

Brother Northcutt joined the George R. Ward Lodge No. 164, Dec. 21st, 1907, and has been a consistent member as human infirmities would permit.

Therefore be it Resolved,

That we deeply mourn the loss of our brother, and that a page of the Minute Book of this Lodge be set aside in remembrance of him.

Resolved further, that we commit his life to the members of this Lodge as a guide and pattern to follow while we travel from time to Eternity. And that we recommend the several relations of his to remember his cause and strive to follow him.

That his widow and children ever look to a kind Providence for assistance in this hour of deep sorrow. That a copy of these Resolutions be spread on our Minutes and one given to the family of our deceased brother.

H. G. JEFFERIES,
A. A. CONWAY,
J. W. SORRELL.

ROCKY MOUNT

All who are interested in the cemetery at this place will please meet to clean off same Friday before the fourth Sunday in August. Bring tools.

CLANTON HAS BIG GOOD ROADS DAY

Citizens From All Chilton County Discuss Improvement of Highways Here Saturday.

A very enthusiastic good roads meeting was held at the court house in Clanton Saturday. The meeting, consisting of people from all over the county, was called by the commissioners' court for the purpose of hearing suggestions from the people as to what ought to be done to the roads of the county. There were prominent men from every beat in the county, and a number of them got up and made interesting talks, giving their ideas as to the best way of working the roads in the county.

The principal problem before the commissioners was the proper way to use the gasoline tax money which is being paid into the county every month. It is their desire to use the money so that the most real good can be realized from it. The court has come to the conclusion that the proper way to use this money is to purchase road grading machinery, consisting of a tractor and the necessary plows and scrapes, and one of these outfits be placed in each of the four commissioner districts. Each commissioner is to look after his own district. Competent men are to be employed to run the machines.

The commissioners asked the aid of the people of the county in making the new scheme a success. The people are asked to get out the stumps and fix the roads so that the tractors can get over them, and the county promises to do the rest. With the help of the gasoline tax money together with the regular road fund of thhe county, the commissioners feel confident this system will be a decided success. These four outfits are to be used only on the country roads; the highways will be worked on a different plan. So the money derived from the gasoline tax is all to be used on the roads in the rural districts.

The people manifested a strong interest in the new system, and promised their full support to the plan.

Judge L. H. Reynolds went before the state highway commission in Montgomery Monday and was granted the request for two trucks for the county to use in highway work.

WOCO-PEP STATION COMING

The work on the construction of the big new Woco-Pep gas and oil station of John T. Ellis just south of town is progressing fast. The spur track of the L. & N. is almost completed, and the excavations for the big tanks are being dug.

It will be the course of only a few days now until the auto drivers who want the famous Woco-Pep gasoline can yet all they want of it right here in Clanton. It will be distributed at wholesale by the Ellis Filling Station.

CHICKEN SUPPER AT COLLINS CHAPEL

Uncle Jimmie Mims of Collins Chapel asks us to announce that there will be a chicken supper at Collins Chapel Church next Saturday night. The proceeds will be used for the benefit of the church. Everybody who likes chicken is urged to come.

Mr. Bob Grant of Coopers was a visitor to The Union-Banner office last Saturday.

CLANTON GRAMMAR SCHOOL OPENED LAST MONDAY

The opening exercises of the Clanton Grammar school were held in the grammar school building Monday. There was no formal program put on, although there were about one hundred patrons of the school present. The pupils of the different grades were taken to their respective rooms, and the teachers of each grade made short talks to the children explaining the work for the year in general.

The teachers this year are:—Seventh grade, Walter E. Martin of Clanton; sixth grade, Miss Stubblefield of Morrison, Tenn.; fifth grade, Mrs. Curry Thomas of Clanton; fourth grade, Miss Exa Jones, of Highland Home; third grade, Mrs. Wilbert Hayes of Clanton; second grade, Miss Anice Kemp of Clanton; first grade, Miss Seawright of Andalusia.

There were enrolled on the first day 250 pupils. This is a slightly larger enrollment than the school has ever had before. Since the last session closed there have been some improvements made on the buidling which will greatly facilitate the work of the institution. The teachers, most of whom have taught before in this county, are all well qualified for the work, and this year promises to be a very successful one for the school.

The principal, Prof. Walter E. Martin, is a Chilton county boy, having graduated from the Chilton county high school in 1915. Since that time he has been engaged in teaching practically all the time in various schools of the county. He is well prepared to take care of the school which has been placed in his charge.

SPECIAL SERVICES AT CLANTON BAPTST CHURCH

The Union-Banner is in receipt of a card from Rev. S. J. Ezell, which reads as follows:

"I will continue the meeting at Maplesville up until Wednesday noon. Hence, I will not see you until your paper is printed. I am asking you to announce through your paper that next Sunday I will preach a special Anniversary Sermon, 'The Winning Plan and Spirit.' Urge all my Baptist people to be present. I thank you.

S. J. EZELL."

DR. GRAGG BACK ON JOB

After being confined to his quarters nearly all the time for two months, we are indeed glad to see our good friend, Dr. V. J. Gragg able to be out and going again. It looked for a while that the doctor was likely to develop a rather bad condition, but we, together with his other many friends are pleased to say that this has been averted, and that he is now well on the road to good health again.

The doctor will not do extensive outside practice until he gains a little more strength, but where very urgent calls are made, he will do his best to fill them. So, again we say, we are glad to see him out again.

SELLING OLD STOCK

Mr. V. J. Elmore has purchased the old stock of the Clanton Produce Company from Jesse Baker and Tom Taylor, and is offering it for sale next Saturday at very attractive prices. It will pay you to visit this sale. Read his announcement in the paper.

A HAPPY MEETING

On last Sunday, August 26, there occurred a happy meeting at the home of R. W. Kendrick, when all the children, a great part of the grand children, and great grandchildren of R. P. Kendrick gathered there. These and a few friends, fifty in number, all took dinner with R. P. Kendrick.

The relatives were Mr. and Mrs. Chandler of Billingsley, Rt. 1, six children and several grandchildren; Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Kendrick of Plantersville, Rt. 2, and six children and one grandchild; Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Kendrick of Plantersville, Rt. 2, and three children ; Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Herrod of Plantersville, Rt. 2, and six children; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Ramsey of Freemont, and two children, and Mrs. Harris of Mulga.

After all the greetings, howdies and hand-shakings were over a table was put out in the shade and the good things to eat were spread upon it. Everybody had an invitation to help do away with the dinner and was enjoyed by all .

After dinner several hours were spent in talking in which everybody took a part. Then came the parting time and people began to scatter in every direction. Some were in cars, some in trucks, some in buggies, some in wagons, some on foot and some stayed all night.

SCOUTS HOLD OUTING

Scoutmaster M. C. Jones and his patrol leader, Raymond Roberts, together with a large number of Boy Scouts spent August 22-25 on a camping trip for an outing on the Coosa river near Lock 12.

The time was successfully spent fishing, boat riding, swimming, boxing matches, cooking and eating for amusements.

The interest in the scout movement has taken on new life in Clanton since these amusements and training of this nature have been added to the favorable features of camp life.

OAK GROVE

The Juniors of the B. Y. P. U. will give an ice cream supper and fishing pond at this place Saturday night, Sept. 1st. Everybody is invited to attend. The proceeds will go to the church. Will have some music. Don't miss it—the time of your life.

WILL J. NORTHCUTT.

SINGING CONVENTION

The county singing convention of the Harp and Harmony books will meet in regular semi-annual session at Pate's Chapel on the Clanton road just west of Thorsby, 3rd Sunday in September, and Saturday before.

All invited.

CHAIRMAAN.

CANE CREEK NEWS

Singing school is progressing nicely under thhe able supervision of Prof. Robinson.

Our singing society met with a splendid crowd Sunday afternoon, and a real music program was carried out. Directors for the afternoon were Messrs. John Cleckler, Johnnie Miner, Clarence Mims, O. R. Robinson, Misses Zula Willis, Zora Miner and Lillie Mae Weldon. Organists were Miss Zula Willis, Miss Lillie Mae Weldon and Mrs. O. R. Robinson.

Next Sunday is regular preaching day and we are expecting a large crowd out.

Mr. Marion Giles had the misfortune of breaking two fingers last week and is at home for a few days.

Miss Maggie Giles spent Saturday night with Miss Bertha Giles.

Miss Zula Willis dined with Miss Zora Miner Sunday.

Miss Sarah Lambert, who has been visiting her sister in Tuskegee is expected to arrive home within a few days.

Miss Evie Jones, who has been at Jacksonville for the summer visited out here last week.

Miss Hermie Gentry, who has been on the sick list for several days is slowly recovering.

Mrs. Joe Cleckler came home from the hospital last week and is improving now. Mrs. Cleckler has undergone a serious operation and we are very glad to see her at home again.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Taylor and son, Aubrey of Anniston are spending a few days in Clanton with relatives. The Union-Banner is always especially glad for these people to visit Clanton, since Aubrey always helps us get out the Banner when he comes to Clanton. All we dislike about them coming is because we miss Aubrey so badly when they have to go home.

MISS EMMA GRAY DEAD

Miss Emma, the 14 year old daughter of Mr. George Gray of near Coopers, died at the Central Alabama Hospital Monday night. The young girl was brought to the hospital Saturday and was operated on for appendicitis shortly after arriving. The case was so far developed that the operatoin was unsuccessful. Doctors say that she had the disease for two weeks before she came to the hospital.

MORE NEW RESIDENCES

A certain fellow came into our office the other morning with a look of profound surprise and solicitude. We asked him what was the matter, whereupon he replied that he had just passed by and had actually seen Fenn Jones working like fury. We asked the fellow what Fenn was doing, and he told us that he was cutting weeds on his lot down in the Gowan Addition, where two new bungalows are about to be built. So, watch your step, girls, you can't tell what all this means.

These new houses will be on Third Avenue South, beside the home of Mr. W. R. Baker. Mr. Walter Jones is also building a new bungalow in that section of town.

The new building of Mr. Dewey Rockett on Second Avenue is fast assuming the form of a completed house. This house, when completed, will be one of the finest in Clanton.

MUSICAL CONCERT AT CHESTNUT CREEK

There will be a musical concert at Chestnut Creek Church on Saturday night, Sept. 1st, consisting of choruses, quartetts, duets, and solos.

An admission fee of 25c and 35c will be charged.

L. T. GRANT,
W. M. DEVAUGHN,
Teachers.

FROM REV. J. S. HAND

Newton, Ala., Aug. 24, 1923.

Editor Union-Banner:

After spending four years in the Newton College, I have decided to move back to Chilton County. Any churches in the Unity or Chilton County Associations that are in need of a pastor for next year, I will be glad to get in touch with them, as I want a field of churches near where I am going to move to. Any church wishing to write me in the next few weeks may write me at Newton, Ala.

Yours truly,
REV. J. S. HAND.

MOVING TO CHEROKEE BLUFFS

Mr. Dudley Thompson is making arrangements to move away from Clanton. His destination is in the vicinity of the new power dam of the Alabama Power Company at Cherokee Bluffs. The Thompson Lumber Company has purchased a million feet of timber not far from this place, and Dudley is going down there to look after the cutting of this timber. They also contemplate doing lots of sawing for the power company.

We dislike to see Mr. Thompson leave us, but we feel sure that he will make a success in his new field of work. He says that if he doesn't make any money down there he will get a lot of satisfaction out of converting that fine timber into the finished product. But we venture to say that satisfaction won't be all he will get.

CLAUDE M. BAKER HERE

Mr. Claude M. Baker of Friars Point, Miss., was here a few days last week. Claude is now and has been for the past two years, working with the government in the fisheries department. During the past four weeks he has traveled 6,000 miles over five southern states, including Mississippi, Alabama, Arkansas, Louisiana and Tennessee. On close observation of the farming conditions in these sections, Claude says that in Arkansas and Louisiana the crops, especially cotton, is almost a complete failure, the average being about 50 per cent. He says that in Alabama and Mississippi the average is about 75 per cent.

UNION GROVE NEWS

Our Sunday school and prayer meeting is the best it has ever been. We feel like our revival has done lots of good and we are more than proud of our new preacher, Rev. R. S. Chandler. We feel like he is going to do his best in helping to save the lost ones.

We would like for each and every one to come and help us out in our Sunday school and prayer meeting. Let us all work together for we realize we meet in our other home, we all will rejoice together.

Miss Iris Robinson, one of our great Sunday school members has been real sick but is some better, and we all hope and trust she will soon be well and able to come to Sunday school and prayer meeting.

Miss Rebecca Dorminey spent a few hours with Miss Florence Cofer last Sunday.

Miss Euna Davis and Mr. Marvin Martin spent a few happy hours with Miss Curtis Bean Sunday.

Miss Claudia Davis and Mr. Sim Mims spent a while late Sunday afternoon with Miss Euna Davis.

Miss Leone Hall is in Birmingham visiting relatives and will be there for a good while.

Pat Harten, the famous salesman of Graham Paper Company of Birmingham, was in Clanton Monday visiting his friends. Pat is a jolly kind of a fellow, and makes lots of friends everywhere he goes.

FAMILY REUNION HELD AT MOUNTAIN CREEK

Mountain Creek, Ala., Aug. 26.—Members of the immediate family of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Colley, enjoyed a delightful family reunion which was held here Saturday. An elaborate dinner, prepared at the Colley home by the ladies, was served under a large oak tree. During the afternoon many kodak pictures were taken and games were played, after which a refreshing punch was served.

Members of the occasion were: Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Colley; Mrs. Joe Chambliss and children, Prattville; Mrs. T. E. McNeal and son, Birmingham; Dr. J. O. Colley and daughter, Troy; Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Colley and family, Mountain Creek; A. B. Colley and sons, Atlanta, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Colley and family, Speigner, and Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Colley and son, Birmingham.

Jim Colley, of Wetumpka, brother of J. A. Colley, and his wife and daughter, were also present. All of the surviving children of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Colley were present, with the exception of Dr. S. C. Colley, of Tavark, Fla.

LAWLEY NEWS

The revival services closed here last Friday. We had a wonderful revival. Five members were received for baptism. The baptizing will take place next Sunday morning at the Collins Bridge near Lawley.

Mrs. Julia Smith from Georgia, who has been visiting relatives here, and intended to spend several weeks, was called home one day last week, on account of sickness.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Collum and four children of near Jemison, were here last week visiting their aunts, Mrs. Alex Latham and Mrs. Lum Hicks.

Mrs. W. P. Hicks and children are spending this week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Walker of Shoults community, and are attending revival services there.

Miss Rena Burt, an attractive young lady of Brent was here last week visiting Miss Mamie Hicks.

Mr. and Mrs. Seaborn Latham entertained at dinner last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Latham and Mrs. Celia Hicks. They reported a very pleasant day.

Miss Virginia Mount, an accomplished young lady of this place, returned home last week from Montevallo, where she has been this summer attending school.

Mrs. Decatur Smitherman was not carried to hospital last week as first thought. Dr. Meigs of Centerville was called, and now she is improving. Her many friends are very glad.

We have a case of typhoid fever here. One of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lawley's daughters is very sick.

Miss I. D. Latham, formerly of this place, now working at Tuscaloosa, was here last week visiting relatives. I. D. has a host of friends here who are always glad to see her.

Mr. Jim Collins of Carrollton, Ala., was here last week visiting sisters and brothers. Mr. Collins is a former resident of this place.

MOVING TAILOR SHOP

Mr. Frank Lowci, the tailor, is moving his shop from up stairs over Upchurch Drug Co., to the Chandler Building recently vacated by Marcus Brothers Meat Market. Mr. Lowci will be ready for work in his new location the first of next week.

BOB CONNELL GETS BALE 1923 COTTON

First Bale of Chilton County Cotton Ginned Tuesday Morning, Sold For $110.00.

The distinction of selling the first bale of 1923 cotton has been accorded Mr. R. N. Connell, better known as "Bob." The bale was brought to Clanton late Monday afternoon and carried to Mullins & Popwell gin. It was partly ginned Monday afternoon and finished bright and early Tuesday morning. Mullins & Moore purchased the bale, paying the rate of 27½c per pound. The bale weighed 400 pounds and brought in all exactly $110.00. This price was three or four cents the extra was paid because it was the first bale.

Bob is a resident of the Refuge community, about five miles northeast of Clanton. It will be remembered that Bob came in one bale of getting the first one last year. But this year he is unquestionably the winner of the brass monkey.

Mr. Connell tells us that he has the best cotton this year that he has had in a number of years. He says that he is going to make twelve bales this year on the same land which produced only eight bales last year. He says that his stalk this year is well developed and that the fruitage is exceptionally heavy. There are only a very few weevils in his crop, and the worms have not appeared on his cotton at all.

NEW THEATRE BUILDING

The material for the new theatre building of Mr. C. W. Wade is now being assembled on the spot where the old Baptist Church burned a few weeks ago. The new structure will be of brick, and we understand that it will be a two-story building, the ground floor to be used for the picture show. We understand that Mr. Wade is going to fix up the second story for him and his family to live in.

The lot between the Ellis Filling Station and the new theatre is now being figured on by several prospective buyers. A store building of some kind will be put up there in the near future.

HOME COMING DAY AT MT. CARMAL CHURCH, ADAMS, ALA.

On next Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 1st and 2nd, there will be a home coming at Mt. Carmal Church at Adams. A good program is being arranged for all day Saturday and Sunday morning. Dinner will be served picnic style Saturday. It is hoped that all the members and former members in reach, and especially all former pastors will be present.

This is the 40th anniversary of the church, it having been organized on Sept. 2, 1883. Come and let's make this a great day in the history of the church.

COMMON FOLKS

The same thing is true of common folks that Abe Lincoln said about poor folks. He said: "The Lord evidently loves them or he wouldn't have made so many of them." We like good, everyday, plain, honest people. Many folks who attempt to "put on airs" are not the equal of the plain, unassuming sort. We are all pretty much alike under the skin. The fellow who gets to holding his head too high, often takes a tumble. Our bank is a people's bank where all receive courteous treatment, no matter what their station in life.

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. NORTON, Manager)

Rev. Davenport's picture lecture course was finished last Friday night with a lecture on "Wonders of the ancient and modern world," illustrating and descriptive of many of the principal places and objects of interest in America and other countries. The whole series was one that will long be remembered with pleasure by those who attended these entertainments, and we regret that Mr. Davenport will soon leave Thorsby and Alabama and will not be likely to give us the pleasure of another such season of enjoyment in the near future. On Saturday morning Rev. Davenport and family left for Tennessee, where a brother-in-law was reported to be near death. They expect to return but could not say exactly when they could come.

Thursday night was clear and beautiful, and brought out a goodly company of Thorsby people, and out of town visitors for the Ladies' Guild social on Thorsby Institute campus. Fifteen gallons of ice cream and a lot of cakes were disposed of, including some cream sold next day, and everybody seemed to have a good time.

On Friday afternoon, August 24th, Mrs. Magne Anderson, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Ivey Horn, entertained in honor of Miss Lenore Goodwin of Tryon, N. C., and Mrs. Karl Peterson of LaPorte, Ind. The day was perfect and many appreciative guests enjoyed the hospitality of these good ladies. Among them were Mesdames A. E. Reagan, and her guests from LaPorte, Ind; Mr. and Mrs. Karl Peterson, Mrs. Emily F. Peterson, Miss Ruth Peterson, Miss Ruth Siljestrom, Mr. Albert L. Palmer, Miss Dorothy ePterson; also Mesdames Johanna Lefstead, M. J. Soberg, C. S. Howard, Carl C. Petersen, J. M. Bosworth, C. R. Foss, Anna Villadsen, Grothi, S. E. Norton and Misses Lenore S. Goodwin, Naemi Turnquist, Alma Lefstead, Nellie Werniss, and Mr. A. E. Reagan.

Miss Bettie Mae Reynolds of Jemison was a guest of Mrs. Louis Howard last Thursday.

Mr. John Ford of Montgomery was a week-end visitor in Thorsby. He expects to leave for Binghampton, New York within a short time, where he will be employed for the winter in a Florist shop.

On Wednesday afternoon, August 29th, Mrs. S. E. Norton entertained in honor of her sister, Miss Lenore S. Goodwin of Tryon, N. C. The invited guests were Mesdames Magne Anderson, Ivey Horn, M. J. Soberg, J. M. Bosworth, C. R. Foss, E. F. Mead, Clyde Mead, Anna Villadsen, E. W. Butler, Louis Howard, Fred Howard, J. O. Johnson, Robert Davenport, Robert Johnson, A. E. Reagan, C. S. Howard, J. H. Goddard, C. W. Karlson, C. M. Williams, R. L. Primm, R. A. Turner, C. A. Peterson, Martin Petersen, L. E. Diefenderfer, Carl C. Petersen, Herbert Peterson, Nels Petersen, J. M. Graham, J. P. Sorensen, D. L. Ward, J. R. Martin, Littlejohn, J. W. McCain, G. W. Freeman, W. L. Leary, S. C. Wood, A. M. Johnson, Mrs. Tagg and Misses Agnes Leary, Nell Shannon, Lorena Graham, Martha Martin, Gladys Parnell, Nettie Littlejohn.

Mrs. Ethel Wright Loveland left Friday morning for Brandon, Ala., where she will attend a Congregational District Conference over the week-end. On Monday she goes to Talladega Springs, where she expects to meet Miss Lois Leech and Miss Elizabeth J. Robinson, fellow members of Thorsby Institute faculty, for a few days of rest before returning to Thorsby with Miss Leech about Sept. 1st.

A letter received from Miss Helen C. Jenkins from Hartford, Conn., says she expects to start for Thorsby Monday, Sept. 3rd.

The Fall term of Thorsby Institute opens Wednesday, September 2th. There are indications that there will be a large enrollment.

Prof. C. M. Williams has returned to Thorsby after an absence of three weeks and will open the Thorsby public school Monday morning, Sept. 3rd. He makes a special request that every pupil in the district shall be present at that time, for enrollment, even if they cannot immediately continue in attendance.

On Thursday morning, August 23, Mr. Albert L. Palmer arrived in Thorsby in a big touring car, loaded to the guards with live freight, all from LaPorte, Ind., from where they left at 4:30 a.m. Sunday the 19th. His passengers were Mrs. Emily Peterson, widow of the late J. F. Peterson, one of the founders of Thorsby, her son, Karl ePterson, daughter, Ruth and niece, Ruth Siljostrom. Mrs. Karl Peterson and little daughter, Dorothy have been making an extended visit among Mrs. Peterson's sisters, Mrs. A. E. Reagan, Mrs. J. M. oBsworth, Mrs. C. R. Foss and Miss Naemi Turnquist, all of whom have made it their business to give their guests a good time in and around Thorsby. How well they have succeeded may be inferred from a remark of Mr. Palmer when it was suggested that he ought to see Birmingham before going home. He said, "Birmingham, what do I want of Birmingham? I am having the time of my life in Thorsby." The whole party left Tuesday morning. They will make a brief visit in Birmingham, while Mr. Palmer runs over to Atlanta, then go home where they expect to arrive by the end of the week.

Mr. Ben Franklin, our rural mail carrier is exhibiting a pod of thirteen rattles and a button cut from the tail of a rattlesnake, about 54 inches long and thick as a man's arm, which he crushed in the road with his car wheel, near Mulberry creek. He also tells of another almost as large killed by Mr. Howard L. Foshee recently in his mother's door yard.

For the best Hamburgers and Wieners, go to Mat's Place in the Popwel lBldg., next to Clanton Mercantile Co.

Thorsby is soon to lose another old resident, Mr. L. C. Robinson, who has for about a year past been employed in Birmingham, is about to move his family to that city and establish a home there.

Mr. T. W. Robinson is wrecking the house on his property, just south of his dwelling and proposes to use the available material in it, with some new, to erect a five room cottage on his land which adjoins Chas. S. Howard's on the west. With the exception of a few building lots, Mr. Robinson owns that ten acre tract. Mr. C. H. Thomsen is drawing plans for the new house and will have charge of its construction.

The Ladies' Guild of Thorsby will hold their monthly social on Thursday of this week at the home of Mrs. E. F. Mead, instead of Mrs. O. L. Jackson as announced last week.

The Misses Bertha and Versie Littleton, with their mother, Mrs. Aaron Littleton, have returned from their vacation spent in Birmingham and vicinity.

Miss Lenore S. Goodwin, and little Agnes Lenore, who are spending ten days with Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Norton, expects to leave for her home in Tryon, N. C., Friday morning, August 31st.

Mr. Nels C. Petersen and family motored to Prattville last Sunday. Considering the bad roads over which they had to travel, Mr. Petersen thinks they made good time.

Mrs. Petersen and her sister, Miss Nell Shannon are entertaining their mother, Mrs. T. A. Shannon of West Point, Ga.

Mrs. Anna S. Villadsen entertained a number of friends at her home Wednesday afternoon, Aug. 22nd. Those enjoying Mrs. Villadsen's hostility were Mesdames Karl Petersen, J. M. Bosworth, C. R. Foss, A. E. Reagan, N. C. Petersen, C. A. Peterson, Robt. Johnson, Mrs. Steiner and Miss Nell Shannon.

Since the catalogue was printed in June, Thorsby Institute faculty list has been completed. Miss Nora James, of Clayton, Ga., will teach English, History and Latin. Miss James is a graduate of Piedmont College, at Demorest, Ga., and received the highest honor in scholarship ever given by the college. She has had experience in teaching and was very successful.

Mr. Carl J. Tisell, a graduate of the University of Arizona, who also has studied further at the University of Virginia, will teach Science and Mathematics and be the boys' athletic coach and general preceptor. He has taught recently at Asheville, N. C. He comes highly recommended as to character and ability to teach.

During the vacation of Rev. Davenport the evening service at the Congregational Church has been devoted chiefly to singing which has been enjoyed greatly. The first two evenings the entire congregation took part under the leadership of Mr. Glover Smith who has for some time been teaching a class of young people, most of whom reside two or three miles south of Thorsby. Mr. Frank Mastin accompanied on his violin.

Last Sunday night he brought a good contingent of this class with him and the time was wholly given to them. They were Glover Smith, choir director; organists, Bonnie Littlejohn and Claudie Smith and Gussie Littlejohn; ladies quartette, Veacie Smith, Gussie Littlejohn, Avolene Littlejohn, Claudie Smith; trio, Nealie Smith, Avolene Littlejohn, Gresham Smith; duet, Frank Mastin, Glover Smith; male quartette, Leonard Culp, Glover Smith, Alpheus Littlejohn, D. W. Ward; chorus, Samuel Littlejohn, Neacie and Lillie Smith, Meadie Samson, Katie Lee Wells, Verbie D. Williams, Lenora Culp, Gertie Giles, Esther Duke, Ressie Ward, Mae and Mattie Samson, Eula Giles, Claudie Smith, Gussie and Avolene Littlejohn, Bonnie and Myrtle Littlejohn, Walter Mastin, Gresham Smith, Duncan Wells, Earl Williams, Leonard Culp, Walker Vance, Alpheus Littlejohn, D. W. Ward.

These young people certainly gave evidence of careful training in the various parts they undertook. Their attack was prompt and fulll, tlheiri vloices mostly of good quality, their time correct.

Altogether it was a revelation of some of the possibilities of development in singing by our young people, and we sincerely hope that this class and their leader can be used as a nucleus for the formation of a larger choral singing society that will contribute much to the development of our young people as singers of a better grade of music.

NEW HARNESS SHOP

Mr. Jesse Teel, who has been taking government vocational training in harness making and shoe repairing for the past two years, has opened up a harness shop in Clanton. Temporarily he is located in the back end of Uncle Tom Taylor's Grist Mill, but just as soon as he can get a front location he is going to move.

Jesse is an ex-soldier, and is a fine young man. We are indeed proud to see him locate in Clanton, and we feel that he deserves as much patronage as the people can give him. He is going to put in all the machinery that it takes to do up-to-date work, and will be glad to do your harness and shoe repairing.

Miss Lula Giddens from Montgomery has returned home from a visit to her sister, Mrs. Macy Jones.

Mr. Guy Higgins spent a few days in the Capital City with his wife this week.

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Wolf have returned from a brief visit to Montgomery.

For the best Hamburgers and Wieners, go to Mat's Place in the Popwel lBldg., next to Clanton Mercantile Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Yates spent the week-end with Mr. Yates' parents in Tallassee.

NON-RESIDENT NOTICE

The State of Alabama, Chilton County. Circuit Court. In Equity.

Ervin Allen, Complainant, vs. Lula Allen, Defendant.

In this cause it is made to appear to the Register by the affidavit of Omar L. Reynolds, that the Defendant is a non-resident, and that his place of residence and post-office address is unknown, and that such address cannot be ascertained after reasonable effort; and, further, that, in the belief of said affiant, the Defendant is of the age of twenty-one years:

It is, therefore, ordered by the Register that publication be made in The Union-Banner, a newspaper published in the County of Chilton, once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring her, the said Lula Allen, to plead, answer, or demur to the bill of complaint in this cause by the 9th day of September, 1923, or, in thirty days thereafter, a decree pro confesso may be taken against her.

Done at office in Clanton, this 6th day of August, 1923.

Child-birth

Here is a wonderful message to all expectant mothers!

When the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says:

"With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used Mother's Friend and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes." Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., BA 46, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all drug stores—everywhere.

You are first judged by your appearance. So are your children. Everybody owes it to themselves to keep well dressed. When you look right you can work right.

Don't put off buying a new outfit for yourself as well as for the children, as it will give you new pep and make you feel good.

BUILDING PLANS ARE FURNISHED FARMERS

Service is Free Upon Request and is Very Popular.

Auburn, Ala., Aug. 27.—Building plans for farm buildings are now being prepared and sent to farmers in large numbers by the Department of Agriculture Engineering of the Agricultural College here. Some time ago announcement of this service was made by Prof. M. L. Nichols, head of this department, and requests for assistance along this line have increased until daily requests are now made. In one week 50 building plans were prepared and mailed.

In his announcement of this service Prof. Nichols stated that the Department of Agricultural Engineering is in position to furnish practical plans for barns, chicken houses, cribs, and almost all other farm buildings, with the exception of residences. In making requests for assistance along this line farmers state the kind of buildings wasted and with this information before him Prof. Nichols can have prepared plans to meet the special requirements.

It is suggested by Prof. Nichols that the present season is a desirable time for farmers to construct new buildings.

MRS. F. A. ELLISON RETURNS

The wife of Mr. F. A. Ellison, who has been at Talladega Springs for the past several days for her health, we are glad to say, has returned home. She returned last Thursday afternoon, and upon her return she received from Mrs. Annie Thacker a very delicious dish, which was highly appreciated. The family of Mr. Ellison wishes to extend their heartfelt thanks to all their good neighbors for their kind assistance.

Mr. T. G. Milling of Stanton was present at the road meeting at the court house Saturday. He made a fine talk regarding the maintenance of our county roads. Mr. Milling urged everybody in the county to stand behind the commissioners.

Squire Waldrup of Jemison attended the road meeting at Clanton last Saturday.

STATE DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 24, 1923.

"The sportsmen and conservationists of the State will be interested in the following figures indicating the various activities of the Department of Conservation," declared I. T. Quinn, Commissioner of Conservation.

"From October 1, 1922, to August 22, 1923, there have been 412 game and fish violators convicted. This is 167 more than have ever been convicted in any one year, previous. Mr. Quinn states that there are a large number of cases on docket which have not yet been disposed of, which will swell the number of convictions for the present fiscal year to approximately 500. The amount of fines collected is more than $3,000 in excess of any previous year.

The net receipts for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1921, were $15,692.43. The net receipts for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1922, were $20,915.67; while the net receipts up to August 22, 1923, are $20,120.85.

The total amount in the Treasury to the credit of the game and fish protection fund, at noon, August 22, 1923, was $149,500.03.

The question arises at once in the minds of the sportsmen who have contributed this money, why has it not been spent and why is it not being spent at the present time in giving adequate protection to the wild life of the State? The answer according to Mr. Quinn is: "Because, under the present law, a game warden cannot be placed on duty until after the vioation has taken place (the game or fish destroyed) and then only for the length of time necessary to stop a violation which has already been committed."

"True conservation," says Mr. Quinn, "is preventing the violation from occurring. The sportsmen of the State who put up the money are demanding that this money, paid in by them for a specific purpose, be used in the enforcement of the game and fish laws.

Continuing, Mr. Quinn said: "We now have conservative bag limits on all game and birds, but without machinery for the proper enforcement of the conservation statutes, the true sportsmen will be swept aside, and the game and fish hogs will destroy the wild life resources of the State, without fear of molestation. Given a real warden system, and I will break up these open and flagrant violations going on all over the State, and bring back the wild life resources in abundance."

The day has come again when to see a group of children with dinner buckets and a turn of books parading the streets is not uncommon. But it is more common to see them with nothing but their dinner bucket.

Pittsburg Republicans have flung to the breeze a banner measuring 132 by 73 feet. It contains 1,100 yards of canvas and carries the names of all Republican organization candidates. "Yes, we have some bananners."

President Calvin Coolidge doesn't believe in joining everything that comes along. He doesn't belong to anything except his college fraternity, Phi Gamma Delta. President Harding was a Baptist, a Mason, an Elk, and a member of the Knights of Pythias.

The legislature abolished the county court of Chilton county. The main ground for its abolishment was that the presiding judge was a republican. Personally, we are a democrat, but that was unwise legislation in our opinion, and is a little unfair to a man who has been elected to the office. We believe the fair thing is always the best.—Centerville Press.

The road working business of Chilton county is fast putting on new life now. Judge Reynolds went down to Montgomery Monday and got two big trucks to work the highways with. Within a short while the Commissioners are going to buy four complete outfits to work the country roads with. We believe that if everybody will just help out a little this new scheme will be a decided success.

Now that the bill is before the state legislature providing for the election of the County Superintendent of Education of Chilton county, our County Superintendent has the opportunity to show that he is in favor of this officer being elected by popular vote, as he publicly stated last year. We hope that he and all the rest of our officials and citizens will use their influence toward getting this measure passed.

Senator Oscar Underwood, making a speech in Selma one day last week said that the Republicans were responsible for the present low price of cotton. Yes, we agree with the Senator that the Republican party is responsible for the present price of cotton; but what he is comparing it with when he says it is low we are not able to understand. The price of cotton today is around 25 cents. What was it during the last Democratic administration before it was boosted up by the war? If a man could have gotten half the price it is today he would have been doing exceedinly well, and most of the time he could not even get a quotation. Yes, we agree, the Republicans are responsible all right.

WANTS TO CHANGE CHILTON HIGHWAY

We notice a press report that Senator Adams went before the State Highway Commission Monday and made a speech advocating the changing of the state highway through Chilton from the present survey of that road. The Senator advises that it would be better to use the same old road bed of the old B. & M. highway in preference to straightening it out and keeping it all on the same side of the railroad.

Now, it looks like a bad idea to keep dickering with the plans and tearing up what has already been done toward the highway. The state highway through Chilton county ought already to have been built, and we think it a pregnant idea to try to help the commission out in expediting the work rather than trying to tear up what they have already done. We would rather see some graders and scrapes put in operation on this road than so much hot air and mystic propagation.

NEGRO LEAGUE FLOPS OVER TO DEMOCRATS

President Patterson Claims Republicans Broke Faith.

Chicago, Aug. 28.—To break down the traditional loyalty of the colored population to the republican party, 87 delegates of the National Negro Democratic league, in session here, today voted to organize an all-negro political association and to throw the new society's support to the democrats.

The league will drop the party name, according to Major A. E. Patterson, president, of Chicago, and will open its membership to all colored voters.

"The republicans have not carried out their campaign promises to the colored voter," Major Patterson declared.

The colored delegates urged the enforcement of the Fourteenth and Fifteenth amendments, advocated a constitutional amendment making lynching a federal offense. Resolutions will be presented protesting against the appointment of Bascom Slemp as secretary by President Coolidge

The negroes in convention praised what President Wilson did for their race while he was president of the United States, saying that during his administration the government did more for the negroes than was ever done before or has been done since; therefore, they came to the conclusion that the Democratic party was the one deserving their support.

A resolution was passed by the body highly commending Woodrow Wilson for his action while president in appointing Emmett Scott, negro of Tuskegee, as Assistant Secretary of War of the United States. They stamped this action as the crowning achievement of the Wilson administration.

The Republican party has not gone in mourning yet for this action of the Ethiopian League, but we feel assured that the Democratic party of the country will receive the new converts with open arms.

SELF-SUFFICIENCY

According to the Atlanta Constitution, the state of Georgia spends $75,000,000 a year for food and feed products which can and should be grown at home.

Accepting these figures as true, and they are undoubtedly correct, there are several thoughts that will at once occur to the reader.

First, Georgia is sending away every year $75,000,000 that should be kept at home. That amount of money is kept from owners of Georgia farms and workmen on Georgia farms.

Then, too, consumers of imported food products in Georgia are paying freight charges on the imported goods. We hear continual complaints of the effect of freight rates on the cost of goods, and yet Southern Virginia buys potatoes in Michigan and Chicago buys potatoes from far-off Idaho. By raising their own food stuffs, Georgia people could save the freight. We wish the railroads no harm, but we see no reason why any community should pay freight, commissions and handling losses when these can be avoided.

But there is another thought that occurs to us in connection with the statement made by the Atlanta Constitution. The people of the United States are spending millions of dollars in Europe, Asia, and other lands, for commodities which can as well be produced here. Self-sufficiency is not merely a local problem; it is a national problem. We should buy it "Made in America" whenever possible.

WHO MUST PAY?

The net debt of the United States is about $22,000,000,000. More than half of that sum is accounted for by loans made to the allies to aid them in the prosecution of the war and for their rehabilitation after the armistice. There now repose in the Treasury the obligations of twenty foreign governments, which in principal and accrued interest amount to more than $11,500,000,000. Whether or not that huge sum is eventually repaid is of vital personal interest to every taxpayer in the country.

A third of all Federal expenditures—and that means a third of all Federal taxes—now goes to pay the interest and reduce the principal of the national debt. With a frank acknowledgement by foreign governments of their debts to the American taxpayers, and a reasonable agreement for annual payment of the interest and an installment on the principal, about $500,000,000 per year would be taken from the amount that our taxpayers have to contribute annually to the support of their government. Great Britain and two or three smaller countries have already completed such an agreement or taken steps toward it. France intimates she will send negotiators to Washington next month. The United States is accustomed to pay its bills without quibbling. All it asks is similar treatment from its debtors.

SET THE PACE

A politician who has grown immensely rich in a few years publishing farm papers urges the railroads to make a 25 per cent reduction in freight rates on wheat and flour for export. He might help the wheat farmers some if he would make them a 25 per cent reduction in the subscription price of his paper and a similar reduction in the charge for any advertising space they may need.

LEGISLATION WILL NOT ALLEVIATE

Those who would legislate prosperity into the farmers have taken a fresh breath since the accession of President Coolidge, and are importuning him to call an extra session of Congress for their purposes. There is no indication that the President will do anything of the sort; in fact, his declaration that he would follow the policies of his distinguished predecessor means that Congress will not be brought together before the regular session which opens on the first Monday in December. Mr. Harding was fully advised of the plight of the farmers and of the impending coal strike, but was convinced that neither of them presented an emergency that warranted a special session of Congress. The facts of the matter are that the situation of the farmers is due solely to the operation of the law of supply and demand that no amount of legislation can amend, and the executive already has sufficient power to maintain the fuel supply in the event a small minority of the people seek to stop it.

SALARY ELIMINATION

During July there was a decrease of 135 in the civilian personnel of the government at Washington. Some bureaus were forced to increase their employees, but the additions were more than offset by the reductions in other branches of the Federal organization. The rigid economy program of the Republican administration means not only a cut in the cost of supplies, but the elimination of salaries wherever services can be dispensed with without a loss in efficiency.

SMOOT ON FARMER'S PLIGHT

"The plight of the American farmers is one of the most serious domestic problems before this nation," declares Senator Reed Smoot, of Utah. "In my opinion no legislation we can enact will relieve the situation. It is absurd to suppose that the American public will stand for any price fixing scheme which some members of Congress advocate. If price fixing is to be tried to insure farmers a fair return on their products, then there is no reason why the principle should not be applied to all producers. Such a plan if carried to its logical conclusion would almost wreck the nation.

"We have done everything practicable to relieve the distress of the farmers by making it possible for them to secure loans to tide them over the present depression. In my opinion, however, it would have been wiser for Congress to have advocated drastic economy on the part of farmers rather than to make it easier for them to get into debt. Interest day is sure to come as well as the day when the pricipal must be paid."

Reed Smoot comes from an agricultural section and he is alive to the interests of the farmer. He is also regarded as one of the sanest legislators we have had in Congress in many years. His words are worth weighing well.

Frequent Headaches

"I suffered with chronic constipation that would bring on very severe headaches," says Mrs. Stephen H. Kincer, of R. F. D. 1, Cripple Creek, Va. "I tried different medicines and did not get relief. The headaches became very frequent. I heard of and took it for a headache, and the relief was very quick, and it was so long before I had another headache. Now I just keep the Black-Draught, and don't let myself get in that condition."

Thedford's Black-Draught (purely vegetable) has been found to relieve constipation, and by stimulating the action of the liver, when it is torpid, helps to drive many poisons out of your system. Biliousness, indigestion, headache, and similar troubles are often relieved in this way. It is the natural way. Be naturall Try Black-Draught.

THORSBY CITY CEMETERY

Some two weeks ago I paid Thorsby a visit of a few days. While there I spent a few minutes of my time out in the City Cemetery, and I regret very much to say, that it is a disgrace to the citizens of Thorsby.

As I walked through the cemetery I noticed several new tombstones, fencing and beautiful concrete work, put up by Mr. Meade & Son—but all this seems to be of no value as they cannot be seen for the tremendous amount of grass and rubbish found there.

Friends! Does it not seem to you that after our loved ones are gone, that we should, by all means, show our love and respect for them by giving them a beautiful place of rest? Think it over—then ACT!

Yours for success and well-kept cemeteries.

FARMERS SHOULD EDUCATE THEIR BOYS

The High school at Isabella opens September the 10th. All patrons and friends o f the school are cordially invited to attend the opening. This school is not only for the local community but for all boys in the county who want to study agriculture. In addition to the department of vocational agriculture, it has the other regular courses. The purpose of the course in vocational agriculture is to prepare boys to manage their farms with ability, intelligence and skill. Farming is the most dignified calling of the earth. Our boys and girls must in some way be kept in the country, instead of gravitating to our already over-crowded cities and there drifting into idleness and immorality. The man who tills the soil in the future must of necessity know scientific agriculture. A knowledge of the scence of soil buildng, sol conservaton, home management, marketing, etc., will surely bring prosperity and happiness.

This school is open to all boys in Chilton county who have finished the sixth grade. Parents should make a sacrifice if necessary to put their boys and girls in this school. The fees are small, and board can be had cheaply. It is a school in the country for country boys and girls. It is our aim to equip them for rural citizenship, for ideal living in the country.

We believe we have a faculty equal t o any other in the county n ability, scholarship and experience. Mr. Caldwell who is to teach agriculture is thoroughly prepared to give instruction in the fundamentals of successful farming. He is a married man with experience as a teacher, farm demonstrator, and veterinary surgeon, having taught veterinary surgery in the University of Georgia. He is one of the strongest vocational agriculture teachers in the State. Not only this community but the county is fortunate in having such a man at the head of this important work.

The other teachers have specialized in the subjects which they are to teach.

SARDIS NEWS

The farmers of this place are somewhat disappointed this year about the way their cotton crops are doing, as it has rained so awful much there will be no cotton or anything much made. But we are hoping to make enough to keep from being on starvation.

Miss Mary Christian of this place is visiting friends and relatives at Orrville, Ala., now, but we are expecting her home soon.

Mrs. Rinnie Robertson of near Tuscaloosa is now visiting her mother, brother and sister, Mrs. Spaulding. Miss Ollie Spaulding and Mr. Wilson Spaulding. We are expecting Mrs Robertson to spend two or three months while here.

Mr. Less Broadhead has now returned to his home after a week's visit to Birmingham.

Miss L. Audrey Motley is spending a few weeks in Plantersville with friends and relatives.

Miss Berniece Broadhead spent a while with Mrs. Henry Hays Sunday afternoon.

Misses Addie and Frances Christian, Messrs. Earl Deramus and Verge Christian, and Miss Ethel Deramus attended the services at Antioch Sunday a.m.

Mrs. Joe Popwell and son, Mr. Lea A. Popwell and family spent Sunday with Mr. Popwell's sister, Mrs. Less Broadhead.

A crowd of young folks from this place attended a cream supper at Mr. H. L. Ratliff's Saturday night. All seemed to have a nice time.

Messrs. Garland and Robert and their mother, Mrs. G. W. Foshee have been attending preaching services at Maplesville Baptist church for the past week, where Mr. Robert Foshee joined.

ALABAMA NEWS HAPPENINGS.

A Resume of the More Important Events of Interest Condensed To An Epitomized Form.

While several persons were cutting wood by a public road near New Prospect church in East Butler county they saw a large rattlesnake crossing the road a little way ahead. Attracted by its unusual size, and slow movement, they hurried to overtake the snake. After killing it they cut it in half and out of it crawled 16 young rattlers about 15 inches in length. The parent snake was moving its living quarters and used this means of carrying the family, it is said.

Officials of the Republic Mining & Manufacturing Company, the Georgia Company that recently discovered bauxite in the northeast portion of Henry County in what is known as the Screamer community, are continuing their investigation, and announce that they have located a large deposit of white bauxite on the lands of Crawford Scott, which they have under lease. They had already located quantities of red bauxite on lands of Mrs. Ida V. Lucas, Wilburn Davis and Crawford Scott.

A cash bonus of $85,000, one of the largest ever received by the government in disposal of public mineral lands, was included in the proposal of the successful bidder for the lease of coal lands in Fayette county, Alabama, recently sold at Montgomery. The government will receive a royalty of 10 cents a ton from operations on the tract, which comprises 1,840 acres, 7,000,000 tons of high grade bituminous in sight.

The United Farmers Canning Factory at Clanton is now turning out canned tomatoes by the thousands. The factory began operation more than a week ago, and is now running almost full time. The authorities say that in spite of the shortage in the tomato crop caused by recent excessive rain, an enormous amount of the finished canned product will be realized from the county as a whole.

The people of the Twin Cities are making plans to get new letterheads and other business supplies requiring the most up to date line for the community, which date line will be "Decatur, Ala.," if the senate solons approve the action of the municipal organizations committee, in endorsing unanimously the merger bills designed to unite Albany and Decatur in one city, to be called "Decatur."

Further terracing and drainage demonstrations in Tuscaloosa county, similar to those held last spring, will probably be held some time early in December, it is stated. L. C. LeBron, who conducted the other demonstrations, has approved the idea and will probably take charge of the December events also. Still further ones soon after the first of the year are also promised the farmers by County Agent G. C. Lett.

The Bridgeport Gun Club will hold a trapshoot September 3. Sportsmen from Stevenson, Ala., Chattanooga and South Pittsburgh, Tenn., are the invited guests. The sportsmen participating will be divided into two classes, according to skill and experience.

Huntsville merchants are beginning to receive their fall and winter goods, and they anticipate a good business. Most of the merchants have ordered unusually large stocks, in anticipation of a larger volume of business than normal.

A committee has been appointed by the directors of the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Tuscaloosa to take up with a committee from the merchants' bureau the question of building a white way in the business streets of that city.

Contract for paving about one mile of Tuscaloosa streets was awarded by the city commission to Flunell and Toothaker Company, of that city. The company will start at once on improvements.

The walls of the new Jasper theatre have been completed and work is being pushed on the structure. This new theatre, which is to cost $35,000, will be one of the prettiest and most up-to-date moving picture and vaudeville theatres in north Alabama. It will seat 1,000 people.

The animal husbandry department of the agricultural college at Auburn has received as a gift from Harry Harzfeld, of Alexander City, a giant Holstein bull, which will head the Holstein herd.

THE PRESIDENT'S WORK DAY

Washington, Aug. 27.—It is obvious that public men and the people generally are not forgetting and are not likely to forget the lesson taught by the tragic end of the life of President Harding. Whatever may have been the immediate cause of his untimely death the indirect cause is universally recognized to have been overwork. Never again will the people of the United States expect, nor will public men permit, overtaxation of the strength of the President.

At the same time that President Harding was successfully upon the steel industry the entire elimination of the twelve hour day, he was himself working not less than seventeen hours a day. Moreover, his seventeen hours were practically continuous personal exertion, whereas men who work twelve hours per day in steel mills have considerable periods of rest.

The great majority of people, until their attention was otherwise called to the facts, looked upon the President's work day during his tour as only that portion of the day when he was engaged in delivering a public address. As a matter of fact it is quite probable that the time he spent on the platform making an address was as easy a period as any. During his transcontinental tour he made it a practice to arise as early as five o'clock in the morning in order to greet crowds assembled at stations. He met these crowds at all hours of the day until ten or eleven o'clock at night. He not only had to deliver short informal addresses to these crowds, but between stations he had to formulate in his mind the address he would make at the next stopping place.

Moreover, it was the custom of State Governors to meet the Presidential train at State lines and accompany it as long as it was traveling in their jurisdiction. It was necessary for the President to meet these Governors personally and to engage in conversation with them. Members of local reception committees expected a few words of conversation with the President. The burden upon him was not merely in conducting his part of the conversation but in listening to theirs. Close attention was necessary in order that he might make appropriate reply. The concentration of attention in listening was an even greater strain than his own part in the conversation.

It is practically impossible for a Presidential tour to be so arranged as to permit the President to observe an eight-hour or even a ten-hour day. Some relief can be obtained when the Presidential party stops for a day, for then early rising can be avoided and the day shortened somewhat at its end. Even on such occasions, however, it is difficult for the President to avoid meeting people all day long. Failure to respond to innumerable requests for conferences is certain to result in disappointments and hard feelings and this, of course, the President is anxious to avoid.

Unconsciously the people of the country have expected all Presidents to measure up to the capacity for endurance displayed by former President Theodore Roosevelt. Roosevelt not only had a strong physical constitution but had an unusual ability to secure rest during short periods between public addresses. When his train pulled out of a station he could drop down on a couch and be asleep almost instantly and could begin an address when awakened as the train approached the next station. Having become accustomed to the Roosevelt ian strenuosity the people have thoughtlessly expected every other man who occupies the Presidential office to measure up to his capacity for work. The sacrifice of the life of President Harding to this unreasonable expectation has probably served to save all future Presidents from a similar ordeal.

Physical Health means—
Beauty!

HEALTH and beauty go hand in hand. Where the system is run down—the face drawn and haggard—the body limp and lifeless—beauty is missing. Looks of pity supplant those that might have been gazes of admiration.

Restore your health and beauty will take care of herself. S. S. S.—the rich blood builder—rekindles the spark of health and lights the blaze of beauty by building red blood cells. The nerve power of your system finds life in these very blood cells. Build more red blood cells and your nerve power will increase. S. S. S. builds them. Rich blood will tingle through your system. That lost charm will return. Your entire system will be repaired. You will be ready to cope with the impurities and blemishes that handicap beauty.

As physical health means beauty so, too, does S. S. S. mean beauty. For S. S. S. means systems that are free from impurities—pimples, blackheads, acne, boils, eczema, rheumatism. S. S. S. and good health go hand in hand.

OAK HILL

Everything is moving along nicely in this community. Everybody feeling good towards each other and having a good time together in Sunday school, church and prayer services, and God blesses us wonderfully in many ways in all of our services. This was evidenced Sunday evening when our singing society met and sang those sweet songs of praise to Him for His goodness to all. The society was called to order by E. L. Glasscock, who after singing the opening song and invoking the divine blessings of God upon us. The singing began in earnest with Mr. Glover Smith as frist director. Other directors were E. H. Foshee, Veste Campbell, Akins Collins, A. Hand, E. L. Glasscock. Organists for the evening were Misses Esther Atkinson, Emma Campbell, Sybil Langston, Gena Collins, Lena Glasscock. The Thorsby and Jemison quartetts were with us and rendered some beautiful selections between each director, which was very good and enjoyed by all present. The Thorsby quartet is composed of Akins Collins, Glover Smith, Gresham Lowery and John Childress, and the Jemison quartet is composed of A. H. and E. L. Glasscock, Vester Campbell and David Childress. They are all good singers and we hope through them much good may be done by creating more interest in our societies and we feel sure that the time is not far away when we will not have to send to Birmingham or Lawrenceburg, Tenn., for a quartet, but will have them at hand just as good and we feel proud of them. We hope to hear the Clanton quartet again before long. Come again boys. We will give you and all other visitors a glad welcome at all times.

Our revival meeting will begin Saturday night, September the 1st, and go on throughout the week. Brother Steve Murphy will assist in the meeting and we invite everybody and all denominations to come and take part with us, and let us worship together in unity and pray that we may have a great spiritual awakening which we so badly need all over this country.

We expect all who are interested in this church and cemetery to meet Friday for the purpose of cleaning off same and making such replars on the church as it may need.

Mr. Joe Motley spent Saturday night with Mr. Cyrus Hayes and spent Sunday with Mr. Herman Broadhead.

JEMISON HIGH SCHOOL TO OPEN ON SEPT. 3

The Jemison High School will open Sept. 3. Last year we had to open in temporary quarters which almost seemed like permanent ones before were were out of them. The new building is now completed and ready for use. In spite of the above mentioned handicaps of last year, we were successful beyond all expectations. This year we expect to outstrip anything done in the past. We have every reason to believe we shall. We have one of the best schools in the county. The State has placed us on the list of accredited schools. That means we are on the same basis as the county high schools and that a graduate from here is admitted to any college in the State without examination.

Board can be had in private homes at very moderate rates. I shall be glad to answer any inquiry relative to the school, or to assist in finding a boarding place for any student wishing it.

B. LAWRENCE, Principal.

STATE NEWS HAPPENINGS

The hotels, restaurants, safes, barber shops and soft drink stands of Gadsden, Alabama City and Attalla have made considerable improvements in a sanitary way, according to T. A. Belser, representative of the state board of health, who completed a three-day inspection. Mr. Belser said the hotels and restaurants are in fine shape in all three cities.

The recent action of the board of directors of the Alabama Power Company in donating the use of some of its properties and equipment for the manufacture of calcium arsenate is approved of and appreciated in the Tennessee Valley, it is reported, although for the present the fight against the leaf worm has slowed down considerably.

Major Joseph M. Dickinson, property and disbursement officer for the Alabama National Guard, Captain James F. Coggetti, personnel officer, and First Lieutenant Jospeh M. Simpson have completed their work incident to the closing of the annual encampment of state troops at Camp McClellan.

A beautiful marble shaft is being erected at First street and Fifth avenue in Attalla in memory of Commodore Farrand, gallant Confederate naval commander, who died there soon after the Civil war. The marker is being placed by the Attalla chapter of the Daughters of the Confederacy.

Passengers numbering 82,889, or 41.4 per cent of the city's population, cross railroad property from Eighteenth to Twtnety-fourth streets in Birmingham during a 11-hour day, according to observations conducted by the Junior Chamber of Commerce under the direction of C. F. Varn, secretary.

The Randolph county commissioners' court sold $25,000 road bonds recently. The bonds brought par and accrued interest. Ward, Sterne & Co. of Birmingham were the successful bidders. This is the third $25,000 allotment of the $100,000 voted by the people last year, to be sold.

The premium list of the Madison County fair which will be held from September 25 to 29, inclusive, is being distributed and many liberal prizes are offered for agricultural and stock and cattle exhibits. It is expected that the agricultural exhibits will be the largest ever shown in the county.

The United Overall Company, of Collinsville has been growing steadily since they begun operation March 15 of this year. The factory begun with 10 girls and now there are more than 60 machines running, increasing the output to 500 dozen a week.

Statistics of the county health department show that typhoid fever has been more prevalent in the Bessemer cut-off this summer than in any other portion of the county. There have been 51 cases reported thus far since spring, 17 being in the city and 34 in the rural districts.

Leroy Williams, 22, is in the Norwood hospital, Birmingham, suffering from three fractures of the skull inflicted by Lenton Young, 19, with a baseball bat at the postoffice at Addison, Ala. Young was carried to the jail at Double Springs, Winston county.

Seventeen new homes that have been erected by the Dallas Manufacturing Company in Library grove, Huntsville, are nearing completion and will be occupied by various overseers and their families. The houses cost about $3,000 each.

From October 1, 1922, to July 30, 1923, there were sold in Pike county 1,665 license tags to automobile and motorcycle owners. These represented a total sum of $23,050.50 paid into the funds of the county for license tags in ten months.

The Calhoun county courthouse is to have a $40,000 addition to the northeast corner of the building, which will be for the use of the probate judge, a resolution to that effect having been adopted by the court of county commissioners.

Alabama County High School principals in annual conference in Montgomery, through a resolution adopted by unanimous vote, expressed their hearty approval of the four-mill tax for educational purposes, proposed by Governor William W. Brandon.

Judge Thomas C. McClellan, senior associate justice of the supreme court, who announced several months ago that he will tender his resignation to Governor Brandon before the beginning of the new term of the supreme court in Otcober, will practice law in Birmingham.

The Alabama Power Company has filed a petition with the Public Service Commission seeking a certificate of convenience and necessity for the construction of an electric line to the city of Russellville.

THE PUBLIC AND ALABAMA POWER COMPANY

The Federal Water Power Law

The Federal Government has full control over the public lands and other property of the United States. It is likewise lodged with full authority over commerce between the several states; over transportation as a means of such trade; and over power dams and other river improvements which affect navigation as a means of transportation.

The Federal Government could itself make the improvements needed to open our rivers to commerce. It could also authorize the construction of such improvements through other agencies. After years of consideration of the subject, during which Congress repeatedly refused to appropriate the millions of dollars necessary to open the nation's rivers to navigation, Congress passed the Federal Water Power Act, under which development of the rivers of the country by private agencies are licensed, controlled and regulated.

Just how this law protects the interests of the public, users of power, and investors in water power development alike, is shown in the following synopsis of its provisions:

1. Excess profits from the water power must be paid to the United States, whether they are profits of a public utility or a private user.

2. The franchise is limited to 50 years (Sec. 6), conditioned upon acceptance of all the terms and conditions of the act.

(a) The right of the United States or any state or municipality is expressly reserved to take over by condemnation proceedings and maintain and operate the project at any time during the 50 years license period upon payment of just compensation to the licensee therefor.

(b) At the end of the period the right is reserved to the Government to take over the project upon payment of net investment by the licensee, but not to exceed its fair value.

(c) At the end of 50 years, in event the Government does not exercise the right to take over the project, preference is given to application by states or municipalities.

(d) No preference right for renewal of the franchise or any proprietary claim for power is secured to the licensee. If a license is renewed, it must be under the then existing law and regulations.

3. The licensee is required at its own expense, under the supervision of the Power Commission to maintain the project adequate for purposes of navigation, efficient operation in the development and transmission of power, and make necessary renewals and replacements and maintain adequate depreciation reserves.

4. The licensee is required to provide free of cost, power for operation of all navigation facilities (Sec. 11c), and authority is reserved in the Government at all times to prescribe regulations governing control of the pool level and other regulations in the interest of navigation.

5. The service rendered its customers and its rates and charges of payment for all power sold from the project are at all times subject to regulation by duly constituted public authority.

All power sold entering into interstate commerce must be "reasonable, non-discriminatory, and just to the customers, and all unreasonable discrimination and unjust rates or services are hereby prohibited and declared unlawful."

6. After 20 years of operation, amortization reserves are required out of surplus earned thereafter, if any, to be applied, in the discretion of the power commission, in reduction of the net investment of the licensee.

7. The licensee is required to make equitable contribution for benefits accruing to it from headwater improvements either by storage reservoirs or otherwise whether done by other licensees or by the Government.

8. "Combinations, agreements, arrangements or understandings, expressed or implied, to limit the output of electrical energy, to restrain, direct or to fix, maintain or increase prices for electrical energy or service are prohibited."

9. The right is expressly reserved to the United States to take over the project at any time when the safety of the United States demands.

10. The United States is vested with authority to revoke the "license or to remedy or correct by injunction, mandamus, or other process any act of commission or omission in violation of the act or lawful regulation issued thereunder."

The Federal Water Power Act, which established a definite policy of the United States Government for the improvement of rivers for navigation, flood control and power development was evolved after approximately 100 years' consideration of the subject. It embodies all schools of thought—of the advocates of conservation, Pinchot, Roosevelt and others; of those who favor development of water power and those who desire navigation.

In the words of O. C. Merrill, executive secretary of the Federal Power Commission:

"In no other Federal legislation, and in no State legislation, has greater care been exercised to protect every essential public interest. Those who would go further must beware lest the conditions they would impose serve only to increase the cost of the service, or to prevent it altogether."

The Value of Land Abstracts

It is not safe to buy land or to lend money and accept land as security without first investigating the title of the land. Often there are unpaid mortgages, judgments, or other liens affecting the title, which an abstract would set out. Therefore, when buying land or lending money thereon, it is important that an abstract of title be furnished. A few dollars spent for an abstract is cheaper than going ahead and having a law suit a little later on.

POOR ORIGINAL

NOTICE OF LOCAL LAW

Notice is hereby given that the proposed local bill which is hereinafter set out will be introduced at the present session of the legislature of Alabama.

A BILL
To be entitled
AN ACT

To provide for the election of a County Superintendent of Education for Chilton County, Alabama, to fix his term of office, to prescribe his salary, and the way and manner of payment, to define his qualifications, powers and duties, to provide the way and manner of filling vacancy in said office, to provide the manner and method and causes for removing the said County Superintendent of Education, to provide for a special election to be held to elect such County Superintendent under this act and to provide for the election of his successor in office, and to provide for the repeal of all laws in conflict with the provisions of this act.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF ALABAMA:

Section 1. That a County Superintendent of Education for Chilton County, Alabama, shall be elected by the qualified electors of Chilton County, Alabama, who shall hold office until his successor is elected and qualified as hereinafter provided. That within three months after the passage and approval of this act a special election shall be held on a day to be designated and fixed by the Probate Judge of Chilton County, Alabama, for the election of a County Superintendent of Education, who shall hold office until the next general election to be held in the State of Alabama and said County of Chilton, and until his successor elected therein shall have qualified; that said special election shall be conducted and the vote canvassed and the results declared in all respects as now provided by the general election laws of Alabama for the election of County officers. Provided that the person elected as County Superintendent at said special election shall enter upon the duties of his office as soon as he shall qualify thereafter.

Section 2. That at the next general election to be held in said county and state a County Superintendent of Education for Chilton County, Alabama, shall be elected, who shall hold office for a term of four years and until his successor is elected and qualified, unless sooner removed for good cause, and each four years thereafter a County Superintendent of Education for Chilton County, Alabama, shall be elected by the qualified voters of said County at the regular election, nomination for which office may be made in primary elections as other County officers.

Section 3. That the salary of the said County Superintendent of Education shall be fixed by the County Board of Education of said county at not less than fifteen hundred ($1500) dollars per annum, which salary shall be paid in the same way and manner as now provided under the general laws of the state for the payment of salaries of County Superintendents in the several counties.

Section 4. That said County Superintendent of Education shall be charged with the same duties and shall exercise the same powers as are now provided by the general school laws of the state in the conduct of the office of County Superintendent of Education.

No person shall be eligible for political party nomination or for election to the office of County Superintendent of Education of said county who does not as now required hold an Alabama certificate in administration and supervision based as a minimum upon graduation from a standard normal school or equivalent education with at least one year of additional study of college grade and proof of three years of successful educational work within the next preceding five years; provided that, if no person meeting these requirements qualifies for nomination and election as provided in this act, the County Board of Education shall appoint a County Superintendent of Education as provided by the law regulating the appointment of superintendents.

Section 5. That in the event of a vacancy in said office for any cause, except removal, such vacancy shall be filled by the County Board of Education, and the person so appointed shall hold office until the next general election thereafter when his successor shall be elected; that should any County Superintendent be removed for cause by the County Board of Education of Chilton County, such vacancy shall be filled by appointment of the State Superintendent of Education, and his appointee shall hold office as in the case provided by appointment of the County Board of Education. Provided, that the County Board of Education may remove the County Superintendent of Education for immorality, misconduct in office, incompetency, or willful neglect of duty, or when, the best interests of the schools require it; any of which causes must be alleged and proved, and the County Superintendent of Education shall have the right to be heard in his defense as in cases of impeachment against County officers, and all such hearings shall be before the County Board of Education and shall be conducted as in cases provided under the general laws for the impeachment of County officers, and provided that upon such removal for cause any County Superintendent may appeal to the Circuit Court and have a trial by jury.

Section 6. That the duties and powers prescribed by the general laws of Alabama for the office of County Superintendents in the supervision of the schools of the several counties shall apply to and be incumbent upon the County Superintendent. The County Superintendent elected or appointed under the provisions of this act, and before entering upon the duties of said office he must take the oath of office prescribed by the Constitution, and give bond in an amount to be fixed by the State Board of Education in a reputable surety company authorized to do business in Alabama, conditioned upon the faithful performance of the duties of his office, and upon the accounting and paying over to the proper authority of all moneys coming into his hands.

Section 7. That all laws and parts of laws in conflict with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed.

Surprise Party.

An enjoyable party and one that came as a complete surprise to Mrs. S. E. Alverson was given her on last Friday when the Wednesday Sewing club, of which she was a former member, came in a body to Mrs. Watts Moore's home, where she was a guest. The dinner, which each member helped to prepare was served at the noon hour and the central table motif was a bowl of nasturtriums. Places were laid for Mrs. Alverson, Mrs. Luckie, Mrs. White, Mrs. Polk, Mrs. Yates, Mrs. Roberts, Mrs. Armstrong, Mrs. M. Jones, Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Hastings from Jasper, Miss Kathleen Mullins and Mr. Watts Moore.

Mrs. Hughes Kennedy from Birmingham was a visitor to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pipes last week.

Sewing Club Meets.

Mrs. R. E. Luckie was hostess on last Wednesday afternoon, having as her guests the Sewing club. A profusion of zenias and nasturtriums lent beauty to the interior of the home. Tables were arranged for the game of "42."

After a while spent playing, a refreshing salad course with fruit punch was served. Enjoying the game were Mesdames S. E. Alverson, J. Osmond Middleton, Jack Yates, John Armstrong, Watts Moore, Chas. Wilkerson, Mallie White, Macy Jones and M. A. Gore.

WEDDING OF INTEREST

A wedding attracting a wide interest in this section was that of Mr. Latham Ellis and Miss Aurabelle Martin, which occurred Wednesday evening at 6:00 o'clock. The ceremony was performed at the home of Dr. Upchurch, Rev. S. J. Ezell officiating. Only a few of the close relatives and friends of the contracting parties were present.

The bride is the beautiful young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Mell Martin of Clanton, and the groom is the energetic son of our fellow townsman, Mr. John T. Ellis.

The young couple will not make an extended honeymoon trip as is usually the custom, but will spend their first night together at their home. For the present they will live in the house with Mr. W. W. Fox.

Mrs. Browder Hostess.

On Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Browder the Card club enjoyed an unusually interesting game.

Baskets of summer flowers were the attractive means of decoration. Mrs. Victor Heard won the table mat given as club prize. The hostess served a refreshing ice course. Miss Lurline Harper was a visitor to the club.

Mr. Bill Lanier from Tallassee spent Sunday with friends in the city.

The friends of Mrs. Guy Higgins will be glad to learn that she is on the road to recovery from a recent operation at St. Margaret's Hospital in Montgomery.

Messrs. Benton and Reese Mullins will return home today from Gadsden, where they spent their vacation.

Mrs. Bates from Sylacauga was a recent visitor to her sister, Mrs. Atkinson.

JEMISON HIGH SCHOOL

A few days ago, while in the office of Mr. J. B. Atkinson, he presented me with thirteen books for the Jemison High school. We thank him for these valuable volumes for our school. Through the kindness of such friends we have been able to build up a splendid library. Mr. Atkinson is an attorney of this county who is not here to get all he can out of it, but to put something into it worth while. We know he has a big heart, but I think we have never discovered just how big it is. Those of us who were with him in the Masonic Conference a few days ago saw this thing demonstrated.

Next Monday, September 3, the Jemison school opens. All grades will begin work at this time. A splendid group of teachers have been secured as follows:

Miss Kate McNeill, First Grade.
Miss McMae McNeill, Second-Fourth.
Mr. Pink Cooper, Fifth-Seventh.
Miss Louise McCollum, Eng. and Dom. Science.
Miss Katherine Mickle, Chem. and Mathematics.
Mr. Summers, Manual Arts.

We will have a formal opening at the Baptist Church at 9 o'clock. We would like for every patron and every one else who is interested in having a good school be present at this time. All fees are due and payable on this day. No student will be enrolled until this has been attended to.

B. LAWRENCE, Prin.

Claude M. Baker, a Clanton young man, now of Tupelo, Miss., was here last Saturday. Mr. Baker is connected with the government fish hatchery now, and says he has traveled 6,000 miles in the past month distributing fish over different parts of the Southern States.

A WORD TO THE WISE

"In March I was called to the bedside of my sister in Brewton, Alabama. She was given up to die and was almost dead. Talked in a whisper. Doctors said nothing but an operation would save her and she was too weak for that. Her color was yellow as a pumpkin and she was filled with gas. That day I heard of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and went and got a bottle for her. In three weeks she was able to be about and walked a mile to church. I am praising your medicine to everyone." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Alred Drug Co., and druggists everywhere.

Good Housekeeping Institute employed the makers of Royal Guaranteed Roach Powder to get rid of roaches. Royal did it, too, in no time at all. For health's sake you should rid your house of these germ breeding insects. You can now get Royal Guaranteed Roach Powder. Price 25c. Sold and guaranteed by Upchurch Drug Co., and Cooper Drug Co.

ITALY AND GREECE ON VERGE OF WAR

Casualty Report of Corfu Bombardment Shows That 20 Are Dead, 16 of Whom Are Said to Be Children.

Athens, Sept. 3.—A violent demonstration against Italy took place today after solemn funeral services had been held in the Catholic cathedral for the victims of the Corfu bombardment.

The crowd burned an Italian flag and attacked the Italian legation.

Italy is holding Corfu which commands the Adriatic, as a pledge for Greek reparations and is waiting grimly for Greece to comply with her ultimatum. Greece, having appealed to the League of Nations is also waiting, and Italy thus far has ignored the protest of the council of ambassadors against her action in seizing Corfu.

The Greek legation here made public the text of the Greek reply to the ambassador council, proposing the appointment by the council of a commission consisting of three members for an inquiry into all the circumstances of the Janina crime, and declaring readiness, if Greece is found in any way responsible, to grant all reparations decided upon by such commission. The reply requests the intervention of the council with Italy.

The prospects of an early settlement are not improved. The Italian government takes the stand that it did not sign the treaty of 1864, which confirmed the neutrality of Corfu, and is therefore not bound by the treaty. Further, Premier Mussolini has instructed the Italian representatives at Geneva to abstain from further discussion of the affair and the only hopeful aspect is that Italy seems disposed to have the court of the international justice pronounce on the league's competency to deal with such an international dispute. The British government still is firmly supporting the view that the dispute is eminently one of the League of Nations and regards the whole question as subjudicial, pending the league's decision. In the event of the league's council's abstaining from intervention, it is stated that the Scandinavian delegates are resolved to withdraw from the league, as did Argentina in 1920.

Great despondency prevails in Athens, where the fact that Italy was able so quickly to land fifteen thousand men in Corfu is considered proof of Mussolinis determination. The occupation of Corfu seems to be complete and the Italians have thoroughly organized the place as though for a long stay.

A FINE APPLE

Mrs. W. J. Armstrong of Clanton showed us a fine speciment of apples last week. The apple weighed exactly one pound and measured 13 inches around. The apple was raised by our friend Monroe Parrish of Providence, the same fellow that got the water melon off the Christmas tree. This large apple adds one more star to Mr. Parrish's already well decked crown. He is always producing something unusual.

Messrs. Spurgeon Calloway and Roscoe Connell left last Sunday for a trip through Texas. They are going by auto, and will go to Dallas, where they will visit Spurgeon's sister, Mrs. Funderburk. We are sure they will have a nice trip.

COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL OPENS WITH LARGE ENROLLMENT

The opening exercises of the Chilton County High school were held last Friday night. Quite a crowd of the citizens of the town and county were out to join in the festivities of the evening. The program consisted of short speeches by various people interested in the school, also by the different members of the faculty. Mr. L. A. Calloway, member of the county board of education made a nice talk. The speakers were introduced by the principal, Prof. Pegues.

The faculty this year consists of: Ira Pegues, principal; J. A. Peterson, first assistant; D. W. Dark, Miss Wynness Tate, Miss Inis Carter, Miss Annie Johnson, Mrs. Barney M. Roberts.

On last Thursday the Freshmen were enrolled. A very strong class was put on record. The Sophomores were enrolled Friday. Up to Wednesday noon the total number registered was 157. The number in the Senior class was 20.

Prof. Pegues has made it plain this year that there will be no hazing in the school. The county board is behind him, and he says he is going to see that it is enforced. This is a wise step, as this initiating business always carries with it bad results.

A SURPRISE WEDDING

An event which was rather unexpected by the people of Clanton was the recent marriage of Mr. Jesse Baker to Miss Alice Wyatt. The happy couple caught No. 3 Tuesday evening and sped away to Montgomery, where they were united in the happy bonds of holy wedlock Tuesday night. After they were married they resumed their journey south, and we understand that their destination will be Jacksonville, Fla. They will return to Clanton the latter part of the week, to make their home here.

Mr. Baker is well known in Clanton and Chilton county, having been in business here for the past several years. He is at present the county treasurer of Chilton, and has for several years been engaged in the mercantile business. He has a large number of friends all over Chilton county. His bride is the charming daughter of Mr. James M. Wyatt, and is admired by a huge circle of friends. Miss Wyatt has for the past year been working as saleslady for different dry goods concerns in Clanton, where she has made lots of acquaintances and friends.

The Union-Banner joins the other innumerable friends of the contracting parties in wishing them a long and happy life together. We hope that nothing may come into their lives that will mar their uninterrupted happiness, but that their journey as life companions may be extended indefinitely and strewn all along with flowers of rare beauty and fragrance.

GONE BACK TO FORT PAYNE

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Wyatt and children left Sunday for their home in Fort Payne. Mrs. Wyatt and children have been here with their people while Mr. Wyatt has been in the state legislature at Montgomery. Hereafter, what time Mack is not in the legislature he will be at his place of business in Fort Payne. The legislature will be over in about two or three weeks.

Mr. J. J. Pickens purchased the Joe Grooms Buick car which was sold by the sheriff under the ruling of the prohibition laws. Whiskey was found in this car several months ago.

A BIG-HEARTED MAN IS MR. W. W. FOX

Makes Free Deed to 100 Acres of Land to Mr. Gwathney.

Mr. W. W. Fox, prominent citizen of Clanton, today mailed a deed to 100 acres of land near Clanton to Mr. Arthur S. Gwathney, Woodville, Ala. Mr. Fox donated the land in lieu of the sympathetic help which Mr. Gwathney lent Mr. and Mrs. Fox when they were pinned under their burning car near the Gwathney home on the night of August 6th.

Mr. Fox and his wife were returning from a trip in the northern states, where they had been for several weeks. When they were about 30 miles southeast of Huntsville, near the small town of Woodville, the road being slick from fresh asphalt, and it being on a stiff curve, the car skidded and the front wheels went into a ditch. The car was turned upside down and Mr. and Mrs. Fox were both fastened underneath so that neither could get out. The car caught on fire. They called for help, but their attempts were in vain. Finally after the car had been on them half an hour, Mr. Gwathney heard their screams and came to the scene. The latter being old and crippled could render them no service, but sent his wife to a telephone and called some more men to come and help. The men came, but were afraid to venture near the burning car as the gas tank was liable to explode any second. But Mr. Gwathney persuaded them to follow him and they would raise the car in spite of the danger to their lives. This was done, and less than two minutes after Mr. and Mrs. Fox were removed the gas tank exploded setting the whole fragments on fire. Both Mr. Fox and his wife were taken to a hospital in Huntsville, where Mrs. Fox died a few days later. Mr. Fox has now practically recovered from the injuries he sustained.

It was for this act of kindness and sympathy that Mr. Fox did the great deed of human interest by donating the tract of land to his benefacttor. Mr. Gwathney is about 60 years old, and is the owner of no land but has always rented land and farmed. He has a wife and seven children, who are in rather needy circumstances. Neither Gwathney nor his wife are able to work, so the act of Mr. Fox in giving them a home will give them a chance to make a decent living for their little children.

This land which Mr. Fox donated to Mr. Gwathney is located five miles north of Clanton, and is some of the best farming land in Chilton county. The place has nice buildings on it and is worth some eight or ten thousand dollars. Although Mr. Fox is receiving no money for the tract of land, he says that he is getting the best price for this property of any that he has ever sold.

The remains of the old car were given to Mr. Zanie L. Parker, to whose home Mr. and Mrs. Fox were taken to wait for the ambulance to carry them to Huntsville after the accident. Mr. Fox visited the scene of the accident last week, where he personally called on the people who rendered unto him this service when he was in trouble. Mr. Fox said that he could not show them the proper appreciation without seeing them face to face.

W. W. Fox has always been a man who had a profound interest in the happiness and welfare of his fellowbeings. But this act of appreciation and love for those who administered unto him and his loving companion when they were sorely and frightfully in need of help and sympathy, shows that he carries a heart as large and as sympathetic as ever beat within the bosom of man. He will long be remembered by his host of friends for this deed of kindness.

O. B. McAfee and Miss Eva Seales.

Wm. J. Wright and Miss May Ellison.

RARE MEXICAN COIN

Mr. W. A. Calloway of Clanton brought into our office this week an old silver coin the like of which we have never seen before. It is a Mexican dollar and is about the same size of the U. S. dollar. The coin was minted in 1823, just one hundred years ago, and shows scars of much use and ill treatment. Mr. Calloway says that he came in possession of it about thirty years ago, but does not know where he got it from.

RISE IN COTTON IS GIVEN DURING WEEK

August Report on Crop by Government Causes Big Jump at Close

New Orleans, Sept. 6.—There was a gradual rise in the early sessions last week in the cotton market and a rapid rise in the closing session when the August report on the crop by the government caused a bulge of $5.00 a bale. Lowest prices of the week were made on the opening session while the highest prices were made on the closing session. At the lowest the trading months were 15 to 21 points under the close of the preceding week while at the highest they were 120 to 126 points over. Prices moved within a range of 135 to 147 points and closed at net gains on the week of 108 to 13 points. October traded at its lowest at 23.29 cents a pound, at 24.70 at its best and closed at 24.57. In the spot department middling gained 50 points in the net results, closing at 24.75 cents a pound against 21.75 on the close of this week last year.

During practically the whole week the market was dominated by end of August reports on the crop, during the earlier sessions by forecasts of the government figures on condition and on the closing session which was Friday, by the official itself. According to the department of agriculture the condition of the crop on August 25th was 54.1 per cent of normal indicating a yield of 10,788,000 bales. Rains in Texas and Oklahoma, breaking the long drouth over the cotton areas of those two sattes, were regarded as the most important weather events of the week, but they came too late to affect the figures of the end of the August period. Too much rain was complained of in the eastern belt, where in many sections increased insect damage was noted.

It is generally considered that this coming week, it must remain much of a weather market, with special reference to condition over Texas, but at the same time the trade will be forced into consideration of the progress of ginning because the first ginning period of the season ended with the close of ugust and the census bureau will issue its figures on it at the end of this coming week. Private estimates of the output of Texas gins runs high, because the drouth of the earlier part of August caused much forced maturity of plants and premature opening of bolls. It is likely that private forecasts of ginning will have much to do with the week's fluctuations in prices.

THE OAK GROVE TANGLE

We learn from some of the residents of the Oak Grove community just north of Jemison, that the Baptist church at that place is having a little trouble within its bounds. The condition seems to be something like this: Rev. Faulkner, the pastor, has been dealing rather harshly in the church with the whiskey forces of that community, some of whom are members of his church. So Rev. Faulkner not many days age received through the mail a letter from an unknown party signed "Ku Klux Klan." This letter threatened the preacher rather strongly for raising so much sand against whiskey in the church. Rev. Faulkner, believing that the Ku Klux had nothing to do with sending the letter mailed it to the Klan. In reply he received from the Ku Klux a nice letter commending him for the stand which he had taken against the evils of whiskey. So, it is very evident that the threatening anonymous letter received by Rev. Faulkner was not from the Klan but was sent by some one in the community who is connected with the whiskey forces.

We are proud to hear that the better element in the Oak Grove church is strictly behind the pastor in his fight against the whiskey traffic. The church is no place for a fellow who is continually messing with booze, and we commend the pastor for his brave stand against such ungodly practices. We don't believe the time has yet come when the church of God has to be run by people who care so little for themselves and the cause of Christianity as to unlawfully indulge in the use of intoxicating liquors.

TRAFFIC POLICE

Mr. J. P. Gore has been added to the Clanton police force. We understand that Mr. Gore's principal duty will be to keep the cars straight and parked in accordance with the traffic laws of the city. This is indeed a wise step of the city officials. Many of our people need to be taught considerably how to observe the traffic laws.

CONFERENCE SUNDAY NIGHT

We are requested to announce that the Frendship Baptist Church will hold a called conference next Sunday night. The purpose of the meeting is to call a pastor and other officers of the church and Sunday school for the coming year. It is hoped that all the members of this church will be present at this meeting.

Mr. James Forsyth, who has been working in a printing office in LaFolette, Tenn., for the past two years, is spending a few days with his mother here, Mrs. Daily Miller.

HOWARD-DeKALB SCHOOL AT FORT PAYNE DEDICATED

Governor William W. Brandon spent Monday in Fort Payne, Ala., where he delivered an address upon the occasion of the dedication of a new school building, which recently was presented to DeKalb county, on behalf of the boys and girls of the Lookout Mountain section, by Milton W. Howard, novelist and former Alabama Congressman.

Mr. Howard, who is the author of "Peggy Ware," "The Bishop of the Ozarks" and other novels the scenes of which are laid in the mountain sections of Alabama, recently appeared on the screen in a Montgomery Theatre in the title role of the motion picture adaption of "The Bishop of the Ozarks."

The school just dedicated at Fort Payne is one of a system of such schools which he proposes to establish for the education of the younger generation whose homes are in the mountain sections of his native state.

MRS. BRIDGES WINS HONOR

Mrs. John M. Bridges of Richmond, Va., daughter of Judge and Mrs. L. H. Reynolds, is quite an artist when it comes to handling a set of knitting needles. She sent in samples of her work to the National Knitters Association of Philadelphia, which concern puts on a nation-wide contest every year. The friends of Mrs. Bridges will be pleased to learn that she received a high grade on her work and was awarded a diploma of honorable mention by this association. Mrs. Bridges did not get one of the prizes, but she got the same grade on her work that the association awarded Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, the first lady of the land. This is quite a distinction, and we are proud of the record this former Clanton lady has made.

LOCK 12 NEWS

Saw milling is all the go now. Mr. Dudley Thompson will soon move his mill to Tallapoosa county. Mr. Joe Ray, his sawyer is talking of going with him.

It seems that we have some bad boys in this community, as some one has been moving well curbs.

Mr. Less Powell, who has been taking summer course at Howard College, is visiting his sister, Mrs. Joe Ray.

Mrs. A. W. Powell of Pensacola, Fla., has been spending a few days with her daughter, Mrs. Joe Ray.

Mr. Charlie Sanders and wife of Sylacauga were here last week attending the funeral of Miss Littleton, an aunt of the latter.

Protracted meetings are all the go here now, as they have been going on about seven weeks. We hope for better times.

After a months stay with relatives and friends here, Mrs. A. W. Powell and daughter, Miss Nettie have returned to their home in Pensacola, Fla.

SHERIFF LITTLEJOHN BUSY

Sheriff Littlejohn reports to us that he and his deputies during the past few days have succeeded in locating and demolishing several wild cat distilling outfits in this county. One or two were torn up in the Dry Valley community, and some one or two more near the Shelby county line. Tom says that it is a hard matter for him to catch anybody in the act of manufacturing whiskey or find any one at the still. But he gets the stills just the same.

HALF MILLION DIE IN JAPAN 'QUAKE

Over Hundred Mile Area From Capital Swept by Catastrophe, Destroying Structures and Piling Dead Everywhere.

San Francisco, Sept. 3.—Food riots have broken out in Tokio, according to a radiogram received here tonight by the Radio corporation from Iwaki station, 155 miles from Tokio. The gendarmeries are reported in these dispatches to have exerted the most strenuous measures to suppress the disorders, even attacking the rioters with their swords.

A number of Koreans were in the mob, the advices said.

The advices confirmed earlier reports of a great fire in Yokohama and an estimate that there had been at least 100,000 casualties there.

The fires, the message said, were caused by or followed by the explosion of oil storage tanks in the city, where reserves of fuel oil for the merchant and naval marine were kept.

The advices also confirmed earlier reports of the submergence of the Island of Enoshima, "Picture Island," one of Japan's most beautiful spots. This island, the message said, was swept away by a tidal wave, as were also Honomuku and Isoko, villages in the vicinity of Enoshima.

Many Europeans, visitors and residents of that section, are missing.

Nogeyama, a better class residential section of Yokohama, Iseyama, another section, where stood a notable statue of Io Nasosuke, prime minister of the Shogun at the time Japan was opened to foreign intercourse, and Kamonyama, a third section, all were destroyed, leaving thousands in extreme misery.

There has been no news received in Japan from the Bonin Islands, on which is located a cable relay station and it is feared, the advices declared, that the land there was submerged by the tidal wave following the trembler.

New Death List Reaches Half Million

The report reached San Francisco Wednesday morning that the list of casualties from the earthquake in Japan had reached around the 500,000 mark. The U. S. Consul and his wife died in the crash. It is feared that several missionaries lost their lives also.

COMMON FOLKS

The same thing is true of common folks that Abe Lincoln said about poor folks. He said: "The Lord evidently loves them or he wouldn't have made so many of them." We like good, everyday, plain, honest people. Many folks who attempt to "put on airs" are not the equal of the plain, unassuming sort. We are all pretty much alike under the skin. The fellow who gets to holding his head too high, often takes a tumble. Our bank is a people's bank where all receive courteous treatment, no matter what their station in life.

Next Saturday night and Sunday are our regular preaching days. Rev. R. S. Chandler will preach on Saturday night. We hope to have a large crowd at each service.

The United Singing Society will meet at this place Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. We invite all singers and lovers of music to be with us. Don't miss it.

CENTRAL ALABAMA HOSPITAL

Dr. Gragg informs us that the Central Alabama Hospital was full to capacity last week with patients, but that it is kindly reduced down this week. There are only about a half dozen patients there now.

Mrs. W. P. Lowery was discharged last week greatly improved.

There have been some noticeable improvements made on the yards of the hospital for the past few weeks. The yard has been divided into sections, and the ground is being prepared for flowers to be planted. When the present plans have been perfected, the hospital yards will be a beautiful place to look upon.

A big boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Alfonza Robinson Saturday night. They are indeed proud of their new companion.

OAK GROVE NEWS

The Junior B. Y. P. U. of Oak Grove gave a cream supper last Saturday night for the benefit of the church. There was a large crowd present and everybody seemed to have had amighty nice time and enjoyed the cream and cake fine. Almost everybody fished some out of the fishing bowl.

Sunday was our singing evening. There was a large and good attendance. The Oak Hill quartett was there and rendered some beautiful music.

Our B. Y. P. U. is progressing nicely. We had a large crowd there Sunday ginht. Miss Lesta Cobb had charge of the program, which was a splendid success.

The Juniors are improving with Mr. W. J. Northcutt as leader.

Mrs. W. A. Martin and mother, Mrs. D. W. Wilkins and Mr. and Mrs. H. Faulkner motored to Maplesville last Friday.

Rev. Jones, pastor of the Oak Hill Methodist church near Jemison, was in Clanton Saturday. Rev. Jones is a resident of Cullman, and while he was filling his appointment at his church at Oak Hill dropped down to Clanton for a short while. We learn that a revival is going on at his church this week.

Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Easterling are the proud parents of a big baby boy. It arrived some time last week.

Mr. L. O. Vickers and son, Wallace, were in Clanton Monday for the first time in several months. Mr. Vickers is now living near Thorsby.

Child-birth

Here is a wonderful message to all expectant mothers!

When the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says:

"With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used Mother's Friend and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes." Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., BA 46, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all drug stores—everywhere.

NOTICE OF LOCAL LAW

Notice is hereby given that the proposed local bill which is hereinafter set out will be introduced at the present session of the legislature of Alabama.

A BILL
To be entitled
AN ACT

To provide for the election of a County Superintendent of Education for Chilton County, Alabama, to fix his term of office, to prescribe his salary, and the way and manner of payment, to define his qualifications, powers and duties, to provide the way and manner of filling vacancy in said office, to provide the manner and method and causes for removing the said County Superintendent of Education, to provide for a special election to be held to elect such County Superintendent under this act and to provide for the election of his successor in office, and to provide for the repeal of all laws in conflict with the provisions of this act.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF ALABAMA:

Section 1. That a County Superintendent of Education for Chilton County, Alabama, shall be elected by the qualified electors of Chilton County, Alabama, who shall hold office until his successor is elected and qualified as hereinafter provided. That within three months after the passage and approval of this act a special election shall be held on a day to be designated and fixed by the Probate Judge of Chilton County, Alabama, for the election of a County Superintendent of Education, who shall hold office until the next general election to be held in the State of Alabama and said County of Chilton, and until his successor elected therein shall have qualified; that said special election shall be conducted and the vote canvassed and the results declared in all respects as now provided by the general election laws of Alabama for the election of County officers. Provided that the person elected as County Superintendent at said special election shall enter upon the duties of his office as soon as he shall qualify thereafter.

Section 2. That at the next general election to be held in said county and state a County Superintendent of Education for Chilton County, Alabama, shall be elected, who shall hold office for a term of four years and until his successor is elected and qualified, unless sooner removed for good cause, and each four years thereafter a County Superintendent of Education for Chilton County, Alabama, shall be elected by the qualified voters of said County at the regular election, nomination for which office may be made in primary elections as other County officers.

Section 3. That the salary of the said County Superintendent of Education shall be fixed by the County Board of Education of said county at not less than fifteen hundred ($1500) dollars per annum, which salary shall be paid in the same way and manner as now provided under the general laws of the state for the payment of salaries of County Superintendents in the several counties.

Section 4. That said County Superintendent of Education shall be charged with the same duties and shall exercise the same powers as are now provided by the general school laws of the state in the conduct of the office of County Superintendent of Education.

No person shall be eligible for political party nomination or for election to the office of County Superintendent of Education of said county who does not as now required hold an Alabama certificate in administration and supervision based as a minimum upon graduation from a standard normal school or equivalent education with at least one year of additional study of college grade and proof of three years of successful educational work within the next preceding five years; provided that, if no person meeting these requirements qualifies for nomination and election as provided in this act, the County Board of Education shall appoint a County Superintendent of Education as provided by the law regulating the appointment of superintendents.

Section 5. That in the event of a vacancy in said office for any cause, except removal, such vacancy shall be filled by the County Board of Education, and the person so appointed shall hold office until the next general election thereafter when his successor shall be elected; that should any County Superintendent be removed for cause by the County Board of Education of Chilton County, such vacancy shall be filled by appointment of the State Superintendent of Education, and his appointee shall hold office as in the case provided by appointment of the County Board of Education. Provided, that the County Board of Education may remove the County Superintendent of Education for immorality, misconduct in office, incompetency, or willful neglect of duty, or when, the best interests of the schools require it; any of which causes must be alleged and proved, and the County Superintendent of Education shall have the right to be heard in his defense as in cases of impeachment against County officers, and all such hearings shall be before the County Board of Education and shall be conducted as in cases provided under the general laws for the impeachment of County officers, and provided that upon such removal for cause any County Superintendent may appeal to the Circuit Court and have a trial by jury.

Section 6. That the duties and powers prescribed by the general laws of Alabama for the office of County Superintendents in the supervision of the schools of the several counties shall apply to and be incumbent upon the County Superintendent. The County Superintendent elected or appointed under the provisions of this act, and before entering upon the duties of said office he must take the oath of office prescribed by the Constitution, and give bond in an amount to be fixed by the State Board of Education in a reputable surety company authorized to do business in Alabama, conditioned upon the faithful performance of the duties of his office, and upon the accounting and paying over to the proper authority of all moneys coming into his hands.

Section 7. That all laws and parts of laws in conflict with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed.

HOUSE PASSES AUTOMOBILE SECTION OF REVENUE BILL

Bill As Passed Does Not Effect Pleasure Cars—Tax Is On Heavy Cars and Trucks.

Two outstanding events of the eighth legislative week were the passage by the House of the automobile section of the general revenue bill and the treatment the "ag" code received at the hands of the House committee on agriculture. In the first case harmony existed, but in the second instance discord prevailed.

By a vote of 70 to 9, the House Wednesday afternoon, August 29 voted to pass the auto license section of the revenue bill. While the measure, as passed, does not affect the pleasure cars, it does levy heavy license tax on the heavier auto trucks and hearses as well as ambulances. License is also provided for all auto trailers.

Some fight was encountered on the measure when the point of ad valorem taxation on automobiles was reached. The clash came over a section which read "that on and after the first day of October, 1924, no license shall be issued to operate a motor vehicle on the highways of this state until the advalorem tax on such vehicle shall have been satisfied, evidenced by a receipt from the tax collector of the county. . . . On and after the first day of October, 1924, every person, firm, or corporation who desires to operate a motor vehicle on the public highways of this state shall first return such motor vehicle for ad valorem taxation to the county tax assessor. . . . Upon payment of taxes due on any motor vehicle the tax collector shall issue a motor vehicle receipt on a form prescribed by, the state tax commission and such receipt shall be the authority for the probate judge to issue a license."

The terms of the measure are regarded by those who opposed it as requiring the automobile owner to pay ad valorem taxes on his auto, whether new or second hand, before he can take it from the dealer, as he cannot drive the automobile away without a

The proposed state "ag" code was emasculated by the House committee on agriculture Thursday, August 30th. The committee adopted the code favorably after they had torn it to shreds. The bill, as amended by the committee, provided that five of the seven proposed members of the state agricultural board shall be farmers. The director of the extension service was left entirely off the board. The state-wide stock law proposed in the bill was eliminated. A section providing that milk used in the manufacture of ice cream shall be pasteurized was stricken. Numerous smaller changes were made in the document.

The bill as proposed would create a board of agriculture with three farmers and four state officials. The officials were to be the state commissioner of agriculture, the director of extension service, dean of the veterinary school at Auburn, and the dean of the Auburn agricultural school. As amended five of the members must be dirt farmers. This tampering with the bill came as a distinct shock to those who had drawn its features.

The tax exemptionists never cease to lay their plans to exempt first one industry and then another. During a strenuous session Wednesday, August 29th, the Senate ran true to the policy shown by the present Legislature and lambasted a measure presented by Senator John Overton asking that tax exemptions be granted cotton mills and other manufactures during the construction era. There was a 16-16 tie when the bill was voted and it took the vote of Lieutenant-Governor McDowell to swing the bill off the floor into the discard heap.

Hardly had this measure been thrust out of the way before Senator Powell, of Tuskegee, introduced another exemption bill into the Senate calling for an exemption from taxation for cotton mills for a period of five years. The bill in many respects is similar to that of the defeated Overton measure.

The bill of Senator John Craft of Mobile to provide for the regulation of short loan making companies, charging high rates of interest was chloroformed by the senate committee on banking and insurance. The committee vote stood four to three against the bill.

A severance tax in Alabama, to be applied on all natural resources commercialized in the state would be made by a bill introduced in both houses of the legislature. Senator George W. Duncan of Limestone introduced the bill in the senate and Rep. Will O. [illegible] of Chambers in the house.

The tax would be levied at three percent on all products taken from the waters, the soil and the forests of the state.

The signing by Governor Brandon of the bill consolidating Albany and Decatur made the two towns one. The population of the new city is approximately 12,000.

Representative Letson, of Marion, has a bill to equalize the terms of all Alabama schools and to provide funds so apportioned. Mr. Letson says his bill is to prohibit the long terms of the white schools of the black belt at the expense of the public schools of the white sections.

By a vote of 18 to 10 the Senate has squashed the desire of Greater Alabama, Inc., for a nation-wide advertising campaign of Alabama's natural resources. The measure was indefinitely postponed.

Europe is fast approaching normal conditions now. There are at this time about ninety-nine wars gong on over there. Where, oh where is that League of Nations?

Europe is beng threatened with another war. What about that league of nations? Is it going to be able to satisfy all the conflicting powers and avert hostilities?

There is admittedly a great surplus of oil, and, if a strike occurs Sept. 1, there may be a shortage of coal. Can the ingenuity of American inventors devise quickly a practical and cheap method of burning oil in stoves and furnaces?

The world has its eyes on President Coolidge to see what he is going to do with King Coal. He successfully solved the police strike when he was president of Massachusetts, and he will handle the coal situation the same way.

The affairs at Montgomery seem to be getting rather balled up. Governor Brandon has come to the conclusion that he is going to have to raise taxes instead of lower them as he promised in his campaign. May God hasten the tme when we can have two strong political parties in the South.

Birmingham got its nickname "The Magic City" from the fact that it grew up so quick and without anyone knowing the cause. Well, it seems to us that Clanton ought to have this name. Although everybody seems to be in a tight for money, yet there is now more buildng going on than ever before. The question arises, where is it coming from? There is indeed something magic about it somewhere.

A tourist passing through Alabama the other day gave out a statement of the condition of the roads through the state. He said that the roads through Alabama were generally good except in Chilton and Shelby counties. Why can't the state highway department get busy and build us some roads in Chilton county. If they are going to wait till we are old and gray headed the highways won't do us much good. Let's have some action.

1924 is election year. And a president is not the only officer to be elected either. Chilton county will have some vacancies to be filled. Unless the legislature takes another swipe at our county and abolishes some more officers we will elect next year a tax assessor, a tax collector, a treasurer, two commissioners to take the place of Littlejohn and Walker, and one member of the county board of education to take the place of Dykes, and probably a county superintendent. It is time somebody was feeling around to see whether the water is going to be the right temperature or not. But Chilton county is scarcely ever lacking on candidates.

OUR SANITATION LAWS

If the citizens of Clanton are abiding by the sanitation laws of the city, then those laws ought to be amended. If they are not abiding by the laws we already have, then the mayor and councilmen ought to get in behind them and force them to it. If we remember correctly an ordinance against the use of dry closets in the town of Clanton was passed once. Well, that ordinance is miserably ignored. Not only the city officials but the property owners as well ought to have too much pride and respect for themselves and their neighbors to keep right up in somebody's back yard an unsightly and miserably offensive open dry closet. There are some sections in Clanton where people can scarcely sit out on their porch at night for the obnoxious odor which literally fills the atmosphere.

The use of dry closets might be excusable way back out in the hills where there is a house about every two miles, but in a civilized town like Clanton where the houses are thickly settled, people certainly ought to give a little attention to sanitation. And especially is there no excuse for having open dry closets where we have as good water works system as we have in Clanton. We sincerely hope that our city officials and citizens as well will look after these conditions.

IMPROVEMENTS AT THORSBY

On passing up the railroad one notices just in the south edge of Thorsby a couple of huge, nice red buildings which somewhat resemble the big industrial plants of Birmingham. These structures are the gin and cotton warehouse of Mr. W. H. Goodgame.

Mr. Goodgame is going at this business right, and it must be costing him some ten or twelve thousand dollars to install the works and buildings which he is erecting. Mr. Goodgame is a hustling business man, and Thorsby should and we are sure does feel proud that they have such an enterprising citizen in their midst. Mr. Goodgame lived in Clanton practically all his life up to four or five years ago, and since leaving here he has certainly made good in Thorsby. He has been in the gin and lumber business ever since leaving here. His establishment has been burned out a time or two, but that didn't cause him to lose hopes. He rebuilt and went at it on still a larger scale, and his success has been phenomenal.

PAGE THE LEAGUE

Spain is engaged in active warfare with native tribesmen in Morocco. There seems to be a clash between monarchical ambition and self-determination. Where is the league of nations, with its remedy already prescribed for just such cases? But this is summertime, and one can hardly expect an anti-war organization to function amid the seductive charms of Lake Geneva and the Alps.

NO NEW DISCOVERY

After conducting an extensive investigation in Baltimore, the U. S. Children's Bureau announces that "poverty is an important factor in infant mortality." Undoubtedly. Ignorance, or a low order of mentality, or addiction to evil habits, are the chief causes of poverty. Therefore, raise the average standard of personal conduct and intelligence and you reduce poverty and infant mortality. Which everybody knew before the extensive investigation was conducted in Baltimore.

THE SHIPPING SITUATION

Those who view world conditions so pessimistically should consider the shipping situation. Figures of the Department of Commerce show that in the year ended June 30, last, there was a decrease in world idle ship tonnage of 2,443,000 tons. In our own government-owned fleet there was a decrease of 155,000 idle tons, and 55,000 tons in privately-owned ships. The figures can mean only one thing, that people all over the world are turning more and more to productive enterprise, and are demanding more extensive equipment for marketing their products abroad. If the present movement continues it will be but a matter of months before pre-war conditions are approximated.

A POOR EXAMPLE

The Pennsylvania mob that killed and injured members of the Ku Klux Klan who were peacefully parading set a poor example to their countrymen. The Klan has been freely criticized as an organization that sets itself above the law, but when verbal attacks give place to murderous assaults, the Klan critics themselves are to be condemned. The Ku Klux Klan should be held strictly answerable to the law, no more and no less so than any other organization or individual. Similarly, an individual or a mob which attacks a Klan member or meeting without provocation should be prosecuted with as much determination as if the attack had been aimed at some other person or organization. The law cannot afford to play favorites, else it will become the object of ridicule and contempt.

NO GUARANTEE

Despite the plain language of the law, many critics of the railroads are still declaring that the transportation act "guarantees" the railroads a net return of 6 per cent. President C. R. Gray of the Union Pacific, has added one more disproof of this assertion by showing that in 1920 the roads actually earned about one third of one per cent, in 1921 they earned about three and one third per cent and in 1922 about four and one seventh per cent. There is no escaping the truth of Mr. Gray's conclusion: "It is perfectly clear, therefore, that the law in no sense guarantees the earnings of the railroads. If it did, the government would owe the railroads more than a billion dollars for deficits in 1920, 1921, and 1922.

And yet there are some people who have so little regard for the truth that they will go on asserting that in the Transporattion Act Congress guaranteed the earnings of the railroads.

BRTHDAY SINGING

On last Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Powell a birthday singing was given by their daughter, Miss Mabel Powell, celebrating her 16th birthday. There were seventy-five present at this singing and it was indeed a splendid singing. Mabel received many beautiful presents of which she is very thankful.

After the singing was over six large birthday cakes were served.

We thank every one for their good singing and cordially invite them back again.

FOOD EXPORTS

Senator Underwood of Alabama is admittedly the ablest of Democratic statesmen, and is accorded a leading place among the aspirants for the nomination for President. He is one of the leaders on the Democratic side in the Senate. But with all his prestige in the ranks of his party, it is evident that he falls far short of mastery of the facts and logic of the present economic situation. For instance, he recently attributed the troubles of American farmers to destruction of foreign markets due to failure of the United States to take an active part in European affairs.

Statistics have been many times published showing that our farmers are now selling more in Europe than they did before the war—which proves that our foreign market is better than normal. But comparisons with pre-war times are confirmed by the showing made by comparisons with one year ago.

The Department of Commerce has just published a summary of "Domestic Exports of Principal Food Products" showing that in the seven months of 1923, up to the end of July, we exported food products, which means farm products, to the total value of $962,390,000 as compared with $864,234,000 in the same period of 1922.

If the Democratic party's ablest spokesman and its chief candidate for the presidential nomination gets so far off from the facts as here indicated, what hope has the party to convince the people of the country that it should be entrusted with the management of national business and the shaping of national policies?

The farmers have difficulties confronting them, but they are not likely to entrust solution of those difficulties to a political organization that cannot even understand plain facts. There may be an excuse for bad reasoning—there can't be any good excuse for getting figures twisted.

WHAT KIND?

The New York World, the most rabid of our Democratic-Internationalists, asserts that "early, constructive American intervention in the economic affairs of Europe will help restore the world to its balance." But what kind of "intervention?" Intervention" is a vague and expansive term. Does it mean that we shal. undertake to pay France the amount of money she claims from Germany? Does it mean that we must cance $11,000,000,000 of debts due this country for money loaned and tax our own people to pay the amount? Does it mean that we must send an army to Europe to preserve peace on the Rhine and in the Near East? If "nitervention" does not mean these things, just exactly what does it mean?

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

The Commissioner's Court of Chilton County, Alabama, will let a contract for the erection of a steel bridge at Cooper, Alabama, over the Chestnut Creek. Bridge will be in two strands, one 60 feet in length, the other 80. The court desires two propositions, one steel bridge with cement floor, the other steel bridge with wooden floor. Bridge will be paid for in county warrants. All bids must be filed with the court on or before September 24, 1923, at 10:00 o'clock a.m. The Commissioner's Court reserves the right to reject any and all bids. File bids with L. H. Reynolds, Chairman Court of County Commissioners, Clanton, Alabama.

Severe Indigestion

"I had very severe attacks of indigestion," writes Mr. M. H. Wade, a farmer, of R. F. D. 1, Weir, Miss. "I would suffer for months at a time. All I dared eat was a little bread and butter. . . consequently I suffered from weakness. I would try to eat, then the terrible suffering in my stomach! I took medicines, but did not get any better. and I decided to try it, for, as I say, I had tried others for two or more years without any improvement in my health. I soon found the Black-Draught was acting on my liver and easing the terrible pain.

COOLIDGE STANDS FAST FOR PROTECTION

Washington, Sept. 6, (Special Correspondence)—Among the Harding policies which President Coolidge has assured the country he will maintain during his adminsitration is the support of the principle of a protective tariff. President Coolidge has been a life-long believer in the "America First" policy. He believes in encouraging American industry and protecting the American producer from unjust competition from other nations in which wages and production costs are much lower than in the United States.

Recognizing that there are unsettled conditions throughout most of the world and particularly in Europe, the Republican Congress which passed the present tariff law included therein what is known as the "flexibility clause" which authorizes the President, after investigation by the Tariff Commission, to make changes in tariff rates not exceeding fifty per cent in either direction, when good cause has been shown why the changes should be made. Exponents of the free trade principle looked upon this flexibiity provision as designed solely for the purpose of reducing tariffs. Scarcely had the act been placed upon the statute books when they began clamoring for executive action for the reduction of rates. Without any regard whatever for the reasonableness of the import duties imposed and without any consideration of the effect upon American industries, these free-trade agitators wanted a wholesale exercise of the executive power for the reduction of Republican protective tariff duties.

President Harding did not look upon the flexibility clause as bestowing upon him any such broad power over the tariff law. He regarded the tariff act as establishing not only the tariff principles which should be observed but the details of import taxes, change able only where extraordinary circumstances called for action. He did not regard it as his prerogative to undertake a wholesale revision of a tariff law enacted by that branch of the government which the Constitution prescribes shall have the power to enact revenue legislation. It is readily apparent that President Coolidge takes a similar view.

One clever device of the free traders has been to assume that every move in favor of protection is inspired by politics while every move in the direction of abandonment of protection is actuated by regard for the public welfare. Thus, one periodical, which has an unbroken record aaginst a protective tariff, cites the fact that importers ask for the reduction of the duty on lemons and asserts that "opposition on the part of California fruit growers to any reduction in the duty on lemons has injected a political element into this proposal." As a matter of fact, it did not inject a political element but rather a purely economical element. The sole question is whether the California lemon growers shall be subjected to destructive compteition from abroad.

The same free trade propagandist insists that President Coolidge should give carte blanche to the Tariff Commission, which would mean that he abdicate his authority and shirk his responsibility under the flexibility clause of the tariff law. That law did not vest the Tariff Commission with power to act in changing of rates. It placed that responsibility solely upon the President, merely requiring the Tariff Commission to make investigations as to facts.

DOBBS TO SPEAK

Chilton County is going to have a big treat next week for at that time we are going to have with us A. C. Dobbs, National Lecturer for the United Farmers of America. Mr. Dobbs has been here before and all who heard him speak durnig his previous visits will welcome the news of his coming.

Five public meetings will be held, at the palces mentioned below and on the stipulated dates, at which Mr. Dobbs and others will speak on subjects of vital interest to every man and woman of Chilton County.

Meetings will be held as follows:

Union Grove—Thursday, Sept. 13.—10 A. M.

Jemison—Thursday, Sept. 13—1:30 P. M.

Thorsby—Thursday, Sep. 13—7:30 P. M.

Pool's Cross Roads—Friday, all day.

Cooper—Friday—7:30 P. M.

Clanton—Saturday, all day.

At these meetings, the members of the United Farmers will be given full information in regard to cotton selling. The meeting at Clanton Saturday will be open to the public in the morning and during the afternoon the meeting will be for members only and it is essential that every Local Business Agent in the county attend this meeting.

Further information about these meetings will be given in next week's Union Banner. Look for my letter next week.

The Railroads Help To Educate Your Children

The Railroads contribute a very generous share towards the education of the children of this country. They bear a large percentage of the tax burden which provides for the building and the maintenance of public schools. A large part of the total of more than $300,000,000 which the Railroads pay yearly in State, County and City taxes, is utilized by the various communities to construct school buildings, purchase equipment, and provide an efficient teaching corps for the proper education of children.

The Railroads also help the cause of education by making possible the wide distribution of newspapers, magazines and other forms of educational matter—bringing the people who live in remote hamlets in closer touch with the work and progress of the world.

The Railroads enable the boys and girls who live on the farms or in the towns to go cheaply and quickly to wherever the finest, specialized educational facilities are offered—anywhere in the whole United States.

The Railroads also offer one of the greatest of educational opportunities—that of travel.

Within the territory served by the L. & N., and to which this Railroad contributes its quota of the cost of public education, are found some of the finest public school systems, universities, colleges, military, private and sectarian schools in the United States.

THE OLD RELIABLE

PLETCHER NEWS

Our revival services closed here last Friday. We had a wonderful revival. Three members were received for baptism, and also three by letter. Those for baptism were Misses Ruth and Gracie Abbott, and Mrs. Erma Traywick. Those by letter were Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Traywick and daughter, Hattie.

Most of us feel very lonely as our singing school has just closed, which most of us regret. Everyone seemed to like their teacher, Prof. A. D. Huett, and all learned to love him, and our wishes are to have him again with us in the near future.

Everybody has begun to complain as the time is fast approaching for them to visit Mr. Boll Weevil.

Mrs. Mamie Harris returned to her home at Mulga Sept. 28th, after visiting her father, Mr. R. P. Kendrick and relatives here.

Messrs. Sam Dykes and Dewey Huett of near Verbena attended the revival at Pilgrim's Rest on Wednesday night of last week.

Quite a crowd of young people from here attended the home coming day at Adams last Saturday and report a nice time.

Miss Jewel Abbott left last Friday to spend a few days with her aunt, Mrs. D. T. Reed of Plantersville.

The children of Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Wilson, accompanied by Misses Ruth and Gracie Abbott and Miss Gladys Williams entered school at Stanton Monday.

Misses Gladys Williams and Ruth Abbott spent Sunday with their loving cousin, Miss Gracie Abbott.

POOR ORIGINAL

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. NORTON, Manager)

Rev. John J. Milford, D. D., of Birmingham, will preach at the Baptist church next Sunday, mornng and evening. There is some talk of calling Dr. Milford as pastor of the church, and it is expected that the matter will be settled in the near future.

The Congregational Ladies' Aid Society will meet with Mrs. Butler on Thursday, Sept. 6th.

Mr. Luther Davenport and family have moved from one of Mrs. Villadsen's cottages to the late residence of Mr. L. C. Robinson, who has moved his family to Birmingham.

Rev. E. W. Butler, Rev. James W. Davenport, Almon raham, and Misses Margaret Butler and Ruth Turner, attended the county Sunday school association meetings at Verbena Sunday and Monday.

Thorsby public school opened Monday morning, Sept. 3rd. Special exercises were held and addresses made by Senator Adams and Rev. Davenport, for Thorsby citizens, and Chas. A. Peterson and Mrs. Chas. S. Howart, for the school board. Enrollment to date is 138, and there are enough more likely to come in to increase the number to 160 to 175.

The faculty consists of Prof. C. M. Williams, principal, 6th and 7th grades; Miss Lena Franklin, 4th and 5th grades; Mrs. Lila Mae Bice, 2nd and 3rd grades, and Miss Eula Mae Vines, primary department, for which she has taken a normal course especially designed to prepare teachers of first year boys and girls.

A look over the building indicates that as much as could be expected has been done to make it habitable, but no building the size of this one will adequately house Thorsby's public school children.

Thorsby Hardware company have been selected as Thorsby school district repository for state required text books. They will also handle school supplies.

Oak Grove Cemetery

The remarks of "a Birmingham Reader" in last week's Union-Banner might have been somewhat modified had the observer observed a little of the work actually in progress at the time that "walk" was taken in Thorsby city cemetery. During the administration of Mr. E. F. Mead, as mayor of Thorsby, na ordinance was passed, and carried into effect, for the appointment of a committee of citizens of Thorsby having full jurisdicton over the management of the said cemetery. All funds received from the sale of lots, or parts of lots, or other sources, must be turned into the city treasury, and as stipulated in the said ordinance, applied to a specal fund, known as "The Cemetery Fund," to be used by the cty clerk in paying bills for work or other expenses incident to the care of the cemetery, when such bills are audited by at least two members of the cemetery committee. This fund is in no case to be used for any other purpose.

During the administration, for two terms, or four years, of Mr. R. L. Carter as mayor, no appointments were made for members of the cemetery committee, and beyond making a plat and blue prints of the grounds, but little was done.

Since the administration of Mr. Nat S. Bentley, as mayor, began last fall, there has been a good deal of activity among lot owners in the matter of improving the appearance of their property. The result has been to stimulate greater activity on the part of the committee and even before the observer walked there was "something doing." Members of the committee had gone before the council and nduced them to hunt up that cemetery ordinance and take such action as was needed to provide a full committee and inform them what funds were at their disposal. The committee now consists of Mrs. J. H. Goddard, chairman; Mrs. E. F. Mead, Chas. . Peterson, Wm. Billingsley and Ed. Piper. Plans were made for clearing up more of the tract, laying out and opening up walks and driveways and a general improvement worthy of the place and the committee. There has been some difficulty in securing necessary help to do this, because t was a matter that did not have to be done right now. If "observer" wants to secure a beautiful lot, large or small, Mrs. Goddard will give the matter prompt and courteous attention.

To automobile owners in and near Thorsby: If you are not ashamed of our town help boost it by securing from Thorsby Hardware Company one of those neat and showy "Thorsby" signs made of steel, neat and durable, attach it to your car and let the world know that Thorsby is on the map.

Mr. Herbert Peterson has been appointed L. & N. station agent at Hanceville, Ala., and is moving his family there this week. They will be missed in Thorsby.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Martin had as their guests last Sunday Mrs. Frank Rawley, a sister of Mrs. Martin, from Jackson, Tenn., and two nephews, Jessie Ayyen and Frank Rawley. Mrs. Martin's mother, Mrs. Jessie Allen, also her sister and brother, Barbara and Louis Allen, from near Jemison; Mr. Emmett C. Smith and wife with their ltlle daughter, Everee, living near Cedar Grove. Mrs. Smith is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin.

Mrs. Carl Hansen, of Hugo, Okla., is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Carl C. Petersen. Mrs. Hansen is a niece of Mr. Petersen.

Bank deposits in a town are usually a pretty fair index of the general prosperity of the people in the contiguous territory. Thorsby has a population of between 500 to 600 with a fairly prosperous surrounding farming section. The Bank of Thorsby has received since January 1st, 1923, by months to August 1st average daily deposits as follows: January $3,430.00, February $3,034.00, March $3,023.00, April $3,677.00, May $4,443.00, June $2,939.00, July $2,594.00. Daily average deposits since Jan. 1st to Aug. 1st, $3,395.00.

Rev. J. W. Davenport and family have returned from their trip to Litton, Tenn.

Thorsby Institute will open the fall term at 9:30 a.m., Wednesday, Sept. 12th. There will be interesting exercises to which the public is cordially nvited.

The graduates of Thorsby Institute for the year 1923 will spend this coming year in the following places:

Misses Pearl Carlson and Ena Grenn will attend school in Chicago.

Misses Mary Ella Gerald and Esther Johnson, Piedmont College, Demorest, Ga.

Wilbur Peterson, Technical School, Detroit, Michigan.

Truman Pierce, Birmingham-Southern College, Birmingham.

Miss Edth Robinson, Woman's College, Montevallo, Ala.

Yancey Kelley, who has spent the summer in Vermont, now plans to remain in the North the coming winter.

Nels Nelson, a 1922 graduate, will attend Auburn Polytechnic Institute, Auburn, Ala.

Miss Jennye Robinson, a graduate of 1922, will attend the Woman's College, Montevallo, Ala.

Miss Bessie Hughes, a graduate of 1921, will attend Piedmont College, Demorest, Ga.

Miss Ruth Gerald, a 1920 graduate, will attend Piedmont College, Demorest, Ga.

We hope, by the next issue, that we will know definitely what the other three members of last year's class are planning to do.

Misses Medie Swilley and Dora Lee Hunt, Mr. Plato Deason, and Mr. Ben Brown, former students of T. I., have returned to Thorsby and are now at school helping Miss Leech get the buildings ready for school.

Mrs. T. A. Shannon has returned to her home in West Point, Ga., after a short stay with her daughters, Mrs. N. C. Petersen and Miss Nell Shannon.

WAITED TILL THE COWS CAME HOME

"I am indeed glad to write you this letter. I was a terrible sufferer from gasses in the stomach and colic attacks. She specialist, our family doctor sent me to ni Philadelphia, gave me no relief, although I took his medicine till the cows came home. He finally said I would have to be operated. Luckily I heard of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy then, and although it is now three years since I took a course of it, I have never had a symptom of my old trouble since." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, insluding appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.—Alred Drug Co., and druggists everywhere.

Physically Run-Down

THE DOOR of opportunity flings wide its portals only to the man who is up and doing—who is filled with pep and punch—with rich, red blood tingling through his veins. Mountain size obstacles dwindle to ant hills and ambitions become accomplishments to these sort of men.

Where is the employer who seeks the man who is physically run-down?—The man without stamina to withstand the knocks and gaff of the hurrying, scurrying world of business?

S. S. S. is the long established and time honored creator of red blood cells. You cannot expect to get very far up the ladder unless you are equipped with a body that is strong and vigorous. S. S. S. will start you on your way. Don't allow the "Door of Opportunity" to be closed to you because you have not the stamina to withstand the gaff—because your nerve power is lacking. Build up your system!

S. S. S. made of carefully selected and scientifically prepared and proportioned herbs and barks makes you fit! Get back that old time punch! When opportunity knocks be ready to answer the call!

STATE NEWS HAPPENINGS

ALABAMA NEWS HAPPENINGS

A Resume of the More Important Events of Interest Condensed To An Epitomized Form.

An incident occured in Grensboro last week that accentuates anew the friendly feeling between the negro and white. Two old negro women willed their property to their white friends as an expression of their gratitude for kindness and good treatment during their association of some 30 years. One old woman was bedridden and entirely helpless with rheumatism, but she received the kindest care from her white employers, for whom she had worked so long. Her way of returning thanks was to will her small property to them. This they did not keep, but after paying for her funeral, they turned the remainder over to relatives. The other, who was accidently killed, was found to have willed her house and lot to the people for whom she had wasned for 20 years continuously.

Beneath a fiery cross, between 1,500 and 2,000 candidates will be initiated into the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan September 11, at Edgewood Park, near Birmingham. More than 5,000 Klansmen in full regalia will have charge of the induction. The famous band of the Chattanooga Klan will furnish music for the occasion. The day will be given over to the ceremonial. A picnic is to be held, open to the public, prior to the naturalization ceremonies. The Birmingham Klan will be hosts. Visitors from the entire South are expected to be present and witness the affair. The ceremonies start promptly at 8 o'clock in the dry bed of the lake at Edgewood.

Chairman John A. Rogers, of the State Highway Commission, acting upon the request of Highway Commissioner S. P. McDonald, has called a special session of the State Highway Commission to be held on Monday, Sept. 10, beginning at 10 o'clock a. m. The meeting is to held for the purpose of taking action on Mr. McDonald's suggestion that the resignation of the state highway engineer and two subordinate engineers be asked for.

The "Master Schools," which form- Congressman M. W. Howard is founding on the top of Lookout Mountain in DeKalb county, was formally dedicated Sunday, Sept 2, and Gov. W. W. Brandon delivered the dedicatory address. An old fashioned basket dinner and all day picnic were features. Mr. Howard expects to build a school for the training of mountain boys and girls in the northern part of the state.

Some much needed work is being put through on the streets of Greensboro by the city authorities. They are being put in shape for the expected autumn trade that will pass over them as soon as the cotton is brought in to be ginned. In fact, the whole town has been put in fine condition by Mayor Taylor. Much good has resulted from the fight made on the mosquito. There have been very few during the summer.

Present whereabouts of Miss Bell Kimberly, who lived in Anniston 25 years ago, is being sought by S. B. Harrison, of Empire, Ga., in order that the woman may receive part of an estate left of an uncle, J. M. Wimberly. The Georgia man has written from his home that all the heirs of the estate have been located except the one who lived in Anniston in 1898.

From October 9 to 13, inclusive, Selma will have an up-to-date county fair, featured by exhibitions in agricultural and domestic science, art, live stock exhibitions and horse races.

The second infestation of the army or cotton leaf worm is reported from all sections of North Alabama and fear is expressed that considerable damage will result.

The Tuscaloosa Chamber of Commerce will enter a contest instituted by the United States Chamber of Commerce in which prizes will go to the chamber of commerce or other civic association which receives the highest rating in fire prevention activities during 1923.

The Huntsville city council has adopted a resolution giving free water for a period of five years to every business house that is erected within the city limits at an approximate cost of $100,000.

Telling the World about Alabama

Full page advertisements which have appeared in Manufacturers Record, Iron Age, Textile World, American Wool and Cotton Reporter, Cotton, Southern Textile Bulletin, and Furniture Manufacturer and Artisan.

Alabama Power Company is an Alabama corporation. Every dollar of its capital is invested within the boundaries of the State. A mutuality of interest therefore exists between Alabama Power Company and the people of Alabama. Whatever helps Alabama and its people helps Alabama Power Company.

In realization of this common interest, Alabama Power Company is endeavoring to attract new industries, investors and homeseekers to Alabama, by the following methods:

—BY ADVERTISING in such nationally circulated trade publications as Manufacturers Record, Iron Age, Textile World, American Wool and Cotton Reporter, Cotton, Southern Textile Bulletin, and Furniture Manufacturer and Artisan.

—BY MOTION PICTURES: "King Cotton," "Minerals and Metals" and "Electricity at Work," depicting manufacturing conditions in all major Alabama industries, being shown in Alabama, in every State in the Union, and at every national industrial exposition of consequence in the North and East.

—BY EXHIBITS at the International Textile Exposition at Boston, the National Exposition of Power and Mechanical Engineering at New York, and the National Exposition of Chemical Industries.

—BY RADIO BROADCASTING talks of civic organization representatives, who tell of the resources, advantages and opportunities afforded by their respective communities.

—BY PERSONAL SOLICITATION of representatives of the Company in Northern and Eastern industrial centers, who give first-hand information about Alabama to manufacturers, investors, etc.

New industries help your community, help you and us. They mean more consumers of raw and semi-finished materials of the community in which located; new consumers of power; an increase in taxable property for the state, counties, and municipalities; an increase in consuming populations, with wages to spend for grown and manufactured products—new customers for every trade, business and profession. No matter what your occupation, new industries help you.

THE HELPFUL AND CONSTRUCTIVE SUGGESTIONS AND CO-OPERATION OF THE PEOPLE OF ALABAMA WILL MATERIALLY ASSIST US IN THE CAMPAIGN WHICH WE ARE CONDUCTING TO ATTRACT NEW INDUSTRIES TO OUR STATE.

The Value of Land Abstracts

It is not safe to buy land or to lend money and accept land as security without first investigating the title of the land. Often there are unpaid mortgages, judgments, or other liens affecting the title, which an abstract would set out. Therefore, when buying land or lending money thereon, it is important that an abstract of title be furnished. A few dollars spent for an abstract is cheaper than going ahead and having a law suit a little later on.

COOLIDGE INTENDS TO LAUNCH DRIVE AGAINST LIQUOR

Haynes Outlines Program in Conference With New President.

Washington, Sept. 4.—"Prhoibition through co-operation," is the aim of President Coolidge. He is expected to inaugurate soon an intensive campaign for combined action by federal, state and local officials in enforcing the dry law.

The general lines of the campaign were fixed at a two-hour conference Tuesday afternoon at the White House between the President and Prohibition Commissioner Haynes, who has just returned here from his home in Hillsboro, O., where he was ill for several weeks.

Practical measures for securing co-operation will be worked out as follows:

1. Either by a literal "convention" —as Haynes dubs it—of state governors here in the very near future, or

2. By a general appeal to state and local authorities for co-operation with federal agents.

It is very likely that the convention of governors will be called, in accordance with the announced intention of the late President. No date has been fixed, Haynes said, except that the conference would be held as soon as possible when it is finally decided what is the best plan for tackling the enforcement problem.

Haynes is now formulating the agenda of the conference, which he said would probably last two or three days and would go into all phases of enforcement in the various states.

He declined to reveal the specific proposals that would be presented at the conference, but outlined the general nature of the governments' program.

"The proposals," he said, "include the question of how best the state officials can co-operate with federal officials through the various local agencies. There may be meetings of the judiciary called in the state to study their local problems. There will probably be special appeals to the churches to set aside a day to discussing the problem, and to the press to publish editorials at a stated time urging co-operation.

Withholding of a final decision as to an actual conference of governors here is understood to be due to President Coolidge's caution in taking any steps that would create any dissension. Though there were only 16 governors at President Harding's conference last year, the meeting was not entirely without discord. Governor Hitchie of Maryland stood up boldly and announced that in his opinion the problem of enforcing the prohibition law was wholly up to the state. Since that time there has been the repeal of th estate enforcement act in New York, another disturbing factor.

Haynes' conference with the President was his first opportunity to discuss at length the prohibition question. He stated that it was 'mos't satisfactory." It is understood that the prohibition commissioner pointed out to Coolidge the difficult situation which has arsen in some states because of the appointment at the advice of "wet" senators of prohibition agents now in sympathy with the dry law. Haynes said he did not discuss the possible use of the army and navy for enforcing the prohibition law.

STILL CAPTURED; ONE MAN CAUGHT

The sheriff's force returned to Clanton Tuesday afternoon from the Ratliff community near Pletcher with one whiskey still and one man, Millard Ratliff. The still was a 60-gallon barrel outfit. 500 gallons of beer and five gallons of whiskey were taken by the officers. The officers came up on the scene while the outfit was in operation. Two men were operating the still, but only Millard Ratliff was caught, the other fellow escaping. Ratliff was brought to Clanton and lodged in the county jail. The officers taking part in the raid were, Littlejohn, Culp and J. H. Foshee.

Chances Are He Didn't.—A girl in Johannesburg recently ran for 56 miles. The report doesn't say whether the man got away or not.—London Daily News.

Mrs. G. O. McKee from Montgomery arrived Monday for a visit to friends in Clanton.

Mrs. Martin Nix and daughter are spending this week at Wilton where they will move in the near future.

Mrs. N. S. Johnson and daughter, Miss Jean, left Sunday for Nashville where Jean will be in school this winter.

The friends of Mr. Jim Roberts will be glad to learn that he is doing nicely at the Central Alabama Hospital where he has Typhoid fever.

Misses Audrey Fuller and I rma Ware of Bessemer returned home Sunday after a couple weeks visit to Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Plier.

Mrs. Hubert Jones from Birmingham is visiting friends and relatives here this week.

Mr. L. C. Henley is spending a few days in Clanton with friends and relatives.

Mrs. Joe Gore is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Tom Thompson in Selma this week.

Bride Honored.

One of the prettiests of the season's parties was a shower given by Mrs. E. E. Upchurch honoring Mrs. Latham Ellis.

The home was lavishly decorated in garden flowers and pot plants. The guests were met by Mrs. John Ellis and Mrs. P. T. Hinkle and invited to register in the Bride's Book, presided over by Mrs. Mallie White. From here they were invited into the sun parlor where a delicious beverage was served from a prettily appointed table banked with zenias and ferns. Misses Mary Upchurch, Marzelle Mullins and Warrine Spigener presided here. Music was rendered by Misses Mertiewil McDonald and Beverly Hester. Vocal solos by Misses Sybil McDonald and Beverly Hester.

Later in the afternoon the guests were invited into the dining room where numerous gifts for the bride were on display.

A lovely salad plate was served to about sixty guests.

After spending some time at Gary Springs, Miss Robert Curry continued her stay a few days in Selma before returning home Monday. She will be present with her S. S. class Sunday and urges a full attendance.

Miss Ruby Armstrong returned home Sunday from a week's visit to relatives in Birmingham.

Mr. Frank Mullins left Tuesday to resume school duties at Howard College.

Mr. Bob Roberts from Mobile is visiting hsi grand mother, Mrs. M. A. Mullins.

Missionary Society Meets.

A very interesting meeting of the W. M. S. of the Methodist church was held on last Monday at the home of Mrs. Clyde Jones. The meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. J. C. Jones, who opened with the reading of the 13th chapter of Corinthians, followed with prayer by Mrs. Kate Anderson.

Reports of the various committees were heard. A committee composed of Mesdames White, Macy Jones and Barney Roberts were appointed to draw up resolutions on the death of Mrs. Fox and a program in her memory will be given on next meeting with program committee being composed of Mrs. Wilkerson, Mrs. McDavid and Mrs. H. Chandler.

Mrs. Macy Jones will leave Friday for a few days visit to her mother, Mrs. Adeline Giddens in Montgomery.

The many friends of Misses Mary Bess and Grace Sims will regret to learn that they have moved with their father to Alexander City.

Miss Annie Martin and Mrs. Williams from Wetumpka were among those enjoying the house party given by Miss Kathleen Mullins last week.

Mr. Jatie Wagoner from Montgomery came up Tuesday for a visit to relatives here.

Mr. Earl Gore will leave Thursday for Bell Buckle, Tenn., where he will enter Webb school again this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Lonza Parrish have moved into the Phillips house on Second avenue.

Upon the resignation of Mrs. Martin Nix, Mrs. Macy Jones was elected to take her place as corresponding secretary and treasurer, and Mrs. Bob Jones as social service chairman.

The usual fall bazaar was briefly discussed. Later in the evening the hostess served a refreshing ice course. About twenty were present.

CIVIC CLUB TO OBSERVE RECIPROCITY DAY SEPT. 11

The Civic Improvement club will observe Reciprocity Day (a request of the State Federation) by tendering a reception to the faculty of both schools and each organization in Clanton at the residence of Mrs. J. P. Hayes, on Tuesday afternoon from 4 till 5 o'clock, September 11th.

The public is cordially invited and each individual is urged to lend his or her presence to help make this occasion a happy and inspiring one.

Mrs. Grady Broadhead, Sec.
Mrs. Hugh Jones, President.

Mrs. Watts Moore Hostess.

On last Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Watts Moore was hostess to the members of her sewing club, entertaining on her spacious porch, made attractive with ferns and flowering pot plants. Fancy sewing was indulged in until late in the evening when a pretty salad plate was served to the following: Mesdames Mallie White, John Armstrong, Clarence Roper, Jack Yates, Barney Roberts, Ervin Luckie, Marion oGre, Mrs. William and Miss Annie Martin from Wetumpka, and Miss Kathleen Mullins.

We are glad to notice that a number of clippings from the state papers that the people of Selma enjoyed a rare treat in hearing Miss Roberta Curry in several vocal numbers during her stay in Selma, singing at Exchange, Rotary, Pilot and Kiwanis clubs and the Presbyterian and Baptist churches.

Dinner Party.

On Wednesday evening Miss Sara Mullins entertained a number of friends at a dinner party in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Latham Ellis.

The dining room and living room were attractive with flowers that brought out a color scheme of pink and green. The center pieces of the tables from which a delicious dinner was served, were baskets of dahlias. Music was enjoyed throughout the evening by Mrs. Jadie Middleton and Miss Alma Robinson.

Those enjoying the hospitality of the occasion were: "The Bride and Groom," Mr. and Mrs. Latham Ellis, Miss Mary Upchurch, Sophia Mullins, Alma Robinson, Billie Jones, Jewell Minor, Mrs. Middleton and the hostess; Messrs. John Ellis, Harry Margolis, Claudy Pipes, and Broadus Connatser.

SUGGESTIONS FROM GRAMMAR SCHOOL

I believe the most of the people of Clanton are willing to do anything that they can to mpirove your school. This is your school, your money and your opportunity. Believing that you are willing t oassist us in improving this school, we wish to call your attention to these suggestions, which hav ethe approval of the entire faculty:

More confusion arises on account of children reaching the school building too early than from any other cause. Therefore, we ask you, when convenient, not to let your children leave home in time to reach the building earlier than eight o'clock. You can readily see what it means if the entire school is present before the teachers arrive.

We also wish to ask you not to allow your child to stay in town after school nor at night, unless necessary.

Yours truly,
W. E. MARTIN, Principal.

Where Your Taxes Go

How Uncle Sam Spends Your Money in Conducting Your Business

XXVI.

EASY COME, EASY GO

Back in 1912, when Mr. Taft was President, and when the gross expenditures of the government were about one-quarter of what they are now, he became exercised and concerned about the higgledy-piggledy, unscientific, disorderly, grab-bag methods by which your money was expended for public purposes. He said then what is equally true now, that the activities of the national government "are almost as varied as those of the entire business world. The operations of the government affect the interest of every person living within the jurisdiction of the United States. Its organization embraces stations and centers of work located in every city and in many local subdivisions of the country.

"This vast organization has never been studied in detail as one piece of administrative mechanism. Never have the foundations been laid for a thorough consideration of the relations of all its parts. No comprehensive effort has been made to list its multifarious activities or to group them in such a way as to present a clear picture of what the government is doing. Never has a complete description been given of the agencies through which these activities are performed.

"At no time has the attempt been made to study all of these activities and agencies with a view to the assignment of each activity to the agency best fitted for its performance, to the avoidance of duplication of plant and work, to the integration of all administrative agencies of the government, so far as may be practicable, into a unified organization for the most effective and economical dispatch of public business."

This extraordinary and indefensible situation, which exists today as fully and completely as it did when Mr. Taft portrayed it seven years ago, came about quite naturally and simply through our tolerance and slackness.

For years and years the government lived and grew and extended its activities on Santa Claus money. Its income came as easily as money in a letter. For years and years the national income was greater than the expenses. Every year there was a surplus.

The government was precisely in the position of the Rockefellers and the Carnegies and the Rothschilds. Its problem was not how to get money enough to live on, but how to spend its income. It naturally got in the way of throwing some of it to the birds. It lived like a remittance man.

You may remember that back in the time of the first Cleveland administration one of the problems of public discussion was: "What shall be done with the surplus?" Then there was a change of administration and Corporal Tanner was made commissioner of pensions. The whole country was amused and had a hearty laugh when he announced his policy: "God help the surplus!" Them was the halcyon days!

Mr. Gilbert, the present undersecretary of the treasury, in an address said:

"The estimates for the year 1920 show that over a billion dollars of expenditures were authorized by the last session of congress in addition to the amount shown in the usual compiled statements of appropriations. In fact, the practice has reached such proportions as to be almost a national scandal, and it was vigorously denounced in the President's last annual message.

"It has become the first principle of strategy on the part of people interested in appropriations for various special purposes to frame the matter so as to authorize the use of the public funds indirectly, or in indefinite terms, or by authorization for expenditure of unexpended balances, perhaps appropriated originally for other purposes, or by authorizations to divert government receipts before they ever reach the treasury. Efforts are made to find general words which do not speak in terms of appropriations and cannot be readily calculated.

"The last session of the present congress, for example, authorized additional expenditures out of balances of prior appropriations and from receipts to the amount of over $500,000,000, including over $400,000,000 for the shipping board. The pressent session of congress by similar procedure takes credit for refusing appropriations for the shipping board, but, at the same time, purposes to authorize the expenditure of receipts in amounts that may reach as high as $200,000,000. By the indefinite appropriation for the railroad guaranty about $650,000,000 was in effect appropriated without appearing in any of the statements of appropriations."

You see how it goes.

NO. 4 HITS AUTO HERE ON TUESDAY NIGHT

Frank Thompson Is Injured; One Negro Killed and Two Others Badly Bruised Up.

Just as north bound fast train No. 4 pulled into the crossing at Clanton Tuesday night, an awful smash-up happened which was heard all over town. The fast train struck an Overland car driven by Frank Thompson and carrying three negroes. The car was caught up on the cow catcher of the train and carried up the track a hundred yards. Frank Thompson and two of the negroes remained in the smashed automobile until the train stopped, but the third negro jumped out of the automobile just as the train struck it, merely to be caught up under the fragments and dragged to death. Thompson and the two negroes remaining in the automobile were bruised up considerably, but they all have a fair chance of recovering. They were put on No. 4 and carried directly to Birmingham for hospital attention. Late reports say that Thompson is resting fairly well and the negroes are still living.

Frank Thompson is the 20-year old son of Dudley Thompson, awell known saw mill man of this section. The negro who met death in the accident was John Murphy, an employee of Thompson. The other two negroes were Walter Vinson and Will Little, also employees of Thompson.

When the old car was taken from the train it was simply smashed into a mass of fragments. Pieces of it were scattered from the crossing to the place where the train stopped. The train was not thrown off the track but in two or three places the cross ties were misplaced by parts of the automobile hanging in behind them. It is not known what caused the wreck, but it is supposed that the driver tried to run across the track in front of the train, and was just a little too late. It is not known what adjustments the railroad company will make.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our friends for the kind help and sympathy extended us during the recent sudden death of our darling mother. We were treated just as nice as could be asked for, and we thank you all for it.

(Signed)—J. C. Jones, B. G. Jones, Claud Jones, Mrs. W. Z. Hodges, Mrs. W. E. Mauk, Mrs. Irene Rasberry, Lake Jones and Oscar Jones.

WORLD SPEED RECORD NOW 238 MILES AN HOUR

Wright-Fighter Plane Attains Great Speed in Trial Flight.

Roosevelt Field, Mineola, L. I., Sept. 10.—World record speed of 238 miles an hour was reached late Monday by the Wright-Fighter airplane that will represent the United States navy next month in the Pulitzer race at St. Louis.

The record flight, which was made over a measured course, was achieved by Lieut. L. H. Sanderson, U. S. M. C., who will pilot the same plane at the Pulitzer competition.

832,000 BALES IS ALABAMA FORECAST OF STATISTICIAN

Alabama Corn Production Is Placed At 47,340,000 Bushels By Gist.

F. W. Gist, agricultural statistician, today forecast a production of 832,000 bales of cotton this year, compared with a total production of 823,000 bales last year. His forecast August 1 on the crop this year was 914,000 bales.

Mr. Gist also estimated that the total production of corn this year will be 47,340,000 bushels compared with a production of 50,932,000 bushels a year ago.

Forecast of production of other principal crops follow:

Peanuts 3,133,000 bushels, compared with a total of 4,500,000 a year ago; hay, 613,000 tons, compared with 782,000 tons; sweet potatoes, 11,640,000 bushels, compared with 13,490,000 bushels; Irish potatoes, 3,948,000 bushels, compared with 3,840,000 bushels; sorghum syrup, 3,776,000 gallons, compared with 5,594,000 gallons; sugar cane, 8,056,000 gallons, compared with 11,928,000 gallons.

"The prospect for corn is slightly under a month ago; for cotton it is less by 82,000 bales, for peanuts it is less by 730,000 bushels, for sorghum less by 816,000 gallons," said Mr. Gist. "Hay, potatoes and sugar cane have held their own, while the prospective production for sweet potatoes is greater by 400,000 bushels."

GONE TO HER REWARD

On last Saturday night the startling news was spread abroad of the sudden and unexpected death of Mrs. Eliza P. Jones, which occurred about 8:30 o'clock, just after the good lady had retired. She was at her home in Clanton, and only one or two of the children were present when she passed away.

The deceased was the wife of the late W. W. Jones, who died thirteen years ago. She was born in Columbiana, Ala., in 1854, and was married in 1870. To this union was born twelve children, four of whom are dead and eight living. Those living are: Bird G. Jones of Jumbo, James C. Jones of Clanton, Claud Jones of Clanton, Mrs. W. Z. Hodges of Clanton, Mrs. W. E. Mauk of Birmingham, Mrs. Irene Rasberry, Miss Lake Jones and Oscar W. Jones of Clanton. She was the daughter of James A. and Martha Mullins. Her father was organizer of Mount Zion and Clanton Baptist churches. Mrs. Jones joined the Mount Zion church when she was 15 years old, and has been a faithful member ever since.

Funeral services were conducted from the home Sunday afternoon by Revs. Ezell and Wilkerson. The body was carried to the family cemetery near Mt. Zion, where enterment was made. A host of sorrowing relatives and friends accompanied the remains to its final resting place.

Mrs. Jones was a Christian woman who was loved by all who came in contact with her. She has always led a quiet peaceable life, proving her strict devotion as a Christian wife and mother. Her earthly career has been spent, but the beauty of her character will be reflected upon the minds of her acquaintancess for all years to come.

R. B. Vail, the popular editor of the Baldwin Times at Bay Minette, was in Clanton a while last week. He called to see the Banner force while here. He said other than our politics, he hoped that we make a million dollars at the newspaper business.

TALK OF EXTRA SESSION OF STATE LEGISLATURE

Governor Brandon Stands Ready to Summon Solons Again In March.

Talk of an extra session of the legislature during the early part of next year for the purpose of enacting additional financial legislation became general in legislative circles Monday evening when members returned to Montgomery for the forty-third session of the fifty alloted by the constitution.

Although two revenue producing bills are on the house calendar, they must be passed before the end of the session Tuesday, as the constitution requires their delivery to the governor on the forty-fifth legislative day. Discussions indicated that the bills cannot be passed by the house during the session. The agricultural code is unfinished business in the house and if the revenue measures are taken up this agricultural bill must be displaced.

Governor Brandon is known to have indicated that he will call the legislature into extra session if he finds the revenue laws enacted during the regular session are not sufficient. He has been quoted indirectly as saying that the session will come not later than March.

Franchse Taxes Doubled

An inspection of the annual report of the state auditor for last year has revealed the fact that the total collections from franchise taxes last year reached $727,990.10. If there be no decrease, the total collections for next year, will be double this amount, as the legislature has increased the franchise tax from 60 cents a thousand to $1 a thousand. The state will receive the entire increase, or 80 cents a thousand, while it has received only 40 cents in the past.

If collections from franchise taxes are doubled, the annual deficit of $1,066,710.95, estimated by the budget commission, will be reduced to $338,720.85. Therefore, the state will be forced to find other means of raising this amount. The budget commission's estimate was based on the revenue law which had been enacted at the time it was and no additional revenue legislation has been passed except the increase in the franchise tax. The franchise tax bill will become a law this week and will be operative at the beginning of the next fiscal year, October 1, 1923.

Now Alabama College

"Alabama College" will be the legal name of the Alabama Girls' Technical Institute and College for Women in the future. Governor Brandon today approved the bill which provided for the change in name. It was introduced by Representative Paul O. Luck of Shelby. The college is located at Montevallo, Shelby county.

BALE BRINGS $195.16

Mr. Pate Cleckler of Greazy Ridge brought a bale of cotton to Clanton Tuesday, which brought him together with the seed, $195.16. The bale weighed 639 pounds and he got 27.60 for it. Mr. Cleckler said that his cotton was turning out quite well. He says that he will make about as much as he did last year.

M. V. SMITH ENTERS CONTEST

Mr. M. V. Smith, located in the Variety Store old stand, has bought a space in the Banner Contest page. Hereafter he will give coupons in this contest with all purchases. So those who are saving coupons may get more by making your purchases of him. Read his adv. on the contest page this week.

GOING TO ENSLEY

Dr. W. S. Wilson has changed his plans of locating back in Clanton. He has had a better proposition offered him at Ensley. He has accepted a position as supervisor of the dental department of the T. C. I. Company's hospital at Ensley. He will take charge in a short while. This is a fine position, and we are glad to learn that Bill has landed it.

The new Christian church building is fast assuming the form of a completed building. The frame work is all up and the boxing will be up in a few days. This building when completed will be a nice building and a credit to the denomination and to the town.

A representative of the Wofford Oil Company of Birmingham was in Clanton the first of this week looking after the establishing of the Woco-Pep station in Clanton. They say that this well known motor fuel will be ready for distribution in Clanton in about two weeks now.

THE NEW METHODIST CHURCH

The work on the new Methodist Church in Clanton is gradually going up; but it is so slow that you have to look close to tell whether it is going up or down. But building a structure of this kind takes a lot of work and a lot of time. When it is completed it is going to be something to be proud of.

POWER COMPANY GRANTS U. S. PLEA

Extension of Time Is For Only Ten Days to Hear From Henry Ford.

Washington, Sept. 11.—The Alabama Power Company Tuesday agreed to extend the time in which the government must determine whether it will sell to the power company its interest in the Gorgas unit and transmission line of the Muscle Shoals, Ala. properties.

The extension granted was only for a 10-day period, until Sept. 24, although Secretary Weeks had asked for a delay until Nov. 1. The extra time was desired that Henry Ford might be allowed to consider fully whether he will eliminate the Gorgas property from the offer he has made to purchase and lease the Muscle Shoals projects.

Text of Letter

Thomas W. Martin, president of the Alabama Power Company, in a letter to Weeks, wrote:

"We acknowledge your request of September 6, 1923, that the time be extended from Sept. 14, 1923, to Nov. 1, 1923, for the government to determine whether it will sell to this company its interest in the Gorgas unit and transmission line located on the lands of this company, or remove the same, which request we understand is made on behalf of Ford.

"We are in urgent need of these premises in order to meet the additional demands for power in the communities served by our company and t oprovide steam reserves for the dry season of 1924. There would be embarrassment to us in delaying the ultimate disposition of this matter to Nov. 1. You will recall that our contract with the government has been under public discussion and consideration for several years and it would seem that those interested in the contract have had every possible opportunity to know its terms and rondiitons.

"We feel, therefore, that in all the rircumstances we cannot agree to an extension of the time to the first of November, but in order to accommodate Mr. Ford, we will agree to an extension through and including the 24th of September, 1923, for the purpose stated."

SOME MORE IGNORANCE DROPS

Editor Union-Banner:

Inclosed you will find my check for the paper for another year. You know I was in town some time ago and promised you another letter to the good old paper for your readers. Since that time I got to thinking what should I write about, and when I got to thinking over the conditions and the dispositions of some people I got vexed over the situation to think we had men in Alabama who claim to want white supremacy who voted to stop the negro from voting with them at the poles, that now they want to keep house for them and be their doctor, and some want the job of nursing them down at Tuskegee. The negroes must have got to where they don't smell so bad to them these days. Do you reckon that is it or is it not pie they're after? To be sure that is it, and I would not be afraid to bet my old hat that they are Democrats wanting the jobs for there is no Republicans in the South that wants the job, for they believe in the negroes staying in their place and let them serve one another as far as they are capable of doing so.

Of course the Democrats have the disposition that if they can't get the jobs they want by the vote of the people they will take them out that do get in by a majority by legislating them out. No wonder our country is going to ruin. To think that we have preachers that will get up in a pulpit and try to preach to people about righteousness and to be honest toward all men and at the same time his heart is as black as hypocrisy can make it, for when a man is willing to legislate against the wishes and the majority of the people I want to say that such a man does not have the spirit of Christ about him, and if all men were like me such a preacher wood not have many hearers, for such as that is what is dragging down our churches today.

The Lord says, "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you." I am sure the bunch that legislated out our officers and against the county's interest would not like to be done as they have done others. But the truth of it is they will receive their reward, "Whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap." So you that have been mistreated, don't become discouraged, but trust the Lord, for He is the captain of this old boat and if trusted He will make the landing safe.

So, I will not be hard this time but will come again and save my best ignorance drops for another time, for as I see it now and understand the disease of the Democrats, just now the only thing that will do them any good is to carry some of them to Central Alabama Hospital and operate on them for the gall stone. I am sure they have and are suffering from enlargement of the gall and maybe both.

I remain, the same old Doctor
J. N. SCOTT.

COOLIDGE AND HIS FRIENDS LAY PLAN FOR NOMINATION

His Candidacy Is Accepted As a Certainty And Program Is Under Way.

Washington, Sept. 11.—Quietly, and without any tooting of horns, the friends of Calvin Coolidge have begun to lay the groundwork for his nomination by the Republican convention 10 months hence. The work is getting well under way.

That he was a candidate to succeed himself is now accepted as a fact by all political factions within the party and by even the most casual political observers as well.

Same Machinery at Work

The machinery that will be relied upon to accomplish the nomination of Cooldgie is to a considerable extent the self-same machinery that Harding would have relied upon had he lived. Harding had a "personal" organization of loyal friends and admirers that was at once the admiration and despair of other aspirants, and it is perhaps significant that a great many of these have seen fit to declare their support of the new president for 1924. In this respect, at least, it is beginning to appear that Coolidge inherited a great many of Harding's friends as well as his policies.

In the past two weeks many political leaders have passed in and out of the White House. Almost without exception they have emerged voicing the conviction, either privately or publicly, that Mr. Coolidge will be a candidate and most of them added their belief that he would be nominated. Some of the closest personal friends and advisers to the late President Harding have been among them.

The real beginning of the Coolidge movement is signalized by the cropping up here and there throughout the country of "Coolidge for president" clubs. These clubs can be expected to multiply rapidly in the coming months, as the organization of the movement progressed under the careful handling of friends of the president.

Coolidge himself is seduously avoiding any appearance of association with the movement for his nomination. He informed John Adams, chairman of the Republican national committee, that he had no choice as to where the convention might be held, nor did he wish to have any voice in its organization or direction.

Naturally, many letters are comng into the White House pledging the writers' support for the president's supposed candidacy to succeed himself. They come from organizations, clubs, individuals and what not. The answer to these is invariably the same expression of gratitude for the interest shown and support proffered, and a complete absence of any expression that might be interpreted as an avowal of candidacy.

A sample of the response which the president is making to such writers is his reply to the organizers of a "Coolidge for President" club, in Illinois.

ALLGOOD PICTURES OPENING OF COOSA FOR DEVELOPMENT

Seventh District Congressman Sees Gadsden District Greatly Expanding.

Congressman Miles C. Allgood of the Seventh district spent Wednesday of last week in Birmingham. He is making an automobile tour of his district, getting in closer touch with his constituents and conferring with them about national legislation in which they are interested.

Mr. Allgood is deeply interested in the development of navigation on the Coosa river because of its effect on the greater utilization of mineral fields in the vicinity of Gadsden. Wednesday he said that the realization of unbroken navigation between Rome, Ga., and Mobile would see the development of a mineral industry about Gadsden that would be marked, for coal and iron ore are known to be there in great quantities and of high grades.

Waterpower development on the Coosa river and the installation of locks for navigation in particular are the subjects Mr. Allgood is paying most attention to. He is making his tour in an automobile so he can have all the time he will need for his personal research.

Mr. Allgood was a member of the congressional party that visited the Panama canal last spring and is of the opinion that there is a great deal of Alabama export business that would be gratifyingly increased were the streams of the state made more navigable to take advantage of the markets to which the inter-oceanic canal is the door.

STILL CAPTURED LAST SATURDAY NIGHT

Sheriff Littlejohn, accompanied by J. H. Foshee, Joe Gore, and Lewis Easterling, went over to Watley Town in West Chilton Saturday, and about midnight Saturday night they located and captured a 150-gallon illicit distilling outfit. There was no one at the still when the officers took charge of it, but the operators had just finished their run and left. The officers overtook two men about a quarter of a mile from the still with 6 gallons of whiskey. One of them, Eugene Selman, was arrested. The other one escaped, but the officers know who he was. Selman was brought to Clanton and placed in jail.

Some time during the afternoon Saturday the sheriff caught Lester Watley over there with some whiskey in his possession. He was arrested and brought to jail.

COTTON JUMPS $5 BALE ON PRIVATE CROP ESTIMATES

First Half Hour of Trading Monday Sees Sensational Gains In All Cotton Futures.

New York, Sept. 10.—Within the first half hour of trading today October cotton advanced 90 points to 28.50 or $5 a bale over Saturday's closing quotation.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 10.—The market showed as much strength as ever today after an easy opening and all months in the contract market went to new high levels for the season. October rose almost 100 points or $5 a bale from the early low; first trading off to 26.80 cents a pound and then advancing to 27.78. A private crop estimate of only 10,250,000 bales including linters was responsible for much of the buying.

COMMON FOLKS

The same thing is true of common folks that Abe Lincoln said about poor folks. He said: "The Lord evidently loves them or he wouldn't have made so many of them." We like good, everyday, plain, honest people. Many folks who attempt to "put on airs" are not the equal of the plain, unassuming sort. We are all pretty much alike under the skin. The fellow who gets to holding his head too high, often takes a tumble. Our bank is a people's bank where all receive courteous treatment, no matter what their station in life.

BIRTHDAY PARTY IN MAPLESVILLE

One of the loveliest parties of the season was the birthday party at which Master Tommie Williams, Jr., entertained about thirty guests Saturday afternoon from three to five o'clock, on the occasion of his sixth birthday.

The children were invited out on the lawn where manw games were enjoyed. The pinning of the tail on the donkey was the most entertaining game played. Little Miss Louise Earnest won the first prize for pinning the tail on the right place. Little Miss Lucy Parnell won the second prize. R. M. Davis and C. E. Thomas won the boys prize.

At 4:30 o'clock the birthday cake was placed on a table, containing six burning pink candles. After each little guest had seen the cake, the children were asked to get in a line and the first one blew the burning candles out would win a prize. R. M. Davis was the first one that blew the candle out and he was given a prize. The cake was then cut, and the children enjoyed a most delicious plate of brick ice cream and cake. At 4:45 o'clock the children were carried a hay ride on a truck which was enjoyed very much. On returning home from the ride, on a table nearby were the many nice and useful gifts each little friend brought, the time being spent for a while looking on while Tommie, Jr., opened each package with joy.

On leaving each little guest bid Tommie goodby and that his sixth birthday would be long remembered.

Mrs. Williams was assisted in entertaining the little folks by Miss Ollie Bearden.

Esco Smith Caught Making Whiskey

Sheriff Littlejohn, with the aid of Federal Officer Gillespie, caught Esco Smith, young son of Vert Smith in the act of making whiskey Wednesday morning. Young Smith was at the still by himself, and had run off one and a half gallons of whiskey when the officers took charge of him. He had ready for converting into spirits about one hundred gallons of beer, which was destroyed by the officers.

The still was located four miles northeast of Pletcher, between the Fairview and Sardis communities. The still was a cheap tin can outfit of 20-gallon capacity. The condenser was made of copper, however. The young man was brought to the county jail.

The officers also destroyed a small distilling outfit in the Turner settlement Tuesday. No one was found at this still.

DOUBLE PRIMARY BILL IS PASSED BY THE SENATE

Abolishes Present Second Choice System; Martin Charges Measure Is Sponsored by Reactionaries; Foster Defending Says Majority Rule Is Sought.

The Alabama senate Tuesday afternoon by vote of 20 to 13 passed the Double Primary election bill, after a debate which consumed nearly the entire afternoon session.

The primary measure, sponsored by adminstration forces, provides for the restoration of the system prevailing in Alabama until 1915, and would abolish the present single primary and second choice voting system.

The bill was passed after a large number of senators debated over the measure for nearly two hours.

Votes on passage of the bill were cast as follows:

For — Bonner, Brooks, Caffey, Carlton, Duncan, Ellis, Foster, Garth, Hildreth, Jones of Conecuh, McNeill, Middleton, Harlan, Oliver, Overton, Powell, Randall, Teasley, Tunstall and Waddell, total 20.

Against—Adams, Brower, Craft, Griffith, Horton, Howle, Hudgens, Hutson, Inzer, Johnson, Martin, Pelham, Slone, total 13.

When the bill of Senator Ellis' was brought up on the calendar, Senator Martin, of Houston led the attack. He charged that the bill was sponsored by reactionaries and others who sought to control the political situation in Alabama.

Replies to Martin

Senator J. Manley Foster, of Tuscaloosa, administration floor leader, replied to Martin's charge that money interests were backing the bill with the declaration that in his section of the state money had not and could never control politics. He stated in clear terms that the object of the bill was to insure the people that the nominees were elected by a majority. The present voting system, he further charged is a farce.

Senator Brower opposed the bill, while Senator Adams declared that the double pirmary system would work a hardship on voters of his district, Chilton county.

Senator John W. Overton delivered an able argument in favor of the bill, declaring that he was firmly convinced that the new system was universally desired in his district and he believed the same was true in other counties of the state.

Senator McNeil, of Fayette, took issue with Senator Adams that the new system is undemocratic. On the contrary, he declared that the new system is far more democratic than the present system inasmuch as it insures the public that successful candidates have received a majority. Moreover, Senator McNeil stated that the people of Alabama had not willed the present system and that he had found that the people he came in contact with were decidedly in favor of the new system.

Speaking against the bill, Senator Horton declared there are entirely too many elections, even under the present system.

Waddell Closes Debate.

Senator Waddell of Russell closed the debate wtih a sirong plea for the bill. Replying to Senator Martin's charge, he told the senate that if supporters of the measure are "reactionaries," then he was proud to admit that he was one.

Child-birth

Here is a wonderful message to all expectant mothers!

When the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says:

"With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used Mother's Friend and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes." Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., BA 46, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all drug stores—everywhere.

DANGER FORSEEN IN TURN TO PERISHABLES

Specialists Prefer Staple Crops, Livestock, and the Proper Methods.

Auburn, Ala., Sept. 11.—Danger is seen by the specialists of the Agricultural College here in the present inclination of farmers to trun too far to perishable crops next year.

Farmers in several counties have indicated to their county agents a desire to take up trucking on a larger scale than usual, causing the specialists here and county agents to call attention to the fact that many risks accompany truck farming.

It is declared further that trucking is a specialized branch of agriculture, and that beginners who are inexperienced in the production and marketing of perishable crops frequently meet disappointment.

In addition to experience, successful trucking requires fertile land, with knowledge as to how to grade and pack, as well as to how to market, and also satisfactory location with reference to marketing. Without this information and proper location the safest thing si to go slow on perishable crops.

Attention is called to the fact that the man who makes money and succeeds in farming is a diversified farmer who operates his farm so as to maintain soil fertility, having different crops, livestock, and livestock products for sale.

Dudley Thompson, Hugh Thompson and Robert Goodgame went to Birmingham Tuesday night. They accompanied Frank Thompson to the St. Vincent's Hospital.

SIXTEEN MILLION CARS IN 1925?

Number of Cars in U. S. Show Inevitability of National Highways.

Three hundred motor cars were registered in the United States in 1895. In 1925, thirty years after, the number will be in excess of 16,000,000.

This is not a prophecy, but a continuation of a table of registrations. In the ten years from 1913 to date, the table of motor car registrations in hundred thousands, reads as follows: 12, 17, 24, 35, 51, 61, 73, 91, 04, 123.

It is hardly prophecy to say that the next two years will show figures of 140 and 160 hundred thousand, or 14,000,000 and 16,000,000 cars registered.

It is inevitable that these cars have more and more good roads to run upon. If this number of wheeled vehicless congest our few hundred thousand miles of good roads, it is obvious that a greater number will compel more and more hard-surface highways.

THE PANAMA CANAL. A REPUBLICAN PROJECT

Washington, Sept. 10.—The steady development of traffic through the Panama Canal and the demonstration of the canal's success as a means of transferring battleships from one coast to the other, should impress upon the minds of the people of the country the wisdom and courage of the men who took leadership in the construction of that great waterway.

August 14 marked the ninth anniversary of the opening of the Panama Canal to commerce. More than 20,000 vessels have passed through the waterway since that time, with an aggregate cargo of 84,000,000 tons, and paying tolls of about $76,500,000. A comparison of the figures for the first year of operation with those of last year shows how the canal has become more and more one of the chief arteries of ocean travel. The passage was made by 1,311 vessels the first year, with a tonnage of 5,860,000, and paying tolls of $4,170,000. Last year 4,272 ships used the waterway, having a tonnage of 21,210,000, and paying tolls of $18,975,000.

The Panama Canal has not only been of great service to the country in affording a means of water transportation for this large volume of commerce, but it relieved an emergency at the time when the transcontinental railroads were suffering from congestion of traffic. More than that, the Panama Canal has been a constant assurance to the people of the country that in case of an emergency arising out of international differences it would be possible to transfer ships of the navy from one coast to the other without the long delay that was necessary at the time when the famous battleship Oregon made its record breaking voyage from the Pacific Coast to the harbor of Santiago.

As we consider those figures let us remember that the Panama Canal was a Republican project from start to finish. It was conceived by Republicans, the appropriations for its construction were made by Republican Congresses, and the work was carried on under the direction of Republican Presidents. Reports of the Congressional debates that preceded the approval of the project reveal the bitterest opposition from some of the Democratic leaders.

SCIENTISTS WAIT ECLIPSE OF SUN IN CALIFORNIA

Radio Plays Important Part in Conveying Estimates of Totality Zones.

Los Angeles, Calif., Sept. 10.—When the sun rose over Southern California this morning it faced a barrage of scientific and popular investigation unprecedented in astronomical history.

Eclipse expeditions from every quarter of the globe awaited its appearance in the path of totality, marked out for today's eclipse, the first total obscuration of the sun visible in the U. S. since 1918 and the last until 1925. Batteries of specially constructed cameras, spectroscopes inferometres and other astronomical instruments were aimed at the heavens while overhead circled airplanes of the U. S. battle fleet engaged in an historic attempt to photograph the onrushing shadow of the moon from vantage points miles above the sea. Radio too, was playing its first great role in the observation of a total ecilpse by spreading an invisible net of communications over the predicted path of the moon's shadow, linking together the widely separated camps established by American and foreign observatories of Santa Catalina and San Clemte islands and at Ensenada and other Mexican ports.

Newspaper men stationed at strategic points along the path of totality prepared to flash the path of the eclipse to their readers from its beginning (11:20 a.m. on Santa Catalina island) to the final phase of obscuritation shortly after 2 o'clock (2:18 p.m. on Santa Catalina.)

BIG 'TATERS AT LOCK 12

Joe Parrish of Lock 12 was in town the other day, and proved to us that Lock 12 produces something besides high voltage juice. He presented to us a fine potato, which he said he raised in his patch up there. This potato was not as large as we have seen, but it was just as fine as can be produced. It weighed a fraction over five pounds and was perfectly smooth all over. Joe said he wanted the folks to know that Lock 12 could produce something besides juice; and that potato proves his argument.

VERY DISCOURAGING

It is rather discouraging for a fellow to work hard all the year on a cotton crop and then not make enough cotton to pay him for the trouble, but this is going to be the case with several of our farmer friends this year. Mr. George Tippett of Concord had on the streets last Saturday afternoon a bundle of some half a dozen fine looking stalks of cotton which were higher than a man's head. But on close examination it was found that there was not a single boll on the entire bunch. Mr. Tippett is living on Mr. Arthur Thompson's place, and he says that they have several acres of cotton this year that is just like the samples he had. George says that his cotton crop is going to fall considerably short this year.

A NEW MACHINE

We are pleased to announce to the readers of The Union-Banner that we nave recently installed another addition to our printing plant. This time it is a new No. 4 Eclipse Folding Machine. By means of this machine we can fold the papers every week in about one-fifth the time it takes to fold them by hand. It is the desire of the management of this paper to make it serve the public just as nearly satisfactory as possible, so the installing of this folding machine will reach far in this direction. Day by day in every way we want The Banner to get better and better.

STATE NEWS HAPPENINGS

"Labor Day" was a gala occasion at the home of C. W. Snowden, 72, pioneer citizen of Andalusia and Covington county, where he and his wife entertained their thirteen children and 71 grandchildren and great-grandchildren on Sunday and Monday. This was the first time in 20 years that the family had been together. One link of the family chain, only, was missing, a son who died a number of years ago

Dairymen of Huntsville and Madison county held a meeting with the city and county health officers, Dr. B. F Austin and Sanitary Engineer Leslie Frank, and discussed the proposed milk grading ordinance which is said to have been beneficial to the dairy business and the public generally in other cities and which may be adopted by the city council of Huntsville.

There were no deaths among inmates of the Alabama penitentiary during the month of August. This is the first time that there has been no deaths of penitentiary inmates during any calender month during the last six years, according to convict department records. The last state convict to pass away was a negro whose death occurred on July 16.

W. W. McDaniel of Whitford sold a carload of Hereford calves to W. E Nixon of York for feeding purposes. McDaniel makes a practice of raising a car of calves each year for sale. He also raises on his Whitford farm all the corn, peas, potatoes, molasses, meat and lard used, in addition to a large cotton crop.

With a total enrollment of 3,312 and the children still coming in, the public schools of Gadsden are crowded far beyond their capacity. There has been an increase everywhere except in the negro schools, which have an enrollment of 720, a decrease of 150 over last term.

A line of reduced rates on building materials from Birmingham to points within the Mississippi valley has been obtained by the Birmingham Traffic Association, according to announcement by association officials. The new rates will become effective on Sept. 20.

Calhoun County Commissioner W. H. Nunnally of Jacksonville, has announced his intention of resigning his position on the board and moving with his family to Florida, after the October term of the board, which is to begin on the second Monday of the month.

The Rotary Club of Dothan has undertaken a campaign to persuade every eligible student to enter high school. Two years ago this work was taken up and financial aid was given a number of students who were unable to attend school longer without help. The campaign will be renewed this year.

The old cotton buying firm of Landman & Company, which was in business in Huntsville for many years, has been revived by Howard Landman son of one of the original partners, and W. Curtis Carter. Offices have been opened in the Echols building.

A new city directory gives Opelika a population of 7,492. The directory contains names and addresses and occupations of 2,997 persons not including those under 17 years of age nor elderly people neither heads of homes nor of business establishments.

Troop 20, Parrish Boy Scouts, are erecting a log cabin on Lost Creek, about two and one-half miles northwest of Parrish. The membership of Troop 20 is composed of boys from 12 to 15 years of age. O. L. Lockwood is the leader.

Strenuous objection to a bill introduced in the legislature to change the name of the Warrior river to the Bankhead river was voiced at mass meeting held recently at Moundville on the site of the prehistoric Indian settlement.

The directors of the Madison County Fair association have appointed Clarendon Davis, a prominent farmer and banker of that city, to act as chairman of the agricultural department of the fair which will be held September 25 to 29.

The Lincoln Cotton Mills company has begun the erection of an extensive addition to its big cotton mill in the northern part of Huntsville, the new addition to be housed in a building 600 feet long by 125 feet wide.

Mrs. Martha Cloud, aged 100 years, two weeks and two days, died Sept. 4 at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. Will Miller in West Huntsville, after a prolonged illness. She was a native of Georgia.

Shrimp now being taken from Alabama waters are not only larger, but are also greater in quantity than last season, according to Commissioner of Conservation I. T. Quinn.

J. H. McClure, reared in Morgan county, has been promoted by the Southern Pacific to freight and passenger agent at Santa Barbara, Cal., friends in Alabama have been advised.

According to the report of Mrs Florence Adams, probation officer, the Etowah county juvenile court handled only 16 cases during August.

David Lloyd George will be invited to visit Birmingham during his American tour, President D. E. McLendon of the city commission states.

The convention of the southeastern district of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, will be held in Birmingham on October 29 and 30.

Scottsboro is enjoying one of the greatest building booms she has experienced in years. All local carpenters and contractors are busy and a great deal of labor has to be had from other places.

You can say one thing for whiskers. They are one crop that can be raised without an occasional yelp for government help.—St. Joseph News-Press.

The State Highway commission is continually letting out contracts for highways over the state; but they always slight Chilton county. Can anyone offer a remedy for this neglect to our county?

Even some Democrats are squealing about the Democratic legislature raising taxation. Well, brother, what else do you expect from a Democrat except raising taxes? That is what they have always done. So why get excited now?

The advance in the price of cotton is noticeable. We wonder if Oscar Underwood gives the Republican party credit for this advance? He stated publicly at Selma a few days ago that the Republican party was responsible for the low price.

The legislature of Alabama has about finished its course for this session. And what have they done worthy of mention? They have drawn thousands of dollars out of the state treasury, and what have they done to show for this money?

It is all very well for England and France to allude to the amount of money they owe the United States, but they are studiously silent regarding the immense commercial and territorial advantages they acquired from Germany in Africa and the Pacific islands.—Fort Wayne News.

The Democrats of Alabama realize that their business is getting in uncomfortable circumstances. Now and then you hear of one who has got guts enough to admit the facts. They know we need two political parties in the South, and those who really want a decent government are willing to admit it.

That wreck which we have been expecting happened Tuesday evening at the railroad crossing. Why doesn't the railroad company employ a flagman at this crossing to look after such things? It would be cheaper than paying for so many damages. But better still, they ought to stop No. 4 and No. 1 at Clanton; then lots of such accidents would be avoided.

THEY'RE GETTING NERVOUS

The other day a newspaper man and a Democrat from South Alabama stopped in our office for a few minutes. When he got ready to leave he asked us this question, "Why do you fellows want to run Republican newspapers in the white Democratic South any way?" This friend did not wait for an answer to his question but left immediately. This question gives ground for an argument a mile long. But the correct answer to the question is simply this: We run a Republican newspaper in Alabama simply because we believe in the principles of the Republican party, and because we are bitterly opposed to the way the Democrats are running things down here. Under the present government of our state the common people have just about as much sayso in our affairs of government as they do the government of some European country. As our state is now run, we no more have a Democratic form of government than do the Hottentots of Africa. The voice of the people is no longer the law of the land, but the people have to take just what the political speculators at Montgomery see fit to hand them.

The Democrats are afraid for a Republican party to be built up in the South, because they know that such a party would throw a bomb into their camp and disclose all the crookedness and meaness which they have inclosed therein. They are willing to disfranchise white voters, abolish officers which the people selected, or anything else just in order to keep the reins in their grip. So, we will say to the above mentioned brother that we are running a Republican newspaper in the South to do our bit toward redeeming our government from the control of such selfish usurpers.

T. J. Dorminey of Stumps Hills was in Clanton Monday. He seemed to be in a big hurry, so we didn't ask him his business here.

CROOKED WORK OF ALABAMA DEMOCRACY

The indifference and callousness of public and politicians to the overthrow of representative government in the states of the Solid South, where by force, fraud and legal trickery four-fifths of the voters, including more white men than black, have been disfranchised, and institutional progress affecting popular welfare because of this lags a half century behind the times, is to some people incomprehensible. The thimble-rigging primary and election laws and the crooked, partisan method of their application, the use of the business and social boycott and even of the rope and gun in some portions of the Solid South to prevent the rise of a two-party system that would threaten the supremacy of the existing office holders' machine, is supplemented by the gerrymander in its most outrageous form and even by special legislation depriving Republicans of office when they are elected by the people despite the dishonest system devised to prevent such an occurrence. An instance in point is a proposal pending before the Alabama legislature, in the state where Underwood and Heflin are leaders. Alabama would show a fairly equal division between the parties on the white vote alone if Alabama possessed a free government. By wholesale crookedness the Republican party has been reduced to an insignificant minority in the state. It does, however, carry some counties where the white vote is heavily predominant. One of these is Winston county. Year after year the Alabama Democratic machine has tried to carry this county by every unfair device with which it is familiar, but in vain. Despairing of success along this line, the Alabama Democratic state machine recently decided that the legislature now in session must pass a special law providing that in this one county the commissioners court, which controls the county government, shall be abolished, substituting therefor a county supervising board to be appointed by the governor. No other county in the state is affected. The bill merely represents the insatiable appetite of this thoroughly disreputable patronage machine for pie and plunder, even when it is necessary to overthrow popular government to get it. Senators Heflin and Underwood are big cogs in the Alabama Democratic organization. Heflin is accustomed to deliver speeches to northern audiences on political reform and the uplift, the rule of the people, etc. Underwood is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for President. Both of them ought to be asked by northern people who are asked to tolerate them what excuse they have to offer for the thimble-rigging primary election system of their state, devised to suppress popular government, and for this action of their state machine denying to the people of an Alabama county the right to self-government merely because they persist in voting the Republican ticket.—National Republican.

THE TURN OF THE TIDE

The report of a conference between Eugene Meyer, Jr., managing director of the War Finance Corporation, members of the Federal Reserve Board, and President Coolidge, shows that while large amounts of credit, both government and private, had been made available to the agricultural interests of the country in an aggregate between $300,000,000 and $400,000,000 over the past year or two, the tide had now turned in the opposite direction and the obligations were being rapidly liquidated. Mr. Meyer told the President that the outstanding loans of the corporation which stood at $291,000,000 at their peak have been reduced to $98,500,000, the liquidations which have been coming in at the rate of $4,000,000 a month having amounted to over $193,000,000. The rural credits machinery of the Federal Reserve reports $25,000,000 on hand available to agricultural borrowers, but with small demand. The government has helped the farmer, and the farmer is now helping himself. Th eliquidations indicate that the farmer is not so badly off as the Democratic politicians and their radical allies would have us believe.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

The Commissioner's Court of Chilton County, Alabama, will let a contract for the erection of a steel bridge at Cooper, Alabama, over the Chestnut Creek. Bridge will be in two strands, one 60 feet in length, the other 80. The court desires two propositions, one steel bridge with cement floor, the other steel bridge with wooden floor. Bridge will be paid for in county warrants. All bids must be filed with the court on or before September 24, 1923, at 10:00 o'clock a.m. The Commissioner's Court reserves the right to reject any and all bids. File bids with L. H. Reynolds, Chairman Court of County Commissioners, Clanton, Alabama.

EPIDEMIC

The following headline in a New York trade paper might almost be used as a permanent heading, leaving a blank to fill in for the State. "Government Costs Rising in New Jersey. Many Towns Double 1917 Expenditures." That is where the chief trouble is with respect to taxation and expenditure. If the States, counties, and municipalities will follow the example of the Federal Government under Republican control the tax burden will be eased 75 per cent.

SURVEYING THE STREETS

We notice that the Town of Clanton has employed an expert engineer to re-survey the streets of Clanton and kindly get things lined up around here. This is indeed a worthy move. There are at present some places where folks have kept scrouging in buildings until they are jutting way out into what ought to be the street. If we are correctly informed, the object of this surveying is to locate such conditions as this and have same removed. There are some property owners who have built houses too far into the street because they had no way of telling exactly where the street was. Well, these wrongs will be righted also.

When Joe Gore gets everybody who runs cars in Clanton educated as to the parking and traffic laws, and then has everybody to install water works in their homes (the latter clause should certainly be looked after), then Clanton will begin to put on the appearance of a real town. Let us not stop until this is done. But better still, let all the owners of houses in Clanton install water works before they are forced to, which will be done sooner or later.

We also hear that another enterprise is under way which is worthy of mention. That is that the town is going to build side walks from the center of town to each of the school buildings. This is something that will materially increase the appearance of the town and also add considerably to its usefulness. Of course, if this is done, the cost of same will be charged to the property owners. But we say go to it. We ought to have paved sidewalks all over town.

A NEW EXCUSE FOR WELSHING

The Paris Temps, semi-official organ of the French government, asserts that the European debts to the United States stand as the only obstacle in the way of a full settlement of the reparations and allied debts problem, and suggests that the subject be referred to the world court. Just what phase of the question the court would be called upon to decide is not made clear, but presumably it would render an opinion as to whether the United States ought to insist on collection of the debts or should remit them in the interest of world peace.

The Temps opens up a new view of international relations. According to it, if a nation wishes to spend its revenue in the support of a huge army and in aircraft competition rather than in liquidation of its just debts, the matter shall be left to a court to decide what shall be done.

The allied debts to the United States are not a subject for argument, either before a court or elsewhere. The money of American taxpayers—ten billions of it—was taken from the Treasury and loaned in good faith to allied governments, which gave their promissory notes for its future repayment. The transaction was a very simple one, although it involved huge sums, and is repeated scores of times in our everyday life. The efforts of allied government now to throw about the deal a lot of collateral issues must not be allowed to obscure the principle of common honesty which is involved. Are those countries to redeem their solemn written pledges to pay, or are they not?

One Way to Do It.—A schoolboy at lunch time entered a grocery store and said to the clerk: "Take this order: Ten pounds sugar at 6 cents; 11 pounds coffee at 25 cents; 8 pounds tea at 30 cents. Add that up. How much is it?"

The clerk replied, "$5.75."

"Are you sure?" asked the boy.

"Of course I am sure."

The boy thanked him and said: "That's my arithmetic lesson for tomorrow."—Judge.

Queer Feelings

"Some time ago, I was very irregular," writes Mrs. Cora Robie, of Pikeville, Ky. "I suffered a great deal, and knew I must do something for this condition. I suffered mostly with my back and a weakness in my limbs. I would have dreadful headaches. I had hot flashes and very queer feelings, and oh, how my head hurt! I read of

CARDUI

and of others, who seemed to have the same troubles I had, being benefited, so I began to use it. I found it most beneficial. I took several bottles .... and was made so much better I didn't have any more trouble of this kind. It regulated me."

Cardui has been found very helpful in the correction of many cases of painful female disorders, such as Mrs. Robie mentions above. If you suffer as she did, take Cardui—a purely vegetable, medicinal tonic, in use for more than 40 years. It should help you.

WHAT IS GOOD?

In a letter to a southern editor, President Coolidge points out that constructive criticism does not accomplish its purpose by merely calling attention to that which is evil. "It must not fail to direct attention, with more emphasis," said he, "to what is good."

The remark applies with force to Democratic and radical editors who conceive it their duty to pick flaws in the Republican national administraton. If they do not like the way things have been done at Washington, let them suggest other means for producing better results.

Former President Wilson vetoed the budget bill, which was afterwards repassed and made law by the Republicans. Can the Democrats provide a greater financial success than the budget law has proved to be? Allied with its administration have been the co-operative purchases and use of supplies by the government departments, from which millions of dollars of savings have been realized. What would the Democrats substitute for that system?

The Republican tariff law has brought in more revenue than any other tariff in the history of the country, while not interfering with the flow of foreign commerce. How would the Democrats accomplish a more satisfactory result?

Would they change the Republican foreign policy by assuming some of the entanglements that the internationalists are urging upon us? If so, the people would like to know of it.

In leveling their attacks at the Republican record in the future let Democratic editors make other suggestions that they think are as good or better. Let them follow President Coolidge's advice and devote their energies to the improvement of the public service rather than to mere abuse of the party in power.

SUGAR REFINERS SEND C. Q. D.

One of the chief protestants against the so-called Tarafa bill for the consolidation of Cuban railroads is the American Sugar Refining Company, whose protest was filed with Secretary Hughes, the company declaring that the proposed law "would unjustly operate to confiscate the property and property rights of the protestant and that same is discriminatory and constitutes an arbitrary taking of the property fo this protestant without just compensation." The company must admit that the Secretary of State has dealt justly in the matter. A new York paper reports that "it is authoritatively learned that the Tarafa interests have adopted a compromising attitude, and will probably agree to the contention of the sugar companies on all disputed points."

The American Sugar Refining Company is one among other American concerns which raise sugar in Cuba and refine it in this country, while as a side line spending large sums of money in propagandizing against protection on sugar. Of course if they could get free sugar they could reap additional profits and drive the Louisiana and beet sugar men out of the market. We would not get our sugar any cheaper, be assured if they succeeded in this enterprise. In fact, with the American source of supply killed off, the Cuban sugar would have the monopoly and the price would go up. Despite the widely advertised assertion of these seaboard refining companies that the tariff law adds 2 cents a pound to the price of sugar, the housewife would not get the benefit of a two cent reduction should sugar come in free. But the sugar companies wheih grow their raw sugar in Cuba and refine it here, are mighty glad to get the support of the U. S. government when their interests in Cuba are threatened.

Getting Ready To Handle The Peak Load

The railroads, in the last six months, have placed in service 79,240 new freight cars and 1,998 new locomotives. They are awaiting delivery of 96,855 freight cars and 1,902 locomotives. They are endeavoring to get their equipment in the best possible condition for service by October 1st, in order to properly handle the peak load. By that time they expect to have 95% of all cars in good working order.

They have increased the number of locomotives in good order from 75% to 82%, and by October 1st expect to have 85%. They have increased their fuel stocks from 6,757,000 tons to 10,667,000 tons (equal to 58%) thus releasing over 86,800 coal cars that would have been needed later on for moving this fuel. To do this, the railroads are spending over a billion dollars this year to purchase equipment, construct new yards, terminals, tracks etc.

Do not hurt the railroads, and indirectly yourself, by advocating some of the illogical and destructive measures that are now being proposed by those who do not know anything about railroading

MR. O. C. DOBBS TO BE IN CHILTON THIS WEEK

Mr. O. C. Dobbs, national lecturer for the United Farmers of America, will be in Chilton County the last three days of this week and will lecture at public meetings on the following dates and places:

Union Grove, Thursday, Sept. 13, 10 a.m.

Jemison, Thursday, Sept. 13, 1:30 p.m.

Thorsby, Bates Hall, Thursday, Sept. 13, 7:30 p.m.

Poole's Cross Roads, Friday, Sept. 14, all day.

Cooper, Friday, Sept. 14, 7:00 p.m.

Clanton, Court House, Saturday, Sept. 15, all day.

The meeting at Poole's Cross Roads will not be held in the school house but will be held in the grove near Mr. Monroe Deason's, about one mile west of the cross roads.

Mr. Dobbs will speak on subjects of interest to everyone in the community and it will be worth while to every one to attend, especially farmers.

A. B. Baxley and O. H. Mastin will also be at all of the meetings and give information to members and outline plans for handling cotton this season.

Everyone is invited to attend.

C. J. Davis of Montgomery was in Clanton last week looking after business for his concern, Bradstreet's Commercial Agency.

POOR ORIGINAL

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. NORTON, Manager)

A good deal of ntierest was manifest in Thorsby last Monday by a lot of our people who were watching the eclipse of the sun and talking about it. Mr. Gus Jones reports a unique method he employed by which he got a clear and sharp reflection of it by the use of a cup of water which he used as a mirror. The cup was so placed, that the surface of the water was not disturbed by the wind, and no jarring was permitted to ruffle its surface. The reflection of the sun in the water was not so brilliant as to dazzle the eyes but made quite clear the passing show.

Mrs. Ollie Tagg spent the day last Friday as the guest of the Misses Ella and Sue Simpson at Jemison.

Mrs. C. H. Thomsen has returned from a visit of several weeks with her daughter at Memphis, Tenn.

Now that the "Tempest in a Teapot," waged in the State Highway Commission, has subsided and a very decisive "vote of confidnece" has been given to Mr. Keller and his subordinate engineers, which by the way reads like the memorable Scotch verdict, "Not guilty But Don't Do It Again," it is to be hoped that simething will be done to indicate activity in state highway constructon through Chilton county. During the days of the campaign to raise $25,000,000 to match a like sum to be contributed by the Federal government for building highways in Alabama, we were told by Mr. Keller himself that the Birmingham - Montgomery highway was one of the chief sections in importance among the trunk lines of the state and would be one of the first to receive attention in actual building. Up to the present time we know of nothing being done within Chilton county beyond a survey, more than a year ago, of the location for construction. We very much fear that neither the State Engineer or the Highway commission would get even "favorable mention" in the matter of "A Vote of Confidence."

Mrs. Martha B. Hunter, who has been spending part of her vacation visiting her daughter in California, returned Tuesday morning to take up her work as house-mother at the Boys' Dormitory.

A letter from Mr. Sereno G. Norton says he has just secured his first U. S. patent, and has an application for another one lying on his desk.

Mrs. S. C. Wood paid a visit to an aunt at Stanton Saturday, and brought home her young sister, Miss Eva Mae Parnell, who will live with her while attendiny Thorsby Institute.

The Baptist Ladies' Aid Society will meet with Mrs. E. F. Mead Thursday afternoon, Sept. 13th.

Mrs. W. C. Payne, sister of Mrs. S. E. Norton, is a welcome visitor in Thorsby once more. Before returninb to her home at Fairhope, Ala., she will visit Miss Lenore S. Goodwin, another sister who lives at Tryon, N. C.

If any boy or girl, who ought to be in school, is contemplating the idea of getting a job instead, we recommend that htey write the U. S. Bureau of Education for information regarding the difference in earning power, for life, between those who have little or no education and those who have at least a high school education, and see if they can afford to pay the price that is charged to ignorance.

It may be of interest to farmers who have any considerable acreage of pine stump land to know that it is liable to prove more valuaple than to discover a gold bearing quartz bed on their land. There is no commodity more in general use than paper, and none for which the source of supply in this country is more rapidly diminishing, even today more than one-third of the paper pulp, or wood pulp from which paper is made, is imported, most of it from Canada, which contemplates an embargo in the interest of conservation of their own resources. Now it has been demonstrated that a fine quality of paper pulp can be made from the fibre of our pine stumps and residue of the forest, after taking away the logs for lumber. This material is obtained as a by-product after chemically treating the wood and removing its content of such elements as are known as "naval stores", turpentine, pitch, tar, rosin, pine oil, etc. The processes necessary to secure these well known elements, when properly performed, leave the wood fibres a mass of uniform material which can be further subjected to chemical treatment which will produce a high grade of paper pulp susceptible of use for many varieties of paper. The process is found to be commercially practicable, and the supply sufficient to last, at present rate of consumption, for fifty years or more.

The opening exercises for Thorsby Institute were held at Bates Hall on Wednesday morning, September 12th. The program reads as follows:

Song by the School.
Scripture—Rev. E. W. Butler.
Prayer—Rev. W. P. Lowery.
Address—Rev. J. W. Davenport.
Song by the School.
Welcome and Introduction of Faculty, Miss Jenkins, Mrs. Loveland.
Short Talk—Mrs. Hunter.
Prayer—Miss Elizabeth Robinson.
Recess.
Reassemble for Registration.
Afternoon session at 1:30.

All the teachers for Thorsby Institute are now here. Miss Althea Parker, from Boston, arrived Sunday; Miss Helen Jenkins Friday; Miss Nora James, of Clayton, Ga., Tuesday; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Tisall, of Asheville, N. C., Tuesday; Miss Elizabeth Robinson, of Birmingham, Monday. Mrs. Martha Hunter spent her vacation in travel and comes to Thorsby from Los Angeles. (Says she is "so glad to get back to Thorsby."

(Omitted last week).

The other graduates of the class of 1922-23 have been accounted for. Miss Annie Hughes expects to enter Piedmont College, Demorest, Ga., this fall. Myrtle Jones will teach this year. Mr. Yancey Kelley will be with a construction company in the East. Miss Jessie Mims remains at home. Arnold Soberg sxpects to seek employment.

Misses Jennye and Edith Robinson left last Monday for Montevallo, Ala., where they will attend the Woman's College.

Mr. Nels Nelson left Monday for Auburn where he will attend college.

Mr. Frank Nelson spent Sunday with his family. He was accompanied by his son, Martin.

A New Bread Making Process

It is now widely known that the present process of making white flour from wheat takes away the most nutritious parts of the grain. It is not so generally understood that white flour bread alone will not sustain life very long. The public so far have not been able to change the system of present day milling to any great extent, and the better informed, resort to the use of whole wheat flour or bran for a remedy. It has well been said "Necessity Is the Mother of Invention." A late issue of The Scientific American has an article concerning a couple of Frenchmen, who have invented a combination mill and dough making process, adaptable to domestic use or bakeries and factories. The domestic size is about as large as an ordinary washing machine, and can be run by hand or power. The machine is cylindrical in form and has an opening for pouring in whole wheat. In one operation the wheat is thoroughly washed and the wash water discharged, the wheat is so crushed as to remove the bran or outer covering which is discharged through an opening and the balance of the kernels are crushed and macerated, similar to the process of chewing wheat in the mouth until it forms a wad of very excellent gum. This dough is then forced out through another opening and is ready for the leavening process, which is completed in much less than the usual time and the dough is then ready for the oven. The product is rich in vitamines and all other food values contained in the grain. It does not make white bread, but people are learning very fast that the brown bread is far more healthful and nutritious. Can any one doubt that such an invention, or a similar one will soon be on the market in this country and serve to greatly reduce the prevalence of appendicitis and other disorders never heard of before our refined stuffs had changed living conditions to dying ones?

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our many friends and relatives for the beautiful floral offerings and sweet sympathy extended during our recent bereavement at the death of our little daughter, Frances.

CARBON HILL IS HIT BY A $45,000 FIRE

Frame Structures Destroyed Despite Efforts of Fire Department to Check Blaze.

Carbon Hill, Ala., Sept. 11.—This city suffered a disastrous fire late Monday night when a great part of the business section was wiped out and damage of at least $45,000 done. The fire originated, it is thought, in the rear of the Welkos shoe store. Adjoining stores were of frame structure and three strong streams of water failed to check the blaze until after it had done a heavy damage. Insurance partially covers the loss.

The stores suffering loss are:

S. H. Karrh, dry goods and groceries, $8,500.

Frank Sides, general merchandise, $4,000.

Frank Welkos, shoe store and repair shop, $4,500.

S. R. Fowler, general merchandise, $8,000.

R. H. Gibson, barber shop, 3,500.

R. H. Gibson, restaurant, $4,000.

R. H. Gibson, fancy groceries, $4,500.

In addition to the above firms, the Hoesch furniture store suffered some damage, as did also the municipal water and light plant, both to its offices and to lines.

TOM FEEDS 'EM WELL

Tom Littlejohn is making conditions in the county jail mighty inviting now. He is feeding the prisoners fried chicken, cake, pie, and everything. He says he is doing this to keep the prisoners from wanting to break out of jail. Well, that ought to do it all right. That feed he gives them will almost tempt a fellow to want to break in jail. He has four negroes up there that he has had for two or three months, and they are getting so fat and greazy that their folks wouldn't know them—that is, if they have got any folks.

BIBLE READING CAMPAIGN

Recently there was a Bible Reading campaign put on in the Mulberry community, which resulted in 48,000 verses being read. Some interesting things were discovered. As will be seen below very little reading was done by those between the ages of twelve and twenty. Those who took part are as follows:

UNDER 12 YEARS

Bapaline Williams, Lorene Lecroy, Fannie Lee Lecroy, Oliver Manning, Avelin Webb, Hollis Wright, Wesley Wright.

FROM 12 TO 20

Gwin Williams.

FROM 20 UP

Mr. O. F. Davenport, Mrs. O. F. Davenport, Mrs. Buzella Williams, Mrs. Sallie Martin, Mrs. Laura Webb, Miss Eva Lecroy.

Those who won prizes were Mrs. Buzela Williams, Guin Williams and Oliver Manning.

T. L. LECROY.

CLEANING UP COUNTY PROPERTY

The old frame building just below the sheriff's house on the lot belonging to the county is being moved off the front street. The building is being rebuilt on the northeast corner of the same block beside the county's warehouse. This new building also will be used to keep the county's road tools, etc., in. Sheriff Littlejohn says that he is going to have all of that junk scattered around the jail moved away into some obscure place so as to present a better outward appearance around there. We have heard some talk of the county selling the property facing Sixth street, but we don't know whether this is true o rnot.

Thousands of Letters

LITERALLY thousands of letters recommending the use of S. S. S.—the great blood purifier and system builder—all telling how S. S. S. restores the state of well being by creating red blood cells are received daily by the manufacturers of S. S. S.

What S. S. S. has done for others it will do for you. Is your vitality sapped—your courage gone—your health undermined—your brain musty—the old time fighting spirit missing? Do you want to get back to the days of "once before"—the days when you were young and strong—healthy and buoyant—when your brain was active and your spirit afire with ambition?

S. S. S. is the surest and safest way to restore health, energy and vitality. Since 1826, S. S. S. has been bringing back clear, sparkling eyes—radiant expressions of well-being—building up nerve power—sending red blood coursing through the system—building red blood cells. Your nerve power is born in the blood cell. Increase your red blood cells and watch yourself improve.

S. S. S. makes stronger and healthier bodies—bodies free from impurities—free from rheumatism—free from skin eruptions—eczema, blackheads, pimples and boils. Any leading drug store will supply you and, for economy, get a large size bottle.

THE OAK GROVE TANGLE

Jemison, Ala., Sept. 10, 1923.
Editor Union-Banner:

After reading an article in last week's Union-Banner headed, "The Oak Grove Tangle," you refer to a certain letter that Rev. Falkner received, called a blackmail letter. We, the undersigned, wish to state that we are opposed to any such letter and we are willing to assist any way we can to prosecute the case. And we notice also you allege that the Rev. Falkner has been putting up a fight against whiskey. There is absolutely nothing of the kind. There is no such an issue and we desire to take this method to correct the letter above mentioned, and we want it understood that we are law-abiding citizens and opposed to whiskey. We also know of no one in this community dealing in whiskey, nor do we believe any one in this community is having anything to do with anything in violation of the prohibition law, and Rev. Falkner is not the pastor of this church nor has not been since October, 1922.

ALABAMA NEWS HAPPENINGS.

A Resume of the More Important Events of Interest Condensed To An Epitomized Form.

Receipts of the state law enforcement department for the month of August exceeded expenditures by $9,421.48, according to a report of the department's work during August, submitted by Chief Walter K. McAdory to Gov. Brandon. The report shows cash fines collected through the department's activities of $14,133.27 and expenses of the department for the month of $4,711.79. Six automobiles, two wagons and four mules were seized for confiscation by the state officers during August. They also destroyed 150 stills, 90,135 gallons of beer 861 gallons of whisky, 60 gallons of wine and 375 bottles of home brew.

After a silence of several months regarding his method in escaping from the state insane hospital at Tuscaloosa, Mark McNaron, who is being held in the Jefferson county jail for trial on two charges of assault with intent to murder, intimated that he used a key, fashioned from a bone, which he procured from meat served at the institution. McNaron refused to make any definite statement, but declared that the bone was the only hard substance available at the asylum, and that he had gone through four locked doors without tampering with the locks.

The formal opening of the Alabama Home for Feeble Minded, just completed at a cost of $70,000, will be held sometime in October. The building is now open for reception of patients and already a number have been taken there for treatment. The home can care for 160 patients. Dr. W. D. Patrlow is head of the institution and also superintendent of the Alabama Bryce Hospital, while Dr. L. H. Woodruff, formerly of Anniston, is assistant superintendent and will be in charge of the new home.

County health units in many counties of Alabama soon may lose a share of the funds with which they are now operating, according to Dr. W. K. Sharpe of the federal health service. Dr. Sharpe explained that some of the federal appropriations for health work in the state was only available for a three years' period to aid the units in getting established, after which it was expected the state and counties would be able to carry on the work.

Opelikians are interested in better depot facilities and definite action has been taken by the appointment of a joint commission of three, consisting of Judge T. D. S[illegible] from the Rotary club, M. M. [illegible] of the Chamber of Commerce and W. H. Wilson from the Kiwanis club to go to Atlanta and Savannah to interview management of the Western Railroad and the Central of Georgia relative to having a new depot built there.

The family of Buford Crutchfield narrowly escaped injury when a piece of iron which weighed 10 pounds and which was blasted out of the crucible of the blast furnace of the Gulf States Steel company at Gadsden, crashed through his house a quarter of a mile away. It went through the roof, wrecked a chair, passed through the floor and buried itself several inches in the ground. The bottom of the furnace is being blased out for repairs.

It is reported that early action will be taken by the committee named in the creditors meeting before Judge E. H. Dryer, referee in bankruptcy, in the case of the Montevallo Mining Company, bankrupt, and in the near future actual steps will have been taken looking to the sale of the property, located at Aldrich, in Shelby County, where about 200 state convicts have been worked.

John Cloud, a two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Cloud of Gurley was drowned at the family home by falling in a large bucket of swill that he fell into head foremost. He had been dead an hour when his mother found him in the bucket with head down and feet up.

It cost Jefferson county $309,027.04 to operate during the month of August, according to the monthly report of the board of revenue.

Sale of the Tidewater Coal company in Tuscaloosa county has been made to J. W. Lewis and F. W. Hopkins, of Birmingham.

The garages of Scottsboro are asking the co-operation of car owners in getting a supply of gas during the week in order that the operators of garages may close on Sunday, thereby giving their employes a day of rest.

Mr. Broadus Connatser left Monday to enter the State University.

THE PUBLIC AND ALABAMA POWER COMPANY

The Alabama Public Utility Act

The protection of the public against monopolies, unreasonable rates and inadequate service, and the right of the public to require adequate service on the part of utilities under honest, efficient and economical management are provided for in the Federal Water Power Act of Congress and the Alabama Public Utility Act, both having become the law in 1920.

The Federal Water Power Act (which was discussed in a former advertisement) fully protects the public interest in the DEVELOPMENT by utilities of the power generated from navigable streams.

The Alabama Public Utility Act fully protects the public in the DISTRIBUTION by utilities of the power generated from navigable (and non-navigable) streams.

Under this Act the Alabama Public Service Commission is vested with authority to supervise the activities of light, power, gas, street railway, and other utilities. Such supervision of a utility embraces among other subjects its construction and extensions, its rates, regulations and returns, and the issuance and sale of stocks and bonds; its service to the public, its management and operations, and its books, records and accounts.

Construction of Extensions, Additions, Etc.

Except for the construction of ordinary extensions of existing systems in the usual course of business, no plant, property or facility of any utility shall be constructed until the Commission shall have granted at a public hearing a certificate of convenience and necessity. The Commission has discretion to grant or withhold such certificate and to prescribe such conditions upon its issuance as it may deem advisable. (Sec. 49.)

Certificate Limited

Unless the utility to which such certificate is issued shall exercise the same within one year from the grant thereof, the authority afforded thereby shall be lost and the certificate become null and void. (Sec. 50.)

Abandonment of Service

No portion of the public service shall be abandoned except upon the issuance of such a certificate. (Sec. 51.)

Rate, Regulations and Returns

The Commission has "general and exclusive power" to fix rates and regulations. Only such just and reasonable rates will be allowed as will enable the utility at all times fully to "perform its duties to the public and will, under honest, efficient and economical management, earn a fair net return on the reasonable value of its property devoted to the public service." (Sec. 24.)

For a utility to charge any rate, enforce any regulation, or enter into any contract not approved by the Commission is unlawful and a criminal offense (Secs. 17, 18, 25, 33) subject to punishment by a fine of $1,000.00. (Sec. 69.)

Valuations

The valuation of property on which rates are based is made by the Commission. Only such property is considered as is used and useful in the public service. (Secs. 14-16.)

Reserves for Renewals

The utility shall maintain proper reserves for "renewals, replacements and reasonable contingencies," and shall make such reasonable improvements, extensions and enlargements of its plants, facilities and equipment as may be necessary to meet the growth and demand of the territory which it is under the duty to serve.

Stocks and Bonds

No utility is permitted to issue its stock or bonds without the approval of the Commission which by formal order must determine that the proceeds of the sale are reasonably necessary and appropriate for the purpose of carrying out the corporate purposes of the utility, and that the sale will not impair the ability of the utility to perform its proper service to the public. The Commission must fix the price at which the securities shall be sold to the public and, if bonds or preferred stock, the rate of interest to be paid thereon. A report of the sale of such securities must be made to the Commission within ten days after such sale. (Secs. 6-9.)

Further discussion of the authority of the Alabama Public Service Commission over public utilities will appear in our next advertisement.

The Value of Land Abstracts

It is not safe to buy land or to lend money and accept land as security without first investigating the title of the land. Often there are unpaid mortgages, judgments, or other liens affecting the title, which an abstract would set out. Therefore, when buying land or lending money thereon, it is important that an abstract of title be furnished. A few dollars spent for an abstract is cheaper than going ahead and having a law suit a little later on.

A CORRECTION

In publishing about the Oak Grove tangle last week we stated that Rev. Falkner was pastor at that place. We have learned since that Rev. Falkner was pastor at this place about a year ago, but that Rev. Davis of Union Grove is now the pastor. We wish to apologize to both the above named gentlemen for this error.

We are carrying this week a letter signed by several of the citizens of the Oak Grove community, which we commend to our readers. Read their letter, and probably it will help toward a more thorough general knowledge of the conditions up there.

THE STANTON SCHOOL

The Stanton Consolidated School opened for business on Monday of last week. There was an enrollment of about one hundred consisting of students from Pletcher, Adams and Ramsey. This is the first year of the new school, as the consolidation of the four districts has just been effected.

Prof. W. T. Edwards is the principal, and he has as assistants, his wife, Miss Lorraine Dyer, and Miss Myrtice Nichols. The corps of teachers are all well trained, and the Stanton school has before it a very bright and promising future. Prof. Edwards was principal of the Jemison school last year.

FRIENDSHIP BAPTIST CHURCH

A called conference was held at Friendship Baptist church last Sunday night, for the purpose of electing the supplies for the coming associational year. After a short prayer service, Mr. W. W. Hand was chosen as moderator, and the church entered at once into the business. There was a large percentage of the membership present, and the business went off in rapid and orderly manner.

The church made the vote for Rev. W. W. Robinson as its pastor unanimous. J. D. Collins, Sr., was re-elected clerk. It was decided that the officers of the Sunday school be chosen in church conference also. T. E. Wyatt was re-elected superintendent, W. W. Hand, assistant superintendent, and Miss Omie Hand, secretary. The teachers for the various classes will be chosen at Sunday school next Sunday.

Judging from the attendance at this service, the interest in the church work at this place is picking up some. It is hoped that the members will all stand by the new pastor and officers, and make Friendship a church to be envied.

We notice that Uncle Bill Huckabee has bought out the Farmers Cafe, formerly operated by Mr. W. G. Robinson. He is inviting his friends to come around and eat with him. Read his adv.

BOX SUPPER

There will be a box supper at Stanton Junior High school Friday night, Sept. 14th. It will be given by the 8th grade Home Economics class under the auspices of the parent-teacher association. The proceeds will be used in equipping the school. Everybody invited.

Mr. Lloyd Teel made a business trip to Montgomery Monday, returning in the afternoon.

NOTICE OF FINAL SETTLEMENT

R. B. Abernathy, guardian of the estate of Burleigh Hodnett, having appeared on this the 27th day of Augst, 1923, and filed his statements, accounts and vouchers, verified by affidavit, for a final settlement of his said guardianship:

It is ordered by the court that the 15th day of September, 1923, be and it is hereby the day set on which to make such settlement, at which time all persons interested may appear and contest the said settlement if they deem proper.

Mr. L. B. Broadhead of this community is expecting his daughter and little grand daughter in a few days from Birmingham. They are Mrs. C. F. Adams and Myrtice Adams.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Roper and little son, Walter White spent a little while with Mr. and Mrs. Less Broadhead Sunday morning. They could not stay long as they had to return to their home at near Lawley that day.

Miss Ollie Spaulding is now visiting her sister, Mrs. Rinnie Robertson of Fayette county, near Tuscaloosa.

Reception Given.

Te teachers of both schools were the honor guests at a reception tendered them on Tuesday afternoon by the Civic club when they also observed Reciprocity Day at the handsome home of Mrs. J. P. Hayes.

Baskets of garden flowers in brilliant hues decorated the entire apartments. The guests were received by Mesdames Grady Broadhead and Watts Moore and were introduced to the receiving line composed of the faculties fo the schools. Then were carried by Mrs. Ross Mullins to the punch table, presided over by Mesdames Hart, Gowan and McDavid. Here a delicious beverage and sandwiches were served. Music on the piano was furnished by Misses Hester and Curry, accompanied by Mrs. Middleton, violinist. About fifty guests called during the afternoion.

How Mothers Friend aids Expectant Mothers at Child-birth

THERE are thousands of expectant mothers who undergo much useless suffering for months before, as well as at the moment when delivery occurs. These months of suffering, with nerves and vital organs weakened, leave their effect upon the child. An eminent physician found the way to stop much of this unnecessary suffering—the same easy way which thousands of mothers have used for three generations.

Mrs. Walter S. Hadley, Bridgeport, Ind., says: "Before my little boy came I was so paralyzed in my hips and limbs I could hardly walk, and some days after a little extra exertion I couldn't walk a step. I felt it coming on this time; in fact, I could hardly get up when I sat down, but now, after using one bottle of Mother's Friend, I am so much better. I feel that I almost owe my life to Mother's Friend."

Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says: "With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse, and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used Mother's Friend and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor, because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes."

"Mother's Friend" is applied externally to the abdomen, back and hips. It penetrates remarkably, permitting the easier relaxation and distension of muscles, nerves, tissues and ligaments, and their constant easier readjustment during expectancy and at childbirth. Have no more fear or dread, mother! Start using "Mother's Friend" now—the sooner the better.

"Mother's Friend" contains no narcotics or harmful drugs. It is safe. For three generations "Mother's Friend" has relieved expectant mothers of much useless suffering. Mother! you must avoid mere greases and useless substitutes. Begin using "Mother's Friend" today. It is sold at drug stores—everywhere.

UP TO YOU AND CONGRESS

At the present time it would be a misnomer to speak of the national government having a personnel system at all. The reform accomplished by the establishment of the civil service commission and the merit system has touched but one phase of the personnel problem, and that but partially —entrance into the government service. Practically nothing has been done in the way of erecting the government services into careers that will attract and retain efficient men. Bad as conditions were in this respect before the war, they have become many times worse during and since that event.

The correction of these evils presents a problem of great complexity. It cannot be achieved by a half-hearted or half-way tinkering with the present system. Nothing but a thorough overhauling of the whole personnel system and the establishment of a new system covering all phases of the question and embodying the most approved principles of personnel administration will meet the needs of the situation. Fortunately a beginning has been made in this direction. It at least furnishes a starting point for action looking to the giving to the government of the personnel system that it must have if government work is to be even measurably well done.

The situation now is that there is an insistent demand on the part of the public that the whole administration of the national government be put upon a more efficient basis, and that the present waste of public funds, resulting from present defective organization and methods, shall cease; that congress is alive to this demand and has made a start toward meeting it; that the fundamental defects in the existing system are well known; and that the direction efforts looking to reform should take are clearly established. The responsibility is thus squarely up to congress.

If the problem that confronts congress in securing this laudable end is analyzed it will be found that the fundamental reforms are: The reform by congress itself of its own organization and methods of procedure; the entire revision of the present system under which the financial needs of the government are determined and provided; the setting up of an agency and procedure through which the expenditure of public funds may be properly controlled and congress be given that information regarding such expenditures which it must have if it is to assure itself that its agents, the administrative services, are properly performing their duties, and to act intelligently in respect to the future grant of funds; the provision of an organ through which the President may in fact, as well as in name, discharge his duties as head of the administration; the reorganization of the administrative branch of the government so as to eliminate the present widespread overlapping of jurisdictions and functions and indefensible duplication of services, organization, plant and work; and the complete recasting of the present system under which the personnel required to man the governmental plant is secured, compensated, promoted, assigned to particular tasks and controlled, to the end that not only justice will be done to the several classes of governmental employees, but that a personnel system will be established that will insure a maximum of efficiency in the actual conduct of public affairs.

A study of action actually had or now under way shows that steps have been taken toward the accomplishment of each of these fundamental reforms. The introduction of a budget system is a long step forward.

I don't mean in the least to give the impression that all private business is perfectly run and that only government business is badly managed, or that all the efficient people are in private employ and only inefficient in the public service. Neither of those conditions exists.

In the common phrase, you have got to hand it to Alexander Hamilton for devising a scheme that has stood up since revolutionary days. It has not been fundamentally altered since his day. There has been no readjustment of salaries in the departmental service for sixty years. That implies a certain loyalty and faithfulness on the part of the workers.

My only desire is to disclose the present condition of government employment; that good men are leaving, and that the present tendency, if not checked, will inevitably drive out of the service all of the efficient and leave only the mediocre and incompetent. I have said little myself, but have chosen to let the men working for the government tell the story. Every assertion of fact in these articles comes from some responsible source or authority within the service. I am not making a criticism or attack from the outside, but merely serving as a mouthpiece for your hired men.

Let us do your job printing.

WILL EXTEND ELECTRIC LIGHT AND POWER SYSTEM

Permit for Extension of Lines to Russellville is Granted.

Permission to extend its electric transmission lines from a point on the Alabama Power Company's transmission system near Russellville, Ala., to the city of Russellville, is asked by the Power Company in a petition filed Wednesday with the Alabama Public Service Commission.

The permission asks granting by the commission of convenience and necessity for the construction of the necessary electric transmission line into Russellville. Formal hearing of the petition was set for Tuesday, September 4.

CANE CREEK NEWS

Farmers are getting busy gathering their crops, but it doesn't seem to be much of a job.

Our singing society met Sunday afternoon with a large crowd. Everybody seemed to feel like singing and a splendid program was rendered. The following directed three songs each: Messrs. J. W. Cleckler, J. E. Miner and Prof. O. R. Robinson; Misses Zula Willis, Evie Jones, Lillie Mae Weldon, Zora Miner, Pearl Giles, Nora Miner, Nora Belle Popwell and Mrs. Carrie Williamson. Organists for the afternoon were: Misses Lillie Mae Weldon, Zula Willis and Evie Jones.

We thank the classes of the surrounding communities for helping us out and extend a hearty welcome to all who wish to attend.

Miss Myrtle Weldon has returned to her home in Birmingham after spending the summer with her grand parens, Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Weldon.

Miss Evie Jones spent Sunday night and Monday with Miss Zula Willis.

Miss Lillie Mae Ellison spent last Saturday night and Sunday with Misses Nora and Zora Miner.

Miss Gay, of Greensboro is visiting Miss Carrie Lee Williamson this week.

Mrs. Reed Giles of Birmingham has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Killgore this week.

Misses Delene and Meadie Lambert are visiting relatives in Tuskegee.

Miss Zula Willis spent last Tuesday afternoon with Miss Zora Miner.

Mr. and Mrs. George Williamson visited the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Williamson last week.

NOTICE

Patrons and pupils of Providence community, Beat 16, are requested to meet at the school house Friday, Sept. 14th, for the purpose of cleaning up building and play grounds.

DIDN'T KNOW HIS BROTHER

"My brother got so bad with stomach and liver trouble that when I saw him after a year I didn't know him. He was emaciated and yellow as a pumpkin and was often in great pain. He couldn't have lived long the way he was going. Doctors and medicine gave him no relief. I picked up a little booklet on Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, which he said described his case perfectly. The first dose of it gave him great relief and in a month he was good as ever." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Alred Drug Co., and druggists everywhere.

LITTLE CHILD DEAD

The little five-year old girl of Mr. and Mrs. Zed Robinson of near Jemison was buried in Clanton last Saturday. It died Friday, having been sick only a few days with diphtheria. It seems that an epidemic of this disease is quite general over the county.

MOVES WHOLESALE GROCERY

Mr. J. Lee Smith has moved his wholesale Grocery business from its former location in the rear of Kemp's store into a nice Hayes building on Seventh street. Lee has certainly got a nice location now for a business of this kind. It is within a block of the depot and right in the center of town too. He is to occupy the whole ground floor of this building.

Mr. L. H. Bean, proprietor of the Jemison Hardware Company of Jemison, was in Clanton on business Tuesday. Mr. Bean is putting on a contest whereby he will give away a Grafanola. Read his adv. in this week's Union-Banner.

Correct.—John was the son of parents who were sufficiently popular to receive more invitations than they could conveniently accept. In the course of a general knowledge lesson, the master asked: "Can any boy tell me the meaning of the letters R. S. V. P.?"

John's hand shot up.

"Well?" said the master.

"It means," explained John, "rush in, shake hands, and vanish pleasantly."—Tit-Bits.

DRAINAGE MEET HERE MONDAY

Owners of Land Affected Are Urged To Be Present to Discuss Further Steps to be Taken.

W. W. Fox, chairman of the local drainage committee, and Dr. V. J. Gragg, mayor of Clanton, have called a meeting of the drainage committee at the court house next Monday, September 24th, at 11 o'clock. They urge that all the owners of land affected by this project be present and especially all those who have signed the drainage petition. It is necessary for all of these men to be present, so let everyone put forth an effort to be there on time. Anyone else who is able to give any ideas as to the progress of the work are cordially invited.

This drainage business is not dead by any means. It is true that there has been a delay in the work. The trouble Mr. Fox has had recently and the fact that Dr. Gragg has been sick for several weeks, caused a considerable delay in the business, but we are glad to say they are both on foot now and ready to resume the work with renewed strength and energy. A goodly number of signatures have been placed on the petition, in fact we believe the required percentage of the land affected has been signed for, and the object of this meeting is to push the work on so that actual work on the dredging may begin in the near future.

We are publishing this week a report of the drainage work going on in Fayette and Lamar counties. They are doing a work up there that is worthy of our notice. The State and Federal departments are strictly behind them in their undertaking, and they will do the same for us if we will only do our part. So, let's get busy and go after it. These swamps ought to be drained, and they must be.

ELEVEN STAND CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATION

The civil service examination for a clerk-carrier at the Clanton post office was held at the county high school building last Saturday. W. J. Armstrong, clerk of the local examing board had charge of the examination. The following took the examination:

Simuel Mims, Clanton, Route 5.
Stanley Davis, Clanton, Route 6.
Claude M. Baker, Friars Point, Miss.
Julius Burnett, Clanton.
Wm. J. Mims, Clanton, Route 1.
M. M. Biles, Clanton.
W. O. Rich, Clanton.
Miss Inez Harris, Clanton.
A. D. Scott, Clanton, Route 2.
C. N. Smith, Clanton, Route 4.
A. W. Hayes, Clanton, Route 7.

The examination papers were sent in to the civil service commission at Washington for grading. The highest three applicants will be determined eligibles, and one from these three will be selected to fill the position. We understand that the postmaster at Clanton, Mr. W. M. Bean, will make the selection from these three eligibles.

CEDAR GROVE

There will be singing at this place Sunday afternoon in the 1923 song books. Everybody has an invitation to come and help out in the singing. There will also be preaching Saturday and Sunday. Hope all will attend.

FOUR MEN ARRESTED; 75-GALLON STILL TAKEN

Saturday was a rather unlucky day for some of the wild cat distillers of Chilton county. Sheriff Littlejohn and his force of deputies went up in Stumps Hills Saturday morning and returned with four men, B. Igo, Harley Smith, Jim Aldridge and Steve Dutton, whom they caught at a whiskey still in that section. The still was not in operation, but it was about ready for business. There was 240 gallons of beer ready to be converted into spirits, and there were on the grounds ten more 60-gallon barrels which it is supposed were for beer to be put up in. No whiskey was found. The officers destroyed the beer and the barrels, and the still, a 75-gallon copper outfit, together with the men was brought and locked up in jail. Two of the men, Igo and Smith, made bond, while the other two were held over.

Those participating in the raid were: Sheriff Littlejohn, John L. Gore, Lewis Easterling, and Harvey Foshee. The sheriff made a good headway against the violators of the prohibition law last week. In all there were four stills captured and six men arrested.

DELICATESSEN-HEADLIGHT

If activity and plans mean anything then surely the nuptial event of next Tuesday, September 25, 8:00 p.m. at the Community Building, will be the most effete social happening of the year. Quite a number of cotton-picking parties, at which calcy arsenate was served as refreshments, have been tendered the beautiful bride to be, which but further the interest of those parties concerned in the wedding of September 25, at Verbena.

The bride to be, Miss Delicia Delicatessen, has been unusually busy during the past several days entering upon the various social rounds and attending to little affairs concerning her trousseau. The groom, Mr. Archibald Hercules Headlight has been feverishly busy gathering his crop in order that there will be no delay in the happy couple starting on their honey moon. Present plans are that they will go to the quiet and atrtactive woodlawn retreat, Marbury, immediately following the ceremony.

The following attendants have been announced for the wedding: Maid of Honor, Delicia Despondent; best man, Goliath Little; Bridesmaids, Ima Fraid and Stilla Waitin; groomsmen, Heza Baer, Hazzy Gone; flower girl, May Weed; ring bearer, Watchim Droppit; minister, Ty M. Tight. A chorus has been arranged for the musical feature, and from the list of those understood to compose it the general opinion is that the effect on the assembly will be terrible.

There are no cards in town. It is expected that pink and yellow posters will be issued over the neighboring towns as a means of securing the co-operation of the general public in seeing this affair well done. There will be an admission fee charged at the door, and the funds derived from such will be used in school improvement work.

The general public is invited. It is hoped that the community building in Verbena will on that occasion be packed. And for the information of the out-of-town guests, we will say that the building is just south of the bank. Be sure and come and bring your friends.

Messrs. Jess Hayes and F. H. Brown of Maplesville were in Clanton Tuesday on business.

J. BICE GIVES ROAD REMEDY

Says it is Duty of County Commissioners to Obtain Right-of-Way for Highway Through Co.

Thorsby, Ala., Sept. 17, 1923.
Editor The Union-Banner:

I noticed in your paper of last week that you say the State Highway Commission is continually letting out contracts for highways over the State, but they always slight Chilton county. Can any one offer a remedy for this neglect to our county?

I have been wondering why they didn't let out the contract for Chilton county. I was told a few days ago that the State Commission made the statement that they had been ready to let the contract for some time for Chilton county but they had no right-of-way for the highway and that the county must secure the right-of-way before they can let the contract. It is the law for the county to secure the right-of-way, so they said. If this is the law, here is the remedy: Let the Commissioners get busy and secure the right-of-way for the highway. We need this road and it should come all the way on the east side of the L. & N. R. R., just as it is surveyed out. When the right-of-way is secured there will be no excuse for not letting out the contract, and work begun.

Yours truly,
J. BICE.

SINGING AT PATE'S CHAPEL

The Sacred Harp and Christian Harmony singing convention held its regular semi-annual session at Pate's Chapel on Saturday and Sunday last, Sept. 15th and 16th.

The convention was called to order by the president at 10 o'clock.

The opening song, "Ortonville," was directed by the vice-president, after which prayer was offered by J. N. Scott.

A committee arranged for the directors, and time given each director, being fifteen minutes each.

Music was rendered by the following directors: President Z. J. Jones, Vice-President T. J. Jackson, the Secretary Era Sanders, J. D. Hodgens, W. L. Jackson, Lorenzo Sanders, J. H. Martin, J. N. Scott, J. A. Deason and Mr. Joiner of Childersburg, J. H. Williams, Burl Martin, Chester Maddox, Profs. Franklin and Lawley, J. L. Hays, Will Morris, M. W. Brown, of Mt. Creek, and Mrs. Sarah Bates.

Songs in memory of the authors of the Harp and Harmony were rendered at the 11 o'clock service, Sunday, "White" being rendered by the secretary, and "French Broad" by Prof. Lawley. Also two songs, "Raymond" and "Faithful Soldier" were sung by Prof. Lawley in memory of one of the convention's deceased members, Mr. W. F. Armstrong.

'Twas a splendid convention, indeed—many singers and directors being in attendance, and no lack of listeners.

Refreshments were served at the noon hour—on both days—a kind offering of the good people of Pate's Chapel. For all this we wish to thank you. Please feel that we visitors to Pate's Chapel appreciate this, your genial hospitality, your every kindness, that makes us all glad we had the privilege of attending a convention at this place.

The session closed by singing "Hallelujah," then benediction by Prof. Lawley.

The next convention will be at Pleasant Grove vhurch, seven miles southwest of Clanton the third Saturday and Sunday in May, 1924.

BIG ADVANCES IN COTTON MARKET

Staple Brings $6.25 a Bale Over the Saturday Close and Sales Reach 750.

Montgomery, Ala., Sept. 17.—Reflecting sharp advances on the New York and New Orleans exchanges, Montgomery spot cotton Monday sold for $6.25 a bale higher than the price brought Saturday. With middling grades bringing 28 3-4 cents as against 27 1-2 cents Saturday, the local sales Monday amounted to 750 bales, the largest movement of the season, factors pointed out.

Although cotton has reached a new high level for the movement, it was believed by cotton men in Montgomery that the top has not yet been reached, and that the staple will at least go to 35 cents before the first of 1924. There were some more optimistic in the local cotton exchange Monday who predicted forty cent cotton. All based their views on prospects of a short crop everywhere with the greatest falling off in Texas.

Advices received Monday over the private wire of Kahn Brothers and Virgin local cotton and stock brokers, from a correspondent who has traversed a large portion of the cotton region in Texas, were to the effect that the crop on that territory is not only the poorest in years, due to heavy and continued rainfall, but that all hopes of top crop have vanished. The report also stated that the staple is selling far above quotations, with middling bringing 29 1-2 cents in some centers.

The report received in Montgomery also indicated that the demand for cotton is almost insatiable and that all grades are finding a ready market, and as pointed out, sometime bringing a premium on board quotations. Ira Virgin, member of the brokerage firm receiving the report, declared that it is the most pronounced indication of a short crop than any received this season.

BOOSTS CLANTON COTTON MARKET

Uncle Bob Grant of Coopers was in Clanton Tuesday. While here he came to The Banner office and told us his business. He had some cotton ginned and tried to sell it in Coopers. The buyers there, Mr. Grant said, offered him 27 3-4c for it; so he brought his samples to Clanton. The buyers here gave him 29 1-8c for it. So, Uncle Bob was happy that he did not sell in Coopers. He said that he wanted us to tell the world about this difference in the price offered him. He said there was so much difference that he thought the farmers ought to know about it.

We do not know why the cotton buyers at Coopers do not give the same price they do in Clanton. Probably it is because they did not have the latest market quotations.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

On Tuesday night, September 11, Mr. Care Baker invited a number of his young friends to celebrate his eighteenth birthday.

After enjoying singing and music for quite a while, they were invited into the dining room, beautifully decorated with cut flowers, where they were served refreshments and cut a number of birthday cakes. Every one present enjoyed themselves immensely.

UNION SPRINGS

There will be a box supper at this place Saturday night, Sept. 22nd. The proceeds will be used for the church. Everybody invited. We also invite our sheriff, T. J. Littlejohn.

AGRYPNOSIS OR HYPNOPHOBIA?

"Nero fiddled while Rome burned." Yes, that is true, according to tradition. But why did he do it is the question?

This week we are carrying advertisements in The Union-Banner for two wide-awake dry goods establishments who are located outside of Chilton county. These concerns are telling the people of Chilton county what they have for sale, and are extending to them an invitation to come to their stores to spend their money.

A good many of the merchants of Clanton and other towns of Chilton county have about the same goods which these merchants are offering to sell the public. But how are the people going to learn about it? Are our home merchants going to snooze on and let these big concerns who are really awake come right into their front doors and take their customers away from them? Well, yes, unless they get up and wipe the cracklings out of their eyes and invite the people of the county to spend their money with them.

These Birmingham concerns realize what it means to advertise. They know that it pays, even if they are 65 miles away from Clanton. If they didn't get business in return for their money they would not spend it that way. Now, if it will pay a dry goods firm in Birmingham, it will pay a dry goods firm in Clanton. So again we ask the question, is it agrypnosis or hypnophobia, or are they just naturally asleep?

ALABAMA POWER CO. ADVERTISING CLANTON

Last week we reproduced in The Union-Banner an advertisement of the opportunities and advantages of Clanton, as was published by the Alabama Power Company in the Manufacturer's Record recently. The power company is publishing similar advertisements for other towns of Alabama, which will be a great help in developing the natural resources of the towns and the State in general.

The Alabama Power Company is spending its money very generously in putting Alabama before the world. We carry a large advertisement for them every week in our paper, and they every one contain some good thoughts for the people of our State. We commend these advertisements to our readers and urge that you read every one of them. They contain some interesting and valuable information for you.

We dislike to see the power company criticised as it is by some of the prejudiced and less-informed people of the State. This company is by far the greatest industrial enterprise that ever came South, and Alabama should feel proud that it has planted its millions right here in our native soil to stay with us and work with us toward the advancement of our State for all time to come. We are indeed proud of the Alabama Power Company.

FREIGHT TRAIN WRECKED

Sunday afternoon just as No. 10 was pulling into the yards at Clanton a freight train was switching off the main line to meet No. 10. Something went wrong with one of the freight cars and about thirty yards of the railroad track was torn up and twisted out of shape, just above the crossing here. This happened before all of the freight train got off the main line, so No. 10 and all the other passenger trains had to wait for the obstructions to be removed. No train was able to pass through for a couple of hours. So far as we could learn no one was injured.

This spot seems to be a rather unlucky one recently. It was at this same place where No. 4 hit a car last week killing two negroes and injuring Frank Thompson and one negro.

LEAVE FOR COLUMBIA INSTITUTE THIS WEEK

Miss Margaret Robinson, daughter of Mr. J. E. Robinson, and Miss Alma Robinson, left this week for Colum-Robnison, left this week for Columbia, Tenn., where they will enter the Columbia Institute. This institution, which is for girls only, is the oldest school in the South. It was established way back before the civil war, and during the war the buildings were used as a hospital for wounded soldiers. This school has an enviable record behind it, and we hope these Clanton young ladies do well there.

ANNUAL MEETING OF W. M. U. AT BILLINGSLEY, SEPT. 24TH

The annual meeting of the W. M. U. of Unity Association will meet at Billingsley, Monday, Sept. 24th, at 10:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Ida M. Stallworth, state corresponding secretary-treasurer, will be present and deliver an address.

Mrs. Mary C. Allen will also give a talk on the Baptist World Alliance held at Stockholm, Sweden.

Everybody is cordially invited.

CHILTON FARMERS HERE SATURDAY

National Organizer For The United Farmers is Speaker in Chilton.

The United Farmers of America held a very enthusiastic meeting at court house here Saturday. At 10:30 a.m. an open meeting was held at which farmers, business men and professional men were invited and in the afternoon only the members of the organization were admitted.

The open meeting in the morning was called to order by A. B. Baxley, the state manager of the United Farmers. After a short but pointed speech, Mr. Baxley introduced O. C. Dobbs, national lecturer of the organization. For one and one-half hours this noted speaker hled the close attention of his hearers, who were composed of about 400 farmers and business men of the county. The speaker dealt principally with the question of co-operation between the farmers land business men of the country. He pointed out very forcibly that the paramount aim of the United Farmers organization is to bring about a more united relationship between the farmers themselves and a more thorough spirit of co-operation between the farmers and the men of other vocations in our country.

The United Farmers of America is a commercial organization, but this is not all that it stands for. It has for one of its main objectives the establishment and maintenance of true American ideals. It puts forth a strong effort to elevate humanity, protect American manhood and womanhood, and to build up the American nation from every angle. Every class of American people, the capitalist and the laborer, the rich and the poor, is duty bound to support every thing that this organization stands for. It believes in the strict enforcement of the laws of the land, and it won't tolerate any member that does not abide by the laws of our nation. The Union-Banner wishes to bespeak all the favor and commendation at our command to this truly Christian and American institution. It deserves the support of every man, woman and child on the American continent.

Mr. Dobbs is booked to make speeches in several communities of the county during the week. His object is to stimulate interest in the locals already organized and to organize other sections of the county as well.

The Banner force was greeted by a visit from a very dear old friend Saturday. We say an old friend not because he is really old, but because it has been so long since we have seen him. We have reference to Tom Sessions of Abanda, Ala. Tom came over to see his brother Ben for a day or so, and of course had to come to The Banner office before he left. It will be remembered that Tom worked for The Banner a while several years ago. We might say for him though that he is not a printer now. He learned better than that as soon as he left Clanton. Tom is now attending Emory College at Atlanta.

Late reports from the St. Vincent's Hospital say that Frank Thompson, hurt in the train accident last week, is improving. One of the negroes carried to the hospital died soon after arriving there, but the other one is getting well.

WILSON MAY AGAIN BE CANDIDATE FOR PRESIDENT

Leaders Visiting Former President on Invitation Leave With Impression He Would Accept Nomination

New York, Sept. 18.—Former President Woodrow Wilson, according to personal friends who have talked with him during the last few months, is a receptive candidate for the democratic nomination for president in 1924. Mr. Wilson has not flatly stated to anyone, so far as known, that he is a candidate, but distinguished democratic leaders who have called to see him on his invitation have come away with the impression deeply etched into their consciousness that in case of a deadlock he would feel it his patriotic duty to respond to a draft.

George Brennan, of Chicago, the Illinois Democratic state leader, had a three hour conference with Mr. Wilson at the suggestion of the former war presdient, and left him with the ineradicable conviction that Mr. Wilson, who is in fairly good health, despite his stroke of paralysis four years ago this month, which left his left side in bad condition, is a receptive candidate for the exalted place to which he was elected in 1912 and in 1916.

Invited to Call.

Mr. Brennan, it was learned today, was invited by Mr. Wilson to call on him at his home in Washington, the Chicago statesman was somewhat mystified by the invitation, which he interpreted as a sort of summons, but with little delay he accepted the invitation, making the trip from Chicago to do so. The interchanges between the two are known to those with whom Mr. Brennan talked afterwards.

Mr. Brennan told Mr. Wilson that he was glad to call on him in response to his invitation, but that he did not wish to impose on him by staying so long that Mr. Wilson would become overtaxed. The former president assured him that he was in good shape, that he did not easily tire and that while his left side gave him trouble his mental activities were the same as ever, and to not hurry away on his, Wilson's account.

THANKS CONTRIBUTORS

The Civic Club wishes to thank the children of the Grammar school for their splendid contributions toward the Japanese Relief Fund. The club feels very grateful, especially to those who gave so generously of their individual funds to aid the distressed in the distant Orient. The amount realized from all grades was $13.50, and we feel that this nice contribution was due in a large measure to the interest and kindness shown by both faculty and principal.

ALABAMA MILEAGE TOTAL OF 56,551

Alabama ranks twenty-third in the list of states in the ratio of total road mileage, with 56,551 miles, and seventeenth in the ratio of population per miles in the 7 per cent federal aid system, with a population per mile in relation to this system of 593. Alabama also ranks twenty-fourth according to taxable valuation as of 1922, which valuation is placed at $952,602,224.

These figures, along with similar comparative figures for each of the other 47 states, appear in the September issue of the American Highways, published by the American Association of State Highway officials. W. S. Keller, Alabama state highway engineer, is chairman of the association's executive committee.

The same statistics show Alabama as nineteenth in the list of states in ratio of federal aid, 1917-1924, the total federal aid for Alabama during that period being stated as $9,710,910. This state, it is shown, is 23rd in rank according to average annual revenue per automobile and truck, this revenue being stated as $14.02.

MILT TOLBERT'S TENT THEATRE TO BE HERE ALL NEXT WEEK

It will be gratifying news to the amusement-loving people of this section to learn that the famous Milt Tolbert's cast of theatre performers will be in Clanton all next week, beginning September 24th. This is not the same crew that came here six months ago, but it is another section of the same management. So the people know about what to expect when they come to see this show.

A few weeks ago they showed in Lewisburg, Tenn., and the newspaper there, The Gazette, had the following to say regarding the outfit while it was in their city:

"The Milt Tolbert Show made its initial bow to Lewisburg people Monday night with the play, "A Wife in Name Only." A strong four act comedy drama, showing to one of the largest audiences assembled under a show tent here in years. This was followed by an after-show, or concert, which was also well worth the money, to say nothing of Roy Rogers, whose singing everyone enjoys.

Tuesday night they presented a play, "For Her Brother's Sake," which was ably presented by Mr. and Mrs. Rath, who are artists and were assisted by Ernest Veava, dainty Mrs. Hunter and other real actors.

Wednesday night, "The Revelations of a Wife" was given and it showed a young wife who for her father's sake, to asve him from financial ruin, marries a man she does not love. Her husband was a power, both politically and financially. Of course the play ends happily with the greatest revelation of all—love for her husband.

Each night the concert was ably put on by such good actors as Roy Rogers, Mrs. Hunter, Ernest Veava, Billy Ferguson and others, besides a score of girls, who only take part in the musical comedy.

Thursday night's play, which will be given after we are off the press will be a Western play entitled "The Girl of Eagle Ranch." Everyone loves a Western story to some extent and we understand this play is so modified as to appeal to those who do not like too much firearms play, and yet just enough to satisfy the other kind.

Friday night is a night every mother should go and take her daughters, as it shows many shares and pitfalls that a young lady comes in contact with when she goes out into the world to make her own way. This is called "The Girl Without a Chance," and shows indeed just how little chance a girl has escaping the clutches of human vultures who are ever looking for some girl to harm. This is the only night that a straight admission is charged—all other times the ladies' tickets are good.

Saturday night's play, "Ten Nights in the Bar Room," is an old, old play, yet one that a good many people have never seen, and even if you have seen it you will enjoy it again.

Saturday afternoon's matinee has been given over to several merchants of the town and tickets are free to those who ask for them. This ticket and a nickel will be the admission fee."

Why Fear Child-birth

EXPECTANT mothers do not undergo useless suffering any longer, and baby's birth can be made gloriously easier.

Mrs. Wm. Flack, 115 N. 12th St., Leavenworth, Kansas, says: "'Mother's Friend' is the best help in the world for an expectant mother. I am the mother of three children and have found 'Mother's Friend' fine."

"Mother's Friend" is externally applied about the abdomen, back and hips. It penetrates wonderfully, and in this way allows the muscles and ligaments to relax easily and readjust themselves to the changes during expectancy and at child-birth.

Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., BA-73, Atlanta, Ga., for free booklet containing valuable information every expectant mother should have.

"Mother's Friend" contains no narcotics or harmful drugs. It is safe. There is no substitute. Avoid useless greases and plain oils. Start using "Mother's Friend" now—the sooner the better. "Mother's Friend" is sold at all good drug stores—everywhere.

UNCLE DOCK WELLS PREACHED TO INMATES AT POOR FARM

Clanton, Ala., Sept. 18, 1923.

The Union-Banner:

Please permit me to say that Uncle Dock Wells preached for the inmates of the County Poor Farm last Sunday at 3 o'clock and as usual with the old inmates they enjoyed it very much, and ask Uncle Dock to come back at every opportunity.

We also decided to have an all-day singing in the old books on the fifth Sunday in this month at the County Poor Farm, and we urge all singers of the old music to come and help to make the day an enjoyable one for the old and unfortunate people as well as for ourselves and bring a well filled basket with you.

We also urge the young people to come and help us in the day's program. Our son will be here and it will be his twenty-first birthday and we expect to give him a suitable dinner for the occasion. So, in behalf of him as well as the inmates of the Home we urge and expect a large number of young people to be present.

JEMISON NEWS

Some are picking cotton. It's no trouble to see the bolls as the army worm has gone ahead and got the leaves.

Mrs. B. W. Cook of Birmingham was a visitor here last week.

The birthday dinner at Mr. T. P. Crowson Sunday in honor of their son, Lee of Oxmoor was enjoyed very much. He received a nice Testament given to him by his parents. In the afternoon they all drove over to see Mrs. J. N. Sims, the mother of Mrs. Lee Crowson, who was sick and unable to attend the birthday dinner. We hope she will soon recover.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Butcher, Mrs. W. F. Kilpatrick, the latter's mother and her daughter Elsie of Birmingham and Mrs. J. T. Childress motored down to see Mrs. T. P. Crowson Friday afternoon.

We noticed in the Birmingham News where Mrs. Kilpatrick's daughter, Marie was married last Sunday to Mr. Baxter Hale of Birmingham. She is well known here and we wish her much happiness.

Misses Bertha and Iowa Crowson and their brother, Ruben of South Jemison attended church at Center Hill last week. Ruben is working with the pickles and Ousley saw mill Co. in Jemison.

Jemison is looking like a lumber camp now.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Thomas of Sylacauga visited relatives in Jemison Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Merchant attended the singing at Pate's chapel Sunday afternoon.

SARDIS NEWS

The people of ths community are not going to have very much trouble with their cotton crops this year, for there is not any made.

We all are very sorry to hear that little Miss Nellie Hayes is in the hospital. We hope she will soon recover. We miss her in our Sunday school very much.

Mr. Edgar Headley from Selma, was the guest of Misses Alice and Rosie Courtney Sunday.

Miss Irene Adams was the guest of Misses Beulah and Marie McCary Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. John Minor and family spent Saturday night and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. George Samson of near Liberty Hill church.

Misses Irene and Irona Headley dined with Miss Minnie Headley Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Headley were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Giles Sunday.

Mr. W. W. Headley was in Clanton Saturday with cotton.

THIRD ANNUAL SAFETY CONTEST IS ANNOUNCED

School Pupils to be Trained in Habits of Highway Safety as Part of National Campaign.

Washington, D. C., September 17. —Renewal of its annual safety contests, in which $6,500 will be given away in prizes, was announced today by the Highway Education Board.

Training children in habits of highway safety is the principal task of the 1923 safety campaign, it is stated, but through the children it is hoped that the principles of traffic regulation and safety education will be impressed upon adults, both pedestrians and drivers alike.

The third annual safety campaign takes the form of two contests, one among elementary school pupils, and other among elementary school teachers. Approximately five hundred state and national prizes are to be given for the best essays and lessons written. The prizes offered are the gifts of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, which is desirous of reducing the number of accidents and fatalities due to traffic mishaps.

In the two previous years approximately 400,000 pupils and 50,000 teachers have participated each autumn. It is believed by Board officials that the cumulative effect of these contests, and the increasing attention given to safety education will result in even a greater number of participants this year.

The subject of the essays which children are invited to write is "Highway Safety Habits I Should Learn." Essays, as last year, are not to exceed five hundred words in length. Those eligible are pupils of the fifth, sixth, seventh and eight grades, who are not more than fourteen years of age. The contest opens with the beginning of school, and closes December 4, 1923.

Teachers are requested to submit safety lessons on the subject "Training Children in Habits of Safety on the Highways." The limit suggested is between 1,000 to 3,000 words. All elementary school teachers in the eighth and lower grades are eligible to submit lessons.

In thhe teachers' contest the first national award is five hundred dollars and a trip to Washington with all expenses paid. The second national award is three hundred dollars, while the third award is two hundred dollars.

The first national prize for the best essay by pupils is a gold watch and a trip to Washington with all expenses paid. The second and third prizes are each gold watches, one of slightly greater value than the other.

Four hundred seventy-eight state prizes are offered pupils. The first state prize is a golod medal and a check for fifteen dollars. The second state prize is a silver medal and ten dollars. Third prizes, which vary in proportion to the elementary school population of the state, are bronze medals and checks for five dollars.

The Board announces that the contests will be conducted with the cooperation of state departments of education, women's clubs, civic organizations, safety councils, automobile clubs, and kindred organizations that may wish to assist. Complete details will be furnished upon application to the Highway Education Board, Willard Building, Washington, D. C.

SHOULTS NEWS

Our Sunday school is moving on nicely. We have about 100 on roll.

Our B. Y. P. U. isn't doing so well, but we hope to do better from now on. We want every member and those who are not members to meet at the church Sunday p.m., promptly at 2:30 o'clock and let's have a good program for then.

We are planning to give another box supper some time soon.

There was preaching at Pleasant Grove Saturday night and Sunday p.m. Bro. Edwards delivered two wonderful sermons. We wish more people could have heard him. Bro. Edwards was elected pastor for another year. He has done so much good in our church and community until we can hardly do without him. We were mighty glad to have some visitors from Maplesville with us this p.m.

Mrs. S. C. Sewell spent Saturday night with her son, Mr. Homer Sewell in Maplesville and attended church there Sunday a.m.

Mrs. J. F. Bearden of Stanton spent one day last week with her daughter, Mrs. Alfred Lawrence.

Mrs. Alice McGee, who has been visiting relatives in Tuscaloosa, returned home last week.

Misses Rosa and Etta Mae Hall, Leila Henderson and Myrtle Ingram spent Sunday a.m. with Miss Annie McGee.

Miss Eva Hall spent Friday night with her friends, Misses Tula Mae and Sallie Lee Bearden near Stanton, and attended thhe box supper at the school house.

Mrs. Jim McGee of Maplesville spent one day last week with her son, Mr. Moody McGee.

Mr. Emmett Lawrence from Maplesville has moved into the house formerly occupied by Mr. Hinton Lawrence and has opened up a store in the little store house across the road where he kept some years ago. We are glad to have them with us again and I am sure he is more than glad to be back out here.

Messrs. Ben and Ivy Garner, who have positions in Safford, Ala., were visitng home folks Saturday nght and Sunday.

Miss Lennie Headley dined with Miss Anthel Ratliff Sunday.

LAWLEY NEWS

It has been some time since we have seen any news from this place, due to the fact that the writer has been sick.

Literary school began here last Monday week. Mr. Ray Stone, principal; Misses Curtis Hicks and Thelma Martin, assistants, all from Centerville. We have some excellent teachers this year, and we are sure we will have a successful year.

Miss Ethel Collins left last week for Blocton where she will teach this year.

Mrs. Alex Latham returned from Tuscaloosa last Wednesday where she spent several days with relatives. While there she left her little son, Earl Clifton at the feeble minded institution for future treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred McGee, who left here a few months ago for Plantersville have moved back with Mrs. Celia Hicks, mother of Mrs. McGee. Rumors are that they are permanently situated now.

Mr. Dalton Hicks is now attending school in Birmingham. Dalton has a host of warm friends here, who will miss him so much, but still wish him great success.

Mr. and Mrs. Charley King are the proud parents of a fine baby girl.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Holley and daughter, Frances, Mrs. Lela Latham and two children of Tuscaloosa are here for a few days with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Latham of Birmingham are visiting their brother, Mr. A. D. Latham.

Mrs. W. P. Hicks went to Centerville last Sunday to see a doctor. It is feared that she will have to undergo an operation.

Miss Lilla Collins is teaching again at Antioch this year. We are glad she is near home to be in our Sunday school.

On last Wednesday this community was saddened by the death of Mrs. Decatur Smitherman. Everything was done for her that doctors and husband and children could do, but God saw best to take her away. She had been sick for a long time. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Buford Lawrence of Jemison, here at Rehoboth.

Mr. G. G. Riggins of Birmingham, better known as "Dock," was down here "gasing" with friends last Saturday. He was here principally to vote on the school election in his district, but he called around to see some of his special friends while here.

Japan is not accusing the United States of being isolated.

Come to the court house Monday at 11 o'clock and let's drain these swamps. It must be done.

Governor Brandon says that Kilby and his administration are responsible for the present condition of the State's finances. Of course, such is a true example of modern Democracy.

The drainage project for Clanton has been revived again. Everybody interested in the project is asked to meet at the court house next Monday at 11 o'clock. Let everyone come, and let's get this worthy enterprise started in good form.

Senator Underwood is a candidate for president. He is making speeches every where he has a chance. And every speech he makes he exposes his ignorance of American conditions. By the time the convention comes off he will already have run his race.

It seems that both the legislature and the Governor are afraid to reduce the personnel of the State Highway Commission. They both agree that three members are enough, but each one wants the other to use the broad axe. It is throwing too many big Democrats out of a soft job, and they are afraid they will create the enmity of them.

The order of the Ku Klux Klan is a fast growing organization in this country. It is not uncommon to see in the papers where 1,500 and sometimes more are initiated in the large cities. We notice a recent report of 1,000 aliens being receved into the Klan. We hope this element doesn't get control of the organization and deprive it of its stand for Americanism.

We heard a Democrat the other day bragging about what some of their preachers were doing for the Democratic party. The party as well as the preacher must be getting in desperate circumstances when the ministers of the gospel lay aside their call from on high and wade into the slime and mire of present day politics. We don't think such a thing deserves much glorification.

Henry Ford has woke up at last. Somehow or other he found out just the other day the reason the government was withholding Muscle Shoals from him. Although it has been published far and near that the hitch was on the Gorgas steam plant, yet Henry Ford never heard of this fact till just the other day. Will it be safe to turn over the project to a man who so thoughtlessly overlooks such important adjuncts?

A prominent economist in Canada tells his people that "we must dismiss from our minds the idea that a pacified Europe will raise the price of farm products. On the contrary it will lower them." This is obviously true, for a pacified Europe means a producing Europe. We hope to see Europe pacified, for the good of her own people, notwithstanding we expect to sell less to Europe when real peace has been attained.

Mr. J. Bice of Thorsby, in an article to the Banner this week says that the reason the work on the highway through Chilton county is not moving forward is that the State has not yet got possession of the right-of-way through the county. Well if this is the case, let the proper ones to do the work get busy and obtain the right-of-way for the road. We were under the impression that the State Highway Commission was supposed to look after all such matters; but if the Commissioners Court is supposed to do this, let them get busy and get this matter attended to. Chilton county ought to get her part of this highway fund before it is all spent elsewhere in the State.

MR. O. C. DOBBS

The above named gentleman recently made three speeches, or rather made one speech and preached two sermons, in Clanton. He came here under the auspices of the United Farmers of America, in the interest of which organization he spoke at the court house Saturday. In regard to this man we wish to say, and not flatteringly either, that he is a speaker worth listening to and a man to be admired. He not only knows all about the United Farmers, but he is well acquainted with other questions as well. He speaks very interestingly from Biblical questions, and the beauty of him is that he says it just like it is. He is evidently a God-fearing man, but he is certainly not a man-fearing man. He makes his assertions plain and direct and he gives no one a chance to dodge his well-designed averments. His stand for purity of character and the propagation of American ideals is simply admirable. Mr. Dobbs is doing a great work in this country, and we are indeed proud to have such noble and fearless men among us. If you ever have an opportunity to hear him on any subject, don't pass it up, but hear him.

There are very few people who realize and appreciate the effort that it requires to publish a decent country newspaper. It is as common as the days go by that people come around and want the newspaper to give them something or cut the price on subscriptions or advertising space for them. Well, it is only natural that people want to get things as cheeply as possible, and we don't blame them for that. But if a newspaper, especially a country weekly, gets par for all the work it does, it will never get a very great surplus ahead. So we honestly believe that if everybody realized the work and money it takes to publish a newspaper, they most assuredly would not have the gall to continually ask for gratuities and cut prices.

SWEPT CLEAN

A fire in the United States Treasury the other day destroyed 600 brooms, but not before the national finances had been swept clean of graft, inefficiency, and extravagance, and placed by Secretary Mellon on the soundest basis they have known for many years.

LIBERAL TOWARD GERMANS

The Harding policy toward property in the hands of the Alien Property Custodian will be continued by President Coolidge. Items that do not exceed a value of $10,000 will be returned to their owners, leaving assets of about $300,000,000 which will be held as an offset to American claims against Germany until they are adjusted by the Mixed Claims Commission. A large part of that sum is drawing interest at 4 1-4 per cent, which will be a substantial addition to the total when the final distribution is made.

PRESIDENT RELIES UPON AIDS

Mr. Coolidge is trying to find some relief from the onerous duties of the presidency by putting great reliance upon the sound judgment of his departmental chiefs and other advisers. While the president keeps in close touch with all the executive branches of the government, their administration is left completely in the hands of the cabinet officers. The strong cabinet selected by the late President Harding makes it possible for Mr. Coolidge to shift much of the burden of government from his own shoulders, without any loss of efficiency and with the complete approval of public opinion.

THE LEAGUE FAILED

The council of ambassadors, and not the league of nations, is responsible for the restaration of peace between Italy and Greece. Never before in its history has the league had such an opportunity to prove its worth, and never was there such a dismal failure to measure up to expectations. The organization of the league's secretariat still remains, but the soul of the league, if it ever had one, has taken flight. The corps of employees at Geneva will continue to draw their salaries so long as the member nations can be prevailed upon to pay their dues. Then they will disband and put their records in storage. That date is probably not far distant.

The Womanless Wedding at Verbena Community Building, September 25th, will be quite an enjoyable event of the season, and will separate you from only twenty-five cents and connect you with a big hearty laugh.

COUNTY BOARD TO MEET

The County Board of Education meets at the Superintendent's office Friday, September 28th. This is a regular meeting of the board.

U. S. NEVER "ISOLATED"

A number of specific facts controverting the often repeated charge that the United States is isolated were presented in an article in a recent issue of the National Republican written by Edward Nelson Dingley. Mr. Dingley shows, among other things, that the United States from its very foundation has had relations with all other civilized nations thru treaties and has been represented by diplomatic officials at all the capitals of Europe. Moreover, as he also points out, the United States touched the great powers of Europe in a vital spot upon the announcement of the Monroe Doctrine, which was certainly a participation in world affairs. Although the war wih Spain was precipitated by the sinking of one of our battleships in a Spanish harbor, yet this war was conducted and its aftermath was guided in accordance with humanitarian purposes rather than for selfish national interest.

Mr. Dingley might have enumerated other instances in which the United States participated in world affairs where our own nteirests were probably no greater than those of many other countries. Prior to 1854 Japan had kept her ports closed to the commerce of all other nations. The United States undertook to bring about a change in that policy and sent Commodore Perry to conduct negotiations. The result was not only the termination of the isolation of Japan so far as the United States was concerned, but the opening of the ports of that country to all other nations. Japan has always been grateful for our part in developing her foreign commerce.

For many years during the early period of our Republic, it had been the custom of all the maritime nations to pay tribute to the Barbary powers to secure exemption from the depredations of their pirates. The sending of American battleships to Barbary ports and the submission of an ultimatum to the authorities there, not only brought about renunciation of all claims to tribute so far as the United States was concerned, but terminated the payment of this tribute by other nations as well.

At the time of the Boxer Rebellion in China, with its injury to the nationals and the property interests of other countries, the United States participated along with other world powers in the re-establishment of law and order. The United States made no claim for indemnity, and payments in the nature of reparations were devoted to the education of citizens of China.

The United States has not been isolated in the past and it is not isolated today. The only remotely possible basis for the charge that the United States is isolated is that it insists upon its right to determine from tme to time the occasion and the nature of our participation in world affairs. We yield to no other nation the right to tell us how and when and where we shall act.

GOOD REASONS, STILL

Secretary Hughes' reply to Mr. Gompers' inquiry as to why this country does not recognize soviet Russia was only a repetition of the reasons advanced by Mr. Hughes on various occasions in the past. The repudiation of the Russian debt to the United State Treasury, the confiscation of American property in Russia, the lack of assurance that American citizens will not be arbitrarily detained while traveling there, and the announced purpose of the soviet government to destroy other governments by propaganda and substitute their own principles, are some of the reasons enumerated by the Secretary of State in explaining why we remain aloof. They ought effectively to silence the pro-Russian organizations in this country.

McADOOVIAN MANAGEMENT A MONSTROSITY

Washington, Sept. 17.—Former Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo has written a lengthy letter defending his administration of the railroads during the war, but his statements are so obvously incomplete in some respects that they will gain little credence. There are a few highly important facts of which the public is well aware and on which public condemnation of government control of the railroads is based. First and foremost of these is that under the McAdoo regime and at a time when there was the utmost need for conservation of labor, new wage scales were put in force and new rules of employment adopted under which a far larger number of men were required to do the same amount of work and wages per man and the total amount of wage payments were immensely increased, without any corresponding increase in railroad revenues.

During the war there was inflation in all lines of business. Workmen received higher wages, producers received higher prices. Any business-like management of the railroads would have increased freight and passenger rates in proportion to the increases in cost of operation. When the government increased the wages of employes it made those increases effective at a prior date. When it allowed increases in railroad rates it made those increases effective at a subsequent date. Not only good business sense but common honesty required that both changes go into effect at the same time. Failure to do this was an injustice to the railroads, calling for correction at some future time. Some measure of correction was attempted when Congress passed the act returning the railroads to their private owners.

During the period of government control it was contended that, since railroad operation was a government business, damage suits for personal injury and property loss could not be maintained. Thus the railroad system was relieved of payment of huge amounts which, however, were a legal obligation upon the railroads and which the government afterward was required to pay. These payments, however, were not made during the period when the government had possession of the roads but were made at a subsequent time and appear on the books as an after expenditure, although an actual indebtedness incurred during the government regime.

Whether railroad property was adequately maintained during the period of government control is a matter in dispute. On this subject the public is not advised. Probably much testimony must be taken to settle the question finally and it probably never will be settled definitely. The railroads were taken over unexpectedly and they were rather suddenly returned. Probably no railroad company could demonstrate with any degree of exactness the relative condition of its property, its road bed, its ties, its stations, its locomotives, its freight cars, ts passenger cars, and it other equipment on the two days mentioned.

Mr. McAdoo may present a stack of statistics a mile high but he will never be able to convince the American people that his management of the railroads was either fair to the railroads or to the government.

Vigorous Old Age

WHY separate youth and old age with a deep and ever-widening abyss?

The bloom of youth and the hardy, ruddy glow of Old Age—sixteen and sixty—should be separated only by the span of years and not by varying differences of physical wholesomeness.

Vigorous old age is within the grasp of all. S. S. S. brings that hale and hearty feeling back with a rush. Rich red blood is the greatest enemy of weakening, health undermining Old Age. S. S. S. builds Red Blood Cells. Rich, red blood coursing through your veins sweeps away impurities that retard the proper functioning of your system. Old Age—once a dreaded agony becomes a vigorous, enjoyable, care free time of life.

S. S. S. is made of carefully selected herbs and barks—scientifically prepared and proportioned. Welcome Old Age when it comes. Be ready to withstand the attacks of diseases that follow in its wake. Meet Old Age with a hearty handshake. A handshake that speaks of well being—of a vigorous, clear thinking, red blooded constitution. S. S. S. is your best friend when Old Age is seen rounding the corner. Get a bottle and drive care and worry away. All leading drug stores carry it. The large size is the more economical.

S.S.S. Makes You Feel Like Yourself Again

"Well! Strong!"

Mrs. Anna Clover, of R. F. D. 5, Winfield, Kans., says: "I began to suffer some months ago with womanly troubles, and I was afraid I was going to get in bed. Each month I suffered with my head, back and sides—a weak, aching, nervous feeling. I began to try medicines as I knew I was getting worse. I did not seem to find the right remedy until someone told me of

CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

I used two bottles before I could see any great change, but after that it was remarkable how much better I got. I am now well and strong. I can recommend Cardui, for it certainly benefited me."

If you have been experimenting on yourself with all kinds of different remedies, better get back to good, old, reliable Cardui, the medicine for women, about which you have always heard, which has helped many thousands of others, and which should help you, too. Ask your neighbor about it; she has probably used it.

The Railroads Do Not Need Quack Doctors

One thing characteristic of quack doctors is that they try to make well folks believe they are sick, and thus create a fictitious need for their poisonous pills among the self-deluded.

Certain quacks—shyster lawyers, pot-house politicians, and such ilk—are crying aloud that the railroads are sick and must have medicine in drastic doses.

The railroads are not sick—now. They are past the crisis of the wasting illness of the World War and Government control and are on the high road to recovery; getting free from the effects of the debilitating drugs that have been poured into their systems. They require only that Nature be allowed to take its course and that the patient be given enough time for full restoration to health and vigor.

Stop listening to the quacks. Give the railroads a chance. The prosperity of the country demands it.

POOR ORIGINAL

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. NORTON, Manager)

At a meeting of members of the Thorsby Congregational church, held after morning service Sunday, Sept. 16th, it was unanimously voted to adopt the recommendation of the officers of the church, to extend a call to Rev. Joseph E. Each of Crest View, Florida, to become pastor of this church, commencing Dec. 1st, 1923, to succeed Rev. James W. Davenport, resigned.

Rev. Each will be remembered by many Thorsby people as the man who was chosen for moderator at the meeting of the Congregational State Conference which met here last November. He has served well for several years in his present pastorate, and has a reputation for "Making Good" in any position he may be placed.

Miss Frances Hunter will occupy the pulpit at the Congregational church at the morning service next Sunday. Miss Hunter is a student at Chicago University, who is preparing for the ministry. She is a pleasing and forceful speaker and moreover is a delightful singer who has a well trained soprano voice. Miss Hunter is making a vacation visit to her grandmother, Mrs. Martha B. Hunter in Thorsby.

The Lutheran Ladies' Aid Society will meet at the home of Mrs. . E. Reagan this week, Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Marie Forsman and daughter, Rosa returned Monday from their visit to Sweden.

On Friday night, Sept. 21st, The Ladies' Guild of Thorsby, will tender their annual reception to the trustees (and their wives), the faculty, students and their parents, the alumnae, and contributing friends of Thorsby Institute. Guests are requested to assemble at Bates Hall at 7:30 where a program will be given lasting an hour, when adjournment will be taken to the dining hall for refreshments and a social hour.

Next Sunday night at 7:45 there will be a union meeting at the Lutheran church. This meeting will be Thorsby's contribution to the observance of "Constitution Week" which has been so generally announced in the press of the country. Rev. J. W. Davenport and Rev. Wilhelm Patterson will be the principal speakers. The subject will be The Constitution and the Bible. Miss Hunter will sing and a chorus choir under direction of Miss Althea Parker, head of Thorsby Institute music department will help with the singing.

Mr. Edward Howard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis S. Howard of Thorsby, having recently completed a four years service in the U. S. Navy and secured employment in or near New York City, made an unannounced trip to Birmingham a few days ago and was married to Miss Bettie Mae Reynolds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Reynolds of Jemison. The happy pair are now visiting Mr. Howard's parents and other friends in Thorsby and Jemison, and are receiving congratulations and social attention. On Wednesday night, Sept. dinner, for the three Howard families, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. S. Howard. Thursday night of this week they will be entertained at the home of Mr. Howard's parents, where other guests will be former schoolmates of Mr. Howard. But the big event will be staged by Mrs. Chas. S. Howard, Miss Agnes Leary and Mrs. S. C. Wood at the Dr. Wood residence, Monday afternoon, Sept. 24th, when a "shower" will be given for the bride. The details of this function will be given next week.

In response to many requests that have come to Rev. Davenport for a repetition of his illustrated lecture on "Passion Week" as portrayed at Oberamergau, in Bavaria, once in a decade for nearly three hundred years. Arrangements are being made to have it repeated at Bates Hall in Thorsby, where the light for illumination of the pictures is good, on Friday night, Sept. 28th. A small admission fee will be charged for the benefit of the Parsonage Fund.

As one travels round about Thorsby, it would appear that the farmers are losing a lot through the ravages of insect pests. The army worm is stripping the cotton plants of their foliage, leaving only the brush of bare stalks with the unopened bolls hanging to them. While this may seem to be a calamity it is said that removing the shade of the foliage causes more rapid opening of the bolls and so hastens the harvest without particularly damaging the crop, not already destroyed by the boll weevil.

Not so with our pecan and persimmon trees which in many cases are literally enveloped with caterpillar webs, which if not destroyed will produce enough worms to kill the trees another year. The best known method of destroying them is by burning the webs towards night when most of the worms have "come home to roost." A rag on the end of a stick, saturated with kerosene and set on fire will do the trick.

REFUGE NEWS

Everybody is busy picking cotton around here.

Saturday and Sunday were our regular meeting days and we had a good attendance and some good preaching by our pastor, Rev. M. J. Parrish. He always has it ready, so everybody is invited to come and get their part.

Our singing society met Sunday evening, as it was our regular time. Was called to order by Chairman O. R. Robinson. Directors for the evening were as follows: Prof. O. L. Devaughn, R. E. Powell, J. E. Miner, J. A. W. Mims, all three songs each; J. L. McDowell, Misses Zula Willis, Everee Maddox, C. R. Mims, all two songs each. Organists for the evening were Misses Eva Jones, Everee Maddox, Zula Willis, Beatrice Mims, and R. E. Powell. We also had three quartetts, rendered by Prof. O. L. Devaughn, J. L. McDowell and some ladies from Maple Springs, which was very good. We thank you all. I think we had as good if not the best singing that we have ever had at this place. We had lots of visitors from all around of good singers and listeners, of which we were glad indeed to have with us. You all are welcome back at any time. May God impress this one thought upon your minds and hearts, that it was an evening well spent in His service and that you will want to come back soon.

Our fifteen days singing school that was taught here by Prof. O. L. Devaughn seems to have aroused a new hope in all those who attended the school in singing. We had as good a school as could be asked for. I want to say that the church and community commends Prof. Devaughn for the good work that he did at this place. Such men are always needful. So, everybody is invited to come again. Remember that our singing is the first and third Sunday evening.

J. E. Miner, Sec.

SCHOOL ELECTION LAST WEEK

In the school election held in School Districts 27 and 37 last Saturday, Mt. Carmel voted 12 to 8 in favor of the consolidation with Isabella. The vote for the consolidation was unanimous at Isabella.

Fairview in District 27, voted down the eftra three-mill tax by a vote of 13 to 8.

EXECUTIVE BOARD MEETS

The executive board of the W. M. U. of Unity Association held the last regular quarterly meeting of the Associational year with Mrs. J. P. Hayes, Clanton, Friday, Sept. 14, beginning at 10:30 a.m.

All old business was completed and plans were perfected for the new year. At the end of the morning business session, the hostess served a delightful dinner. In the afternoon the program for the annual meeting of the W. M. U. was arranged and also one for the young people. The meeting of the young people will be held with thhe Clanton Baptist church at an early date.

The following members of the executive board were present: Mrs. Grady Broadhead, Supt., Mrs. W. I. Mullins, Mrs. J. A. Hester, Mrs. S. J. Ezell, Mrs. G. C. Harris, Mrs. J. E. Gowan, Mrs. J. P. Hayes, Clanton; Mrs. W. E. Dyer, Stanton; Mrs. Aubrey Shanks, Maplesville; Mrs. J. C. Hughes, Billingsley. The success of the year is due to the efficient planning of the superintendent and the loyal co-operation of the board, as well as the work of the individual societies.

MRS. G. C. HARRIS, Secretary.

THANKS TO PATRONS

I wish to thank the farmers bringing me cotton and to extend an invitation to all to bring me a trial bale.

I have installed a brand new, up-to-date outfit from start to finish, consisting of four eighty, twelve-inch saw gins complete, and have secured warehouse space till I can get my warehouse built. Any rumors that I am connected in any way with any other gin is false. I am sole owner, and will appreciate your patronage.

JEMISON AND ISABELLA BUILDINGS ACCEPTED

After making a thorough examination of the new school buildings at Isabella and Jemison, Mr. Ledbetter, the rural school supervisor of Alabama, pronounced these buildings acceptable. These two buildings, together with several others in the county are a credit to the school system in our county. It is reported that the new building at Maplesville will be completed now in a short while. When finished this will be a nice building.

Zed Robinson brought into town Tuesday a large rattle snake which he killed near Mahan's Bridge. The snake was about five feet long and had ten rattles. Zed ran over the snake with his car but failed to kill him. He got out and rocked him to death.

DRAINAGE PROJECT PROCEEDS RAPIDLY

Two Miles of Canal in Fayette and Lamar Counties Are Already Dug.

Fayette, Ala., Sept. 15.—Work is now going forward rapidly on the Fayette-Lamar drainage district No. 1, by which 23,000 acres of fertile swamp and overflowed land in Fayette and Lamar counties will be drained. The first digging was done early in July, and to date about two miles of drainage canal has been dug.

The work is being done by a steam shovel dredge of the largest type, mounted on a barge 95 by 35 feet, and each complete stroke of the shovel excavates 2 1-2 cubic yards of material. The drainage ditch is 50 feet wide and 8 feet deep, and when completed it will be 40 miles in length, extending from Winfield, Ala., on the southern edge of Marion county, along the Luxapalilla Valley through Fayette and Lamar counties to the state line, just east of Columbus, Miss. The total cost of this project is estimated at $300,000, or approximately $12.50 an acre drained.

The dredge, which began digging early in July, started at Renfro Crossing, about three miles northwest of Fayette, and as the work progresses the dredge floats down stream. It is expected that by Christmas this dredge will be digging in the vicinity of Kennedy. Eight men, working in two crews, keep the dredge busy day and night.

A second dredge is now getting under way at the source of the district near Winfield and will work southward, completing the section from Winfield to Renfro Crossing. This dredge is a little smaller than the first one and excavates only 1 1-2 cubic yards of material at a stroke.

Preparatory to draining this large area of fertile land agitation or work has been in progress for several years. More than eight years ago, J. M. Moore, present commissioner of agriculture, called attention to the importance of it and as a result drainage engineers representing the Department of Agriculture and also the Agricultural College at Auburn became interested.

S. H. McCrory and Louis A. Jones, who are now with the bureau of public roads, Washington, and Guy A. Hart, now engineer for the district, made surveys and encouraged draining of the district. At present P. T. Simmons, of Auburn, reprensenting jointly the Alabama Experiment Station and Bureau of Public Roads is co-operating in the work and also conducting research studies to be used in other drainage work in Alabama.

While here recently, Mr. Simmons stated that according to the 1920 census, Mississippi had drained over 1,600,000 acres, at a cost of $8,500,000. It is estimated that in Alabama approximately 3,000,000 acres of land can be drained at a probable cost of $20,000,000. It is possible that work of this magnitude may be carried out by 1940.

About 700 farmers are interested in the Fayette-Lamar district No. 1, of which Guy A. Hart is engineer; W. M. Sudduth, chairmen of the board, and B. D. Kirkland and C. L. Russell leaders in promoting the work. Funds for it were provided by bonds which are payable by special drainage taxes to be collected over a period of 10 years, beginning five years after the bonds were issued. It is expected that the work will be completed in two years. The development of some of the land which will be recleamed can, however, be started next year in portions to the districts through which the dredges will have passed.

ELECTRIFICATION IS PLANNED FOR NATION

The plan for complete electrification of the United States was announced in New York this summer by Frank G. Baum, a hydro-electric engineer of San Francisco. Mr. Baum is quoted in the New York Tribune as saying:

"The best course for the power industry is the use of natural water power sources as far as practical, for the purpose of saving human energy, coal, oil and other resources as well as to multiply capacities. Electric power is an aid to production of raw material, to transportation, manufacture and the utlization of the products of industry. The electric system is also a complete system for the production, transmission and distribution of energy, which may be utlized as a necessity, convenience or luxury and add to our pleasure, comfort and safety.

"The chief merits of hydro-electric development and transmission are that they tend to stabilize rates for power uses, and therefore tend to extend the use of electric power; tend to equalize rates between larger and smaller cities, permitting the smaller cities to build up industries and progress parallel to the larger cities, and tend to conserve coal, oil and labor. This can be accomplished by connecting the large water power sources to the large economic steam power plants by large capacity transmission systems."

The Value of Land Abstracts

It is not safe to buy land or to lend money and accept land as security without first investigating the title of the land. Often there are unpaid mortgages, judgments, or other liens affecting the title, which an abstract would set out. Therefore, when buying land or lending money thereon, it is important that an abstract of title be furnished. A few dollars spent for an abstract is cheaper than going ahead and having a law suit a little later on.

A Resume of the More Important Events of Interest Condensed To An Epitomized Form.

County Farm Demonstrators C. E. Stapp and S. R. Doughty and E. E. Binford, representative of the state department of agriculture, will recommend the establishment of a curb market for country produce in Gadsden as a result of their visit to Rome, Ga., where a market has been successfully conducted for two years. Mr. Stapp announces that as soon as plans are completed he will take the matter up with farmers, business men and housewives of the district. R. C. Lett, county agent for Tuscaloosa, who also made the trip, states that he will endeavor to start a market in his town.

With a view toward obtaining the second state-federal aid road project for DeKalb county, the Civitan Club of Fort Payne has appointed a committee to meet with representatives of the state highway commission for the purpose of suggesting the routing of the new project. It is understood that the commission has in mind the construction of the road from Fort Payne in the direction of Chattanooga to the Georgia state line with a branch road from Valley Head to the Georgia line at Cloudland, on the eastern brow of Lookout mountain.

Delivery on the nine steel barges being built for the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company out of steel produced at Ensley, fabricated at North Birmingham and shaped into barges at Mobile, is being pushed and completion will be made shortly when the last and largest of the fleet is sent up the river, a barge that has a capacity of 1,300 tons and which will carry at one time a larger amount of steel than is taken on by some of the smaller ships entering Mobile port.

"Birmingham Week" will take the place of the Alabama state fair this fall if tentative plans of O. L. Bunn, secretary-manager of the Birmingham Chamber of Commerce, carry. "Birmingham Week" will be as complete in its particular appeal as was the annual fair, and will not be without an array of attractive entertainment features, though primarily its function will be to display Birmingham made goods to every available citizen within its 300-mile trade zone.

Carbon Hill suffered a disastrous fire on the night of Sept. 10 when a great part of the business section was wiped out and damage of at least $45,000 done. The fire originated, it is thought, in the rear of the Welkos shoe store. Adjoining stores were of frame structure and three strong streams of water failed to check the blaze until after it had done a heavy damage. Insurance partially covers the loss.

F. H. Copeland has been awarded the contract to build the school at Grant, Marshall county, which is being promoted and will be supported by the Daughters of the American Revolution. The building will be on the unit system, the first one to be 39x147 feet. Construction will be of field stone. The site is said to be a very pretty one on the brow of Gunter mountain. The school will be for the mountain whites.

Every Confederate soldier in Alabama who can furnish proof that he was in the service of the Confederate states during the war between the states, can have his name placed on the pension roll and can receive a pension of $25 a month from the state beginning October 1. This provision is made in the Fanning bill, which becomes a law by the approval of Governor Brandon.

The commissioners court of Randolph county is now engaged in building a graded road from Malone, a distance of nine miles, to Wedowee. County funds are being used and the work is being done by county road machines and tractors. The county owns four ten-ton tractors and four large graders, and a number of smaller outfits. This piece of road will be completed within a few weeks.

The PUBLIC PROTECTED

In a former advertisement we referred to provisions of the Alabama Public Utility Act, vesting the Public Service Commission with power and authority to supervise the activity of public utilities with respect to their construction and extension, their rates, regulations and returns, reserves for renewals, and the issuance and sale of stocks and bonds. Herein we refer to those provisions relating to service to the public, management and operation, and to the books, records, and accounts, of a utility.

Service to the Public

All service to the public must be the same and without discrimination. If any person, firm or corporation feels that any rate charged by a utility is "unfair, unreasonable, unjust or inadequate, or unjustly discriminatory, or unduly proferential, or constitutes unfair competition, or that the service is inadequate or cannot be obtained," the Commission is required upon complaint to make such investigation as it may deem necessary. (Sec. 28.) If the Commission finds the complaint well-founded it is required to make the proper changes in the rate or regulation complained of. (Secs. 29-31.)

Reduced Rates

Utilities may furnish service at reduced rates in certain instances, particularly to pupils attending schools and to sheriffs, employees of police and fire departments, etc. (Sec. 48.)

Service Standards and Meter Accuracy

The Commission has authority to prescribe regulations for the examination and testing of gas, light, and other services, and for the testing of meters in the presence of any complainant is desired. (Secs. 35-8.)

Inspection and Supervision Fees

Each utility is required to pay into the state treasury a supervision fee ranging from $25.00 to $3,000.000 per annum, based on its gross receipts, to cover the cost incurred by the Commission in inspecting and supervising the management and operation of the utility. (Sec. 19.)

Management and Operation of Utilities

The Commission shall inquire into the manner and method in which utilities are managed and operated and may obtain from any utility all necessary information to enable the Commission to perform its duties. (Sec. 46.)

Reports by Utilities

Every utility must make an annual report of its gross receipts. (Sec. 20.) Any utility failing to make such report is subject to a fine of not exceeding $50.00 per day. (Sec. 70.) At other times the utility shall make such reports to the Commission and furnish it with such other information as the Commission may desire. (Sec. 42.)

Commission's Records Public

All reports, records and accounts in the possession of the Commission shall be open to inspection by the public. (Sec. 65.)

Books, Records and Accounts

The Commission has power and authority at any reasonable time to examine the books, records, accounts and documents of a utility (Sec. 47); to require their production at any reasonable time and place for examination by the Commission or any person employed by the Commission (Sec. 34); and to establish a uniform system of accounts and require the same to be kept in this state by the utility. (Secs. 39-40.)

Hearings Reported

All hearings before the Commission shall be reported by an official stenographer and copy of the transcript of such hearing furnished to any party upon paying for same. (Sec. 67.)

Penalties

The Commission may prosecute suits for the enforcement of penalties or forfeitures imposed upon any utility by this act. (Sec. 76.)

Rebates

Any person accepting or receiving rebates, concessions or discriminations shall be subject to prosecution and punishment by a fine of not more than $1,000. (Sec. 74.)

It will thus be seen that the Commission exercises a jurisdiction limited only by the constitution over practically every phase of public utility activity, from the beginning of construction through active service to the public, and even to the occasional termination of service.

STATE BOARD OF HEALTH

Montgomery, Ala., Sept. 17.—More than ten thousand bacterological specimens were examined at the State Board of Health laboratories during the month of August, according to a report recently filed with the State Health Officer. The exact figures being 10,880.

According to this report, a large number of the Alabama doctors are now availing themselves of the three laboratories maintained by the State Board of Health for the purpose of aiding in the diagnosis of cases and other purposes. The main office at Montgomery distributed anti-typhoid serum during the month of August sufficient to immunize 18,000 people against the disease. This disease preventive was sent to various parts of the state.

Reports from one section of the state where this method of fightnig typhoid has been in use since 1917 state that not a single case of typhoid fever has burdened the people of that town in five years. Not only has the town been free from the disease, but not a case has appeared within a radius of five miles of the town in that length of time

Other activities of the department for the month of August include the examination of 40 animal's heads, 23 of which were found to be affected with rabies. Anti-rabies treatment were furnished to 56 persons during the month. This treatment is now administered by the family physician instead of having the patient spend several weeks in Montgomery, away from home and paying board bills while taking the treatment.

COMMENTS ON JAZZ

I think that the girls of today are more self reliant, and have more sense (some of them) all right, but I don't agree that jazz helped it any. I should think it would make any one sick to think of a wife who had let every Tom, Dick and Oliver "love" her in return for a motor car ride or a feed at the "Blue Parrot."

There was a time when a girl would blush and giggle a whole evening over the sayings on a nickel's worth of candy hearts. Now it's a quart of hooch, a super-six and "let your conscience be your guide"—but yes, we have no conscience.

Somehow I fail to see the pleasure in "loving" these pawed-over girls with the futuristic maps, and mine is far from bearing them any resemblance. She's not a "lemon" either, if one can judge by the fifty some fellows who wanted to murder me when I planted my little solitaire. She has won beauty contests, dancing contests, and earns her own living, and jazz didn't do it.—The Gun.

CHESTNUT NEWS

The singing society met Sunday afternoon to entertain a house plumb full of listeners. We had a good number of visitors which we are very glad to have, and welcome them back at all times, and everyone who would like to take part in the singings are invited back.

We were favored with songs from the following directors: Mr. Taylor, Alpheus Jones, Johnnie Alsabrook, Roy Taylor and Newton Gilliland. A quartet was rendered, after which L. L. Grant directed a lesson. We were then dismissed for recess. On returning to the house the following program was rendered:

W. M. Devaughn singing one song. Then we had an octet "reapers" by members of the society, S. M. Yates, Lee J. Grant, Grover Gilliland. A quartet by the ladies; Ralph D. Grant and W. M. Devaughn singing two songs each.

The fifth Sunday of this month will be "Home Coming Day" at Chestnut. There are some business matters to be looked after on that day, but the most of the day will be spent in singing. So, come and bring your Ganns and Showalter books and dinner on the fifth Sunday.

RALPH D. GRANT.

Our good friend W. S. Bowles was in Clanton Saturday. He had with him his wife and two daughters, May and Ruby. They visited The Banner office while in town.

Missionary Society Meets

A meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society was held at the home of Mrs. R. E. Luckie on last Monday when an interesting program on "God Seeking China" was rendered. Pot plants, zenias and salvia were used to brighten the apartments. The meeting was opened by song. The devotional was conducted by Mrs. Herbert Neighbors. Talks by Mrs. R. C. McDavid and Mrs. Daily Miller were instructive, and a paper by Mrs. Armstrong was enjoyed. The meeting closed with prayer by Mrs. J. R. Broadhead.

Later in the afternoon iced tea and sandwiches were served.

Mrs. White Hostess

Mrs. M. L. White was a charming hostess on last Friday, entertaining a number of friends at a spend-the-day party, celebrating her 13th wedding anniversary.

The home was tastefully arranged with vases of fall flowers, and the central table motif was red zenias. An elaborate four-course dinner was served. Tables were laid for Mesdames P. T. Hinkle, E. E. Upchurch, Martin Nix, H. T. Pipes, Bama Cox, Napoleon Johnson, John Armstrong and Miss Bettie Mullins. In the afternoon "42" was enjoyed.

Mrs. Gerald Hostess

Mrs. L. F. Gerald was a lovely hostess on last Wednesday afternoon to the members of her Card club, and extra guests. Lovely dahlias in pastel shades were used throughout the reception rooms. A deck of Congress cards were given for top score and was presented to Miss Kathleen Mullins.

At the close of the game a tempting salad course was served. Besides the club members, Mrs. Hugh Jones, Mrs. Eric Hart and Miss Mary Sue Mullins enjoyed the game.

Mrs. Arthur Johnson will be hostess this week.

Joint Birthdays Enjoyed

Mr. and Mrs. J. Watts Moore were hosts to a pretty affair on last Sunday when they entertained at a "Four-in-One" birthday party. At one end of the table covers for Mr. John Deramus and Miss Kathleen Mullins were laid and birthday cakes with, 24 and 23, lighted candles twinkled. At the other end were places for Joe and Helen Moore with their birthday cake, each holding seven pink tapers. The table was centered with a vase of exquisite rose buds, and a four-course menu was served.

Miss Beverly Hester has returned home from a visit to Marion.

Rev. and Mrs. C. C. Wilkerson, Mrs. J. Q. Wade and Mr. Macy Jones were visitors to Wetumpka Monday, attending a Sundey school conference.

Mrs. R. E. Luckie spent Tuesday in Montgomery with her mother, Mrs. S. A. Goodwyn.

Mrs. J. Watts Moore and Miss Kathleen Mullins spent last Thursday with Mrs. J. S. Hubbard in Verbena.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Reynolds are spending a couple of weeks near Tuskegee where Mr. Reynolds is closing out his saw mill business.

Mr. Roger Williams, circulation manager of the Montgomery Advertiser, was in Clanton Tuesday on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Hub Allen of Birmingham were the week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. McSwain.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Smith are the happy parents upon the arrival of a fine baby girl at their home Monday.

Mrs. Macy Jones will return home Thursday from a visit to her mother in Montgomery.

Miss Margaret Hester left last week for Columbiana, where she will teach music this winter.

Miss Warrene Spigener left last week for Marion, where she will resume another year's work at the Judson.

Mr. L. C. Ross from Fairfield spent Saturday in Clanton with friends.

HOLLEY—HONEYCUTT

A pretty wedding that will be read with interest was that of Miss Julia Eloise Honeycutt to Mr. Joseph R. Holley, Jr., solemnized Friday evening, Sept. 14th, at 9 o'clock, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. I. Honeycutt in Ensley. Rev. W. A. Cook of West End Baptist church performed the impressive ceremony.

The home was prettily decorated with cut flowers and ferns and the bride was very attractive in her going-away suit of brown with accessories to match.

Mr. and Mrs. Holley left immediately after the wedding for Chattanooga, Tenn., Gulfport, Miss, and other points.

Upon their return will be at home at 2404 30th Avenue N., Birmingham, Ala.

The groom is the son of our well-known citizens, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Holley, Sr., of Clanton.

A WOMAN'S WAY

"I tried for four months to get my wife to try Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, which I know had helped a friend of mine who also suffered from stomach trouble. She insisted her case was different. I finally had to bribe her with a new dress. The first dose produced remarkable results, clearing up her complexion and restoring her appetite. She can now eat things she hadn't been able to for many years." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Alred Drug Co., and druggists everywhere.

The alumnae of the 1920 class of the Opelika High school have made up a purse with which they will have built and will present to the school a handsome gateway at the entrance to the drive on the campus.

The Carlton Hill State Bank has been organized and is now doing business. This new bank has some of the strongest financial interests of this city connected with it. It has opened with a capital stock of $25,000.

Construction of a new bridge over the Choctawhatchie River on the Bee Line Highway in Dale County, between Ozark and Newton, has been authorized by the state highway commission.

The Davis-Alcott hosiery mill of Gadsden announces the plant will resume operations and 150 operatives will be needed. The mill has been idle for three weeks while repairs were being made.

The city of Fairfield is causing the erection of a flagpole 75 feet high between the Plaza and the park. A flag measuring 9 by 15 feet, has been ordered and will be raised with appropriate ceremonies under the auspices of the Kiwanis club of Fairfield.

NUMBER OF COUNTY REGISTRARS IS CUT

One registrar for each county instead of three as at present is provided in the Byars bill which passed the house without objection Tuesday morning.

Under a further provision of this bill, the registrar of each county shall open his office five days before each general primary, and special election, and keep it open until the day of the election.

An amendment, sustained by the bill, makes an exception in the case of Jefferson county, where the registrar is required to keep his office open at all times. It is provided, however, that the county shall bear the expense over and above the five days preceding elections required by the general provision of the bill.

CONGRESSMAN JEFFERS

Major Lamar Jeffers, representative from this district in the U. S. House of Representatives, stopped off a few minutes in Clanton Wednesday. The major was on his way to the old Soldiers Home at Mt. Creek to pay a visit to the old Confederate veterans. Mr. Jeffers said that he was leaving in a few weeks for Washington.

The sheriff is having some work done on his front porch. When Will Morris and Calvin Parrish get thru with it Tom will have to look the second time when he comes in at night to see whether he lives there or not.

Turned Somersaut—Died

Robert Walcott says, "Every time I went in my garage I saw rats—had to get rid of them, they were eating the tires on my car. I spread some Royal Guaranteed Rat Paste around and later watched to see the results. The rat ate the paste, reeled, turned a somersault and died." Royal Guaranteed Rat Paste in 25c or 50c tubes. Sold and guaranteed by Upchurch Drug Co., and Cooper Drug Co.

STUDEBAKER SURPASSES 1922 SALES RECORD IN FIRST EIGHT MONTHS

Total of 110,540 Cars Produced up to September 1 As Against 109,222 Cars for Full Year 1922.

With four months remaining in 1923, the Studebaker Corporation has already surpassed its entire production for 1922, according to a report just received from the Studebaker factory by Geo. C. Polk, local Studebaker dealer. Production for the first eight months of 1923 was 110,540 cars as compared with 109,222 for the full calendar year of 1922.

August production was 15,700 cars, and broke all previous records. Production for the first eight months of 1923 was more than 32,000 in excess of the first eight months of last year.

Sales are expected to exceed 150,000 cars this year as against 110,269 last year. And they are well ahead of production which amounts to about 30,000 cars for the first two months of the present quarter as compared with 30,199 for the full third quarter last year.

All plants are running at capacity to meet the continuous, large demand for Studebaker cars from all sections of the country, and indications point to a heavy fall business. The sales of the last four months of this year will therefore represent this year's increase over the 1922 record.

Buildings are now under construction at South Bend, Indiana, which will increase Studebaker manufacturing facilities still further in order to meet more adequately the insistent demand for Studebaker cars. Work on these additions, requiring an investment of approximately $6,000,000, is progressing rapidly.

The new six-story body building, now nearing completion, contains 480,000 square feet of floor space. It is expected that this building will be ready for use before snow flies.

Shipping will be facilitated by a new, four-story storage building and a train shed which are being added to the present faciltiies. Dimensions of each of these additions are 76x364 feet, and both are now practically under roof and will be soon ready for use.

The mammoth new foundry, alone costing approximately $2,500,000, will measure 722x683 feet, and is now well under way. When finished this will be the largest grey iron foundry in the automotive industry.

Studebaker's plant facilities today are unexcelled in the industry, and its financial standing and splendid reputation are the subject of favorable discussion in business circles and among motorists throughout the country.

FRIENDSHIP NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Foshee and little son, Clinton, Miss Ruby Foshee and Mrs. G. N. Foshee were visitors to Mr. R. C. Hand's Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Royal Coggins visited Mrs. Driver Monday.

Miss Velma Hawk was the supper guest of Miss Dovie Honeycutt Sunday night.

Miss Ida Belle Smith spent Sunday afternoon with Miss Effie Hand.

Mr. Billingsley, Miss Vinson and Mr. Dewey Huett of Enterprise were the honored guests of Miss Effie Hand Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Foshee, together with a truck of others, went on a hike to Mitchell Dam Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. John Gore visited Mrs. John Robinson of Providence Sunday.

Next Sunday is our regular preaching day. Rev. Norris, the pastor, will preach for us. Everybody is invited to come. We are sure he will preach a good sermon for us, as he always does.

Mr. Robert Yates visited home folks at Maple Springs Sunday.

PATE'S CHAPEL SINGING

The singing at Pate's Chapel Saturday and Sunday was a delightful occasion.

The singing was well attended, and nice order prevailed.

Among the visiting singers we noted Mrs. Hudson and M. W. Brown of Mt. Creek; Prof. Lawley of Dogwood; J. A. Deason and Mr. Joiner of Childersburg; H. E. Lowe of Birmingham.

We never can say enough in praise for the people of Pate's Chapel for their great kindness to the convention. Such fine dinners were just wonderful.

The memorial service in memory of W. F. Armstrong and authors of music books by Prof. Lawley and the County Secretary, Miss Era Sanders, was beautiful.

Directors present: J. H. and Burl Martin, J. N. and C. W. Scott, M. W. Brown, J. A. Deason and Mr. Joiner of Childersburg, J. D. Hodgens, T. J. and W. L. Jackson, Miss Era Sanders, Mrs. Sarah Bates, Prof. Franklin, Chester Maddox, J. W. Norris, J. L. Hayes, W. L. Sanders, Prof. Lawley.

The beautiful vase of flowers placed in the church spoke volumes, and was duly appreciated by the convention officials.

The Womanless Wedding at Verbena Community Building, September 25th, will be quite an enjoyable event of the season, and will separate you from only twenty-five cents and connect you with a big hearty laugh.

Let us do your job printing.

OAK GROVE

Next Saturday and Sunday will be our regular preaching days. Everybody come that can.

Our Sunday school is progressing nicely.

Sunday was our singing evening. We had a large crowd and also some beautiful music. The directors were: Mr. L. R. Cobb, Mr. Robinson, Ivy Matthews, Lassie Northcutt, Burl Martin. The organists were Miss Flossie Cobb, Miss Esther Atkinson, Mrs. Orba Martin.

Our B. Y. P. U. is also progressing nicely. We had a splendid program Sunday night, rendered by Miss Myrtle Martin. Mr. W. J. Northcutt had charge of the music, which was three quartetts and some few songs by the congregation. The Juniors are just doing fine. I am sure there are no Junior B. Y. P. U. no where that can beat the Oak Grove Juniors. They rendered a wonderful program Sunday night. Mr. W. J. Northcutt is the leader now, and I am sure they can't have a better leader.

We had a real good Sunday school and a large attendance Sunday, and after Sunday school was over Mr. L. R. Cobb took a truck load of people to Providence to meeting and returned in time for the singing.

Rev. H. Falkner and wife are visiting their father and mother now. We wish them a happy trip, and want them to make their visit short for we miss them in our B. Y. P. U., Sunday school and singing, and everything else we have at Oak Grove, for they are great church workers.

Our prayer meetings are just fine, though there is not many that comes, but we hope that the people will take an interest in the prayer meetings and everybody come.

Mrs. D. W. Wilkins has returned from Maplesville where she has been visiting her friends and relatives.

Mrs. Riley Gwin from Boniare is visiting her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. H. Glasscock.

Mr. C. L. Martin returned back to his work in Birmingham Sunday.

Miss Rosalee Martin is visiting her friends and relatives in Birmingham.

LIBERTY NEWS

Our singing society met Sunday p.m. with a large crowd, and had some very good singing. Directors for the afternoon were: Messrs. Leonard Culp, Glover and Gresham Smith, Luther Varden and Kermit Lowery; Misses Lillie, Claudie and Neasie Smith. Organists were Misses Gussie Littlejohn, Lillie and Claudie Smith.

Mrs. Pearl Adams from Shelby is visiting her mother, Mrs. Hayes this week.

Miss Gussie Littlejohn has returned from Birmingham after spending two pleasant weeks with her uncle. We all welcome her back.

There was a truck load from this community motored to Pate's Chapel Sunday and reported a nice time.

Mrs. Emma and Lillie Culp, Mr. Marion Littlejohn, Verbie D. Williams, Gertie and Marie Giles were the dinner guests at Mr. Frank Littlejohn's Sunday.

JEMISON NEWS

Our Sunday school is growing better and better and our prayer meeting seems like a revival meeting. There has been some who have taken part in our prayer meeting here since the revival who never taken part before, and we hope before the year is over we will hear something from the rest of them.

Mr. Ervin Robinson is at home on a visit and will be for a few days.

Mrs. Nan Robinson from Texas is visiting her relatives here at this place and we all enjoy her visit.

COOLIDGE'S SPEECH SHOWS HANDS-OFF EUROPEAN POLICY

President is Following Closely in Footsteps of His Predecessor.

Washington, Sept. 24.—President Coolidge Monday made his first long speech. Relatively speaking it was brief—not more than a thousand words but it says more than the chief executive has been willing to say publicly since he took office. Although there is no direct reference to foreign policy in the speech he delivered to the annual convention of the American Red Cross here, there are principles enunciated in it which will without doubt chart the course of Mr. Coolidge in world affairs.

For one thing, Mr. Coolidge is not an out and out pacifist. He says that while force is not the "ultimate ruler of mankind" nevertheless "mankind has not yet, cannot yet, discard the use of these forces." He regards as significant that great nations have agreed upon limitation of armament and that civilization is "coming to rely more and more upon moral force." Using the Red Cross idea as a symbol of a policy of practical idealism, the president argues that its appeals have been effective because they have been "directly to thhe conscience of mankind" without any element of compulsion."

"The ancient ideals of human brotherhood, of service, the application of the golden rule, of peace on earth and good will towards men are idle dreams," says President Coolidge, "unless they can be translated into practical action."

Middle-of-Road Course

At this point Mr. Coolidge does not outline what course would be one of "practical action" in the present disturbed state of world affairs but he says guardedly that "it is necessary, on the one hand, to avoid the illusions of the visionaries, and, on the other, the indifference of the selfish." This is the idea of not going to extremes in either direction but staying in the middle of the lane which the late President Harding recited as the doctrine of caution. Mr. Coolidge insists also "that each individual and each nation owe their first duty to themselves" and that beyond that there s "the obligation of the strong to serve the weak, but to administer such service in a way that will not destroy or degrade by making mendicants but will restore and strengthen by making character."

This thought is in line with the idea that the best thing that could happen to Europe would be a realization that she must rely on herself. Otherwise she might get into the habit of relying on others.

Mr. Coolidge endeavors in his speech to narrow down somewhat the obligation of a nation. "The constant need of civilization," he remarks, "is for a practical idealism" which does not undertake "to assume responsibility for all humanity," but when a crisis arises "does not hesitate to go out and make whatever sacrifice is necessary to master the occasion."

Mr. Coolidge declares that this kind of idealism was illustrated in the late war when America "went to the rescue of Europe with treasure and men when their own liberty and the liberty of the world was in peril, but when the victory was secure, retired from the field unencumbered by spoils, independent, unattached and unbought, still continuing to contribute lavishly to the relief of the stricken and destitute old world."

ELECTROCUTION BILL PASSED IN ALABAMA

Death Sentences Shall be Carried Out at Kilby Prison, Under Inzer Measure.

The house Friday afternoon passed the bill of Senator Inzer of Etowah, providing for the electrocution of criminals in Alabama in the future instead of hanging. The bill of Senator Inzer provides that all electrocutions shall take place at Kilby prison. Until the expiration of the term of the present warden, sheriffs in counties where men are convicted will have to be the executioner but after that time the warden at Kilby prison will do the executing.

The house passed by an almost unanimous vote the bill of Senator Powell of Macon, providing that employes of cities, counties and the state can be garnisheed for debt. This does not apply to past debts but debts contracted after the act goes into effect. The bill provides that damage suit debts shall not be cause for garnishment.

The house by a vote of 39 to 34 killed the bill of Senator Foster providing for the state going into the business of insuring itself against loss by fire. A desperate effort was made by two or three members to get the bill over but it was defeated on the ground that the move would be too hazardous.

The bill of Senator Powell to make an appropriation for the equipment and maintenance of the Alabama room in the Confederate Memorial Museum at Richmond, Va., was passed. The appropriation is the same as at present provided.

The bill of Senator Inzer providing for the establishment of county boards of child welfare was passed by the house without argument. The bill carries the machinery to put the act into effect.

With but little debate the house passed the bill of Senator Overton of Randolph, creating an additional judge of the fifth judicial circuit of Alabama. Representative Burton of Chambers opposed the bill.

In the future municipalities of Alabama will have the right to adopt zoning ordinances segregating the races. The municipalities will also have the right to prescribe the character of buildings in certain zones. This bill was a senate bill.

All bills passed by the house Friday afternoon were senate bills and will go immediately to the governor for his signature.

CLANTON POLICE FORCE CHANGED ON MONDAY

At a meeting of the Clanton Town Council last week it was decided to make some changes in the police force of the town. The cause of the change, we understand, was due to the resignation of the present chief and night police. The council selected as chief of police Mr. G. D. Retherford, and as night police Mr. W. H. Kendrick.

Both the above named gentlemen are well known in and around Clanton. Two better men for these jobs could not have been found, we are sure. They are both strictly law-abiding citizens, and they believe in having the laws of our land rigidly enforced. We sincerely hope the better element of our town will stand behind them and help them see that our laws are not ignored by anybody regardless of color, class, social standing or what not.

Mr. Retherford took charge Monday, and Mr. Kendrick will go on in a day or so.

LAST WEEK'S HONOR ROLL

During the past week The Union-Banner has been greeted with quite a nice list of subscribers, for which we are very grateful. We sincerely thank our good friends for the interest they take not only in keeping their own subscription in good shape but in helping to keep their neighbors and friends interested. That is what it takes to make a good newspaper. We can't make a newspaper by ourselves, but with the proper backing we can and will give you a newspaper which you will appreciate. Those subscribing during the past week are:

Margaret Robinson, Columbia, Tenn.

HARVEY FOSHEE ON COUNTY FORCE NOW

Mr. J. H. Foshee, who for the past ten months has been Chief of Police of Clanton, has resigned that position and accepted a job as Second Deputy with Sheriff Littlejohn. Mr. Foshee has proven his ability as an enforcement officer while working for the town, and he will prove quite an asset to Littlejohn's force of deputies.

Since Harvey took charge of the police force in Clanton he has made an enviable record as the incumbent of this office. He has been very diligent and watchful as to the enforcement of the municipal laws of the town, and has paid several hundred dollars into the fine and forfeiture fund.

PRISON CONDITIONS SAID TO BE AMONG WORST IN THE COUNTRY

Washington, Sept. 19.—Prison conditions in Alabama are among the worst in the country, according to charges made Wednesday by E. E. Dudding, president of the Prisoners' Relief Society, in a letter to Governor Brandon, of Alabama. The letter, in part, follows:

"Dear Governor Brandon:

"At the request of a number of your citizens our society sent a man to Alabama to investigate prison conditions. The agent of the society has just returned and made his report.

"If the Prisoners' Relief Society did not have every confidence in its agent, it would be hard for us to believe that conditions could be as bad as they actually are. The food that the men get is the worst that could be; it is as bad as slop that is put out for hogs. Roaches and flies are cooked up, and even mice found cooked in the bread. Cabbage cooked with worms three inches long still clinging to the leaves. Meat with skippers in large quantities. I cannot contemplate such a state of affairs.

"Sick men are driven to work until they fall, fainting in their tracks. Many whipped after they fall. I never heard of such cruelty since the days of Nero. Our society investigated prison conditions in Florida, in Virginia, North Carolina, Texas and many other states. We have never yet found conditions as bad as we have found them in Alabama. Men are driven to do two days' work in one; do it or die. The men are so weak from lack of proper food that only the strongest can stand to hold out long."—Birmingham News.

CARPENTER—KENDRICK

Last Saturday afternoon at the Baptist parsonage in Clanton occurred the marriage of Mr. Curtis Carpenter of Elmore, Ala., to Miss Pearl Kendrick of Clanton. Rev. S. J. Ezell performed the ceremony.

Mr. Carpenter is the son of Mr. Will Carpenter, well known farmer of Elmore county. The young man has for some time been in the mercantile business in the town of Elmore. The bride is the charming daughter of Mr. W. H. Kendrick, merchant and night police of Clanton. She was a graduate of the Troy Normal School and taught school for several years in Elmore county. Since coming to Clanton a year ago, this young lady has made a host of friends, who wish for her and her husband a long and happy life together.

Shortly after the marriage the happy couple left in a car for Montgomery. They will return shortly to Elmore where they will make their future home.

The McDonald Mercantile Company is putting on a big sale this week. They are advertising some real bargains. Read their ad in this week's issue of The Union-Banner.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

The enrollment to date is 168. The spirit of the students toward their work is very good on the whole. If we can continue to have honest-to-goodness study, we will not have so very many failures.

Literary societies have begun work. This form of training is just as important as the training in the courses of study provided in text-books.

Every student must belong to one of the socities and must either serve on the program when put on or else take the consequences. Nearly all serve willingly.

Our boys took a trip through the hills of Coosa county last Friday and finally come upon the little town of Rockford. The people were most courteous to us and invited us to remain over night. For some reason there were a few of the boys who insisted on staying. The game was fast, hard-fought and interesting. Our boys put up a harder fight than the score of 19-to-0 seemes to show.

Up until the last five minutes of play, the score was 6-0. Rockford's team was heavier than ours and the line plays were put over through excessive weight. Our team played a good clean game and has nothing to feel bad about. They were defeated, but not disgraced. I do not believe our boys pulled a single dirty play the entire game. I think they deserve credit for doing so well.

We play Dallas County High School here in Clanton on Friday, October 5th. We want to see everybody in Clanton at Polk Park that afternoon at 3:00 o'clock to cheer our boys on to victory. We play Prattville Friday, Sept. 28th.

Respectfully,
IRA PEGUES,
Principal.

MIMS—ROBINSON WEDDING

On last Monday morning at the court house in Clanton, Mr. Joe Mims was married to Miss Olive Robinson. This wedding was the culmination of an extended love romance between these two popular young people.

Both the contracting parties are well known in Clanton. Mr. Mims is a barber, having worked in the Service Barber Shop here for the past two years. The young bride heretofore has been saleslady for the Leader. They are both admired by a large circle of friends, who wish their adventure on the sea of matrimony a long journey of bliss and happiness.

Shortly after the rites of holy wedlock were administered them by L. H. Reynolds, probate judge, the two boarded the train for Birmingham where they will spend Monday and Tuesday, then they leave for Gorgas where they will stay until Friday with relatives of the bride. They will return to Clanton the latter part of this week, where they will begin to build for themselves a little love nest which will gradually merge into a happy home filled with joy and mirth sublime.

CHANGE IN TOWN COUNCIL

On account of Mr. Tom Kemp moving out in the country, he became ineligible as a member of the Town Council of Clanton. So at the regular meeting of the Council last week Mr. J. P. Lawrence was elected to fill the unexpired term of Mr. Kemp. Mr. Lawrence is a public spirited man and will make a fine councilman. He is always willing to do all he can toward the advancement of the community.

MAPLESVILLE HIGHWAY GOOD

The editor of The Union-Banner made a trip to Maplesville Saturday, and was utterly surprised to find the road out there in such fine shape. The county has recently done a lot of work on that road, and it is now the best it has been for several years. When the present work of grading and graveling is completed it will be in very fine shape.

SINGING AT POOR HOUSE

Uncle Dock Wells tells us that he is very much interested in the old-time singing to be held at the County Poor House next Sunday. He asks that everybody come and bring his wife and something good to eat. Uncle Dock wants to make the day an enjoyable one for the poor inmates and the visitors as well.

RAILROAD BRIDGE FINISHED

We are pleased to announce that the new bridge across the railroad near Maddox's Gin is now completed and open to traffic. The L. & N. has built a fine bridge there, which will adequately take care of the traffic going that way.

This bridge is made of steel and wood. It is floored with wood and then coated over with a thick layer of asphalt, which makes a perfect surface.

LOST—Old pocket book containing 7 one-dollar bills and $3.00 in change, last Sunday night, Sept. 16, either at Mrs. Joiner's Holiness meeting or between there and Pinedale school house. Finder please return to Union-Banner and get reward.

MR. FORD NEITHER DEMOCRAT OR REPUBLICAN

He Finally Places Himself Outside Either of the Two Great Political Parties.

In Montreal Mr. Henry Ford was asked by a newspaper man whether he intended running for President of the United States. And the dispatch quotes his reply:

"I am not running for anything or for anybody. I'm neither a Democrat nor a Republican; they will have to show me a difference before I affiliate with either party; they are both tarred with the same brush."

So that ought to settle matters. Just what Mr. Ford means by his expression is a matter of conjecture. If he was a student of government or politics as related to government—which he is not—he would know the vital and fundamental differences between the two parties. And as to what "brush" they are "tarred with" is still more mystifying. However, Mr. Ford probably hasn't time to familiarize himself with mere matters of party and political fundamentals. If he did not have time to find out that the Gorgas plant of some $3,000,000 value was embraced in his bid for Muscle Shoals and has been the stumbling block for two years to action, certainly he cannot be expected to find out the basic difference between the two parties—a matter that he cannot reckon in terms of dollars.—Birmingham News.

CHILTON COUNTY SINGING CONVENTION

A special session of the Chilton County Singing Convention will be held at Union Grove Church, four miles east of Jemison, next Sunday, September 30th. The purpose of the call is to elect officers for the convention for thhe ensuing year. The business will be transacted in a few minutes, and the rest of the time will be spent in singing. All singers and lovers of good music are invited.

W. G. CULP.

THE CHILTON HIGHWAY

The State Highway Commission, in session Monday, announced that the contract for the section of the Birmingham-Montgomery Highway thru Chilton county would be let within 60 days. This commission has made this statement several times before, but we hope that it is true this time.

This road through Shelby county is nearing completion, and the work on the Chilton division should be started at once. We hope that nothing will be done to block the progress of this work.

RELEASED ON BOND

The preliminary trial of B. Igo, Harley Smith, Jim Aldridge and Steve Dutton was held at the court house Monday morning under Justice of the Peace, J. W. E. Gulledge. Each of the four men were bound over to the grand jury under bond of $750 each.

THE DRAINAGE MEETING

At the drainage meeting at the court house Monday it was decided to wait on any further action until the new code is issued. The law on drainage has been changed, and as soon as the new law is made public in code form the necessary steps will be taken to push the enterprise along. The undertaking is not dead.

GORGAS PLANT IS SOLD TO ALABAMA POWER CO.

Detroit Engineers Seek Second Extension of Time on Sale of Property.

Washington, Sept. 24.—Henry Ford's much controverted offer to buy Muscle Shoals was wholly upset today when the government sold to the Alabama Power Company the Gorgas steam plant—a part of the property—at a price of approximately $3,500,000.

This development forces a revised offer from Mr. Ford if he wishes to bid for the remainder of the project. He previously had informed congress that unless the Gorgas plant were included in the sale his bid did not hold.

Political observers who have professed to see some connection between Mr. Ford's offer for Muscle Shoals and the presidential boom which bears the manufacturer's name, predicted today that the next development would be reverberations in the coming session of congress, which possibly might develop into something bearing a relation to the coming pre-convention campaign.

Some time ago the war department notified Mr. Ford that the department of justice and the judge advocate general of the army had held valid its contract with the power company which required the government to either move the plant from the power company's land or sell it to the company. Today was the last, under several extensions of time, in which the government could make a decision. Ford's engineers in Detroit wired the war department a request for another extension which the power company declined to grant and Secretary Weeks came to the decision that under the circumstances, it was more advantageous to the government to sell than move.

The actual price paid was $3,472,487.25, a sum agreed on in appraisals by the ordnance division of the war department and experts of the federal power commission. The war time construction cost $4,750,000.

Secretary Weeks found that if the government were to remove the plant it would realize only the junk value and that meanwhile there would be economic loss and injury to industries using power in Alabama and other southern states, whereas a sale to the company meant the government would recover almost the original cost.

BANNER CONTEST NEARING CLOSE

The Union-Banner cash prize contest is nearing its end, there being only two more issues of the paper before that date. The prizes will be given away at 4:00 o'clock on Saturday, October 20th.

So those competing for the prizes who have not turned in their ten new subscriptions to the paper had better hurry and do that, so that your prize will be doubled. The first prize, if the winner has turned in no subscriptions will be only $25; while if ten new subscribers are turned in before that date it will be $50. Therefore, you can't afford to let this opportunity slip. Get busy today and get up those ten new subscribers.

Your tickets, which you should have counted and tied up with your name on the package, should be turned in to us as early as possible on the closing day, Saturday, October 20th. The money is now ready for you; so get your tickets and subscriptions ready.

MR. WILLIAM WHITE DEAD

Mr. Wm. H. White, age 80 years, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. T. L. Lecroy Sunday morning, Sept. 23rd. Mr. Lecroy was a former resident of Coosa county, and moved to the Mulberry community several years ago. The deceased leaves three sons and three daughters and his aged wife. The sons are W. T. White of Isabella, John White of Nashville, and Doss White of Sylacauga.

The body was carried to Coosa county by Undertaker Martin, and interment was made in the old Poplar Springs cemetery near Rockford on Monday. Rev. D. S. Martin of Equality, father of Mr. J. Mell Martin and former pastor of Mr. White, conducted the funeral services.

IS GREEN NO MORE

"My experience with your medicine has been wonderful. My stomach and liver trouble of five years standing took a new turn two years ago when I took on an olive green complexion. I spent $1,200 with doctors and specialists only to prove that I was still as green as ever. A friend advised me to take Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, and I am green no more. My stomach and liver trouble has all disappeared." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. Present Status of State Highway Thru Chilton

State Engineer Keller Writes Judge Reynolds that County Officials Have Done Their Duty.

Clanton, Ala., Sept. 26, 1923.
Editor Union-Banner:

I hand you for publication copy of letter that I wrote Hon. W. S. Keller, state highway engineer, enclosing him clipping from your paper where Mr. J. Bice wrote last week attempting to place the blame on the Commissioner's Court for not getting the right-of-way of the proposed highway through our county, and I am also handing you for publication Mr. Keller's reply.

I have paid my own expenses to Montgomery five separate times trying to rush the building of the highway through our county, and have repeatedly told the State Highway Board that the Commissioner's Court was ready and anxious to co-operate with them in obtaining the right-of-way for this road.

I simply publish these two letters in order to show the people that the Commissioner's Court is not slacking on the job.

"Hon. W. S. Keller,
State Highway Engineer,
Montgomery, Ala.
Dear Sir:—

"Enclosed find letter which appeared in our county paper last week.

"As you know the State Highway Department has not filed request with the Commissioner's Court for a right-of-way for the proposed highway through our county. I have been before the department several times and repeatedly stated that the Commissioner's Court of this county was ready and willing to obtain a right-of-way, just as soon as the location had been decided upon, and urged the Highway Board to rush the papers to us, as we were anxious to start upon the construction of the road.

"I appeared before the Department a few days ago and made the same request. I also noticed that Judge S. M. Adams also appeared before your body the same day and requested a new survey, and that his request was granted.

"We have some parties in this county that are not content unless they are stirring up strife in the way of misrepresenting the facts.

"As I stated above, the Commissioner's Court is very anxious to secure the right-of-way, and stand ready to do so should the State Board request us to do so.

"Yours very respectfully,
L. H. REYNOLRS,
Judge of Probate."

P. S. Please state the facts in this case.

"Judge L. H. Reynolds,
Clanton, Alabama,
My dear Judge:—

"I beg to acknowledge receipt of yours of the 22nd enclosing clipping from the Thorsby paper. The party is entirely in error. You have done everything to co-operate with us in getting this project under way. The project, as you know, is the longest one in the State, being 34.4 miles.

"In addition to working on this project, the office in Birmingham has had work to do on eight other projects. As stated to you before, the plans will be completed in time to award the contract for the grading this fall but I want to repeat that no delay has been caused by any county official. You have always shown your interest in the matter and your willingness to co-operate with us.

Yours very truly,
W. S. KELLER,
State Highway Engineer."

Thanking you for publishing these two letters, I am,

oYurs very truly,
L. H. REYNOLDS,
Judge of Probate.

BIG TRACTOR SHOW AND SOUTHEASTERN FAIR COMBINE

Fordson Industrial Tractor Exposition to be Held in Connection With Southeastern Fair.

(By O. P. Lucas)

Those of you who have visited the Southeastern Fair which is held every fall at Atlanta are going to receive the surprise of their lives this year when they enter the Fair grounds. You will remember that in going out Pyror Street just before you enter the fair that your first glimpse of the grounds is a large tract of waste land upon which were the old floats used in the great parade held during Atlanta Progress and Prosperity Week. These floats had been allowed to go to decay and admirably fitted into the picture of the canal, the tall willows along the bank and bits of refuse strewn at odd places. This year be prepared for the big surprise, for in place of this you will behold one o fthe largest industrial tractor exhibitions ever staged in this country.

Lagoon in Center of Exposition

The canal which feeds the lake in the center of the race track has been dammed up and a huge lagoon formed, around this lagoon is a cinder path. A substantial railing has ben erected to prevent children falling in the water. An enormous footbridge 25 feet in width and ample to support five-ton trucks has been erected across this body of water in order that visitors might easily pass from one side to the other. In the center of the lagoon is a fountain surrounded by moss-covered rocks. During the day a four-inch stream of water will be thrown many feet in the air, of course propelled by a pump operated by a Fordson tractor. At night a spray nozzle is to be attached and the mist will be allowed to fall back in the water over the festoon of colored lines.

A minature D. T. & I. railroad is being erected running completely around the grounds and Fordson tractors with locomotive attachments will continually haul passenger and work trains. A large crew of men are busy at work from early dawn until late in the night making the necessary prepaartions which involves grading the entire piece of property, preparation of the bridges, the dam necessary to form the lagoon, and the two trestles for the railroad. Incidentally it was necessary to curve one of these trestles and after it was completed the foreman in charge discovered that this was quite an engineering feat.

Workmen Busy From Dawn to Dark

Last year on Ponce de Leon Avenue the Ford Motor Company and the City Dealers of Atlanta held an Industrial Tractor Show which was visited by some forty thousand people. This year it was decided to combine with the Fair and this special plot of ground has been allotted for a permanent Industrial Tractor Exposition. The first thing erected was a saw mill operated by Fordson tractor and as fast as the carloads of logs were received they were cut into timber and pilings to be used in connection with the show.

Mr. W. B. Fitzgerald, Mr. C. E. Stewart and Mr. W. V. Wood of the Ford Motor Company are in complete charge. These gentlemen are specialists in industrial tractor expositions and they are all consistent in their claims that this will be the greatest of all tractor shows. Over fifty different exhibitors are sending specialists with their equipment to be used in connection with this exhbiton and from now until the Fair opens these grounds should fairly swarm with various activities.

Facts about Child-birth

AN eminent physician has shown to thousands of expectant mothers just how to be free from dread, and from much of the suffering which many mothers experience for months, right up to the moment when the Little One arrives!

Mrs. Wm. Washington, 107 Louise Ave., Nashville, Tenn., says: "There is positively no woman on earth that would be without 'Mother's Friend' during expectancy if she only knew the value of comfort."

"Mother's Friend" is externally applied to the region of the abdomen, back and hips. It relieves the tension on nerves and ligaments as month follows month. Finally, it makes child-birth a joy instead of a painful dread.

Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., BA-72, Atlanta, Ga., for a free wonderful book containing information every expectant mother should have. Get a bottle of "Mother's Friend" today. It is sold by all good druggists.

MITCHELL DAM

TRANSPORTATION

Now that Mitchell Dam has been completed and turned over to the Operating Department, it may be interesting to those who have not been closely associated with the construction of this project to know something of the magnitude of the undertaking from a transportation standppint.

Entering into the construction of Mitchell Dam were 5,000 cars, of material of various descriptions. There were 1,100 cars of cement, 1,700 cars of sand, 300 cars of gravel, 190 cars of coal, 67 cars of machinery, 175 cars of lumber, and 1,500 cars of miscellaneous material of all descriptions. One of the largest items entering into the dam was crushed stone which was secured from the company's quarry about a quarter of a mile below the dam on the river. Had it been necessary to use gravel instead of crushed rock, this would have brought the total number of cars of materials to about 8,500.

Approximately $350,000 in freight and $12,500 in express was expended in the purchase of transportation for the completion of Mitchell Dam.

Mitchell Dam was completed in record time and many obstacles of varying descriptions were met and overcome, such as railroad strikes, embargoes, car shortages, labor conditions, etc.

As the progressives and visionists are never content to rest upon past laurels, so it is with our great company, ever awake to the interest of the State, its people and industries whom it serves, we therefore pass on from the fruits of our labors in the wonderful undertaking and completion of Mitchell Dam, which will ever stand as a monument to the memory and vision of our beloved first president, Mr. James Mitchell, to another job known as Cherokee Bluffs, which we hope soon to see also pouring its "white coal" out to be assimilated in the company's system and conserving to the State and Nation thousands of tons of coal.—Powergrams.

LAWLEY NEWS

There has been quite a bit of sickness in this community, but we are glad to say that they're all improving.

The teachers of this place have been attending the institute at Centerville but are back at work now.

On last Tuesday evening Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gwin, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Hayes, Dr. Dubose and several others from Maplesville motored to Lawley to attend a moonlight party given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Jefferson. Also a number of friends from here attended. After lunch was served the crowd was entertained by music, rendered by Miss Cornelia Jefferson, J. W. Gwin, Bolling Dubose, Worth Foshee and several others. Every one seemed to have enjoyed the party to the fullest extent.

Miss Ethel Collins, who is teaching school at Blocton, was at home this week-end.

Miss Nanie Belle and Maggie Mae Head spent this week-end in Tuscaloosa.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Head, son and daughter, Hobson and Gertrude, motored to Plantersville Sunday.

Mrs. W. H. Gwin and son, Billy spent last week-end with her sister in Maplesville.

Mr. Charley Collins, Misses Cornelia Jefferson, Lilla and Bessie Lee Collins motored to Blocton Sunday afternoon to carry Ethel Collins back to her school.

Miss Roberta Lawrence, who has been working in Centerville, was at home this weekend.

ALABAMA NEWS HAPPENINGS.

A Resume of the More Important Events of Interest Condensed To An Epitomized Form.

Approximately $100,000 will be paid out October 1st to owners of Preferred Stock of the Alabama Power Company, following recent action of of the company's board of directors, who declared the usual quarterly dividend amounting to this figure. Practically the entire sum will be distributed among Alabamians, as close to 6,000 citizens of the state are now owners of the company's stock. Over $200,000 worth of this stock was sold during July, 1923—practically ten times the amount distributed the same period of 1920, when the stock was first placed on the market.

Dr. Floyd, of Brundidge happened to a pecular accident, it is said, in his dental office at Brundidge. The foot control of the electric motor was misplaced and was in contact with the base of the metal chair. With his foot resting on the motor Dr. Floyd, with one hand on the metal grasped a metal syringe and thus formed through his body a complete circuit of 110 volts of electricity, shocking him severely. In pulling his arm from the chair he dislocated it and it was necessary to summon a physician to put the arm back in place.

The Lehigh Banana Case company, a two million dollar corporation, with its principal office in Chicago, directing the company's many manufacturing plants throughout the United States, has consummated the purchase of the timber of 25,000 acres of land lying in Mobile and Baldwin counties for the consumption of its plant located in Selma in the manufacture of banana cases, fruit and woodenware containers of all kinds.

Gadsden's proposed Sunday closing law failed to pass the council—the body defering action indefinitely, although most of the pastors of the city were present to urge immediate passage of the ordinance. It would stop the sale of everything except food at the hotels and cafes, prescriptions at drug stores and gasoline at filling stations The ordinance was endorsed by the Etowah County Pastor's Association but was inspired by a number of retail grocers.

Alabama's public health system has received what is regarded as a signal recognition of its high standards, in being selected to be studied by a party of nine Europeans and South American health officers who are being sent to this state by the health section of the League of Nations to make a study of health administration. Pike, Covington, Jefferson, Talladega, Montgomery, Madison, and Mobile counties will be visited by the party.

Immediately following the signing of the agreement between officials of the Pike County Farm Bureau and T. P. Littlejohn, manager of the Pike County Fair Association, County agent R. L. King and Miss Charlotte Busey home demonstration agent, began making plans for the holding of community exhibits in several districts of Pike County with a view of making larger and better agricultural and home products exhibits than ever before at the county fair.

Work on the construction of a galvanizing plant at South Bessemer, to be known as the Bessemer Galvanizing Works, will begin immediately, and operations are expected to start within three months' time. The plant was secured for Bessemer by the Bessemer Coal, Iron and Land Co., it was stated.

Thelma McGuire, Rufe Mayer, Willie Thompson, Sidney Moyne, George Stewart and Ollie McLendon, six county convicts, were given additional sentences at hard labor in the Ettowah county court on the charge of escaping from the chaingang.

Ground has been broken for the erection of a new hotel at Akron, by J. F. Ford, a prominent citizen and an experienced hotel man.

Plans have been completed for the building in Opelika of a new creamery, modern in every respect, to manufacture the highest grade butter on the market and also ice cream.

The Tri-Cities Daily of Sheffield and the Florence Daily Times will issue the first number of the Muscle Shoals News on Sunday morning, September 30.

THE MILT TOLBERT SHOW

The original No. 1 troupe of the Milt Tolbert tent theatre is performing in Clanton every night this week. The shows the first three nights measured up very favorably with the promises the company has made. They said that they would give us good, high-class, refined entertainment, and they are doing this to an A-1 degree.

The Milt Tolbert Show is an Alabama organization, the manager and several of the players having their home in Dothan, Ala. The home of one of the actors is in Russellville, Ala. So this show is not composed of all kinds of questionable folks, but they are all nice people, whom we all enjoy getting acquainted with.

They have booked four more mighty good plays for this week. Appearances will be made tonight, Friday night, Saturday afternoon and Saturday night. Their feature play comes off Friday night, when they propose to present the very best play of the entire program. The only matinee they have will be on Saturday, which they arrange with the merchants of the town.

These shows are worth anyone's seeing. Every play they put on contains a moral that is elevating and educational. They pull off no dirty jokes, but their comedies are full of clean jestures and amusement.

BIG SALE IN THORSBY

Mr. Maurice Lande, proprietor of the Thorsby Leader is putting on a big sale at that store beginning tomorrow (Friday). Mr. Lande knows what kind of goods the public wants, and he says he has them in that store by the bushels. He has mailed out advertising circulars all over the county listing the many bargains which he is offering.

COMMISSIONERS COURT

The County Commissioners were in session at the court house Monday. This was a call meeting of the body for the purpose of seeing about rebuilding the bridge at Coopers. It was decided, however, that a new bridge would not be built but that the present one would be repaired and used for a while longer. We understand that a ten-ton truck came over the bridge the other day, and the commissioners concluded that if the old bridge would hold up that much, it would last a while longer.

Rev. E. A. Norris of Corinth was here Sunday and Sunday night to preach at Friendship church.

Governor J. C. Walton of Oklahoma says that the Ku Klux Klan will be an issue in the 1924 campaign. Evidently it will in his state judging from the turmoil that state is now in over the Klan.

Unintentionally we suppose, the Chilton County News last week published a little squib about Senator S. M. Adams, and they got the little piece heels upward. Well, that was all right—very emblematical of the man of whom it was speaking.

The Chlton County News wishes Chilton county to broaden out a bit and line up with the State politically. Well, brother, if that is your argument, why not let our State line up with our nation? Would the rule not work the same in both cases?

Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., is fast coming into nation-wide notice. The talk is very strong that he will be promoted to Secretary of the Navy, which is a job that his father, "Teddy" never attained. The question in the minds of the American people is, will Theodore, Jr., be another Teddy?

Why was it that the news of the mutiny in the Banner mine was held from the public for a week, and why do the state authorities repel investigation of the prison conditions of the State? Another example of modern Democracy in the Solid South. The whole thing is too rotten for the searchlight to be turned upon.

When Senator Underwood got back from his big trip to Europe he expressed himself as thoroughly in line with the Geneva League of Nations. But now since the League has failed to settle the dispute between Greece and Italy, the Senator has flopped over on thhe opposing side. Fortunate indeed that the Senator knows how to stop and turn back when he buts his neses into a brick wall. That's more than can be said of most Democrats.

At last there has been some action taken on the Muscle Shoals business. The Department of War has sold its interest in the Gorgas steam plant to the Alabama Power Company. This should have been done two years ago, because that was the only sensible way to dispose of this property. The Alabama Power Company had an interest in the government's property up there, and they needed it in their business too. So we are glad that this deal has been perfected.

Our State Legislature this time has used every opportunity to knock out Republican office holders in the State. They disregard the fact that these officers were elected by a majority of the voters, but prompted by pure malice and political hatred they have jumped to this erroneous conclusion. The Democrats know that their corrupt machine could not stand a strong opposing party. That's the reason they are trying so hard to keep the Republican party under their feet.

What is the reason our prison conditions are so bad in Alabama? Why are we getting so little action from our State Legislature and our State Executive? Why is it that every time you turn around your taxes are raised? Why is it that our State government in general is so congested and miserably balled up? The answer is inevitable. It is because we have had only one political party in Alabama so long that we have simply run out of soap. No government can function consistently without two political parties.

Speaking in favor of the bill to have only one registrar to each county, Senator Adams from Chilton county argued that this law would give the Democrats a better advantage in the doubtful counties of the State. Yes that is true, if they intend to practice graft, because they can come nearer controlling one man than they can three. And graft is the middle name of the Democratic party in Alabama. Also Senator Adams is the same S. M. Adams who used to go all over Chilton county speaking and preaching for the rights of the common people. But them days are gone forever.

"SOME PLAIN FACTS"

Under the above headline the Chilton County News published a very interesting editorial last week. As will be seen from a few clippings from this article below, the News attempts to show that Chilton county is losing worlds of blessings and advantages because of the fact that it will not line up with the great Democratic party of Alabama and the South.

"One lone county has scant chance of making much progress or getting very far on the road of prosperity when it elects to willfully and needlessly align itself against the sentiments of the vast areas that surround it. No person has ever been able to live strictly unto himself. The co-ordination of common interests is the power that has made our country great and has made it possible for the experiment of self-government set up by our forefathers to have lived and prospered, until today it is the master power in all the world, feared and envied by all the balance of mankind."

"We all know southern conditions and political sentiment. We certainly should all be able to see and realize that circumstances that will perpetuate this political sentiment for ages to come. Then how awfully unwise and disastrous it is for our county to go on through the years waging an absolutely impotent and utterly hopeless warfare against their friends and protectors with no other possible result than the holding in little insignificant county offices, a few local politicians, whose sphere of influence instead of being a benefit to you abroad is an actual liability and militates against your every effort in reaping the blessings that follow from a united spirit of co-operation."

The above two paragraphs contain some mighty beautiful and weighty expressions and if taken alone into consideration one would certainly have to say that our county is acting very unwisely in depriving itself of this bounteous stream of milk and honey which it would receive by aligning itself with the rest of the Solid South. But the News, in two other small editorials of the same issue, utterly mortifies this flowery but flattering argument. In regard to this same Democratic party it says:

"In these cultured days even the mandate of the ballot box has ceased to mean anything. The people rarely ever get what they vote for."

"The gubernatorial office of Alabama is still running true to form as a political graveyard. Both Brandon and McDonald are shaping a course towards private life for the future."

"The state administration is calling on the legislature every day for more taxes and more money, but they never say a word about cutting expenses. The business way to do it is to curtail your expenses and make them keep within your income."

A man must have to considerably stretch his power of reason and his conception of human interest to cover both of the above fields of thought. In one breath they say that Chilton county ought to line up with this great political machine, then right straight he is lambasting this same machine to a fare you well. So in this respect we are forced to ask, how do they get that way? If the News has the interest of the county at heart, how in the world can they advise it to align itself with a party that "is still running true to form as a political graveyard?" Can they conscientiously ask a county to support a party that according to their own words "is calling on the legislature every day for more taxes and more money but they never say a word about cutting expenses?"

The News knows as well as anyone that every Democrat that stuck his head up for an office last year pledged by all that was good and bad that they would lower taxes, abolish useless offices, and cut down the expenses of the state government. The News also knows, and admits, that they are not doing what they promised. Yet they say the only sensible thing for Chilton county to do is to line up with this great party.

Let me say to the News right here that the only difference between it and the people of Chilton county is that the News knows what is best for our county and state but hasn't enough guts to come out for it, and the people of the county know what is best for them and they come out openly and admit it with their ballot. The people of Chilton county know that the Democratic party in Alabama and the South is an empty farce, and although they do deprive themselves of a few hand-outs from the big pie hunters of the state, yet they have got backbone enough to assert their rights and pull off from this gang of political concubines called the Democratic party.

In another paragraph of its "Plain Facts" the News says:

"Then how pitible is the condition of that man or community that undertakes to controvert the truth of this fundamental principle by aligning themselves against the overwhelming sentiment of their neighbors and friends, and sets up their puny efforts to overthrow or even halt the onward step of this sentiment."

Oh ye Gods and little fish hooks. What kind of a piece of humanity is it that is willing to cast their offorts and their all to the support of a cause that they know to be rotten just because all of their neighbors and friends are doing it. The good book says that if the whole world is for a thing and God alone is against it, that thing is wrong just the same. Then how little a man is who will line up with an outfit that he knows is going wrong just simply because most of his neighbors and friends belong to it. We are thankful that the people of Chilton county, or a majority of them at least, are not of this kind. They know that Democracy, as it functions in the South, is corrupt in the superlative degree, and they have long since thrown off the shackles and declared themselves free from its pertinacious stronghold.

THE WOMAN PREACHER

A thing proving to be quite a center of attraction for the past few days is the holiness meeting out a few miles north-east of Clanton. This meeting is being run by a lady by the name of Mrs. Joiner, who takes the pulpit and everlastingly skins everything that comes in the way of her belief. She has preached some very forceful sermons from her point of view, but they don't set very well with the advocates of other religious denominations.

We have never made it a custom publicly or otherwise to criticize anyone for their religious beliefs, and we have no censure to make against the convictions of Mrs. Joiner and her followers. But we do believe that they go rather far in their denounciations of the other churches of our land and country. Every person in the United States was created equal, has a free and inherited right to worship God in any way they see fit; and no one has the power to take away from them this right. There is not a great deal of difference in the power of conception and understanding between different people. One person, generally speaking, has got about as much sense as another, and one person can read and interpret the holy scriptures about as well as another. Of course, you could scarcely ever find two people who understand every passsage in the Bible just alike. People have always been imbued with the instinct of seeing things in their particular light. They were this way in biblical tmes. Different writers of the scriptures writing about the same identical incident wrote very differently on the subject, although they both told the truth.

So, we say that this class of believers is not giving their fellowman a show equal to what they are taking themselves. We believe that everybody is conscientious in their religious belief. If they did not think they were right they would not be where they are. There are people in the Methodist church, the Baptist church, the Presbyterian church, the Congregational church, the Seventh-day church, and almost every other church that are just as near perfect and free from sin as Sister Joiner or any of her followers, and they certainly have a perfect right to their belief. Folks have, generally speaking, enough reasoning power to think out things for themselves, and they have an undeniable right to see things just as their minds direct. Nobody on the face of the earth has a right to say that they themselves are altogether right and everybody else is wrong. When a person takes the liberty to say this, they are just going beyond the point where God intended for them to go, and to that extent they are just wrong themselves.

Treasury experts are compiling data which Secretary Mellon will present to Congress with his request for a cut in maximum surtax rates from 50 per cent to around 25 per cent. While nobody can definitely state whether such a reduction in rate would bring a larger return to the Treasury or not, all experience with income taxes indicates that receipts would be considerably higher. When the Republicans lowered the maximum rate from 65 per cent to 50 per cent, many millions of capital was encouraged to withdraw from investment in tax-exempt securities and become engaged in productive enterprise, the profits of which became subject to taxation. The result was a substantial increase in the total taxes received. Further reductions will bring further increases, and it is Secretary Mellon's policy to fix the maximum surtax rates at the point which will bring the greatest return to the Treasury.

THE PUBLIC AND ALABAMA POWER COMPANY

A Monument to Public Service

To insure uninterrupted and continuous service of electric power to its thousands of customers, large and small consumers alike, Alabama Power Company has stored at its reserve steam plants—

130,000 Tons of Coal

—Aptly termed, "A Monument to Public Service."

In the form of a single cone, this vast supply of coal would stand 140 feet high, with a diameter of 400 feet.

If shaped into a solid block, the same width and depth as the Jefferson County Bank Building at Birmingham, it would rise above the ground 695 feet; or more than twice the height of the South's tallest building.

This coal supply on September 1st, 1923, was distributed—

MUSCLE SHOALS PLANT—25,000 TONS
GADSDEN PLANT—23,000 TONS
GORGAS PLANT—81,000 TONS
MONTGOMERY PLANT—700 TONS
GUNTERSVILLE PLANT—300 TONS
TOTAL—130,000 TONS

This tremendous supply of coal represents an investment of more than $500,000.00. It is just one of the numerous items of investment and means utilized by Alabama Power Company that service to its thousands of customers throughout the State may continue day in and day out, without dependence on the flow of the rivers of Alabama, which vary radically with the seasons.

The Value of Land Abstracts

It is not safe to buy land or to lend money and accept land as security without first investigating the title of the land. Often there are unpaid mortgages, judgments, or other liens affecting the title, which an abstract would set out. Therefore, when buying land or lending money thereon, it is important that an abstract of title be furnished. A few dollars spent for an abstract is cheaper than going ahead and having a law suit a little later on.

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. NORTON, Manager)

The address of Rev. Wilhelm Petterson last Sunday night at the Lutheran church, was a masterly exponent of the origin and import of the Constitution of the United States. The foundation laid 136 years ago, on which the greatest government in the world has securely rested and which has for its keystone, "The will of the people," Democratic government, rule by majority, the consent of the governed. Since its adoption there have been added Nineteen amendments to meet the growing needs and establish by the law of the land progressive ideals of an enlightened people, among whom changing conditions call for changes in our governmental structure, and every one of these amendments have become an integral part of our Constitution which no law-abiding citizen will intentionally violate.

Mss Frances Hunter very effectively rendered, as a vocal solo, Kipling's remarkable poem "Lest We Forget," set to music. Thorsby Institute students, under direction of Miss Althea Parker, as a chorus choir gave two selections and assisted in the congregational singing.

Mr. Emil Johnson and Miss Signie Johnson of Bessemer spent the week-end at the home of Mrs. Frank Nelson.

On Friday night at 7:30 at Bates Hall Rev. Davenport will, by request, give the people of Thorsby and vicinity another opportunity to see and hear his Stereopticon Lecture on "Passion Week." The pictures are unusually fine and represent scenes in the great play which has been presented for a season once in ten years, for nearly three hundred years, by the people of Oberammergau, a small town in Bavaria, drawing patrons in great numbers from all parts of the world. Since Rev. Davenport will soon be leaving Thorsby for another field there is no prospect that any other opportunity will soon be given the people of this section to see this remarkable exhibition of pictures. An admission fee of 20c for adults and 10c for children, public school or Thorsby Institute students. An interesting feature of the entertainment will be the vocal numbers given by Thorsby male quartette, comprising Glover Smith, oJhn Childress, Akin Collins and Gresham Lowery. The proceeds of the entertainment will be used for the parsonage fund.

On Thursday night at 7:30, under auspices of the Congregational Ladies Aid Society, members of the Congregational church and congregation, also residents of Thorsby and vicinity, who are interested, will assemble at the parsonage to spend a social evening with Rev. J. W. Davenport and family, who are now preparing to leave Thorsby early next week to return to Robbins, Tenn., from where they came to Thorsby upwards of five years ago. Guests are requested to bring something to help provide the refreshments.

A letter has been received from Rev. Joseph E. Each, of Crestview, Fla., accepting the call from the Congregational church at Thorsby to become their pastor, commencing Dec. 1st, 1923. During the two months that intervene some arrangement will be made whereby regular services may be held each Sunday.

Mrs. Ethel Wright Loveland returned Monday morning from a week-end visit to Haleyville, Ala., in the interest of Thorsby Institute.

Last Monday morning at Chapel, Mr. Waldemar Lefstead, of Thorsby Institute faculty, and boys' athletic coach, gave a talk on athletics as portrayed in the Bible. One morning last week Mr. Carl Tissel, another member of the faculty, gave a chapel talk on the life and works of Sir Isaac Newton, emphasizing the fact that in the study of history too large a proportion is given to works of destruction rather than construction. T. I. students are indeed favored to have as instructors young men of the character and ability shown by these teachers.

The Ladies' Guild of Thorsby will hold their regular monthly social at the home of Mrs. A. E. Reagan on Montgomery Road Thursday afternoon, Sept. 27th.

Mrs. H. M. May and her daughters, Mildred and Bennie, of Boyles, and Mrs. Grace Robbins and daughter, Ella of Birmingham, were visitors to the Bice family in Thorsby last week. The mothers are nieces of Mr. J. Bice, of whom all trace has been lost for thirty years and they found it very pleasant to renew acquaintance with their kin-folks and introduce the new generation on both sides.

Mr. Earl Leary and Mr. Arthur Villadsen were week-end visitors in Thorsby.

Now that the facts regarding delay in starting work on the Highway through Chilton county are known, it is hoped that enough pressure will be brought to bear on those who should move in the matter to open the way for dirt to be flying in the near future.

Mrs. G. W. Phalen of Tuscaloosa, sister of the Howard brothers, spent Wednesday of last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Howard. She and her nephew, Mr. Phil Kane came through the country by Ford and Mr. Kane went on to South Alabama.

The Lutheran Ladies' Aid are collecting clothes for the destitute in Germany. Anyone wishing to donate, please bring same to Mrs. Villadsen's home this week. Everything should be clean and whole.

Advertising Alabama

The writer has received a letter from his son, Sereno G. Norton, of Kenvil, New Jersey, where he is employed as a chemist, at the head of an important department, in the great Experiment Station of The Hercules Powder Company.

Mr. Norton will be remembered by many people of this section where he lived for upwards of ten years, and has never lost interest in Thorsby, Chilton county, or Alabama. Having his permission to publish his letter and believing it will be of general interest we are glad to pass it along:

"I attended the Annual Exposition of Chemical Industries at Grand Central Palace, New York. The exhibits were unusually good. This year the Exposition was limited to American Industries, new inventions, improved apparatus and machinery, new chemical products, and many varied displays of interest to chemists were in evidence.

"I was especially pleased to see the position of prominence occupied by the South. In former years Canada and the western states have had fine exhibits of raw materials and chemical products, but this year Southern States, especially Alabama and Georgia were at the front.

"The Alabama Power Company had a very large map of the State, showing power development, and their chart and specimens showed very clearly the unusual combinations of cheap power, and accessible raw materials which are essential to many chemical industries.

"The Southern Railroad, and the Central of Georgia Railroad, each had a large booth, where minerals, woods, and other materials were shown, as well as maps and pictures of many industries already established.

"These exhibits attracted a great deal of attention, and since the Exposition was attended by the leading chemists and chemical manufacturers from all over the country, they will do a great deal to interest men who intend to establish new industries, or extend their present business."

There was also enclosed in the letter a 36-page booklet, neatly gotten up and well printed, gotten out for distribution by The Alabama Power Company, filled from cover to cover with succinct facts concerning Alabama and her resources. Surely a great boost for Alabama.

On Monday afternoon Mrs. S. C. Wood, Mrs. Chas. Howard and Miss Agnes Leary entertained at a "miscellaneous shower" in honor of Mrs. Edward S. Howard, nee Miss Betty Mae Reynolds, of Jemison, at the home of Mrs. S. C. Wood. The house was very prettily decorated in cherry blossoms and green sprays and banks of dahlias. Japanese lanterns were hung in the door-ways and all across the arch door, between dining room and parlor. Miss Mabel Howard, a cousin of the groom, had charge of the registrations at the entrance. Sofa pillows were placed on the floor and the guests were invited to sit on them. After the guests had arrived, a recipe book was passed around and each guest requested to write some recipe they had found satisfactory.

Miss Agnes Leary sang, "Oh, Promise Me." Later blank telegrams were passed and each guest requested to send the bride a telegram, "How to Hold a Husband."

A nice little plate luncheon was served by the little Jap ladies, and while they were being served, Mrs. E. R. Piper read the bride's telegrams "How to Hold a Husband."

Immediately after the luncheon a special telegram was sent to the bride, announcing the arrival of her gifts, on the ship, "Birmingham City," to be delivered immediately by Japanese express, also wishing her a long and happy sojourn thru life. The gifts were delivered in a large pink basket, by little Jap ladies, Lucille and Ella Howard, cousins of groom, to the bride who occupied the seat of honor in the center of the room. The numerous and lovely gifts were passed around for all to see.

Miss Marie Flummer had charge of music. There were about thirty guests.

STATE CO-OPERATION NEEDED

It is the policy of President Coolidge to have the States accept their full responsibility in the matter of government. As a first step to that end he will soon call a conference of governors and go over with them the co-operative enforcement of the prohibition laws, anti-drug law, and immigration. More important than all those is the help he will ask of the state executives in reducing the general tax burden. Statistics prove that the national government has made far greater strides in economy and tax reduction than have the States. In fact most of the States have taken advantage of the demand for tax-free securities and have issued bonds not warranted by the already heavy tax rates. There is no apparent reason why thhe drastic economy policies of the Federal government should not be followed by the states themselves.

Co-operation such as the President seeks between the Federal and State governments would be akin to the conferences between the British dominions and the home government, in which the dominions consider their needs in relation to the needs of the whole empire. Not only will the individual and general welfare of the people be improved by Mr. Coolidge's suggestion, but practical patriotism will be stimulated. State officials and the people themselves will have a keener appreciation of the fact that they are part of the whole nation, and the benefits derived from efficient administration of national affairs puts upon them a responsibility to contribute their best efforts for the general good.

SUBSTANCE, NOT FORM

A prominent U. S. Senator who has been touring Russia says that he is coming back to tell the American people the truth about that country. There is just one truth that the people of this country want to know—that Russia recognizes the binding obligation of contracts legally made and also recognizes the title to property legally acquired. If Russia wants a monarchical form of government, well and good. If she wants a dictatorship such as that which exists at present, we have no objection. The form is of no concern to us; but we are much interested in the manner in which that form works. We are looking at the substance, not the form.

Mrs. J. C. Jones was a visitor to the Capital City last Thursday.

VISIT RIO GRANDE VALLEY

Mr. C. Reese Mullins of Clanton, Mr. Zack Abner of Maplesville and Dr. Porch of Sylacauga recently returned from a trip to southern Texas and the Rio Grande Valley. If you want to know something of the great opportunities of that new country or are interested in making a trip to this wonderful valley, either of these men can put you in touch with one of the company's representatives who will furnish yo uwith excursion dates and rates. Mr. Mullins will gladly tell you all about his trip and the beautifu country if you will call at his office.

The efforts of the Japanese to maintain their international credit is worthy of special notice in view of the easy way that certain European governments handle their international obligations. It is understood that no moratorium on bond interest payments will be asked by the Japanese, and that even bonds of the City of Tokio will pay their interest promptly when due. Regular annual meetings of bank directors are being held, despite the fact that the bank buildings are in ruins. In one instance the stock holders held a meeting within the ruins, with no shelter from the weather except the blackened walls which still stood. Although rebuilding operations will cost billions, it is generally believed that Japan will recover from the disaster in a very few weeks. The record of the Japs in the face of their appalling catastrophe is commended to the attention of other countries which consider that misfortunes have relieved them from paying their honest debts.

Products Must Get To A Market Before They Become Valuable

The value of any product, whether from farm or factory, depends upon its being taken to the place where there are people who need that particular product and are willing to pay the right price for it.

Coal lying in the ground, cotton growing in the field, steel at the foundry, lumber at the mill, fruit on the trees, corn in the shock, tobacco in the warehouse and cement at the plant; all have little real worth until they are transported to where there is a market for them.

Diamonds are worth no more than cobble stones until they are taken to the people who are ready and willing to exchange dollars for them.

The Louisville & Nashville Railroad performs a valuable service for the farms and factories of the thirteen states in which it operates, by carrying their products to important markets and to Southern ports for shipment to the consuming nations of the world.

The prosperous condition of the territory served by the L. & N. has been brought about largely by the excellent service rendered by this Railroad in getting the products of the farms and factories to the markets

STATE NEWS ITEMS

The addition of trains Nos. 187 and 188 on the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad, running from Abbeville to Thomasville, Ga., will be a big improvement in the schedules over the Abbeville branch road. The train will leave Abbeville at 5:30 in the morning and arrive at Thomasville at 9:55. Returning, the train leaves Thomasville at 6:25 in the afternoon, arriving at Abbeville at 10:50 P. M. The new train will carry both freight and passengers.

President C. E. James, of the Tennessee, Alabama and Georgia R. R., has been in Gadsden buying rights of way for an extension of the road across the western part of the city. He purchased several parcels of land and closed out portions of others. It is expected that only a few pieces of property will have to be condemned, as a large majority of the people are anxious to see the road build toward Birmingham.

Indictments were returned by a reconvened session of the federal grand jury at Birmingham against the Walker Consolidated Petroleum company of Dallas, Texas, naming four former officials, two of Dallas, Texas, one from Indianapolis, Ind. and one Birmingham man. More than a score of prominent Alabama people are said to have last more than $2,000,000 in this company, three-fourths of it being lost in the Birmingham district.

With a view of further developing the possibilities of Pickens county in agriculture and livestock, F. A. Rew, county farm demonstrator, has enlisted the support of a number of the progressive citizens in contributing to a fund for prizes to be given during an exhibition to be held at Aliceville during the early part of November, the amount being contributed by these citizens and the county amounting to $1,000.

Work of clearing away the timber and undergrowth in the basin of the Alabama Power Company's dam at Cherokee Bluffs, is well under way and a large number of men are employed. Because of the fact that much of the work is near Alexander City the merchants are drawing a lot of trade from that source. It is estimated that something like 30 months will be required to complete the dam.

Reports on the recent municipal elecion by Representatives of the Mobile County League of Women Voters who were sent to the various polling places to observe methods, made at the meeting of the organization, were that there was little disorder at the various polling places, but several instances of alleged irregularities and violations of the election laws.

Deputy Solicitor James F. Matthews, who was one of the delegates to the national meet from Alabama, has returned to his home in Anniston after attendnig the meeting of the American Bar Association in Minneapolis. After his return to his home Mr. Matthews was notified of his selection by the national association to membership on the local council of the American Bar Association for Alabama.

When Sam Tatum, colored, received instructions from his mother on Sunday to go to church and Sunday school, he soon forgot the straight and narrow and went swimming, where water was crooked and deep in the Conecuh River, out on the Aberfoil road near Union Springs. His body was later recovered through the use of a seine and held pending the arrival of his father who is employed in Chicago.

The farmers of Butler county are making rapid progress in the harvesting of the cotton crop. The yield is distressingly small on the black and gray sandy lands, but on the red lands the yield is better. However, the yield for the county will be about 50 per cent of last year's crop it is estimated.

Plans for location of an overall and shirt factory in Decatur advanced another step when directors of the Chamber of Commerce in regular session discussed plans for the plant by which the city is to raise $5000 and an additional $60,000 is to be invested by outside capital to begin operation.

There are under construction at Wilson Dam, three immense cranes, to be used in placing most of the concrete in coffer No. 5. One of these is nearly complete and will be in operation in a short time. These cranes are to have four booms to reach 90 feet from the ground.

The National Bank of Opelika will finance a movement to buy a carload of thoroughbred cows for Lee county farmers. The plan is to let out a cow to a farmer who will pay back the original cost at the end of the year and will use the profit from the upkeep of the cow for himself.

Three Tuscaloosa policemen have been suspended pending an investigation into allegations of "inertia."

Mrs. Julia Casey, charged with killing her husband at their home in Calhoun county several months ago, has been released under $1,500 bond.

The annual reunion of Alabama Confederate Veterans will be held in Huntsville this year, October 3-4. Plans are being made to take the "Vets" to Wilson Dam, in a body on October 4.

STUDEBAKER HOLDS LARGEST FALL DRIVE-AWAY IN THE HISTORY OF CORPORATION

One Hundred and Fifty Light-Sixes Leave South Bend Factory to Fill Dealers' Orders.

On Thursday, Sept. 20, one hundred and fifty cars were driven from the South Bend factory of the Studebaker Corporation to fill retail orders of Studebaker dealers.

This was the largest drive-away ever held by Studebaker at this season of the year.

These cars were 1924 Model Light-Sixes and included the full range of body styles—Roadsters, Touring cars, Coupe-Roadsters and Sedans. The long line of cars made an impressive spectacle as they passed through the streets of South Bend and crowds gathered along the route to admire the attractive lines of the new cars.

Such an unusual drive-away was made possible by the continuous, large demand for Studebaker cars from all sections of the country. All plants are running at capacity in an effort to meet this demand.

Since the Light-Six was introduced three years ago, more than 150,000 Studebaker Light-Sixes have been sold and their popularity is constantly growing. Even the present output of over 625 cars a day cannot adequately meet the insistent demand for all models of Studebaker cars.

Work on new plant additions, under construction at South Bend, Indiana, which will increase Studebaker manufacturing facilities still further, is progressing satisfactorily.

The new six-story body building, now nearing completion, contains 480,000 square feet of floor space. Shipping will be facilitated by a new, four-story storage building and a train shed which are being added to the present facilities. Each of these additions is 76x364 feet in size and both are now practically under roof and will be soon ready for use.

The mammoth new foundry, costing approximately $2,500,000, will measure 722x683 feet, and is now well under way. When finished this will be the largest grey iron foundry in the automotive industry.

LETTER FROM CLAUDE BAKER

Tupelo, Miss., Sept. 23, 1923.

Editor Union-Banner:

I have been a careful reader of The Union-Banner for a long time and since I have been away from home it has been the source of most of the information that I have received from Chilton county. I enjoy reading it very much.

Have just returned to Tupelo. Have been out on detail messenger work for the last two months, during which time I have had some experience in traveling. Have made very extensive travel in Mississippi, Alabama, Arkansas, Tennessee and have made short trips in Louisiana and Oklahoma.

The people are all very much the same everywhere I have been. They all have the same general idas and social customs.

There is a marked difference in the character of the land in Alabama and that of the flood-planes, (delta, as it is called over here) of the Mississippi river. There sure is some fine land over there but I do not like the method by which the plantationsa as they are called, are handled. They are all owned by a few wealthy men and let out to tenants, mostly negroes. Many of the negroes have left for the last year or two and some white families have taken their places. Colonies of Italian farmers are not uncommon. I had never seen an Italian working on a farm until I went over there. They seem to be making good on the farm though, and every year more of them are coming in.

I was connected with the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries over there and therefore learned something of the Mississippi river fish. The crew that was seining, caught fish by the million per day. There are too many species to mention all of them, but among them are several kinds of sunfish, bass, cats, Buffalo, etc. I have seen as many as one-half million sunfish and as many blue cats in one bunch. They were only young ones, not more than two to three inches long.

If anyone desires any information on building, stocking and maintaining ponds, they might get some information by writing the Commissioner of Fisheries, Washington, D. C., or if I can be of any assistance, I shall be glad to offer any suggestion I can.

Respectfully yours,
CLAUDE M. BAKER.

There is no such thing as perfect happiness, but the boy who is told that his school term is delayed because the school house cannot be completed in time, very nearly attains it.

UNION GROVE

Our Sunday school and prayer meeting is still just fine, but we hope it will keep getting better.

Rev. and Mrs. T. W. Davis spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. S. Y. Dorminey.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Cofer spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Hall.

The singing at Miss Lessie Vinzant's Sunday p.m. was just fine. Everybody seemed to have a good time.

Miss Flossie Robinson dined with Miss Leone Hall Sunday.

Misses Mollie Vinzant and Edna Robinson spent Sunday with Miss Euna Davis.

Messrs. Otto Burnett and Harvie Cox and Miss Leone Hall spent awhile with Miss Mollie Vinzant Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Martin spent Sunday with relatives in Clanton.

Miss Mollie Vinzant spent Saturday night with Miss Edna Robinson.

Misses Deiene Collum and Lula Cofer spent Sunday with Miss Rebecca Dorminey.

Don't forget the all-day singing at this place the 5th Sunday in this month. Everybody is invited to come bring their 1923 song books and a well filled basket and enjoy the day.

ALMOST REPEATED

Of two friends staying at a hostelry where most keys fit most doors, one went off to bed, undressed, and turned in, mistaking his friend's room for his own. Half an hour later the friend followed, saw his bed occupied, and returned to the coffee room.

"Did you see me go to my room just now?" he said to the night porter.

"Yes sir," was the reply.

"Well, then, why didn't you tell me I'd gone to bed already?" he grunted, and continued to finish the night on a chair in front of the fire. —Yorkshire Post.

Buy Your Tires from a Firestone DEALER

At the Latest Prices—The Lowest in History

You will find the Firestone Dealer one of the stable business men of your community. He offers a clean, fresh stock, backed by a well organized service. He wants you as a permanent customer.

That is the reason he sells Firestone tires. He knows and has plenty of proof that they are the best tires on the market. He can give you the greatest value and thereby retain your trade for years.

Every day you find new proof of this unequalled value. On the 15th of this month, Firestone Tires set two new dirt track records at Syracuse when Tommy Milton slid around four turns at every mile and covered the 100 miles in 75 minutes, 33 hundredths seconds. He also established a new world's record for one mile by covering it in 42 and 28 hundredths seconds. The next four cars to finish were also equipped with Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords. Each one of them went the entire race without a stop. This and every other important race this year was won on Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords and Steam-Welded Tubes. Such performance gives you conclusive proof of their strength and durability.

Not only do race drivers use Firestone Tires as protection to their lives and the surest way to victory, but the largest tire buyers in the world insist on and buy Firestone Tires for economy and service. These buyers include the leading car manufacturers, the biggest commercial car operators and the taxicab and motorbus operators. 57,639,714 tire miles were sold to taxicab and motorbus operators in the month of August.

Think this over. You cannot afford to accept anything less than Firestone service and economy. You can buy this service and economy from any of the dealers listed below.

BALFOUR OPTIMISTIC FOR DEMOCRATIC DEPRESSION

Washington, Sept. 24."People are interested in the future of American industry find much food for thought in a recent article written by Sir Arthur Balfour and published in the London Times," says the Republican Publicity Association, through its President, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr. "In that article Sir Arthur discusses at length industrial con ditions in the United States and the outlook for British competition with America. He estimates that there will be a fair internal trade in the United States for 18 months, and after that a period of depression for three or four years. He also predicts a very considerable modification of the Fordney tariff after the next election.

'Eighteen months from the present time would bring us up to April, 1925. Sir Arthur predicts that as a result of the elections in 1924 there will be a considerable modification of the Fordney tariff act. The new Congress, which will be elected in 1924, will take office in March, 1925. Balfour's opinion is that the next Congress will be Democratic and that by April, 1925, that Congress will get in its deadly work on the Fordney-McCumber tariff law and that then there will be, 'a period of depression for three or four years.'

"It is quite impossible that a Congress elected in 1924 and taking office in March, 1925, could repeal the Republican tariff law by April, the period of 18 months. Perhaps Sir Arthur has in mind the historical fact that American industry begins to decline with the assurance that adverse conditions are approaching, and that assurance would be given upon the election of a low-tariff Congress.

"However, it is not worth while to discuss the question how soon a Democratic Congress could make its influence felt. The important thing to keep in mind is that Sir Arthur Balfour makes practically simultaneous the coming in of a Democratic Administration and the beginning of a period of depression which, in his opinion, would last three or four years. He s undoubtedly judging the future by the past. We have seen on previous occasions that when a Democratic Administration comes into power and enacts a Democratic tariff law we have, under normal conditions, a depression that lasts three or four years, or until the people can reverse their action and restore an administration that believes in the principle of protection for American industry.

"While it is easy to agree with Sir Arthur Balfour that a considerable modification of the Fordney tariff, would bring on 'a period of depression for three or four years,' it is not easy to agree with him that such a modification is to take place. The American people can remember the effects of the Democratic tariff law of 1893. They can also remember that following the enactment of the Democratic tariff law in 1913 there was a tremendous depression in American industry with millions of men out of employment. They remember that the depression continued until September, 1914, when the war in Europe cut off imports and furnished us a new unprecedented market for our products. With these facts still firm in the memories of American voters there is no likelihood that in the next election they will again vote the Democratic party into power.

"Sir Arthur Balfour is a successful British business man. Perhaps his wish that British goods may figure more in supplying the American market is to some extent the father to his thought that such will be the case. Our own judgment is that history will prove him to be a poor prophet of American politics."

Women to attract must

Radiate Health!

BEAUTY is the magnet which draws all eyes—and back of beauty—Health—working silently.—Red blood tingling through the veins;—the glow of youth in the cheeks;—the spring of cagerness, of vim, of vitality in the walk;—the ever graceful air, unrestrained by care or worry.—All the charms of beauty. All the works of health.

Men are fascinated by the charms of beauty. Women gaze with envy, secretly jealous, perhaps—wondering—hoping—praying for that attractiveness that is not theirs.

But why the wondering—the hoping—the praying for that craved-for attractiveness—that beauty. Good looks is the barometer of one's condition. Good health radiates beauty. S. S. S. purifies the blood—creates new red blood cells—rids the system of impurities which make beauty and attractiveness impossible. As women to attract must radiate health so must they keep their systems free from impurities and their red blood cells ever increasing. S. S. S. does both.

S. S. S., since 1826, has been ridding the system of impurities—pimples, blackheads, boils, eczema and rheumatism—building red blood cells—aiding women to be attractive by radiating health. S. S. S. is made of carefully selected herbs and barks, scientifically prepared and proportioned. All good drug stores carry S. S. S. It is more economical to purchase the large size bottle.

35,000 PEOPLE HEAR RUTHERFORD LECTURE

"Armageddon" at Hand," Declares Head of Bible Students.

With street car transportation swamped, with roads and thoroughfares choked with traffic and hundreds and thousands of people coming from points as far as San Diego to hear the famous lecture, "Armageddon," given by Judge Rutherford, president of the International Bible Students' Association at the Coliseum, Exposition Park, Sunday afternoon, a new record was established in Los Angeles for attendance at a public gathering.

By 2:30 o'clock, 35,000 people had fought their way along the traffic blocked roads and the overcrowded street cars and were gathered in the giant coliseum.

These were supplemented by the hundreds that waited in cars out in Exposition Park, where they were able to hear every word of the lecture by means of a speaker's device erected by the Western Electric Company for the purpose above Judge Rutherford's head in the speaking stand.

VOLUME XI. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, OCTOBER 4, 1923 NUMBER 24

SINGING AT POOR HOUSE

On Sunday, September 30th, around 200 people assembled at the County Poor House, at the invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Gentry, the kind custodians, for an old-time all-day singing, for the pleasure of the county charges.

The day was ideal and everyone present seemed to vie with each other in trying to make the old folks happy. The singing was exceptionally fine, all the leaders being at their best, including Mr. Scott, Mr. Jackson, Mr. Saunders, and Miss Saunders.

At 11 o'clock, Judge Reynolds was introduced to the audience by Mr. Gentry. The judge made a capital speech which was highly enjoyed. He talked of the blessedness of unselfishness in which he paid a glowing tribute to the preachers of the land who dedicate their lives to the selfless service of humanity, and in making this world a better place in which to live. He paid a beautiful tribute to Uncle Dock Wells, and told how this faithful old preacher, for five years, had ministered to the spiritual needs of the inmates of the poor house without pay, or any hope therefor At the conclusion of Judge Reynolds' speech, he called for a free will offering for Uncle Dock Wells and a fine contribution was cheerfully given The money was presented to Uncle Dock, who responded in a happy and feeling manner.

A very touching feature of the program was the presentation by Mr. Gentry of a Bible to his young son who on that day was celebrating his twenty-first anniversary In presenting the Bible, Mr. Gentry made some very fitting and touching remarks. We trust that the young man will ever remember the solemn words of his father, and that the Bible will be the rule and guide of all his future conduct.

At the noon hour, a bountiful dinner was served under the cool shade of trees by Mr. and Mrs. Gentry. After seeing that all the inmates, for whose pleasure this day was set apart, was properly served, all of the guests were invited to partake of the generous feast.

Many beautiful songs were rendered in the afternoon—old time songs—that swing back the curtains of time for the older generation, revealing to them dim visions of their own youth, long past, and giving them a clearer vision of a brighter future just beyond the borderland of age.

All in all, it was a successful and delightful occasion, and everyone gave high praise to Mr. and Mrs. Gentry who planned the day.

STANTON SCHOOL CURTAIN

Prof. Edwards, principal of the Stanton School, was in Clanton Saturday selling advertising space on the new curtain which his school is going to install. This is the first year of school in their new buildng, and from the beginning they show a fine spirit of co-operation and advancement. The new curtain will cost near a hundred dollars, most of which will be paid for with the advertising spaces.

Judge Reynolds, J. O. Middleton and Omar Reynolds attended the closing session of the State Legislature Friday. They report that the solons were in fine spirits during the closing hours of the session.

RAINFALL LIGHT FOR SEPTEMBER

Weather Bureau Says Only .12 Inches of Rain Fell, Month Driest In 52 Years.

Monday, October 1, was the official inauguration of the fall weather season, although the temperature and other climatic conditions were in dispute of anyone's contention that "fall is here." A temperature of 91 on Sunday night stood off whatever chances the mercury had of giving Montgomerians a cool fall day.

Weather figures for the month of September showed some startling statistics in the matter of rainfall, only .12 inches of rain falling during the 30 days. Officials at the weather bureau declare this to be the driest September in the 52 years existence of the weather bureau. The normal temperature for the month is 2.88 inches—making Sept. 1923 about 2.73 in. below normal in the matter of precipitation. There were only three days during the month that a measurable amount of rain fell.

The highest temperature of the month came on September 6, when the mercury crowded the figure of 92. The lowest temperature came on September 22, when it touched 62 degrees. Statistics showed that there were 18 totally clear days, 8 partly cloudy days and 4 cloudy days during the month. The average temperature of 78 degrees was 1.6 degrees above normal, the month being considerable hotter on account of the lack of rainfall.

The Alabama river reached its lowest level Monday morning, the lowest since September 1922, when it went 1.7 feet below the zero on the gauge. The river is clearer, weather officials say, than it has been in a number of years, and if it does not rain today, it will go to a lower level than has been recorded in several years.—Montgomery Journal.

POUNDING THE PREACHER

Say, we are going to give our pastor a pounding some of these days. We have read of poundings, now we want to know the reality of a pounding by doing it; and if you don't know what we mean by saying a pounding, I will tell you of a few things, that could be included—sugar, coffee, flour, lard, soda, soap, fruit, matches, in fact, anything you can use in your home the preacher and his family can use it too. So you could hardly name anything in the way of groceries and notions that can not be used.

Then there will be a singing in connection with the pounding Saturday night, Oct. 6th. All the singers are invited and if any of you know of a member or friend who do not get the paper, kindly hand it to him or tell him about it. It will be held at Rev. Golden's home, near Walnut Creek church.

ROOSEVELT'S GRIT SHOWN BY STORY

New York, Sept. 30.—"If I had to stop my work every time some one shot at me, I should never get anything done," optomized the late Theodore Roosevelt's ideas of work and bullets, according to a new story concerning the former president made public today by the Roosevelt Memorial Association which is collecting unpublished anecdotes to be preserved at the Roosevelt home in this city.

Colonel James Robb Church, editor of "The Military Surgeon," who was attached to the Rough Riders as a surgeon in the Spanish-American war, wrote the association that he reported to Colonel Roosevelt's headquarters, which consisted of a table under a tree, one day in July, 1898. He waited for the colonel to finish some papers and, noticing that the enemy's rifle fire, desultory a moment before, had become more lively and seemed concentrated on the three, suggested that the table be moved to a better sheltered position. He continued:

"Looking up from his nearsighted writing with his delightful grin, the colonel answered: 'My dear fellow, if I had to stop my work every time any one shot at me, I should never get anything done.' And with that he finished his papers with as little apparent concern as though he had been in his library at Sagamore Hill."

SARDIS NEWS

We are very glad to say that Mr. B. B. Motley, who has been on the sick list for quite a few days is now able to be up and is improving fast.

INSTRUCTIONS ON MOTOR VEHICLE TAX

Future Assessments

Beginning October 1st, 1923, the Assessor is prohibited from assessing any motor vehicle for the tax year 1924. This tax will be assessed and paid after Oct. 1st, 1924, when the taxpayer applies for license.

Motor Vehicles Already Assessed

When the taxpayer has already made assessment in regular manner on motor vehicle, he is required, before he can secure a license, to go to the assessor and get a certificate on form furnished by the State Tax Commission, showing that the motor vehicle was assessed, kind of car and amount of tax due. One copy of this is kept by the assessor and the other two given to the taxpayer. He takes these two copies to the tax collector and pays amount due. The tax collector keeps one copy and receipts the other copy, which is taken by the taxpayer to the Probate Judge, who takes up this copy and issues license. The tax collector must post partial payment on abstract and show balance due, if any.

Motor Vehicles Which Were Not Already Assessed, But Due To Be Assessed

If the taxpayer has come into possession of a motor vehicle after Oct. 1st, 1922 and before the last Monday in March 1923, and has failed to make regular assessment, the Assessor must assess same as if he had owned such motor vehicle on Oct. 1st, 1922, on same blank furnished by State Tax Commission. The Assessor keeps one copy and gives the taxpayer the other two, which he handles in the same manner as above set out.

Exempt

If the motor vehicle was not in the State before the last Monday in March 1923, or is exempt from tax for any reason, the Assessor must endorse across face of same form the words "No tax due for 1923" and this is taken by the taxpayer to the Probate Judge who issues license same as if paid.

THE STATE TAX COMMISSION,
By L. L. Herzberg, Chairman.

MR. BICE COMES AGAIN

Editor The Union-Banner:

In regard to my letter of Sept. 17th about the remedy of the right-of-way for the highway. No fair minded man can say I was laying the blame on County Commissioners for the work not being done on the highway in my letter of 17th of Sept.

I did not know where the fault was. I had supposed it was in the State Highway Commissoin.

I said in my letter if the report be true, that is, what I had heard was true let the county commissioners get busy and secure the right-of-way.

Is that trying to place the blame on the commissioners court? No, of course not. If it had been the fault and I had known it, I would not have hesitated to write it but I don't write anything for the truth unless I know it to be the truth. I had no thought of blaming the commissioners court for the matter in the letter referred to.

Yours truly,
J. BICE.

STILLS AND BEER SEIZED RAIDS IN SHELBY COUNTY

Capture of four stills in Shelby county, three of 250 gallons capacity, and one of 200 gallons, with 3,900 gallons of beer, was reported to headquarters of the state law enforcement department Saturday. A Hudson car with eighty gallons of whiskey and two men was seized in Jefferson county.

A raid in Montgomery county, on Florida street, Capital Heights, made Saturday morning, resulted in the arrest of George W. Fuller, and seizure of 9 quarts of whiskey, according to reports from law enforcement headquarters.

Another raid reported was at 23½ Commerce street, Montgomery, where the following were arrested on charges of gaming: Rufus Loften, G. R. Snider, Harris Curran, T. H. Moorefield, L. B. Dunken, F. E. Temple and L. Stanfield. George Walker, negro porter, was arrested on a charge of vagrancy.

Mr. G. C. Weldon, principal of the Enterprise Consolidated School was in Clanton Saturday. They will have a grand opening of that school on October 12th.

"MORE ACTION, LESS POLITICS"

Editor The Union-Banner:

If you will allow me space in your valuable paper, I would like to say a few words in regard to the highway through Chilton county.

Almost two years ago Mr. Keller, the State Highway Engineer, told the people of Chilton county if they would vote for the good roads bond issue, they would be at work on this road right through Thorsby inside of 90 days. We voted for it, and have waited now nearly 700 days and the right-of-way is not even secured yet. We were informed recently, through our Hon. Senator S. M. Adams, that the State couldn't let the contract for the road until the County Commissioners secured the right-of-way through the county. So, some of us got after some of the commissioners, and they held a meeting in Clanton last Monday, and now they inform us they cannot do one thing towards getting the right-of-way for the road until the State furnishes them with plans and specifications as to width, etc.

Now those things sound punk to the people. If the State is at fault, then why don't they get right? If the fault is on the county's part, then why don't the State see to it that the county does its part and quit this continual shifting responsibilities from one to the other, in order to delay the work on the thing we all want more than excuses—the highway.

We, the citizens of Chilton county, are not trying to lay the blame on any one. We are getting anxious to see some action on this highway work, as we have already seen the results of dickering and playing politics. What we want now is action. We, as citizens of Chilton county, would like to know why we can't get a square deal in this county, and get some progress made towards the road, like other counties are getting. If other counties can get the right-of-way and let the contract, we can't understand why Chilton can't do likewise. Somebody is playing politics, and we are tired of that, because that only benefits a special few. What we want is the highway—that will benefit us all. Now why not let politics go for a season, and get down to business and let us have some action towards the road? That's what we are tired of waiting on. The graders on the road would look better to us now than all the promises that have been written in the last two years. Give us action and less politics.

Yours truly,
W. L. LEARY.

PERSONALS

Mrs. Simpson Hostess.

As a special courtesy to Mrs. Supples of Montgomery, who was the house guest of Mrs. Hugh Jones, Mrs. H. M. Simpson entertained a coterie of friends at bridge on last Friday morning. The rooms were made bright with crystal vases of fall blossoms. Here three tables were arranged for the game of bridge. The highest score was held by McSwain, who was presented with a fancy comb, and the honor guest was presented a tea bill. A lovely salad plate was served to the honoree, Meslames Hugh Jones, Ross Mullins, Grady Reynolds, Victor Heard, Kyle, Thad McSwain, Hance Alred, Arthur Johnson, oJhn Browder, Misses Billie Mullins and Kathleen Mullins.

Mrs. Hugh Jones had as her guest last week Mrs. Supples from Montgomery.

Wednesday Card Club Meets.

Mrs. Napoleon Johnson was hostess on last Wednesday afternoon to the members of her Card club. The pacious living room, where three tables for the game of bridge were placed was made bright with baskets of early fall flowers. At the close of a spirited game Mrs. Grady Reynolds held highest score and was presented a deck of cards.

A delightful ice course was served. Mrs. Kyle and Miss Bettie Mullins were guests of the club.

REVIVAL AT BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. S. J. Ezell of the Clanton Baptist church announces that the annual revival at his church will begin next Wednesday, October 10. Rev. W. H. Sledge will do the preaching and will be assisted by Rev. S. R. Jordan who will conduct the singing. The services will last through Saturday, October 20th.

Rev. Ezell issues a cordial invitation to the public to come out to these meetings. Services will be held twice daily, at 3:30 and 7:30 p.m. The place of meeting will be in the Baptist Church Building.

100 R. R. CARS WILL BRING GIANT CIRCUS

Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Add Entire Shipload of Big, New European Features.

Arriving aboard 100 double-length railroad cars forming trains more than one and one-third miles long, and made even greater than in 1922 by the addition of many big, new foreign acts, Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Combined will exhibit at Birmingham Wednesday, Oct. 24.

Those who read the daily papers or who keep in touch with the movie news-reels need not be reminded of the shipload of acts and animals recently imported by the Greatest Show on Earth. The remarkable cargo included two companies of baby elephants are now joined with the forty adults of the mammoth herd. There were also 100 more performing horses accompanied by Europe's greatest trainer, and many wild animals, some of which have been added to the scores upon scores of trained jungle beasts, while others have become part of the marvelous menagerie.

More than a million persons saw the mammoth new circus of 1923 during the weeks that it exhibited in Madison Square Garden, New York. Now this marvelous exhibition is touring the country aboard five great trains. It is a third bigger than the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey show of last season. It is ten times larger than any other circus now on tour.

Big as is this wonder circus of 1923—with its more than thirty trained wild animal displays in steel arenas, fully 200 wonderfully schooled horses, 700 men and women performers, 00 clowns, and scores of features—the price of admission is no more than before. And though the trained animal numbers and the immense horse show were circuses in themselves while touring Europe, they are not offered as separate attractions by the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey combined shows. Instead all are on one gigantic program. Everything is in one mammoth main tent. One ticket admits to all these and to the tremendous double menagerie. There are more than a thousand animals in the zoo of this circus and these include entire families of hippopotami and giraffs. Another remarkable zoological feature is an armored rhinoceros, the only one known to exist and alone worth $50,000.

NOTICE OF THE EXTENSION WORK

During the 1922-23 session, the College at Montevallo gave five extension courses to the teachers of Shelby county. The total enrollment in these courses was 137. It will put on this year a similar type of work for the teachers not only of this county but of other counties in the State.

In addition to the courses given in the various extension centers, the college this year proposes to give a course on the campus. Several requests have been made for such a course, and it is hoped that many of the teachers in Shelby county and adjoining counties may take advantage of it.

The College therefore, extends an invitation to all thhe teachers who are within reach of Montevallo to meet at the college on Saturday, October 6th, at ten o'clock for the purpose of discussing the course desired and arranging for it. If you cannot come at that time but desire to take the course, send in your name to the Director of Extension at the College.

Those teachers who, by geographical location can more conveniently attend these courses at Montevallo may get a transfer from the County Superintendent of Education

CANE CREEK NEWS

A splendid crowd came out to preaching Sunday and a fine sermon was delivered by Rev. F. A. Ellison.

The singing society met at 2:00 o'clock and several hours were spent singing praises to God. The following able directors entertained the audience for fifteen minutes each: Prof. O. L. Devaughn, Prof. O. R. Robinson, Mr. S. M. Yates and Mr. J. A. Cleckler.

Those singing two songs each were: Mrs. Carrie Williamson and Miss Zula Willis.

Organists throughout the afternoon were: Misses Evie Jones and Zula Willis and Mrs. Essie Cleckler.

As the exercises came to a close a beautiful quartett was rendered by Profs. O. L. Devaughn and O. R. Robinson, Mrs. Carrie Williamson and Miss Zula Willis.

Quite a number of visitors were present on this occasion and we extend to them a hearty welcome to be with us again.

Miss Delene Lambert has returned home after an extended visit to her sister in Tuskegee.

Miss Mary Kilgore dined with Miss Zora Miner Sunday.

Miss Evie Jones spent Sunday night with Miss Zula Willis.

Miss Bertha Giles spent Sunday afternoon with Miss Pearl Giles.

Mr. Mallie Giles of Bessemer was visiting friends and relatives here Sunday.

Miss Gay Barnett, who has been visiting Miss Carrie Lee Williamson has returned to her sisters, Mrs. Ervin Williamson near Mineral Springs.

Miss Nora Miner and Miss Zula Willis spent a very pleasant afternoon with friends near Union Grove last week.

Remember Sunday school every Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. Everybody come.

A HAPPY AFTERNOON

The editor of The Union-Banner had the pleasure Tuesday afternoon of going out to the river with Dr. Gragg and taking a ride with him in his motor boat. Dr. Gragg, J. M. Wyatt and the editor loaded up in the doctor's big Buick-Six, and in about an hour got out on the bank of the river at Mims' Ferry just below Lock 12. We fastened the motor on the boat and set sail for the Butting Ram, this point we reached in fifty minutes, having traveled about seven miles. We landed on the Coosa side and taking our guns pomeraded up the mountain side and hunted for about two hours.

When we returned to the boat and started back up the river we found that the wind was rather high, and it was then that we began to realize what a small boat we were in. The waves were leaping sometimes a foot high, and very often they would flop over into the boat. But this didn't get bad enough to become serious at all, yet it caused us to realize what a dangerous thing it might be during a real wind storm.

We arrived back at the Ferry safely, and were not very heavily loaded with game either. But the trip was a very enjoyable one from every standpoint. The doctor has our many thanks for carrying us out on the nice trip.

NEW FORD BID ON MUSCLE SHOALS IS WIDE REPORT

Lamar Jeffers Declares That He Will Try to Learn Names of Those Who Approved the Sale.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 2.—That Henry Ford will submit an amended offer for Muscle Shoals in view of the sale by the government of Gorgas to the Alabama Power Company was widely reported here today and generally believed.

At the same time, no one who has been in communication with Mr. Ford was willing to make a positive statement to that effect.

The Detroit manufacturer, it is said, will have nothing to announce prior to the reconvening of Congress in December, and will then address himself directly to Congress rather than to the Secretary of War. It is said that the will profit from his former experience in submitting his proposition to the Secretary.

Representative Lamar Jeffers of Alabama declared today that he would make an effort to ascertain the names of those telegraphing the Secretary of War some days ago praising him for his action in selling Gorgas to the Alabama Power Company.

"The names of these men should be known," said Mr. Jeffers, "in order that the public might know exactly what reason animated them."

It was said at the White House today that Mr. Ford in December may address himself directly to Congress.

Mr. C. B. Huett of Enterprise was in Clanton Wednesday attending to some matters in the interest of the school at that place.

BETHANY NEWS

As I failed to see any news from this place in the Banner last week, will try to tell you all a few things to let you know that we are not asleep.

Health of this community is fairly good at present. Everybody around here are real busy, trying to get thru picking cotton before school begins.

Miss Mary Hill of near Bethsalem, spent the night with her friend, Miss Maggie Boockholdt Saturday night.

A large part of this community attended the home-coming at Chestnut Creek Sunday.

Rev. B. F. Dykes and family spent Sunday at the home of Mrs. J. M. Dykes.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Morris spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Huett.

All the school pupils of this community are looking and longing for the new school building to be completed, which we think will be some time soon.

Miss Mae Bowles of near Bethsalem spent Sunday with her esteemed friend, Miss Susie Huett.

Mrs. C. B. Huett, accompanied by Mrs. J. W. Cagle was called to Sylacauga Thursday on account of the illness of her daughter, Mrs. A. L. Patterson. We are all glad to know that she is better.

Miss Eunice Jones had as her guests Sunday afternoon Mr. Newton Vinson, and Misses Mae Bowles and Susie Huett.

BIRTHDAY PARTY AT STANTON

Next Friday night is everybody's birthday who lives in and near Stanton, according to the Parent-Teachers Association. So this organization is going to celebrate YOUR birthday at the school building Friday night, Oct. 5th, beginning at 7:00 o'clock. There will be all kinds of fun with refreshments. Be sure to bring a penny for each year old you are. This will be given for benefit of the piano fund.

Why Fear Child-birth

EXPECTANT mothers do not undergo useless suffering any longer, and baby's birth can be made gloriously easier.

Mrs. Wm. Flack, 115 N. 12th St., Leavenworth, Kansas, says: "'Mother's Friend' is the best help in the world for an expectant mother. I am the mother of three children and have found 'Mother's Friend' fine."

"Mother's Friend" is externally applied about the abdomen, back and hips. It penetrates wonderfully, and in this way relaxes the muscles and ligaments to yield easily and readjust themselves to the changes during expectancy and at child-birth.

Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., BA-73, Atlanta, Ga., for free booklet containing valuable information every expectant mother should have.

"Mother's Friend" contains no narcotics or harmful drugs. It is safe. There is no substitute. Avoid useless greases and plain oils. Start using "Mother's Friend" now—the sooner the better. "Mother's Friend" is sold at all good drug stores—everywhere.

HIGHWAY BUILDING TO BE GREATEST INDUSTRY

Trend Shown By Farmer's Need For Increased Hauling.

There are more than six and a quarter million farms in the United States, worth in excess of seventy billions of dollars, a sum in excess of that invested in any other three industries of the country. Any up-to-date farmer tilling more than 80 acres knows that, given a road over which he can travel, he must have a truck or lose money to his competitor who has one. Assuming for the purposes of argument that one-third the farms in America are 80 acres or more, it is obvious that more than two million trucks needed on farms alone.

The present yearly production of trucks is a quarter of a million. The existing number of trucks serving farms is probably not in excess of half a million. The reason why use lags so far behind necessity is the fact that the trucks should travel over two and-a half million miles of road and actually do travel over less than three hundred thousand miles of road, for the good and sufficient reason that only that number of miles are sufficiently improved to make truck hauling economical.

Statistics gathered by the government show that, given a reasonably good road, it costs, per ton mile, 15 cents to haul wheat, 15 cents to haul corn, and 18 cents to haul cotton by truck, whereas by wagon the rates are 30, 33, and 48 cents, respectively.

The American farmer is not a stupid person. Let him once realize how much he can save by a truck and he won't ask for good roads, he will demand at the polls that the United States government give him good roads. He already is asking in no uncertain voice, which is why it can confidently be predicted that the industry of the future which will be the biggest in the United States is neither railroads nor automobile building (the two present leaders, except farming), but road making. When the farmers of the nation insist on having their two and a half million miles of mud tracks made into roads, highway building will become the nation's premier industry.

HUNTING LICENSE

Montgomery, Ala., Sept. 26, 1923.
Editor Union-Banner:

Please publish for the benefit of the public:

There has been no change in hunting license fees nor in the requirements for possessing a hunting license.

1. All hunting licenses are due on October 1st.

2. A county hunting license, authorizing the holder thereof to hunt anywhere in the county in which he resides, costs one ($1.00) dollar.

3. A State hunting license, authorizing the holder thereof to hunt anywhere in the State, costs three ($3.00) dollars.

4. Every person is required to possess a hunting license before he is permitted to hunt on the lands of another person.

5. Every person who hunts on lands other than he owns or rents must, in addition to taking out a hunting license, secure a written permit from the owner of the land on which he desires to hunt.

6. Do not let the game and fish warden catch you without your license and without your written permit.

7. Get your hunting license from your Judge of Probate.

The following laws have been passed by the present legislature, and are now in full force and effect:

The seasonal limit on deer has been placed at five, with only one a day, as heretofore. Female deer are protected at all times.

The bag limit on wild turkey gobblers has been reduced from two to one a day, with a seasonal limit of ten. Wild turkey hens are protected at all times.

The bag limit on quail has been reduced from twenty-five to fifteen, and the open season in the future will be from November 20th to February 20th following.

The State laws have been made to conform with the Federal Statutes, insofar as they relate to migratory game birds and water-fowl.

The dove season, will, therefore, open on October 16th, and close on January 31st following.

(Signed) I. T. QUINN,
Commissioner of Conservation.

WORLD'S GENERAL CONFERENCE 7TH-DAY ADVENTISTS

Seventh-day Adventist clergymen from the states of Alabama, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, and the western half of Tennessee, will go in a party to Milwaukee, Wis., as delegates from the Southern Union Conference to the ten-day convention of the World's General Conference, which will be held October 8 to 18, and to the presidents' convention, which begins on October 5.

Delegates will be present from every state in America, every province in Cnada, Europe, Asia, South America, Mexico and Central America, and problems affecting the denomination throughout the world field will be considered.

Those going from the Southern Union Conference will be under the leadership of Rev. G. W. Wells, the presiding officer for the Union. Others in the delegation will include, Revs. C. B. Stephenson, of Clanton, president of the Alabama Conference; C. W. Curtis, of Louisville, president of thhe Kentucky Conference; W. R. Elliott, of Jackson, Miss., president of the Louisiana-Mississippi Conference; and M. A. Holmster, of Nashville, president of the Tennessee River Conference.

The Southern field will be given special mention at the World's General Conference convention. Plans will be made for the furtherance of the denomination in the South, and also for financial assistance.

Every department of the denomination will be represented in the gathering that will hold forth in the Civic Auditorium. In fact, the convention will be to the Adventists what a convocation of the Board of Bishops is to the Methodist or Episcopal denomination.

During this convention plans will be made for the advancement of the church in foreign countries. Appropriations amounting to several million dollars will be made, and the work in the Publishing, Educational, Medical, Home Missionary, Sabbath-school, Religious Liberty, and Young People's Departments, will be strengthened.

Practically every leader from the administrative offices in Washington, D. C., will be present, together with every union conference and every local conference president in North America. Every state in this country and every province in Canada will be represented, also Mexico, Central America, South America and Europe. It is the most important annual convention held by the denomination, as every part of the world-wide missionary program of the church is considered.

Rev. W. A. Spicer, of Washington, D. C., president of the World's General Conference, will be chairman of the convention; Revs. C. H. Watson, of Washington, D. C., general vice-president; O. Montgomery, of Washington, D. C., vice-president for North America; E. E. Andross, vice-president for Mexico and the Central American States, and L. H. Christian, vice-president for Europe, will be associate chairman.

At the beginning of the convention committees will be appointed to consider financial questions, plans and recommendations for further advancement of the church, the appointment of missionaries to foreign countries and changes in the ministry at home, the advancement of the health feature of the denomination involving 47 sanitariums, and a large number of treatment rooms and other important phases. It will be a business session in the strictest sense from the very beginning until the close.

The European situation will be given much considertaion. The Adventists are making remarkable progress in Europe, but because of the upheaval in the money market, their problems are the more perplexing.

Plans will also be laid to carry the gospel proclaiming the second advent of Christ in this generation to peoples in the Orient and other heathen nations who have never heard the name of the eMssiah.

W. L. BURGAN, Press Secretary,
Takoma Park, Washington, D. C.

A LETTER OF THANKS

My wife has been ill in bed most of the time for six months. I feel that I would like to speak or write personally to every one that contributed to our relief in any way. It was hard for us as it was, but had it not been for our many friends it seems as if we would have gone down in dispair. We never know just how many friends we have till we need them. A friend in need is a friend indeed. Some say the world is going to the bad. Some have gone to the bad but all have not. I want to say for the people in and around Thorsby that a better people never lived. They have contributed to our needs in every way possible, and I shall never forget the good people of Clanton—how they threw open their doors and gave me a cordial invitation and welcome into their homes while my wife spent two weeks in the Central Alabama Hospital at Clanton, and for the many friends who came to cheer her up, and for the good and kind treatment given her by Doctor Gragg and the kind nurses while at the hospital.

Why go elsewhere for treatment when you can get as good at the Central Alabama Hospital at Clanton as anywhere?

I hope you will accept this as a personal letter of thanks to everyone who helped us financialy and otherwise. May God's richest bessings abide upon you and yours. When I can serve you, call on me.

W. P. Lowery and Family.

THE OLD RELIABLE

It Takes Lots of Money To Run A Railroad

Few people—even good business men—know the tremendous amount of money it takes to run a railroad. The items of equipment, extensions, upkeep and operation make a total far greater than the casual estimate that would be made by those uninformed as to railroading; and the item of taxes is one which is generally overlooked entirely.

The railroads of this country have not been getting enough money from traffic earnings to meet expenses and provide for the extensions and improvements in service which the public demands and has a right to expect.

The railroads must have more money, in order to meet the traffic requirements; and, to get this money they must have the confidence and co-operation of the public. The L. & N. Railroad joins the other railroads in asking that you consider the facts in the case before reaching any unwarranted conclusions based on wrong information. We are giving you the facts in these newspaper advertisements. Please read them.

A modern locomotive costs $60,000, an increase of 328% over 1913; a freight car costs $2,800, an increase of 300% over 1913. The L. & N., in 1922, paid out for taxes alone 45% of its net income, as compared with 20% in 1913.

The Legislature of Alabama adjourned last Friday. Some critics say that is the best thing they have done.

The second choice primary law in Alabama is still in force. This law can have only one purpose and that is to give the voters the privilege of killing their own vote. This is another of our modern Southern solid Democratic tricks to deceive the voters.

Compare the results of President Harding's limitation of armaments conference with the results of all the sessions of the League of Nations and tell us which has accomplished the most good for the world in the promotion of peace. By their fruits ye shall know them.

Governor Walton of Oklahoma prevented the Legislature of that state from convening last week. Now they are trying to have a state-wide election to impeach the governor, but Walton says that they are not going to have it. It seems that that state is getting its business kindly crossed up.

To be on the police force in Clanton is no play job. For a man to hold down that job successfully he has to use the grit of a lion and the strength of Hercules. But go to it boys, it's a position somebody has to fill. Stay by your duty no matter what the lawless element does and says.

When you go to buy your automobile tag this year you might as well go and hire you a lawyer the first thing, because there is more red tape attached to it now than any reasonably thinking man can comprehend.

What do you say of a person when he puts himself up before the public and praises himself for never making a mistake? You at once come to the conclusion that he will bear watching. This rule will apply to a group of men the same as it does to an individual.

The DeKalb Republican, edited by W. M. Wyatt, is making an energetic fight against the Democratic strong hold in Alabama. Editor Wyatt has been for the past year closely associated with the political machine in Montgomery and he is on the inside of a lot of their crooked manipulations. We say to the Republican that we glory in their honorable stand for justice in the Land of Cotton. If we had a hundred more such publications in Alabama we would have a more decent state government.

The new police force is breaking into alleged law violators who have never been bothered heretofore. And we wish to commend them for their fearless execution of the laws of our town. Although they probably kindly shoot off hand some times, everybody should realize that their intention is only to do their duty as officers of the law, and that they are going to perform their duty regardless of who they may come into contact with. We only wish to urge them on into executing every statue and ordinance that it is their duty to enforce, and we say as we did last week that every law-abiding citizen should back them up in the performance of their duty.

MADE AND SOLD

Automobile production for the first eight months of this year exceeded the figure for the entire year of 1922 and also of 1921. The machines turned out were not stored but sold to users. The record is an accurate index of the great increase in the purchasing power of the people under the wise economic policies of the Republican administration.

THE CITY ELECTION

On next Tuesday, October 9th, the Town of Clanton will hold an election to determine whether or not the majority of the qualified voters of the town want the poll and billiard parlors prohibited in Clanton. Also a vote will be taken on whether or not we shall have hog pens within the corporate limits.

These two questions are of vital importance, and we are indeed glad that the city officials have seen fit to submit these matters to a vote of the people. Both the matters to be voted on directly touch the welfare of our town, and we feel that they are matters which should have the attention of every citizen.

As we have said before, The Union-Banner is opposed to pool and billiard parlors, because we believe they furnish a bad environment for the young men of our community. Of course it might be possible for a pool room to be run without being an injury to the general morality of the place, but we have got our first one of this kind to see or hear about

As for the pig pens, will say that the prohibiton of them would be a blessing to our town. These things are verw disagreeable and besides they are very injurious to the health of the community.

The city officials did well so far as they went, but it seems to us that they ought to have entered another clause prohibiting the use of open dry closets. These things are a greater menace than the pig pens. But we suppose they intend to get to that later, we hope so at least.

So everybody come out next Tuesday and vote for these two ordinances, and when we get a chance at the open closets let's knock them higher than a kite.

HIS EGO STILL HUSKY

Washington, Sept. 29.—The Wilson idea of a government 'safe for democracy' is illustrated in the former President's letter to a Tennessee politician: 'I regarded Mr. Shields during my administration as one of the least trustworthy of my professed supporters.' The ego stands out as usual. One-man government is held up as the ideal.

There is no charge that Senator Shields was disloyal to the government, that he neglected his duties, or that he was corrupt. His sole offense was that he did not prove to be unfailingly dependable as a follower of Woodrow Wilson. "The State! I am the State," is the Wilsonian theory.

Apparently the sole basis for the criticism aimed by the former dictator against his party associate is that Shields refused to vote to ratify the peace treaty with its league of nations incubus. Senator Shields declined to yield to the Wilson demand that the United States make the "supreme sacrifice."

For all practical purposes the league issue is dead in the United States and, for that matter, throughout the world. Although the United States would not go into a league controlled by a few European nations and certain to cater to the interest of those nations, this country hoped that the league might be of some service in straightening out European quarrels. We put no obstacles in its path and wished it success. It has fallen so far short of usefulness in the controversies where it was really offered an opportunity that even its friends have lost confidence in its efficacy as a promoter of peace.

Since the league issue is dead, it would be better if its American advocates would leave it out of current discussion. The letter written by Mr Wilson to the Democrats of Tennessee demonstrates that there is no such intention and that the league will be made a part of the Democratic campaign of 1924 if possible.

Notwithstanding Senator Shields was sound on the question of the supreme sacrifice, there are abundant reasons why he should be retired at the end of his present term and be succeeded by a Republican. That, however, is not what the former President wants. He desires the nomination of a Democratic candidate who will yield his own judgment to the judgment of the executive. He wants a Senate made up of rubber stamps.

The Republican Administration has taken the lead in world peace by its successful limitation of armaments conference; it has practiced economy and reduced Federal taxation; it did everything that could possibly be done to relieve the misfortunes of the farmers; it enacted an America-first tariff law that has not been prohibitive in its effects; it has secured a satisfactory understanding with Mexico; it has started the railroads on the way to recovery from the destructiveness of government operation; it has followed policies that ended unemployment and gave jobs to 4,000,000 idle men; it brought Liberty Bonds back nearly to par after a depression of 15 per cent; it has suggested the only practical plan for the adjustment of the reparations dispute.

The record is one that should be endorsed by the people of Tennessee by the election of a Republican to the Senate.

HULL'S BULL

Chairman Hull of the Democratic National Committee scores the farmer relief legislation enacted by the Republicans of the last Congress. Mr. Hull's criticism is not well directed. It is true that Republican votes put through the farm relief program, but only after it had been passed upon and approved by all of those who were most active as the farmers' friends. The so-called "farm bloc" in Congress took a leading part in initiating and perfecting that legislation, and it represented the consensus of opinion of all those who had the best interests of the farmers at heart. So when Mr. Hull arraigns the Republicans for their farm legislation he brings an indicement against all those who have been aiding the farmers' welfare. It is unlikely that the farmers will reject those who have been working for them in the past, merely because of the partisan attacks of Chairman Hull.

ISOLATION THEORY A FALLACY

In connection with the report that American tourists will spend $700,000,000 in Europe this year, the Detroit "Saturday night" very appropriately remarks that this is "just one more proof that the theory of American isolation and aloofness from the affairs of Europe is a fallacy." The theory is certainly a fallacy, for in reality there has been neither isolation nor aloofness. We are no more isolated now than we have been all the time since the Revolution. We are no more isolated from Europe than we are from Asia. We are isolated from Europe more than from South America in only one respect—we have set up the doctrine that territorial aggression by a transoceanic nation against one of the South American nations will be looked upon as an act of unfriendliness toward the United States. We set that doctrine up for our own protection—not for any purpose of isolation.

The Detroit "Saturday Night" is correct. The thory which certain internationalists have disseminated, that the United States is isolated, is a fallacy. It is misrepresentation. It is a slander against the United States. It is political buncombe.

The United States is not isolated, never has been, and never will be.

But we are not making any "supreme sacrfices" as proposed by Mr. Wilson.

MIGHT HAVE BEEN WORSE

Farmers are dissatisfied with prices for their wheat but they are appalled when they think how much lower the price would be if the Republican Congress had not enacted a tariff that shuts out Canadian grain. Millers would be glad of the opportunity to buy at the lower prices quoted for the Canadian product. In any event, a larger supply in the American market would inevitably depress the price still further.

ABOUT SECURING LICENSES

All parties will have to go to Tax Assessor and Tax Collector, assess their car and pay tax on it before I can issue license on same.

They will then have to make out application for title before some officer and file with me before I can issue them a title to their car.

It is a violation of the law to run a car without a title.

You will have to have motor number and serial number.

You have until the last day of October to take out business licenses. After this date you are liable for an extra fee.

You have until November the 15th to take out Auto license. After this date you are liable for an extra fee.

I hope all will come as early as you can, to avoid the rush at the last day.

Where you have business license for last year they will be the same. You can send for them by mail, with proper remittance. Auto license are the same as last year except trucks, they are higher.

Respectfully,
L. H. REYNOLDS,
Judge of Probate.

THANKS VISITORS

We, the people of the Poor House wish to thank all who visited us last Sunday and spoke the encouraging words to us.

We also thank Judge Reynolds for his good talk to us old people.

Thanks to Uncle Dock Wells who came and preached to us. May God bless you all.

Mr. James W. Lowe, who has been in Fort Payne for the past several months, is back in Clanton. Yes, they'll all come back sooner or later.

The Value of Land Abstracts

It is not safe to buy land or to lend money and accept land as security without first investigating the title of the land. Often there are unpaid mortgages, judgments, or other liens affecting the title, which an abstract would set out. Therefore, when buying land or lending money thereon, it is important that an abstract of title be furnished. A few dollars spent for an abstract is cheaper than going ahead and having a law suit a little later on.

The Public and Alabama Power Company
"Tell the Public"

Keeping Faith

In the first of a series of advertisements now appearing in newspapers of the State, we expressed our desire—

" * * to create a closer relationship between our organization and the public which it serves; to promote and foster a better understanding of our activities and their effect upon the economic and industrial life of Alabama; and to develop a more pronounced spirit of co-operation in the upbuilding of our State."*

Before publication of these advertisements the people of Alabama, as a whole, were little acquainted with the purposes, scope and activities of the Alabama Power Company; and there were some inclined to be skeptical as to the sincerity of our purpose to "Tell the Public."

Throughout the State this advertising has created much favorable comment. People are becoming more acquainted with the plans and operations of the Alabama Power Company—they are becoming convinced that the Company is carrying forward a progressive program of development in a clean, above-board and constructive manner. The marked change in public sentiment toward the Company is sure to redound to greater achievements and a greater State.

We owe it to more than 6,000 Alabamians who have invested more than $10,000,000 in our securities, and to more than one million people of the State who are directly affected by our service, to keep them informed as to their Company's activities, ambitions and purposes.

That we may continue to merit the good will of the people of Alabama, that it may be the means of making ours a greater State, it is our purpose at all times to keep them informed regarding our activities.

81,000 TONS OF GORGAS COAL, STANDING GUARD OVER ALABAMA'S HOMES AND INDUSTRIES, READY TO "GO!" WHEN OUR RIVERS CALL FOR HELP.

This immense pile of Alabama coal was dug from the Alabama Power Company's mine in the back-yard of the Gorgas Steam Plant. In order to insure continuous service the year around, the Power Company has on hand today more than 130,000 tons of stored energy..

When Alabama's rivers are low, this coal is shot into the Power Company's eight reserve steam plants, each a silent sentinel watching over the State's progress and prosperity. The Gorgas plant alone furnishes more than 50 percent. of the power used in Alabama during the seasons of drought.

SOCIETY AND PERSONALS

Mrs. R. E. Luckie, Editor

Spend-the-Day Party Enjoyed.

A most enjoyable affair of last week was a spend-the-day party given by Mrs. John Armstrong to the members of the Wednesday Sewing club and extra guests.

The home was attractive with various garden flowers, while exquisite rose buds graced the center of the dining table from which a bounteous four-course dinner was served. Covers were laid for Rev. and Mrs. C. C. Wilkerson, Mrs. Mallie White, Mrs. Bama Cox, Mrs. Macy Jones, Mrs. R. E. Luckie, Mrs. Watts Moore, Mrs. Hugh Simpson, Mrs. Kate Haynes, Mrs. O. O. Roper, Mrs. J. Q. Wade, Mrs. Clyde Jones, and Mr. John Armstrong.

Philathia S. S. Class Meets.

Mrs. Macy Jones was a lovely hostess on last Friday afternoon to the members of the Philathia S. S. class. The guests were entertained on the spacious porch made attractive with flowering geraniums and ferns. In the absence of the president, Mrs. Barney Roberts presided, opening with the reading of the 18th chapter of 1st Samuel, followed with prayer by Mrs. Wilkerson. The subject for the afternoon's discussion was "David." After a brief business session during which it was decided to do away with programs, only on special occasion and just hold business and social meetings once a month.

The topics discussed by the class were the jealousy of soul and how David twice spared the life of Saul, David in the wilderness by Mrs. John Armstrong. Afterwards a tempting salad plate with grape frappe was served.

Luncheon For Visitor.

A pretty affair of Saturday was a bridge luncheon given by Mrs. Hugh Jones paying special courtesy to her house guest, Mrs. Supples of Montgomery.

Attractive centers of water lillies were arranged on each table and a lovely luncheon served at the close of the game. The score prize, an angel food cake was won by Mrs. Kyle, and the guest of honor was given a dainty hand embroidered towel.

I have a fine high polished piana that cost $475.00, just been in use three years. I haven't any use for it at all and will sell it at a bargain for cash, or will trade it for a 5-passenger Ford car that is in good shape all around. I will give someone a bargain that is interested. Come to Jemison, Ala., and inquire for G. W. Lewis. I live one mile east of Jemison. 10-4-2t-pd.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS IN BRIEF

A Weekly Review of the More Important Activities of the Alabama Legislature.

By OLIVER S. MORTON, JR.

The quadrennial session of the Alabama Legislature automatically ended at midnight, Friday, September 28th. In reality the sessions came to a close near 1 o'clock Saturday morning, the lawmakers having turned the hands of the clock back to allow the finishing touches to be made to a vast amount of last minute legislation.

In spite of the speed and dispatch injected into the closing sessions, the Legislature adjourned with a large number of bills untouched on its calendar. No measures of big importance were hadnled during the last hours, it requiring the best efforts of the two houses to clean slate of the jagged ends of bills already voted in order that these might become law.

The largest number of the major bills was disposed of before the last two weeks' sessions and a multitude of changes in various methods and procedures of government functions resulted thereby. A brief survey of the work of the Legislature may prove interesting.

The thing of first importance to the greater number of people—the taxpayers—is the new revenue bill. The bill passed during the first weeks of the sessions brings several changes in the administration of revenues. No one can say yet whether taxes will be reduced or increased under it. Governor Brandon's administration pledged to the reduction of taxation and economy in expenditures, early in the sessions presented to the lawmakers figures showing that the state treasury was facing a deficit and calling upon the Legislature to enact additional revenue measures to cover. A storm greeted the appearance of the general revenue bill in the House, but after a long fight the major portion of it was adopted.

In addition, the Legislature made an increase in the franchise tax on corporations, raising the rate from sixty cents a thousand to one dollar a thousand; imposed a tax of fifty cents on each five hundred dollars represented by deeds filed for record in the offices of the probate judges; and imposed a registration fee of one dollar upon all automobile owners, the fee to be collected for a certificate of ownership which must be issued by the probate judge.

Not a state office was abolished by the Legislature. The salaries of a few were increased and none were decreased. The administration pledge to abolish the office of tax adjuster was carried out, but deputy tax assessors were created in each county. The deputy tax assessors will secure their tithe through a percentage on personal property which has escaped taxation and which they succeed in placing on the tax books.

Despite some doubt that existed throughout the sessions as to the disposition of the state law enforcement department the campaign pledge to strictly enforce the prohibition laws was translated into an additional appropriation of $50,000 for carrying on the work. The extra appropriation will only be available on the approval of the governor.

The new state code, prepared by the recess committee, was adopted after a fight had flared in both houses.

The agricultural code, also prepared by a recess committee, was accepted. The measure consolidated the agricultural laws already on the books and brought into the code much legislation of the type long adopted in the most advanced agricultural states. A new board of agriculture was craated. This body completely revised the administration of agricultural affairs in the state and the claim has been made by those in a position to know how the new code will work out that it will place Alabama in the ranks with the most advanced states in agricultural work. Machinery in the bill provides for agricultural research, extension work for co-operative marketing, soil improvement and for the proper inspection of food, feed, drugs, seed, nursery stock, fertilizers, etc.

The personnel of the new agricultural commission has been named as follows: Senator W. F. Garth, of Madison county; Representatives S. M. Dunwoody, of Henry County; R. H. Hatter, of Greene county, and R. J. Goode, of Wilcox county, together with Clifton Kirkpatrick, of Dallas county, the only member of the board not a member of the legislature. Two other members, provided by a section of the code, will be the State Commissioner of Agriculture J. M. Moore and the director of the experiment station at Auburn, Dan T. Gray.

The old highway commission of twelve members was abolished and a new commission composed of three members provided for. The appointments have already meen made. They are: John A. Rogers, of Gainesville; J. H. Scruggs, of Birmingham, and J. F. Suttle, of Marion. Mr. Rogers and Mr. Scruggs succeed themselves on the board.

The Port Enabling Act, considered one of the most important bits of legislation transacted in the halls in years creates a new Docks Commission to succeed the old Harbors Board. The appointments to the Docks Commission are as follows: George G. Crawford, of Birmingham; Former Governor Charles Henderson, of Troy, and J. G. Blair, of Tuscaloosa.

Under the Post Enabling Act the Legislature has provided for the construction of terminals and other facilities at the water front in Mobile. Five million dollars will be provided for the first projects with another five million to come if the new state property should return a certain percentage of profit. The funds will be raised through a state bond issue.

The present prohibition laws of the state were retained without any change.

The pensions of Confederate veterans were doubled.

Appropriations for educational purposes were not reduced, nor were they increased. Present appropriations were made for other state institutions.

Aside from a few other general bills of little consequence to the majority of the people of the state, the foregoing was about all the Legislature accomplished outside of the multitude of local bills affecting counties and cities.

The quadrennial session, just closed, saw many storm centers. Most of the squally sessions came over bills that failed to carry. A review of these is interesting.

The convict leasing fight which began a few days after the opening of the adjourned session was perhaps the outstanding trouble center. Efforts were made by the anti-lease forces to reconsider the vote made at the winter session extending the state convict lease system to December, 1926. This move was defeated when both houses voted not to consider any convict lease legislation during the session. But the anti-lease leaders did not cease their efforts to project the question into the deliberations. Bill after bill was engineered with an effort at forcing the issue upon the Legislature. All met with defeat but not until a vast amount of time had been consumed in debate and a wholesale sentiment over the question aroused.

The Sunday blue law legislation was next in the spotlight. Like the lease question, the Sunday legislation was projected into many heated debates and was brought before the houses in one way or the other every few days during the session. Senator Bonner led the fight for the blue laws. His first bill to close all motion picture shows and baseball games on the Sabbath met with defeat by the slim margin of one vote in the Senate. In the House the efforts of Representative Mike Sollie to revive the bill met with failure. Another bill by Senator Bonner providing for certain Sunday regulation was also defeated, as were other measures by other solons calling for various kinds of Sunday closings.

Tax exemptions carried a storm whenever they broke upon either house. The Overton measure was perhaps the hardest problem tackled. The measure provided for exemption from taxation for new textile mills for a certain number of years after the site of the mill had been decided upon. The vote on the bill in the Senate was a tie and Lieutenant-Governor McDowell was forved to give his vote. He voted against the measure and it was defeated. A somewhat similar bill by Senator Powell was passed.

The severance tax bill, the double primary bill, and the bill providing that county superintendents be elected by direct vote instead of being appointed by the county boards of education were all defeated by the assemblage.

A joint resolution was adopted in both House and Senate Tuesday, September 25th, calling upon Governor Brandon to extend the greetings of the lawmaking bodies to President Obregon and the Congress of Mexico. The resolution was offered first in the Senate by Senator John Craft, of Mobile.

Governor Brandon, Wednesday afternoon, September 26th, concurred in the action of the Legislature in asking Henry Ford to continue his efforts to secure Muscle Shoals. The governor sent Mr. Ford a message including the resolutions adopted by the Legislature urging him to make a modification in his bid for the power site.

The bill providing that the number of county registrars shall be reduced from three to one, was defeated Tuesday, September 25th, when the Senate refused to take the bill from the adverse calendar.

Governor Brandon, Tuesday, September 25th, attached his name to a bill repealing the code section which levied a penalty of twenty-five per cent against all fire insurance companies which are members of a tariff association.

The Senate has concurred in the appointment of trustees for the Mt. Meigs reform school for negro youths. F. J. Cramton, W. H. Thomas, Cornelia Bowen and Lillian Dungee to serve until January, 1929; while Simon Gassenheimer, M. B. Houghton and A. F. Owen are to serve until January, 1931.

The House has conucrred in the bill from the Senate to change the name of the state board of convict supervisors to the "State Board of Administration."

POOR ORIGINAL

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. NORTON, Manager)

Last Sunday night Rev. James W. Davenport, pastor of Thorsby Congregational church, preached a forceful sermon from the text "For I Am Not Ashamed of the Gospel of Jesus Christ." Having become generally known that this would be the closing service of Rev. Davenport's pastorate, which has extended over a period of more than five years, the house was well filled.

At the close of this service another meeting was held which had been called for the purpose of giving the people of Thorsby and vicinity opportunity to give expression to their sentiments in condensed form. The results gave evidence of general regret at losing from Thorsby a man so universally loved because of his kindly character and Christian service, shared by all the people of the community whether members of his church or not.

Besides members of the church others who spoke were: Miss Helen C. Jenkins, for Thorsby Institute; Prof. C. M. Williams, a Presbyterian for Thorsby public school; State Senator Sam Adams and Rev. W. P. Lowery, Baptist ministers resident in Thorsby; Rev. N. A. Long, a Congregational minister living in Thorsby and serving four churches in Thorsby district; Mr. Jm Pate, representing the Christian denomination and Mr. M. J. Soberg for the Lutherans. Rev. Lowery said: "This is the first time I ever attended a funeral before the man was dead." Referring to the eulogies expressed in the remarks made, Rev. Davenport replied: "I very much doubt if any casket could be secured to hold a man if he could hear such talk about him as we have heard tonight." A resolution, prepared by Rev. E. W. Butler was presented and unanimously adopted by rising vote.

Rev. Charles W. Snyder, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. J. K. Snyder, arrived in Thorsby, from Ohio, on Monday morning. They will remain in Thorsby several days, mostly at the Snyder homestead, while closing up matters connected with the estate and personal property of the late J. K. Snyder. Rev. Snyder was formerly a beloved pastor of Thorsby Congregational church, and we are pleased to announce that he will conduct the morning service at that church at 11 o'clock next Sunday, Oct. 7th.

Mrs. Hattie M. Gerald, who has spent the summer with Miss Elizabeth Hoopes, formerly of Thorsby, but now living at Hendersonville, N. C., returned to Thorsby last Monday evening. Mrs. Gerald and her four daughters have been greatly missed in our community for several months, and it looks now as if it would be a long time, if ever, before they will all be here together again. Only the youngest, Iola, a student in Thorsby Institute is with her now. Ruth and Mary Ella are at college and Agnes is teaching in North Carolina.

Mr. Fred Howard was distributing samples of Japanese persimmons, a very delicious fruit, when fully ripe. He has 250 young trees now two years old and bearing only a few this year, but if all goes well there will be a considerable crop next year. Mr. Howard has demonstrated that peaches can be profitably grown in Thorsby. His orchard is one of Thorsby's show places in summer, and people come from far and near to buy his peaches.

Some additional students have been enrolled each week since the opening week of Thorsby Institute.

Thursday the Senior class elected the following officers:

Codie Bell, President; Laura Darby, Vice-President; Lillian McKee, Secretary; Spurgeon Kelley, Treasurer.

The Chapel period the first Monday in the month is given to the consideration of the life of a noted hymn writer. On last Monday Ben Brown gave a very interesting sketch of Bisop Ken, the author of the Doxology.

After a visit of three weeks with Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Norton, Mrs. W. C. Payne, Mrs. Norton's sister, has gone to Tryon, N. C., to visit Miss Lenore Goodwin, another sister, and other friends in the vicinity before returning to her home at Fairhope, Ala.

Mrs. W. C. Wilson was quite seriously burned on her arms last Saturday by the explosion of the small tank of gasoline heated iron with which she was ironing.

Mrs. Conway, mother of Mrs. Harry Thompson is reported to be very ill.

Mr. W. H. Goodgame says there is lots of cotton coming to their gin and the weather has been so favorable to gathering the crop that it comes in fine condition.

Prof. Williams reports 160 enrolled in Thorsby public school, making it necessary to turn away some others who want in.

The Congregational Ladies' Aid Society will be entertained on Thursday afternoon, Oct. 4th at the home of Mrs. R. A. Turner.

The Lutheran Ladies' Aid Society succeeded in securing a fine lot of clothing to be sent to the desitute in Germany.

Mr. Forrest Glenn, a former student of T. I., who is now attending Sidney Lanier High school at Montgomery, was a guest of Thorsby Institute last week.

Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Petersen motored to Montevallo last Sunday.

Overcoming Handicaps

The great demand for an educated ministry, among all denom nations is manifest in the attitude of some Thorsby Institute students who are making heroic effort to secure, even when beyond legal school age, some addition to the meager education they were able to obtain in childhood and youth. For two years past Mr. Benjamin Dykes, a Baptist minister, although married and having one or two children, and serving several churches, attended Thorsby Institute quite regularly until he had gained sufficient credits to enable his to enter Howard College where he is now a student.

This year there is three ministers from as manw denom nations and each with family cares, and churches to serve, who have ambition enough to take on the necessary work to secure more education than they have with a view to becoming better fitted for their chosen profession.

Rev. N. A. Long is a Congregational minister living in Thorsby. He has a wife and four children; serves four churches, each once a month; has just commenced teaching a six months term as principal of Cross Roads school, and with it all is studying and taking examinations at Thorsby Institute that when completed will fit him for entrance to college or Theological Seminary churche regularly, who is also carrying studies at Thorsby Institute to fit himself for further educational development. Mr. Durbin lives in Thorsby.

Another ambitious young man is Mr. G. B. Golden, a Methodist Protestant minister living ten miles from Thorsby at Walnut Creek, where one of his churches is located. Another is Archie Chapel, a third, Shady Grove, and a fourth, Cedar Grove. Mr. Golden is not only a regular attendant at Thorsby Institute but he brings along two of his four daughters, who are in some of the classes with himself.

Can any one doubt that such zeal for knowledge backed by a holy purpose to be better fitted to serve in a high calling will develop in these men a strength that will be of great help to them in the years to come.

We might say in passing that they find at Thorsby Institute a spirit of sympathy and helpfulness that gives them encouragement to surmount the handicaps which confront them.

Rev. J. W. Davenport, who with his family leave Thorsby this week, is a living exponent of what a man may do in the matter of education which has been denied him in childhood and youth. He stated publicly last Sunday night that he had arrived at the age of 24 before he had much opportunity for schooling. When he felt a call to the ministry he went to a school of about the same character as Thorsby Institute and stayed there until he graduated. Then went to Atlanta Theological Seminary, where he took the full course and graduated. Today he is among the notable preachers of the South, and because of his humble origin and surroundings in boyhood and early manhood he has a sympathy that makes him a friend to everybody.

Miss Ruth Teel has gone to Montgomery to go to work. She left Monday afternoon.

THE TEACHERS INSTITUTE

The Chilton County Teachers Institute was held at the high school building Friday and Saturday. Mrs. J. Alex Moore was supposed to conduct the institute, but on account of illness she could not be present, so Mrs. Ohme of Birmingham acted in her stead. There were in all 140 teachers present.

Two extension courses from Jacksonville and from the University of Alabama were organized. The purpose of these courses is to take the place of the reading circle work, but besides furnishing the same credit as the reading circle furnishes, it also gives the teachers taking it credit on normal school work. There were 79 teachers who applied for the Jacksonville courses and 25 for the University course. These courses will be given by teachers fro mthe above named schools at the county high school two or three Saturdays in each month. Not more than 15 teachers in the county will take the regular reading circle work since these extension courses have been made available.

The teachers were greatly honored by the presence Friday of Prof. Claude R. Wood, who is now director of the extension department of the State Normal School at Jacksonville. Prof. Wood will be remembered as first assistant of the Chilton County High School during Prof. McDonald's first year as principal here. Mr. Wood's many friends were glad to see him again.

We were not able to procure a detailed report of the institute, but from all reports it was a very profitable and instructive one from every standpoint. It proved not only a source of much enlightenment to the teachers but one of wholesome amusement as well.

HOSPITAL DIRECTORS HOLD REGULAR MONTHLY MEET

On Sept. 24th the directors of the Central Alabama Hospital met in their regular monthly meeting.

There were present Directors J. Q. Wade, M. A. Gore, M. L. White and Dr. V. J. Gragg, Pres., and Dr. T. J. Marcus, Sec.

The visiting hours, 9:00 to 11:30 a.m.; 3:00 to 5:30 p.m., and 7:00 to 8:30 p.m. were readopted as before. It is now becoming thoroughly understood by the public that there must necessarily be some stated period or time for the patients to have meals, treatments, baths, etc., and have their rooms arranged and cleaned, as well as some rest for the patient, and that can best be done when there is not a crowded house.

However, it is understood that when a patient is critically ill, a relative or friend will be gladly allowed to remain at al hours.

When peope insist on staying when there is no need of so doing, they will be charged 50c for a cot or bed.

The purchase of new lights for the operating room was approved and rearrangements of the kitchen and dining room as well as some bedrooms were approved.

The directors ordered the purchase of eight new modern hospital beds to be installed in addition to what is already in use. These beds are now already ordered and will be placed in the hospital as soon as received from the factory.

SINGING AT THE COUNTY FARM

As per invitation of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Gentry, the Harp and Harmony singers gathered at the County Farm Sunday. It was an enjoyable occasion. T. J. Jackson was chairman. Several directors were present,—J. N. Scott, J. W. Morris, W. L. Jackson, T. J. Baker, J. Bice, W. L. Sanders, T. J. Jackson and Miss Era Sanders.

The people gave marked attention to the service. Attendance was good.

Judge Reynolds was present and delivered a short pointed address, in which he eulogized the old grey headed people of the rural districts as the hope of our country. Judge Reynolds is a wide-awake, far-seeing official, of which all the people can be proud. The judge had a collection for "Uncle Dock Wells," and received several dollars.

Dinner was a bounty, rich and all that could be desired.

We are sure the inmates of the Home enjoyed the occasion,—an opportunity to live over the days of their youth, while they linger this side the setting sun. Mr. Gentry made all feel at home. It will be a service long remembered.

NOTICE

The young people's quarterly council of Unity Association will meet with the Clanton Baptist church Saturday, October 6th. Program beginning at 10 o'clock. All the organizations are expected to be present.

Why be Feeble?

ADVANCING years should not mean the approach of a period of dependency—of crutches and canes—of worry, care and fatigue!

Don't dread the days ahead! Be prepared to grapple with the henchmen of Old Age—with rheumatism—with undermined health—with feebleness. The system that is free from impurities—through which rich red blood thrives need not worry about advancing years. Enlist the aid of S. S. S.—the builder of red blood cells—to fight off the infirmities of Old Age.

With the aid of S. S. S. when you reach this stage of life the nerve power that has been built up by ever increasing blood cells—the vim and vigor of youth that you possess will capably enable you to enjoy the advantages of passing years, while others less fortunate are feeble and dependent.

S. S. S. for nearly a century has been serving as a valuable and time honored assistant in the fight for hale and hearty Old Age. It is made only of pure vegetable ingredients and is sold at all good drug stores. The large size bottle is the more economical.

STATEMENT

Of the Ownership, Management, Circulation, etc., Required by the Act of Congress of August 24, 1912, of The Union-Banner, published weekly at Clanton, Alabama, for October 1st, 1923.

State of Alabama Chilton County.

Before me, a clerk of the Circuit Court, in and for the State and county aforesaid, personally appeared T. E. Wyatt, who, having been duly sworn according to law, deposes and says that he is the Editor and Publisher of The Union-Banner, and that the following is, to the best of his knowledge and belief, a true statement of the ownership, management, etc., of the aforesaid publication for the date shown in the above caption, required by the Act of August 24, 1912, embodied in section 443, Postal Laws and Regulations, printed on the reverse of this form, to-wit:

1. That the names and addresses of the publisher, editor, managing editor, and business managers are:

Publisher, T. E. Wyatt, Clanton, Ala.

Editor, T. E. Wyatt, Clanton, Ala.

2. That the owners are:
W. M. Wyatt, Fort Payne, Ala.
T. E. Wyatt, Clanton, Ala.

3. That the known bondholders mortgagees, and other security holders owning or holding 1 per cent or more of total amount of bonds, mortgages, or other securities are:

First National Bank, Clanton, Ala.
Metgenthaler Linotype Co., Brooklyn, N. Y.
American Type Founders Co., Atlanta, Ga.

4. That the two paragraphs next above, giving the names of the owners, stockholders, and security holders, if any, contain not only the list of stockholders and security holders as they appear upon the books of the company but also, in cases where the stockholder or security holder appears upon the books of the company as trustee or in any other fiduciary relation, the name of the person or corporaton for whom such trustee is acting, is given; also that the said two paragraphs contain statements embracing affiant's full knowledge and belief as to the circumstances and conditions under whch stockholders and security holders who do not appear upon the books of the company as trustees, hold stock and securities in a capacity other than that of a bona fide owner; and this affiant has no reason to believe that any other person, association, or corporation has any interest direct or indirect in the said stock, bonds, or other securities than as so stated by him.

TOO MUCH OF A GOOD THING

"It is six years since I had my first stomach trouble. It rapidly grew worse. My food would not digest and I was reduced to skin and bone. My doctor put me on a starvation diet, and when my pains grew worse I concluded it was too much of a good thing. On the advice of my druggist I tried Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and am now entirely well." It is a simple, harmless prepaartion that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Alred Drug Co., and druggists everywhere.

HAGENBECK-WALLACE AT SELMA OCT 12TH

Fresh from a triumphant tour of the big cities during the winter months, where for the first time in circus history, a three ring "white top" organization was presented intact, the Carl Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus, comes to Selma for two performances, afternoon and night, and free street parade on Friday, Oct. 12th.

Never before has a circus appeared in the winter months, until the past winter, when the Hagenbeck show with its full quota of rings and staged invaded such metropolitan centers as Chicago, Kansas City, St. Louis, St. Paul, Milwaukee, Cleveland and other big towns, using the big buildings and the Coliseums.

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat of December 5th had the following to say of the Hagenbeck show:

"Five thousand spectators enjoyed the opening performance of the Carl Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus at the Coliseum last night. The time honored three ring presented all of the old and a number of new features. Apparently not one thriller has been omitted and several new ones inserted by the circus management. There were many clowns, so many of them, that they formed a show in itself."

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch, also of December 5th, in its review said among many things:

"The program of the Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus now appearing at the Coliseum contains sufficient attractions to satisfy the most circus hungry—hazardous horsemanship, wild animal acts, funny clowns, aerial numbers in great profusion. The circus has all the trimmings that go with a big show, and St. Louis amusement lovers who attend are sure to find everything that has been advertised and more."

DO YOU FEEL TIRED AFTER EATING?

A tired, nervous feeling may be a sign of poisons in your system which prevent proper digestion. Food turns into more poison and gas, making you nervous and weak. Simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adlerika, expels poisons and gas from BOTH upper and lower bowel. Removes old matter you never thought was in your system which poisoned stomach and made you tired and nervous. Adlerika is EXCELLENT to guard against appendicitis. Upchurch Drug Co.

A Wish

"I have taken Cardui for run-down, worn-out condition, nervousness and sleeplessness, and I was weak, too," says Mrs. Silvie Estes, of Jennings, Okla. "Cardui did me just lots of good—so much that I gave it to my daughter. She complained of a soreness in her sides and back. She took three bottles of

CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

and her condition was much better.

"We have lived here, near Jennings, for 26 years, and now we have our own home in town. I have had to work pretty hard, as this country wasn't built up, and it made it hard for us.

"I WISH I could tell weak women of Cardui—the medicine that helped give me the strength to go on and do my work."

W. M. U. MEETING

The annual meeting of W. M. U. Unity Association met with the Billingsley Baptist Church, September 24, 1923. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Grady Broadhead, Supt. The devotional service was conducted by Mrs. Dyer. Welcome address by Mrs. Hughes. Response by Miss Ethel Mize. The Association officers made splendid reports of the past year's work. It was our pleasure to have with us our new Corresponding Secretary Treasurer, Mrs. Ida Stallworth. Her personality is truly a joy and inspiration to the Christian. She clearly exemplified the highest type of womanhood in the possession of a splendid intellect and a life completely consecrated to the service of her Master. She presented with conviction her subject Stewardship. We were also very fortunate in having with us Mrs. Mary Curd Allen, Superintendent of Bibb Association and who has just returned from the Baptist World Alliance in Stockholm, who made a very interesting talk on Associational efficiency.

A delightful social hour was spent at noon enjoying the feast of good things prepared by our good ladies of Billingsley.

The afternoon program followed the noon hour. The devotional was conducted by Mrs. J. Z. Mims. We showed a splendid representation. Samaria W. M. S. was awarded the attendance Banner.

The following officers were elected for the epsuing year: Supt. Mrs. Grady Broadhead, Clanton, Ala.; Assistant Supt. Mrs. S. J. Ezell, Clanton; Sec.-Treas. Mrs. G. C. Harris, Clanton; Stewardship Mrs. J. E. Gowan, Clanton; Associational Organizer Mrs. W. H. Strock, Verbena; Personal Service Mrs. W. C. Dyer, Stanton; Mission Study-Librarian Mrs. J. A. Hester, Clanton; Young Peoples Counselor Mrs. Lester Gilbert, Marbury; Supt. First District Mrs. F. A. Shanks, Maplesville; Second District Mrs. E. E. Upchurch Clanton; Third District Mrs. J. C. Hughes, Billingsley; Fourth District Mrs. J. D. Griffin, Marbury.

Mrs. Allen spoke again telling of her trip to Stockholm which was a treat to the audience. Mrs. Barbour Young Peoples Counselor of Bibb Association, spoke on the young peoples work.

The meeting was dismissed with prayer by Dr. S. J. Ezell.

MRS. G. C. HARRIS, Sec.

ORDER FOR PUBLICATION TO NON-RESIDENT

The State of Alabama, Chilton County. Circuit Court. In Equity.

Irvin Treace, Complaint, vs. Marie Trease, Defendant.

In this cause it is made to appear to the Register by the affidavit of Omar Reynolds, that the Defendant is a non-resident, and that his place of residence and post-office address is unknown, and that such address cannot be ascertained after reasonable effort; and, further, that, in the belief of said affiant, the Defendant is of the age of twenty-one years:

It is, therefore, ordered by the Register that publication be made in the Union-Banner, a newspaper published in the County of Chilton, once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring her the said Marie Treace, to plead, answer, or demur to the bill of complaint in this cause by the 4th day of November, 1923, or, in thirty days thereafter, a decree pro confesso may be taken against her.

Done at office in Clanton, this 2nd day of October, 1923.

W. D. SPIGENER,
Register.

Mr. J. T. Weldon of Birmingham was in to see us Monday. Jesse is an old friend of the editor. We used to go to school together when Dr. Gragg taught at Pinedale about fifteen years ago. Jesse is the son of Peter Weldon of Route 1.

HOSPITAL NEWS

Mrs. Nannie Crichton was able to go home last week.

Dr. C. N. Parnell of Maplesville brought a patient over last week.

Mrs. Hester was operated on last week.

Nellie Hayes who was operated on for appendicitis went home Sunday.

Jim Roberts, who has been in the hospital several weeks, returned home Monday.

Mrs. Frank Callen and son are doing well.

Mrs. H. L. Atchison has returned home.

Mr. W. J. Gore, who had his legs crushed by some falling timbers, was sent to Central Alabama Hospital by Dr. Lawrence of Calera, Friday.

Ida Mae, daughter of our hustling merchant, W. T. Bean was operated on for tonsilitis Thursday, returning home next day.

ENTERPRISE HIGH SCHOOL

Everything is moving along nicely. The school is expected to start about the 14th. We have been delayed on account of the builder of the house having to go home to his wife. She has been very ill. Hope she is better by now. We want to thank the good people all over the county for their help on building the nice school at Enterprise. We want to make it a welcome place for every free hearted person. I am sorry to say, but we have some in our district that can't see it necessary to pay one dollar. Nevertheless their children are welcome to the building. The chieldren are not to blame. I want to state a few free hearted men out of the district that showed a warm heart—Mr. W. T. Murry of Verbena gave us a check for one hundred dollars; also Mr. Deramus and Mr. Benton, one hundred each; Mr. Oliver of Verbena Bank showed us a warm heart after the banks of Clanton turned us down. It makes me feel like if we of Enterprise have any spending money, give it to those merchants of Verbena, and if you have any left leave it with The Verbena Bank as they have been so nice to us.

Everybody come to the rally at the school house about the 12th of Oct. Guess you will see the ad in the paper somewhere in regard to it.

CANE CREEK NEWS

Our Sunday school is progressing very nicely, although on account of so many singings last Sunday, there were not many present, but we hope to have more next Sunday.

Several from this community visited the singing at the county poor house Sunday, and reported a nice time.

Miss Hermie Gentry spent Sunday p.m. with Misses Sara and Delene Lambert.

Mr. Mallie Giles spent Saturday night and Sunday with home folks here.

Mr. Thila Fiering from Chicago spent last week with his daughters, Mrs. Lula and Nola Giles and other relatives and friends around here.

Mrs. Ross Mahan spent Saturday night with Mrs. Mollie Gentry.

Mr. A. Burnett, who has been working at Pelham, visited home folks Saturday night and Sunday.

Mrs. Lula Giles returned home Saturday night from a short visit to Attalla.

Miss Mary Killgore spent Sunday with Miss Maggie Giles.

Next Saturday and Sunday is our regular preaching days. Everybody come.

Mr. W. S. Clark of Mt. Creek was in Clanton Saturday to attend the street show.

Selma Suffers Biggest Blaze In 25 Years

Flames Bring Total Loss Of $185,000 To Lumber Company And Road.

Selma, Ala., Oct. 8.—A general alarm of fire, unusual in Selma, rang from the high tower at city hall Sunday night and in composite tones told the populace that the town was suffering a fire loss, perhaps the biggest in its history, certainly the largest within the last quarter of a century. The flames first licked up and totally wiped out the entire branch of the Central Alabama Lumber company, located on the line of the Southern Railroad company, comprising the planing, dressing and sawmills with the dry kilns of the plant, together with the entire stock of lumber in each, and also the lumber on the general yards of the company. Then jumping 200 yards down the Southern track, the flames destroyed 3,200 otns of coal and the $45,000 structure of the Southern coal chute. The total loss is estimated by Fire Chief Blakely to be $185,000. The loss of the railroad is placed at $90,000 and that of the lumber corporation at about $95,000.

Eleven cars loaded and standing in the chute to be unloaded were consumed and metal parts of the cars are now hanging fro mthe iron and steel girders of the structure like grim skeletons, relics of the terrible heat. All of the lumber plant was consumed except a small commissary and a storehouse where the company's hardwood products were kept.

The scene of the fire was considerably beyond the city limits and the firemen were never able to get more than one stream of water on the fire and that through a line of hose reaching 1,900 feet to the nearest hydrant. Chief Blakely says providence alone kept three nozlemen from being asphyxiated and then roasted by the dense carbonized smoke and the intolerable heat of the burning coal. The wind shifted, he said, "and we dragged the boys into the air and crisp cold of the night."

Several railroad men were injured, though not seriously, in the excitement and din of engines and bells and loading and moving cars of all sorts of commodities out of the danger zone. The burned coal chute stood in the general yard of the Southern Railroad company where 100 cars were standing, some for unloading here and some for points elsewhere. None of these cars or their contents were injured.

The huge mass of coal is still burning and will smolder and flare up for some time to come.

CHICAGO POLICE CHIEF ISSUES DRASTIC ORDERS

Orders to stop liquor traffic in Chicago or get off the force have been given to the police by Chief Morgan A. Collins.

The police raided more than a dozen saloons in one day under orders to make the city "as dry as the Arizona desert." While the fight against illicit liquor dealers within the city's gates waxed warm, federal prohibition officers starter to mop up Chicago's environs with a raid on the Joliet Products Company at Joliet, where 1,300 barrels of alleged real beer and 500 barrels of near beer were seized and the manager arrested.—Dispatch from Chicago in New York Times.

LETTER FROM CHINA

On board the President Lincoln,
Sept. 6, 1923.

Dear Friends in Chilton County:-

It has been a full year since I wrote you anything. The last time I wrote I never dreamed it would be so long before I would write again. But we sometimes get so busy at other things that we do not have the time or inclination to write as much as we would like to.

It has been a very busy year with me. Have spent the year in Peking and Tsingtau in North China. Because I am taking up the work of Sunday school Secretary for all of China it seemed necessary for me to learn the mandarin dialect of Chinese which is spoken in more or less modified forms by about three hundred million of the Chinese people. For a beginning in the study of mandarin we went to Pekng where the most popular mandarin is spoken. After a few months in the language school in Peking we moved to Tsngtau and contnued the study of mandarn and began to do some work among our Baptist churches there. About half the Baptist Christians we have in China are in Shantung. Living there for some months gave us a fine opportunity to know the Chinese and missionaries working there and to help out a little in the Sunday school work.

As I write we are on a big American ship going from Shanghai back to Canton. We had meant to locate in Shanghai, but because of severe sickness on the part of some missionaries in Canton it has become necessary for us to go back there and take charge of the China Baptist Publication Society.

During the year we have spent in North China we have seen and heard many interesting things. At some other time I shall try to write about them. Peking is one of the most interesting cities in the world. It is so old that it makes us feel very young in America. Tsingtau is the place which the Germans had before the world war and lost it to the Japanese. As a result of the Washington Conference, it has been given back to the Chinese and now they are trying to run the city. I think they will succeed well with it.

Trusting I shall have time to write again soon, I am,

As ever,
J. TOY WILLIAMS.

BIG SALE AT THE LEADER

Mr. Maurice Lande, manager of The Leader, again comes forward with a big sale of fall merchandise. He has in his store more goods than he knows what to do with except to sell, and he is offering them at very attractive prices. We are this week carrying a big advertisement for him, which will be interesting news to those who are going to buy merchandise for fall use. Read the big double-page red-ink advertisement in this weeks Union-Banner.

FRANK THOMPSON BACK HOME

Frank Thompson, who was hit by No. 4 while crossing the railroad at Clanton some time since and was carried to Birmingham for hospital attention, was released from the hospital and returned home last Thursday afternoon. Frank is not yet able to stand on his feet, but he is improving fast, and we hope in a few days will be able to walk again.

Mr. A. L. Robinson, member of the county board of education was in Clanton a while Monday morning.

LOCAL PAPER IS BIG FACTOR FOR PROGRESS

Prof. Duncan Gives Editors Much Credit For Alabama Agricultural Achievements.

Auburn, Ala., Oct. 8.—In a retrospection of agricultural progress along organization and marketing lines during the last two years in Alabama, Prof. L. N. Duncan, Director of the Extension Service, declares that "the local paper has played a very important part."

Prof. Duncan says that "during and since the membership campaign local papers have cooperated freely, knowing that greater agricultural prosperity would bring greater business to them." But, above hopes of future rewards, "Alabama editor have cooperated from an altruistic standpoint, and, more than this, the local editor does more, in proportion to his means, for the development of his own town and county than any other individual. His annual contribution to community development is large, and no other individual or agency can contribute the service rendered by the local paper."

On the other hand, Prof. Duncan declares that "It is to the advantage of farmers to support their local papers, not only by subscribing for them, which all should do, but by using them as a medium, through advertising columns, to help in selling their products. A small advertisement in the local paper, at a cost of a fraction of a dollar, has brought a market to many farmers for their surplus hogs, poultry, and other livestocks, as well as seed and other products, which probably would not have been sold if the local paper had not been used."

NEW CHRISTIAN CHURCH

The new Clanton Church of Christ is practically completed. All that is now lacking on the building is the windows and doors and the papering. But the building will not be papered until the ceiling is given time to shrink. This building is a nice one and does much credit to the good and industrious men who are behind it. It shows that the Christians of this community mean business and that they are going to give their denomination a show in Clanton.

The revival in this church will begin on Sunday, October 21. Elder Price Billingsley of Columbia, Tenn., will do the preaching, and the singing will be conducted by Prof. J. D. Patton of Birmingham. Everybody has a cordial invitation to attend these services, which will continue for two weeks.

POOL ROOMS AND PIG PENS ABOLISHED VOTE OF 10 TO 1

Municipal Election Tuesday Shows How People Feel Toward Pool Rooms And Pig Pens.

The Town Council of Clanton called an election to determine whether or not the people of the town wanted pool rooms and pig pens within the corporate limits or not, and we suppose that the vote which was cast Monday is conclusive evidence that the people figure they can manage to get along without these two commodities.

The count on the pool room question showed that 16 voted to keep pool rooms while 182 voted to abolish them. 30 voted to keep pig pens and 155 voted to abolish them.

The town council had it in their power to issue the ordinance prohibiting these things, but they acted very wisely in submitting the matters to the people of the town before they took action on them. Now the council can go ahead with their work in prohibiting these things with the assurance that the citizens are behind them. We are indeed grateful to the mayor and council for the fair way in which these municipal laws were made effective. It shows that their intention is to do what the people who elected them want done, and this is a wise and laudable idea.

The ordinance, as voted upon, will become effective January 1, 1924. This will give ample time for those who now have pool rooms or pig pens in their possession to dispose of them. This is only one more step Clanton has taken toward civilization and moral refinement, and we are indeed glad to see it.

NEW STATE ROAD BODY MEETS FOR INITIAL SESSION

Brandon Favors Giving Highway Projects To Counties Which Have None.

Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 8.—The new state highway commission held its first session here this afternoon. The meeting was given over to a consideration by the commission of laws governing its operation and no action was taken on specific matters of business or policy. The commission was in conference during the afternoon with Governor Brandon. Governor Brandon stated today that he will favor a program having for its objective the giving of highway projects to the counties which as yet have none. The new commission will be on duty continuously as the law requires that it devote its entire time to the highway work.—Birmingham Age-Herald.

UNCLE DOCK WELLS AT CRAGFORD, ALA.

Cragford, Ala., Oct. 7, 1923.

Dear Editor Union-Banner:

Allow me a little space in the good old Banner. I am to-day 150 miles from Clanton. I came to Sylacauga last week and one of my neices, Eudlin Bean, was married last Tuesday to a Mr. Owens, and he owns a fine car and they brought me in their car to Cragford, Ala., to my son-in-law's, D. A. Lodge, on the A. B & A. R. R., north line of Alabama and Georgia. I am well at present and am having a nice time. I am expecting to be in a good meeting here at this place. When I leave here I will go to Birmingham and from there to Blocton, Ala., to visit some more of my children. It will take me one month to get around, so I hope none of my friends around Clanton will die or get married before I get back to Clanton.

Yours for the Banner.
UNCLE DOCK WELLS.

STATE U. F. of A. MOVES OFFICE

Mr. A. B. Baxley, state manager of the United Farmers of America announces that his office is now located up stairs in the new Hayes Building on Seventh Street. Of course, the county office of the organization remains in the Canning Factory building.

THE FIGHTING FIFTY

The Lynchburg, Virginia, "News" owned by Senator Carter Glass, Dem., severely criticizes that portion of the Red Cross address of President Coolidge in which the President commended the practical idealism of the United States as illustrated by our many achievements, particularly our going to the rescue of Europe, and when the victory has been won, "retired from the field unencumbered by spoils, independent, unattached, unbought." As one of the recognized spokesmen of the Democratic party, Mr. Glass still thinks that the United States should have joined the League of Nations in order to "make the world secure for peace and safe for democracy."

There are some fifty nations now in the League. If they were disposed to secure peace and if it were possible for a league such as that to make the world safe for democracy, these ends would have been accomplished long ago. The United States interposed no obstacles. The fact is that these nations do not want peace and they are not agreed in wanting the world safe for democracy. They do, however, want to get the United States into a position where this country can be compelled to pay the cost of the war and bear the burden of settling the disputes growing out of the rivalries which still constitute the basis for a lack of peace or desire for peace.

No man has higher ideals than President Coolidge. But he has enough practical common sense to know that the league as constituted was not an agency for securing peace and, moreover, would have deprived the United States of its independence.

As the United States has in the past used not only its moral influence but the force of its arms in the interest of justice, so it stands ready to pursue a similar course in the future. But, as President Harding said, we must be the judges of the time and place and manner in which our influence shall be exerted and our force made active.

That question we cannot leave to determination of nations which are still demonstrating their unwillingness to lay down their arms and take up the tools of peaceful production.

HOME COMING OF CLANTON PRINTERS

The first of this week saw the presence of a goodly portion of the old stand-by printers who had their beginning in The Banner office. Mr. Jim Lows, who has been in Fort Payne for four months took up his old job with The Union-Banner, and the same day Mr. J. B. Wells, who has been in Tuscaloosa for the past two years took up a job with our neighbor, The Chilton County News. Of course, Mr. E. C. Powell, has been back with The Union-Banner now for several months.

It is rather amusing how they circle around and around and finally finish their circle and settle back home. But the rule works almost invariably. And too, when the editor got to the office Monday morning he found already on hand a good old printer-friend, Tom Ogletree of Prattville. Tom is a good old friend of The Banner, he having worked for us a while several years ago when Frank Crichton was at the helm of this paper. Mr. Ogletree, however, was not here to stay. He just came up to spend Sunday with us, and went back to Prattville Monday.

New Prohi Director Takes Charge in Ala.

Judge A. W. Hargett Will Direct The Alabama Dry Forces.

Judge A. W. Hargett of Russellville, former probate judge of Franklin county Monday was appointed director of prohibition for the state of Alabama, according to advices reaching Birmingham from Commissioner Roy B. Haynes. Judge Hargett succeeds Judge Charles M. Sartain of Jasper, who resigned the post on June 30, this year.

Several applications for the directorship had been received by Edgar N. Read, temporary director, following the agitation in the department when indictments of four members, including W. B. Ford, former assistant director, one office clerk and two field agents for infringments on the national prohibition law were returned by the last federal grand jury.

Many delays had been experienced in the appointment of the director, owing to the absence of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, and the sickness of Commissioner Haynes. Mr. Read left Birmingham Friday afternoon for Washington, where he was to discuss he entire Alabama situation with Commissioner Haynes, with a special reference to the appointment of a director. His conference was also to discuss methods for enforcement of prohibition which he would like to recommend.

Read, it was stated, will return to Birmingham within the next few days, and remain here until Judge Hargett is thoroughly familiar with the work. During his connection in the department, following the resignation of Judge Sartain, Mr. Read has made many changes in the working system of the enforcement.

The small force has been one of the handicaps in the department, Mr. Read stated before he left for Washington. Recommendations that the new agents to be appointed be at least high school or college graduates, was also expected to have been brought up at the conferences and Read stated the government wanted men of high type, who not only know how to locate whiskey, but who could dissemnate evidence, and understand how to make out good reports.

Now that the new director has been appointed it is expected that work of reorganization of the state prohibition forces would be begun immediately upon the arrival of Read from Washington and Judge Hargett from Russellville and that the department would be functioning effectively before Christmas.

APPOINTS DYCHE PROHIBITION AGENT

Commissioner Haynes announces the appointment of J. E. Dyche of Oklahoma City, Okla., as a general prohibition agent, to be assigned to Division Thirteen, under the supervsion of Divisional Chief A. R. Harris.

Mr. Dyche, who is retiring October 1, as Warden of the Federal Penitentiary at Atlanta, Georgia, which position he has held for over two years, comes into his new responsibilities as a man of splendid traning and preparation. He will assume his new duties about November 1.

SIGNS OF SUCCESS

It is said that early in life success expands the hat-band. Later in life it usually expands the waist-band. Possibly so.

But these are not the only signs of success. There is the comfortable feeling that provision is made for old age, that the comforts of life may be had, that children may be educated, that you may travel occasionally. It's fine. Who will succeed? Only those who lay a careful foundation by forming a saving habit and keep their funds in a safe Bank like ours.

Shower For Bride.

On last Friday afternoon the doors to the hospitable home of Mrs. Guy Higgins were thrown open to a caterie of friends, the occasion being a Linen Shower for Miss Maud Mullins. Punch was served from a prettily decorated table on the spacious porch by Misses Sara Mullins and Elizabeth Smith. Mrs. Hayes, Mrs. Watts Moore and Miss Bettie Mullins greeted the guests and were presented to the receiving line composed of Mrs. Guy Higgins, Miss Maud Mullins, Mrs. Carrie Mullins, Mrs. Eric Hart, Miss Kathleen Mullins and Mrs. Ross Mullins. Bowls and cerytal vases held lovely rose buds and adorned the entire apartments. Music was furnished by Miss Beverly Hester, accompanied by Mrs. Jatie Middleton, on the violin. In the dining room Mrs. Mallie White, Mrs. P. T. Hinkle and Miss Marion Sea Wright presided. Here the many useful and dainty linens were on display. The guests were registered and extended good wishes to the bride in a book presided over by Mrs. J. C. Jones. From here they were carried to the back porch converted into a veritable Japanese garden lighted with Japanese lanterns, and were served brick cream and cake by the little Jap maids, Misses Hilda Hart, Cathryn Hayes and Frances Higgins. About a hundred guests called during the afternoon.

LANIER-MULLINS WEDDING

A wedding around which was centered a great deal of interest was that of Miss Maud Mullins and William Hayden Lanier, of Tallasee, was beautifuly solemnized on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at the First Baptist church. Dr. S. J. Ezell officiating in his usual impressive manner.

White and green were the chosen colors and the church was artistically decorated in a profusion of palms, ferns and southern smilax. To the rear of the rostrum were tredlses entwined with smilax and white chrysanthumums. Immediately over the bridal party was a canopy from which was suspended dainty white wedding bells. Tall wicker vases held fragrant pink rose buds and ferns. Before the ceremony Mr. Percy Pitts and Mrs. Mildred White Wallace sang "Love's old sweet song." Mrs. Jatie Middleton presiding at the Piano. Mr. Pitts also sang, "I will hold you in my arms."

To the strains of bridal choros from Lohengren the bridal party entered the church led by the ushers, Messrs Henry Martin, Irby Deramus, C. Fenn Jones and Glover C. Walker, crossing at the alter. Next came the groom's men attending with the bride's maids who were Leon Mullins and Omar Reynolds and Miss Mary Fuller from Perryville, wearing white georgette and Miss Beverly Hester wearing orchid georgetted with trimmings of crystal beads. They carried arm clusters of Mrs. Kilby's roses. Mrs. Eric Hart, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a white beaded georgette and carried arm cluster of pink rose buds. Miss Kathleen Mullins, maid of honor, was attired in a green beaded flat crepe and carried a shower boquet of Mrs. Kilby's Roses. Little Misses Cathryn Hayes and Frances Higgins, lovely in pink georgette frocks, carried baskets of rose petals tied with pink tulle proceeded with the bride. Dainty little Hilda Hart in a lovely frock of green georgette carried the ring in the heart of a rose acted as ring bearer.

Miss Mulins was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. C. Reese Mullins, and were met at the alter by the groom and his best man, Mr. John Deramus.

The bride wore an exqusite gown of white duchess satin trimmed with pearls. Her veil of tulle was caught at the hair with orange blossoms and formed a court train. She carried a brides boquet of roses showered with valley lillies.

During the ceremony Mrs. Wallace sang sottly "My Promise," and the impressive ring ceremony was used. Immediately afterwards a beautiful reception was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Higgins.

After a brief wedding trip the couple will reside at Tallasee where Mr. Lanier holds a responsible position with the Alabama Power Company. Miss Mullins is the daughter of Mrs. Carrie Mullins and her charming personality has won for her a host of friends who regret her marriage will cause her to live elsewhere.

THE THORSBY LEADER, Thorsby, Ala.

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. NORTON, Manager)

A very pleasant social event occurred last Saturday night when the faculty and boarding students of Thorsby Institute gave a surprise party to Mr. and Mrs. Carl Tissall, who occupys rooms at the boys dormitory. Mr. Tissall is a member of T. I. faculty, who brought his young wife with him. Mrs. Tissall has a pleasing personality and is fast making friends among the faculty and students, who were glad of this opportunity to get better acquainted.

The evening was spent with games under the direction of Miss Fairbanks and in lieu of refreshments a large pie, which filled a big dish pan, was presented to the bride. The top of the pie was composed of sawdust but a closer inspection revealed the "filling" to be composed of a lot of things that a newlywed will find it mighty handy to have in the house.

While Mrs. Tisall is not a member of T. I. faculty, she is proving very helpful by "Filling in" where the scarcity of time among the teaching force to do all that is to be done, having had teaching experience.

We would suggest that our Thorsby people will find it very much worth while to cultivate the acquaintance of both Mr. and Mrs. Tisall.

We are pleased to announce that Mr. Waldemar Lefstead, who is studying to prepare himself for Bible teaching in a college, will conduct the morning service in the Congregational church at 11 o'clock Sunday, October 14th. The subject of his address will be "Retirement For Rest." Mark 6-31. "Come ye apart into a desert place and rest awhile."

Helen Keller (Thorsby Institute) Literary Society, has elected officers for the first semester as follows:

Gresham Lowery, President; Plato Deason, Vice-President; Lois Primm, Secretary; and Medie Swilley, Custodian.

Miss Helen C. Jenkins, Principal of Thorsby Institute, has been elected a delegate to the National Council of Congregational Church, and will leave on Friday of this week to attend the meetings of that body Oct. 16th to 19th at Springfield, Mass.

It is not many years since any one with a broken leg was elected to stay in bed for about six weeks while the injured member, done up in splints, slowly knit together the severed bone or bones. Last Friday Rev. Charles W. Snyder, of Lebanon, Ohio, who came to Thorsby the previous Monday with his mother, Mrs. J. K. Snyder, for the purpose of closing up the affairs and closing out the effects of the late J. K. Snyder, received a kick from a horse that broke his right leg near the ankle. Dr. Mastin was called to attend the case. We saw Mr. Snyder a couple of days later, a scantling was used as a truss and mounted from head to foot of the bed was used to support a sling which held the injured leg suspended. Mr. Snyder told us that he expected to be out in a few days with his leg in a plaster cast, which means that a thick coating qof plaster paris is made to entirely cover, while soft, the injured part. This quickly becomes hard and rigid as apiece of drain tile, firming holding the leg and foot in a proper position to heal and yet not so tight as to prevent circulation of the blood. Having thus secured and protected the fracture a sling supported from the shoulder carries the wounded leg and foot free from the ground and the patient is at once convalescent and can go almost anywhere with the aid of crutches. Thus equipped Mr. Snyder was able within ten days to go to Elmoer, and two or three days later return to his home in Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert W. Peterson and family came from Hanceville to spend the week-end with the parents of each in Thorsby.

Mr. Harry Peterson has secured a very desirable position with the L. & N. Railway at Decatur, Ala.

Mrs. Nels Peterson and children left Sunday morning for a two weeks visit with her parents at West Point, Ga.

Mrs. W. H. Wilson, who was seriously burned a few days ago is slowly improving, but will probably be confined to her bed for tbout two weeks yet.

Coach Lefstead has posted athletic rules. Special attention is given to the division on eligibility.

Miss May Stoddard, who for six years was a member of Thorsby Institute faculty, and also a zealous worker for community betterment, has sent us a very interesting account of what a consolidated school has done for one Iowa community. Miss Stoddard lived for many years in Iowa, received her education there and taught in their schools before coming to Alabama, hence she still maintains a deep interest in both Iowa and Alabama. The article she sends is written by Mr. W. H. Ray, Superintendent of schools at Tipton, Iowa:

"Like the other 400 consolidated schools in Iowa, the school at Tipton was organized and is being maintained to give all the children of all the people equal educational advantages. The consolidated school is a plan of co-operation between the farmers and the town or city, the people of their community or trading center, to give all of the children the advantages of a modern and up-to-date school.

Under the old plan the country child who lived a mile and a half or more from a town or city was doomed to walk to a one room school, poorly heated, poorly lighted and poorly ventilated. To spend the best part of his young and active school period with a young, untrained and inexperienced teacher, in an ungraded system where the school spirit is close to zero, to get the bare rudiments of a sixth grade education, while his city cousin, or future sweetheart has all the advantages of a modern city school and a twelve year course.

This district includes the city of Tipton, the county seat of Cedar county, and nineteen independent rural districts Thus a city of nearly 3,000 population has combined its property with nearly 50,000 acres of high priced farm land, into a taxing unit for maintaining a good school.

This has enabled the new district to close up eighteen rural schools, and to employ motor busses and wagons to transport the students to one well organized central school in the city. The regrading and organizing has greatly increased the efficiency of the school, and at the same time reduced the cost of teaching by an amount that nearly pays for the transportation of all rural grade pupils.

Instead of one teacher trying to handle eight grades and thirty or more classes each day, the new plan provides for a specially trained kindertan teachers to look after all pupils their first year in school. This is followed by a regular graded twelve year course, where all teachers are college or normal school graduates, with special teachers or supervisors of music, penmanship, drawing, domestic science, manual training, physicial and vocational education.

In this centralized school junior and senior high schools are maintained A school nurse looks after the health of all pupils, a hot lunch is served to all rural pupils, and kindergarten pupils are given an hours sleep at noon during intermission. All pupils have access to a gymnasium, and a fine city library is open to country children as well as to those who happen to live in the city.

Iowa is an agricultural state about the size of Alabama. Did you note that the school described is one of 400 within the state that are of a similiar character. We are glad to know that Alabama is not wholly without consolidated schools and we predict that they will grow in numbers and efficiency at a rapid rate because our boys and girls are just as worthy of education as those of any other state. We hope the people of Thorsby and vicinity will seek all information possible on this subject and be willing to co-operate in forming a consolidated school at the earliest opportunity.

Thorsby Institute is observing "Fire Prevention Week" by chapel talks, essays and fire drills.

MAPLESVILLE NOTES

As I haven't seen any news from this place in quite awhile, thought I'd write a few items.

Sunday was preaching day at the Methodist church. Bro. A. V. Jones delivering two able sermons.

We think the new school building will soon be finished. The work is going on nicely, and we hope to be teaching there before always.

Miss Ethel Mize left Saturday for Union Grove where she began teaching Monday. Ethel will be missed by every one because she was such a promising young lady. Most of all she will be missed in Sunday school and B. Y. P. U.

Mr. Sam Christian of Orrville spent Sunday with relatives.

Mrs. Eva McAfee is spending this week with parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Seals.

Mrs. Wheeler Walker will leave Wednesday for Tuscaloosa where she will attend school.

Mr. and Mrs. Huff Cash of Lawley spent the week-end with relatives here.

Mr. G. A. Coleman and family spent Sunday at Mitchell Dam.

Mr. Julian Merchant of Centerville was a week-end visitor here.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Murry of Straven spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Perry.

The friends of little Ruth Mize are glad to hear of her recovering from recent illness.

There will be prayer meeting every Wednesday evening at the Baptist church. We would like to see more people come out.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Seals spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Seals.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawton Duncan of Tallasee were visiting parents a few days. Mrs. Duncan was the lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Foshee before her marriage.

Mr. Robert Waldrop from north Alabama is going to school here.

The profound silence of President Coolidge on national politics is kindly alarming to Washington. But that is Coolidge's own individual way of doing things. He talks little and does much.

If Governor Walton ever gets after the criminals of Oklahoma as vigorously as he has after the members of the Legislature and the publishers of newspapers, it is a safe bet that the State will be cleaned up.

The New York World adheres to its Democratic ideas of news values —it gave first page, first column, to exploitation of Governor Walton and a stick of type on an inside page to President Coolidge's proclamation of education week.

Former Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, who was a candidate for the Republican nomination for president last time, is kindly feeling around among the voters again. No doubt, he would accept the nomination next year should it be tendered him.

Governor Jack (Iron Man) Walton of Oklahoma, it seems, has about seen his day. Governor Walton has everything in Oklahoma going his way except the people, and that makes his road a rather hard one to travel. When this man balked against the Ku Klux Klan he found that he was facing not one "iron man" but thousands of them.

WHISKEY IN CLANTON

Although the sheriff and deputies of Chilton County and the police force of the Town of Clanton have made good headway against the bootlegging business around Clanton, there is still all sorts of it going on around here yet. It is indeed a pitable sight to see half a dozen young men on the streets of Clanton on Sunday so drunk till they don't know whether they are dead or alive, and at the same time for some two or three to be lying out in the edge of town in the weeds so drunk that they are absolutely dead to the world. This condition is no worse than prevailed here last Sunday.

The police was forced to place under arrest Sunday two young men who, if they would let liquor alone would have the respect of the best people in Clanton But these two boys together with several others of their like are letting whiskey absolutely drag them down into the dust and mire of the earth. And who is to blame for this outrage? Of course the young men themselves ought to know better than to drink it themselves, but we all know the effects of whiskey. When an habitual indulger gets a chance to drink he will take it regardless. So, the one really responsible for these condition in Clanton and every where else is the contemptible bootlegger who brings this drug here and sells it to our young men. The gallows would be none too good for such persons.

Our officers are doing all they can to stop this traffic, but they have go a big job before them. All the good people of our town and county ought to take a hand in this matter. The salvation of our country depends upon the expelling of the bootlegger from our midst.

The Ku Klux Klan of Clanton distributed a circular on the streets of Clanton Monday urging the voters of the town to vote for the abolishing of pool rooms within the town. Although we feel that this was unnecessary, we wish to commend that organization for their boldness in standing out for the right.

The time has come in Clanton when times are going to be made hot for those who do not respect law and order. We have a set of men in charge of affairs who are going to see that the laws of the town are not ignored, and that those who see fit to abuse these laws are justly dealt with Thanks be to God for this kind of officers, and may their efforts be augmented by the help of the other good people of the community.

SALE OF THE GORGAS PLANT TO THE ALABAMA POWER CO.

In their comment on the action of the United States government in selling its interest in the Gorgas steam plant to the Alabama Power Company, the Manufacturers Record voices the sentiment of the unbiased populace of the American nation. Alabama went crazy over Henry Ford, and of course, lost sight of right and justice and everything except John Henry, but the mass of the people of the whole country see the matter just as the Manufacturers Record puts it:

"In closing the contract with the Alabama Power Company the Secretary of War has stood for integrity of contracts, and that is worth infinitely more to the people of this country than would have been the purchase of the entire Muscle Shoals situation by Mr. Henry Ford. With all due respect to Mr. Ford's phenomenal industrial development operations, and to his amazing genius as a business man, the Manufacturers Record would far prefer that he should never come into the South for the establishment of a plant than that his coming should be based on the violation by the Government of legal and moral obligations. Maintenance of honor in the observance of a contract by the Government, as by individuals, is worth far more to national honor, and ultimately national wealth than a "short cut" to supposed wealth by violating contracts.'

WHERE YOU CAN HELP

W have gone so far on several occasions as to tell the people of different towns and communities that any town or community can have just the kind of law enforcement for which that town or community is willing to stand. If the officers of the town, from mayor down, let it be known generally that they will not stand for lawlessness and that any violators who might be apprehended will be vigorously prosecuted, it will go a long way toward law enforcement. In the event that the officer of the town are not men of this type there should be a strong, active law and order society, or a strong W. C. T. U., which would demand law observance and strict law enforcement and let it be known that as an organization they propose to assist officers in every way possible to apprehend violators and would insist that they be prosecuted to the limit, the bootleggers would realize that public sentiment in that town would be against them and they would not be so bold in the plying of that infamous trade and there would not be nearly so many to take a chance at violating the law.

LEATHER EXPORTS

According to Department of Commerce figures the first eight month of 1923 proved more satisfactory to the exporters of leather manufactured goods than the same period of 1922, as in 1923 nearly $15,000 000 worth of these goods were consigned to foreign markets, an increase of something like $5,000,000 over the value of the goods exported from January 1 to August 31, 1922 The 1923 exports included the following items: Men's boots and shoes, $6 650,000—an increase of $3,000 000; women's boots and shoes, $3,600 00—increase $500,000; children's boot and shoes, $1,561,000 — increase $600,000; slippers, $194,000—increase $114,000; athletic and sporting shoes, $113,000—increase $20 000; harness and saddlery, $491,00—increase $340,000; bags and suit cases, $170,000—increase $40 000 belting $1,077,000—increase $160,000.

Gloves and pocketbooks and purse were the only items in the leather schedule showing decreases in exports. There are several explanations for this, but probably the best one is that the country has been so prosperous since the passage of the Republican tariff law in September 1922, that the home demand outstripped the supply and left nothing to increase expert. Everybody was at work, therefore more gloves were worn out. The workers all had an abundant supply of money and pocketbooks and purses were in greater demand. Under the Democratic tariff law a man or woman who could raise the price of a pair of gloves could wear them the year round with no work to soil or tear them. And he had no use for a pocketbook or purse.

ROLLING THEIR OWN

The total exports of agricultural implements for the eight months ended August 31, 1923, were valued at $34,500,000, or more than double the exports for the corresponding period of 1922, which amounted to $16,500,000. This fact is corroborative evidence of increasing production of foodstuffs in European countries, to which large shipments of agricultural implements were made. Europe can not eat her bread and eat ours too, at least in such quantities as we exported during and immediately following the great War.

WHY PICK ON HIM?

President Coolidge has never arrogated to himself the power and authority to regulate economic or physical law. Then why come running to him to have him put a stop to negro emigration from the South? Decent treatment and fair wages will keep them in that land, which, climatically, they much prefer to the rigors of the North

The Value of Land Abstracts

It is not safe to buy land or to lend money and accept land as security without first investigating the title of the land. Often there are unpaid mortgages, judgments, or other liens affecting the title, which an abstract would set out. Therefore, when buying land or lending money thereon, it is important that an abstract of title be furnished. A few dollars spent for an abstract is cheaper than going ahead and having a law suit a little later on.

In Partnership With Alabama

Building Costs Cheaper In Alabama Than In Any Other Section Of Country.

One of the series of highly constructive and valuable advertisements being placed by the Alabama Power Company, showing the advantages of Alabama as a place for the location of manufacturing enterprises puts over one big argument for Alabama —with a punch. This particular advertisement is in the Manufacturers' Record, paid for by the power company. In black-faced type across a whole page, the top of which shows seven constructions going on in the State, is the caption: "It Costs Less to Build in Alabama," and then goes on to assert that the average cost of factory or home construction is 24.7 per cent less in the South than in the North, and the average in Alabama is even less, and the average of all construction costs in Alabama is 56 per cent lower, materials and labor included.

This is highly valuable work being done by the Alabama Power Company in presenting the actual advantages of location in this State and the preliminary cost. Those are the salient facts that appeal most strongly to business men and manufacturers. No bunk. None of the circus-advertisement language of which unfortunately most of the so-called "booster advertising" consists. No high-falutin' assertions — just plain facts and figures, which in themselves are more astounding than could be the most extravagant statements of the average attempt to advertise a section. This ad by the power company is running in a score or more of journals of equally wide circulation and influence with the Manufacturers' Record, bringing right before the eyes and attention of those whom it is sought to interest, the really amazing opportunity Alabama holds out to manufacturers.

In addition the power company will have an Alabama exhibit at the Ninth National Exposition of Chemical Industries, Sept. 17-22, at the Grand Central Palace of New York, where not only will there be facts and figures presented so business men can get at the heart of the situation, but there will be a physical showing of the many natural resources of this State. The work being done by the Alabama Power Company in advertising Alabama is without doubt highly valuable, intelligent and calculated to produce results.

It is being done out of a sense of partnership with Alabama; the realization of a mutuality of interest with the progress, prosperity and industrial growth of the State. If Alabama prospers the power company prospers—and is assisting to bring about the continued forward movement and industrial expansion of the State.

Alabama is a wonderful treasure-house of natural [illegible] and opportunities. It is being [illegible]

(Editorial Reproduced from Birmingham News of Sept. 11, 1923.)

Alabama and the Alabama Power Company are partners in the business of promoting happiness, contentment and prosperity for 2,500,000 people.

Like any other partnership, if the business fails to function properly, all partners suffer alike.

A mutual undertaking with a mutual goal produces a mutual benefit.

It is with this fact in mind that the Power Company is endeavoring, at its own expense, to promote a greater State through the advertising of her natural resources and advantages in a series of magazine advertisements, exhibits and motion pictures.

The Power Company appreciates the Birmingham News' very kind expression as reproduced above; and the hundreds of others; all of which indicate a state-wide appreciation of its efforts. Such expressions are an incentive for nobler purposes, greater effort and an increased desire to be of real worth to the State in which it works and serves.

THE POWER THAT LIGHTS AND MOVES ALABAMA

ALABAMA POWER COMPANY

THOMAS W. MARTIN, President
Birmingham, Ala.

THE PUBLIC AND ALABAMA POWER COMPANY

THE DEMAND WHICH SHOULD PRECEDE

Washington, Oct. 8.—"Too many people who urge tax revision downward fail to voice the demand which should precede—expense revision downward," declares the Republican Publicity Association, through its President, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr. "People ask for increased appropriations from the public treasury for all sorts of things and then follow that demand with a request for lower taxes.

"Larger appropriations and lower taxes cannot possibly go together. In order to be strictly honest with himself and his representatives in State or national government, any man who asks for a new or larger appropriation from the treasury should couple with it a phrase reading 'and increased taxation accordingly.'

"The difficulty in holding down public expenditures is that few people realize that government expenses must in the end come out of their own pockets. Although, on careful analysis, they would admit that this must be true, they overlook the fact when they advocate some new or increased expense for government purposes.

"Federal taxes were made high by the war—a burden which this country could not evade, although it has been many times proven that the expense was larger than necessary due to mismanagement and extravagance. Nevertheless, under the present administration there has been a steady reduction of expenditures and taxes until now the appropriations for the ordinary activities of the government are practcally back to normal. The President, the heads of Departments, and members of appropriation committees of Congess, are co-operating in an effort to keep expenses down.

"Their efforts in this direction will be helped very materially if individual citizens and organizations of citizens will not merely refrain from asking for larger appropriations but will actively oppose such movements when inaugurated by others. Every individual and every organization asking for a new or sarger appropriation should be placed on record as favoring increased taxation that will be necessary. When the two are joined in the public mind, limitation of taxes will be easier."

NOTICE

There will be a birthday singing given at the home of Mr. and Mrs C. C. Baker Tuesday night, Oct. 16 in honor of Miss Cenia Baker's thirteenth birthday. Everybody is invited to come and bring your 1923 song books and a birthday cake, and if you wish to bring her a present be sure to write your name on it.

HAS EUROPE THE HABIT?

A professor of chemistry has returned to this country from the Amazonian Valley, South America, with samples of a drug called "kaapi" which has the peculiar effect, when assimilated by a human being, of rendering him absolutely savage, intent on killing and maiming his fellowmen and hating them with the ferocity of a tiger The professor is going to experiment with it on himself and others. It would be interesting to ascertain how much kaapi is exported from South America to Europe in view of the fierce passions and hatreds which seethe and sear the peoples of those countries.

$40 PER CAPITA

The public payroll is about $4,000,000,000 a year, and far the greater portion of it is for the salaries of state, county and municipal officialdom. In the last two or three years the Federal Administration has made immense reductions in the numbers of people in public employment. Local and state administrations have been increasing the number of employees. If the taxpayer is to get any relief from the burden of the public payroll, he must direct his attention to conditions closer home than the National Capital

Rev. M. J. Parrish of Providence was in Clanton yesterday.

POOR ORIGINAL BLE

HOW MAINTENANCE OF ROADS SHOULD BE PAID

Sound Economics Only Basis For Permanent Road.

"Tax the automobile and build the road from the revenues," is a principle which has been expressed by the non-informed voter too many times. But education and sound economics as enunciated by bankers and statesmen has changed the cry. Few who now concern themselves with road financing, but understand that the right way to pay for a road is either by road bonds based on general, not specific taxation, or from current general funds.

The experience of years proves that the fees from taxed road vehicles must be spent for maintenance. Maintenance is always being used up; vehicle taxes are always coming in to provide that maintenance. To use the maintenance fund for building more roads is as uneconomic as the procedure of the man who builds a house for rent, and instead of using some of the rent to keep his property in condition, and insure it and pain. it, spends it for another house, letting the first go to ruin. He will end in the poorhouse, and the county or State which does not provide a steady maintenance fund for road upkeep will be bankrupt in good roads long before the roads are paid for.

It is gradually coming to be recognized that snow removal is a legitimate maintenance charge. All highways which can be used but six months of the twelve cost twice their price. To get the use of an expensive highway for three or four or six months of snow time, by the expenditure of a small amount of a maintenance fund, is only sound, common sense.

GOOD ROADS SAVE CHICKENS' LIVES

Chickens live longer on good roads than poor ones, according to farmers who have tried both. Chickens on good roads get educated to traffic and get out of the way. Chickens on roads where there is less traffic get killed before they learn the danger in "Honk, honk!"

Ask a chicken raiser!

Editor Union-Banner:-

Please allow me a small space in your paper to say a few words about this place. The health of this community is fine at present. So far as the writer knows there is no one sick.

Our Sunday school and prayer meeting are progressing nicely.

We organized a singing society at this place Sunday afternoon. The following officers were elected:

Miss Thula Ratliff, President; Miss Era Klinner, Vice-President; and George Anderson, Secretary.

The directors for the afternoon were: Miss Beulah McCray, Miss Irene Adams, Miss Thula Ratliff, and Miss Ada Adams. The organists were Prof. George Anderson. We sing at Antioch the first Sunday afternoon and the third Sunday afternoon at Sardis, so we cordially invite all singers and lovers of music to come and help out.

VISIT COOSA COUNTY

Bright and early Monday morning Messrs Walter Sanford and Earl Gowan boarded an auto headed for Coosa County, and a few hours' time saw them safely across the river on the other side. Dr. Gowan went over to the camps of the Wisconsin-Alabama Lumber Company on a little business, and from what we can learn Walter had some important business to transact too.

Walter Sanford, no doubt you know, is noted as being the only man in Chilton County who remembers the serum and has the credentials necessary for eradicating the proverbial tick from the immigrants into this county from Coosa. And Walter, we learn, stopped off a while in Quincey and took a post graduate course in his notorious profession. He procured the latest achievements in the art above mentioned, also armed himself with a full new set of instruments for carrying on his work. For further information and testimonials see Dr. J. E. Gowan.

SUMMONS COURT OFFICIALS ON PROHIBITION

Chief Justice George W. Wheeler of the Connecticut supreme court notified judges, prosecuting agents and jurors of the judicial district of the superior court of Waterbury to be in attendance at a canference. The purpose of the conference, the chief justice states, is to bring about a more harmonious enforcement of the prohibition laws in Waterbury and vicinity. The meeting will be in line with similar meetngs the chief justice has held with judges and prosecuting officials of other counties in the state.—Dispatch from Waterbury, Conn.

CANE CREEK

Health of this community is fine at present, for which we are very thankful.

Our literary school opened Monday with Miss Julia Parrish teacher. Owing to the large enrollment of 51 we are entitled to an assistant teacher which we hope to secure right away.

Rev. Parrish filled his regular appointment here Saturday and Sunday and two masterful sermons were delivered to a large crowd.

Our Sunday school is progressing nicely, but there is always room for improvements, and we cordially invite all who are interested to meet every Sunday morning at 10 o'clock.

Quite a crowd from around here attended the singing at Refuge Sunday afternoon and reported a nice time and some fine singng.

Mr. and Mrs. John Thompson visited at Mr. Newt Miner's Saturday night and Sunday.

Mrs. Bud Williamson visited her mother, Mrs. Will Lambert, last week.

Misses Nora Miner and Zula Willis made a brief visit to Mrs. Cora Thompson Sunday afternoon.

Remember the singing society meets next Sunday afternoon. Everybody come and bring somebody with you.

SLAVES OF THE WEED

Let us cleanse ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit, perfecting holiness in the fear of God. 2 Cor. 7:1.

If any man defile the temple of God, him shall God destroy; for the temple of God is holy, which temple ye are. 1 Cor. 3:17.

There are fathers and mothers all over this land
A-chewing and smoking as hard as they can,
While the children are scolded and pushed off to bed,
All dirty and ragged, and crying for bread.
Many thousand young men in our land day by day
Are puffing cigarettes and dying away.
The filthy old snuff, fair ladies will dip,
And spoil their great beauty by filling their lip.
A very small babe sitting on mother's knee,
A-chewing tobacco, a sad sight to see.
The boys and the girls, just now in their prime,
Are learning to use it—they'll be sorry sometime.
A father once said with his eyes full of tears,
"I cannot quit chewing—I've tried it for years,"
While the dying young man says he sadly regrets
That he ever did learn to smoke cigarettes.
A snuff-using mother? O what a shame!
Shall we call her mother? Is she worthy that name?
For her babe is now lying in the cold grave at rest,
From the poison of snuff that is nursed from her breast.

LIQUOR GETS WORSE DECLARES DRY AGENT

"At the beginning of the smuggling activities real whiskey was brought from the Bahamas, although most of it, with the exception of the American rye whiskey, was of poor quality. Now no more American rye whiskey can be procured in the Bahamas.

"Reliable information has been given this department that only manufactured synthetic substances for American rye can be obtained. The liquor being sold is continually becoming less in quantity and worse in quality."—Director Palmer Canfield, New York.

GREATEST SHOW ON EARTH HERE SOON

World's Ten Times Biggest Circus—Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Headed This Way.

The world's one big circus—Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Combined—draws nearer and on its hundred cars will come "ten thousand wonders" to exhibit in Birmingham, Wednesday, Oct. 24th.

World toured and world conquering this truly Greatest Show on Earth is now fully a third larger than it was when it last visited this locality.

In addition to the many innovations offered then, the present season's program numbers ten more trained wild-animal displays—making thirty in all—and the most superb trained horse acts that Europe has yet produced. The wild-animal and equine displays of the past were introduced merely that the Ringling Brothers might judge of their popularity. So enthusiastically were these numbers received that the famous showmen immediately arranged for the purchase of the world's finest acts of this kind. An entire equine circus was bought outright and brought to this country last winter. And while the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey agents were securing this and the trained tiger, polar bear, lion, leopard and jaguar groups they had orders to engage the foremost men and women performers of the European capitals. And these stars from city and jungle are all to be seen with this wonder circus of 1923. More than 700 men and women, embracing the world's foremost arenic stars take part. These artists include the very biggest acts ranging from extensive companies of foreign performers to the amazing English family of Nelsons—positively one family consisting of father, mother, six daughters and one son. And this group of world-famous acrobats but illustrates the remarkable scope of the human side of this great circus. There are 100 clowns. Aside from the ferocious beasts, the program includes forty trained elephants. There are five companies of trained seals many dogs, bears, monkeys, pigs and pigeons. Added for good measure is the mammoth menagerie of more than 1,000 animals. It is the biggest circus program the world has ever seen, given under the largest tent.

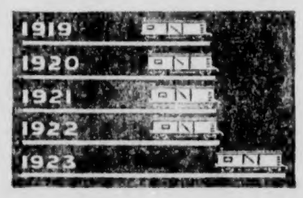
Each Freight Car Goes 6 Miles Further



The Railroads Are Improving Their Freight Service

The average number of miles traveled by each freight car in the first four months of this year has exceded all previous records and is almost 20% greater than the average mileage traveled by each car during a corresponding period of any of the four years immediately preceding. This speeding-up of the cars produced results which were really equivalent to an increase of some 425,000 cars in the service—and thus, in a measure, wiped out some of the car shortage.

The condition of the cars and locomotives is better than it has been for years. The railroads are putting a large part of their earnings back into the improvement of the property. More than a billion dollars is being spent this year for new equipment, trackage, better terminal facilities, etc.

The railroads can continue to improve their property and service only as long as they are allowed to earn freight and passenger rates which are commensurate with the cost of such service.

ALABAMA NEWS HAPPENINGS

A Resume of the More Important Events of Interest Condensed To An Eptiomized Form.

Action of the state board of education, taken in December, 1919, providing compensation as executive officer of the board of the state superintendent of education is reaffirmed in a resolution adopted by the state board of education in annual session at the capitol. The many duties of the state superintendent of education as such executive officer is sited, and it is pointed out that on account of these duties and responsibilities, resulting from changes in the educational system of the state and its administration, the compensation was provided for.

With rainfall totalling only .54 inches during the whole month of September, Tuscaloosa has just passed through one of the driest months in her history. September, 1922, saw rainfall measuring 2.02 inches; in 1921, 2 inches, and in 1920, 4.99 inches. With this dry period the Warrior River has fallen to a new low stage for the year of 9.4 feet at Lock 10, which is only one-tenth inch less than it reached in September. This is the equal of the low mark reached last December, and the lowest mark touched this year so far.

Gov. Brandon has issued a proclamation calling on the people of Alabama to lend their support and cooperation to the forces in the state working in the interest of prevention of fire waste. Governor Brandon referred to the fact that the week, October 7-13, inclusive has been designated as national fire prevention week by the president of the United States and called attention also to the loss of 221 lives in Alabama through fire in 1922.

An increase of more than $2,000,000 over 1922 is noted in the total assessed valuation of Jefferson county, according to a report of County Treasurer M. V. Henry. The report sets down the valuation for 1923 at $240,509,426, while that of 1922 was something over $238,000,000. The total indebtedness of the county, according to the statement, is $6,470 458.56, a figure well within the constitutional limit, which is $8,217,829.91, or three and one-half per cent of the total valuation.

Alabama municipalities cannot legally set aside, evade, repeal, modify or nullify the state Sunday closing law, Judge O. A. Steele is expected to tell the Etowah county grand jury, when the body convenes. He is expected to define the law as it refers to cities and to demand that it be enforced. It is understood that the court will take the position that any Sunday closing law passed by Gadsden would be merely an evasion if it does not strengthen or track the state statutes.

Gov. W. W. Brandon has issued orders revoking the paroles of two Jefferson county convicts, Stacker W. Todd, a white man, and Jim Eddings, negro. Todd has been arrested at San Antonio, Tex., on a charge of violating the anti-narcotic law, and Eddings is in jail at Louisville, Ky., charged with breaking into a store house.

Federal Prohibition Officer B. H. Crumpton, formerly a Calhoun minister himself, ran into something entirely new in a raid near Borden Springs when he outran and captured Rev. Joe Knox who he declared to be the owner of two barrels of banana beer which was just ready to turn into brandy when the raiders swooped down on a cluster of nine stills nesting in the hills of Cleburne.

The first exhibition to be given by the gold medal show of the American Poultry association in Alabama is to take place at Bessemer this fall. Arrangements to stage this exhibit of blooded chickens were made at a recent meeting of the poultry division at the Chamber of Commerce.

T. E. Buntin, of Dothan, has been appointed by Gov. W. W. Brandon as judge of the Dothan Court of Common Pleas.

The Jasper Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs have just finished a successful campaign by which they have raised $2,000 for the benefit of the Walker Athletic Field.

Knights of Pythias of Tuscaloosa will make a determined effort for the location in that city of the proposed new Knights of Pythias home for orphans.

The board of revenue of Calhoun County has passed a resolution imposing a tax of 50 per cent of the state tax on all trucks, tractors and trailers hauling lumber, logs or minerals over roads of the county. Another resolution has been adopted by the board which forbids any truck or tractor carrying a load to travel over a public road when any metal part of the wheel comes in contact with the surface of the highway.

The Madison County Commissioners have suspended the application of the wheel tax on all buggies, wagons and other vehicles as a means of raising additional revenue for a period of one month, during which time mass meetings will be held in every precinct of the county and delegates appointed to appear before the commissioners and advise with them as to what they consider a fair amount of tax

Farmers state that there will be a bird shortage this season as well as a short cotton crop. Their theory is that many birds ate cotton leaf worms which had been poisoned by calcium arsenate, which killed the birds as well as the worms. Nearly every farmer who had a cotton crop used the poison in combating the worms and there were millions of dead worms for the birds to eat.

On October 2, 1922, middling sold in Selma at 19 1-4 cents. October 2, 1923, cotton of the same classification was quoted at Selma cotton exchange at 28 1-2 cents, one-third advance over the quotation of 1922. Receipts on Selma market October 2, 1922, were 28,900 bales. Receipts to noon, October 2, 1923, were 10,252 bales, practically two-thirds less as same day of last year.

With the passing of the board of tax adjusters of Jefferson county, attention is being called to the work accomplished by the board while in office. During the past four years the board has lifted the assessed values of the county from $180,000,000 to a little over $241,000,000, and it is claimed that this has been done equitably and without working hardship.

Hydro-electric light and power is the chief aim of citizens of Verbena at present. Dr. B. J. Baldwin called together the men of the town in the community house and a committee was organized to incorporate an electric power company and to build a 30 foot dam just below the junction of two streams about one mile east of Verbena.

R. D. Crawford, of Dothan, vice-president of the Houston Power Co., applied to the Alabama Public Service Commission recently for permission to amend his original petition for issuance of a certificate of convenience and necessity for the erection of a hydro-electric power dam on the Chatahatchee River, near Newton, Ala.

Evidence that prosperity still reigns in the Gadsden district was contained in the statement of Postmaster Stephens that the postal receipts of Gadsden increased 10 per cent during the quarter just closed. For the three months ending Sept. 30 the receipts totaled $11,400.06 as compared to $10,261.36 for the same period a year ago. The net gain was $1,138.70.

Visions of mutiny and riot flashed through brains of officials at the Jefferson county jail when 85 or more prisoners made a concerted rush for places of safety following an explosion of a small water heater in the basement of the jail where the prisoners were assembled for their semi-weekly ablutions.

The annual meeting of the Calhoun County Baptist Association convened at Anniston last week for a two-day session. Reports presented during the meeting showed that the past associational year was one of the best in the history of the association.

The large saw mill of Bicket & Fleming, which has been located on Pea river at Flaming's mill site, has been moved to Brundidge. This was done in order to faciliate handling orders by being nearer the railroad.

W. Grady Clark, Sheffield real estate agent, sold an Iowa corporation 300 acres of land southeast of Sheffield at a price said to exceed $160,000. The purchase was made for subdivision purposes.

The membership of the University Glee Club has been elected and Mr. Tom Garner, director, announced the names of those who had been successful in becoming members for the 1923-24 session.

Under the provision of senate bill 417, and signed by Gov. Brandon, the state of Alabama will henceforth carry its own fire and tornado insurance on state property.

The Eleventh Street Church at Gadsden has purchased two lots in the rear of the church and will shortly begin the erection of a fine brick parsonage.

Continued dry weather is injuring the potato pease and cane crop in Coosa county. Water in the Goodwater section is very low. No street lights are available in town owing to the water running lo win the municipal electric light reservoir on Hatchett creek.

A Ford car which contained 12 gallons of whisky when captured, according to the officers, is being held by the Anniston authorities, while officers are continuing their search for the occupants of the car, who made their escape.

FIFTEEN STILLS ARE ONE DAY'S SEIZURE

Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 9.—Three men were arrested on charges of distilling in Cleburne County, Monday, when state, federal and county officers, in a series of raids, destroyed six complete stills, 3,300 gallons of beer and nine gallons of whiskey. State and county officers smashed a large still and poured out 100 gallons of beer in Crenshaw, the same day.

Three large stills and 1,700 gallons of beer were destroyed by the state officers in Lee County, and in Tuscaloosa County the state offciers, assisted by federal agents, wiped out three complete stills together with 640 gallons of beer and seven gallons of whiskey. In connection with the raids in Tuscaloosa, one man was arrested on a charge of distilling. Another still and 400 gallons of beer were destroyed in Dale County, and in Clay a still, 700 gallons of beer and 10 gallons of whiskey met the same fate.

ISABELLA NEWS

Well, how about everybody since I heard from you. Why don't somebody in Mulberrytown write to the Banner again?

Well, Isabella community is moving on just fine. Our school is just splendid. The basket girl team is all the go. So look out Thorsby girls, as we are going to play with you some of these old days and you had better get busy. We are going to beat you.

Dr. and Mrs. Caldwell went up to the Magic City Saturday to visit their Brother, a Mr. Sam and Oliver Caldwell of Birmingham while up there. The Dr. visited his farm near Harpersville, Ala.

Mr. S. J. M. Webb and family accompanied by Miss Annie Manning visited over in Coosa County near Weogufka Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. Griffin went to Mercury last Friday P. M. to see about gathering his crop, returning Sunday P. M.

Mr. Ralph Manning from Miami, Fla., was visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Manning, a few days ago. He came from Miami in his Essex by himself. He traveled some days about 385 miles. That was traveling some.

Say, everybody, we are going to have a box supper at the school house Friday night, and we girls are going to want you to with us, so come on you boys and lets buy the best, biggest and nicest box you ever saw.

Mr. Eugene Davenport from Thorsby passed through Uoburg Sunday.

Mrs. Myrtle Williams visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Davenport, in Thorsby Sunday.

Mrs. Estella Shoults from Plantersville was visiting her sister, Mrs. E. C. Williams, last week.

SARDIS ITEMS

Mr. Less Broadhead of this place was very ill last Sunday. We hope he is entirely well again now. Also Mr. Garland Foshee has been on the sick list for quite a few days. Although we hope he is O. K. too.

Our S. S. is doing nicely now, therefore we are still asking for more to attend and, too, more regular.

Next Sunday is our regular preaching day. Everybody come and learn more things and ways to our Savior.

Wishing all success.

HAGENBECK-WALLACE CIRCUS TO EXHIBIT IN SELMA

Flashing lithographs and banners are heralding the announcement in Selma that the majestic Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus will exhibit there on Friday, Oct. 12th.

Many new and novel features are promised for the spectators this season. The trained animals will be seen in many new stunts, heretofore unknown, while among the equestrain features are numbered headline acts from Europe and famous performers from this continent.

A free street parade, more than one mile long, will be given Friday A. M., and this is said to contain many unique surprises.

During the stay of the show there will be a downtown ticket office opened at Tellman Drug Co., where tickets will be sold at the same prices as on the show grounds.

Many additional animals have been brought to this country for the big menagerie, which is said to be one of the largest collections in the world. The doors will be opened one hour before each performance, which begin at 2 P. M. for the matinee and 8 P. M. for the night show, so that a thorough visit through it may be enjoyed.

MT. PLEASANT

Please allow us a very small space in your paper for our last announcement. On the 24 and 25 of October we will have another working at Rocky Mt. for the purpose of cleaning off the cemetery and putting up our new wire. We would like for everybody who possibly can to meet with us on each of the above mentioned days and lets finish our work at this place.

MRS. J. E. NORTHCUTT,

ANNOUNCEMENT

There will be a pie and box supper at Isabella Agriculturial High School building Friday night, October 12th. A short program will be given by the school, beginning at seven o'clock.

Everybody cordially invited.

You can be free from Eczema!

WEIRD, creeping, annoying sensations — scratch — scratch — scratch—eczema and other skin eruptions, spoiling your complexion—causing you uncalled for embarrassment—anguish—ruling your temper. All because of impurities that are rampant in your system—because your red blood cells are dormant.

S. S. S. clears up skin eruptions through its power of cleansing the blood. Herbs and barks, carefully selected and scientifically prepared and proportioned, which make up the ingredients in S. S. S. are the most feared and dreaded enemies of skin disorders. Eczema, pimples, boils, blackheads and other skin diseases pack up and leave the system when S. S. S. sends new rich blood coursing through your veins.

Have a general house cleaning for your system. Let S. S. S. rid you of those impurities which tend to keep you in a run-down condition. Skin disorders are nothing more than billboards announcing that the system is "off color." S. S. S. is sold by the leading drug stores. The large size bottle is the more economical.

OAK GROVE

Health in this community is very good at the present.

Our school began last Monday with a good attendance.

Sunday school is progressing just fine. We had a large attendance Sunday. We are glad to have the school teachers enroll. New officers and teachers were elected last Sunday. Mr. W. J. Northcutt was re-elected Superintendent. He has been Superintendent for three or four years. We couldn't do any better any where. Miss Flossie Cable, Secretary; teacher class No. 1, Mrs. W. J. Northcutt; teacher class No. 2, Mrs. C. L. Martin; teacher class No. 3, Mrs. Earl Cable; teacher class No. 4, Mrs. J. N. Glass; teacher class No. 5, Miss Minnie Pishburg; teacher class No. 6; Miss Golda Williams; teacher class No. 7, Miss Lesta Cable. All who are not enrolled come and join a class. We would be glad to have you.

Our regular singing society met Sunday P. M. with a very good attendance. Directors for the P. M. were: Messrs L. R. Cobb, Elan Cobb, Misses Ollie Glass, Roberta Martin and Urell Little, Lois Martin and Mabeth Northcutt, Estell Atkinson, Messrs Frank Lowery, Bill Cafer, A. H. Glasscock, E. L. Glasscock. We thank the visitors from Oak Hill and Providence and invite them to come back again.

Misses Flossie Cobb, Myrtle Martin, spent Saturday night with Leta Mae Lowery, and Jessie Cobb.

Miss Rosa Lee Martin will take up her school at Rocky Mount. We hope her much success in teaching.

Mrs. W. H. Falkner is spending a few days with relatives and friends in Birmingham.

Mr. W. A. Martin of Bessemer spent Sunday at home.

Mr. C. L. Martin of Wylam spent Sunday at home.

Mr. Leonard Martin left Thursday morning for Siluria to work. We hope him much success.

Messrs Vallie Glass, Willie Marin and Guy Herse spent Sunday and Monday at home and went hunting Monday.

Our B. Y. P. U.'s are both doing fine. Miss Lola Mae Martin had charge of the Junior program. They had a splendid program and two quartetts and adjourned for the Seniors.

Miss Lesta Cobb was in charge of the Senior program which there was a fine lesson and several goods songs. Mr. W. J. Northcutt was in charge of music. If you don't believe we are doing a good work visit us and see.

The W. M. U. had an all day prayer meeting at the church Thursday, Oct. 4. Had a very interesting meeting. Subject: "Prayer Moves the Arm That Moves the World," "You Will Win the World to Christ by Your Spare Cash." We are hoping to do a great work in the future for the Master.

Next Saturday at seven and Sunday at eleven are our preaching days. Everybody come, especially the church members.

UNION GROVE

Dear Editor:

Health of this community is good at present. Everybody is picking cotton.

Our Sunday school is just fine every Sunday.

Miss Leon Hall dined at Miss Receca Derminey.

Florence Cooper dined with Euna Davis Sunday.

Miss Delene Collumn dined with Mrs. Hattie Marler Sunday.

Mr. Burnie Chandler spent Sunday with home folks, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Chandler.

Miss Edna Robinson left last Monday morning to go to Birmingham to work.

Miss Lula and Florence Cofer spent last Friday night at Miss Lonnie Scott's.

Everybody come to preaching next Saturday night and Sunday, as it is our regular preaching day.

Our singing Sunday P. M. is called off so that we may attend the singing at Providence, Beat 13.

THORSBY

If you want something good to eat, come to the City Hall in Thorsby Saturday, October 13, 1923, any time from the noon hour until late that evening. The "Fedel's" S. S. class will serve vegetables, chicken, salad, cake, pie, ice cream, coffee and cocoa in cafeteria style, allowing you to buy at a reasonable rate any thing you want to eat or will serve you a complete dinner for 50 cents. The proceeds will be used for the benefit of the Baptist church. Come and bring your friends.

WAS A "BEAR CAT"

"My wife was never an angel, but after five years of liver and stomach trouble she became a 'bear cat.' No doctor or medicine helped her and we thought there was no help for her. Our grocer told me of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, which had helped him for same trouble, so I brought home a bottle, but she promptly threw it out. I got it back and after a week coaxed her into taking it. She is now enjoying the best of health and disposition." It is a simple, harmless preparaion that removes the catarrhal mucus from the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.—Alred Drug Co.

SINGING AT MARS HILL

Sunday was a great day at Mars Hill. Great old time singing. Great crowd and great kindness, good will abunding.

Mr. Baker of Baker School House was there.

A. J. Langston of Autauga brought a truck load of twenty.

J. N. Scott was chairman. It was an enjoyable day.

FINES IN GEORGIA

Fines aggregating $6,375 were imposed in one day by Judge J. C. C. Black, Jr., against 36 defendants, most of them prohibition law violators.

The defendants were put under parole in nearly all cases for twelve months. Should this parole be violated, the court declared that the twelve months must be served and any penalty that the court might see fit to impose.—News item, Atlanta Journal.

Inactive Liver

"I have had trouble with an inactive liver," wrote Mrs. S. Nichols, of 4412 Spencer St., Houston, Texas. "When I would get constipated, I would feel a light, dizzy feeling in my head. To get up in the morning with a lightness in the head and a trembly feeling is often a sign that the stomach is out of order. For this I took Thedford's Black-Draught, and without a doubt can say I have never found its equal in any liver medicine. It not only cleans the liver, but leaves you in such a good condition. I have used it a long time, when food does not seem to set well, or the stomach is a little sour."

If it isn't Thedford's it isn't BLACK-DRAUGHT Liver Medicine.

MANY FARMERS WILL PLANT SMALL GRAIN

Results of Variety And Fertilizer Results Made Known.

Auburn, Ala., Oct. 8.—Following the planting of the largest acreage to winter legumes ever planted in one year in Alabama an exceptionally large number of farmers will soon be engaged in small grain planting, according to reports from the county agents reaching Auburn.

On the subject of varieties of small grains Prof. M. J. Funchess says that the Alabama Bluestem wheat is by far the best variety for the State, it having produced in 17 years of experimental work on the Experiment Station here an average of little over 16 bushels per acre. Red Rustproof and Fulghum are the best varieties of oats for Alabama, with a possible exception of the northern third of fourth of the State where turf oats are preferred by many because they will stand more freezing. Fall is by far the best season to sow oats.

Wheat is recommended by Prof. Funchess for only that portion of the State north of the Upper Coastal Plain. An application of acid phosphate on heavy land, applied at the time of planting wheat and followed by a top dressing of nitrate of soda next spring, are the fertilizers recommended by Prof. Funchess for wheat. For oats on heavy land he thinks that phosphate will pay but he is almost sure that it will not pay on the sandy lands.

In the main there are three big advantages in oat production. They serve as a winter cover crop; they may be used as an early spring pasture; and they produce a good feed crop in the form of grain or hay.

REVOLUTIONARY REACTIONS

Enforcement of the Constitution depends upon the regard of the country for the fundamental law. If the Constitution is nullified in any one particular it may be nullified in others. Disregard of the regularly established methods of change, modification by neglect, annulment by unpublished lawlessness are revolutionary reactions.—Editorial, Washington (D. C.) Star.

ORDER FOR PUBLICATION TO NON-RESIDENT

The State of Alabama, Chilton County. Circuit Court. In Equity.

Irvin Treace, Complaint, vs. Marie Trease, Defendant.

In this cause it is made to appear to the Register by the affidavit of Omar Reynolds, that the Defendant is a non-resident, and that his place of residence and post-office address is unknown, and that such address cannot be ascertained after reasonable effort; and, further, that, in the belief of said affiant, the Defendant is of the age of twenty-one years:

It is, therefore, ordered by the Register that publication be made in the Union-Banner, a newspaper published in the County of Chilton, once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring her the said Marie Treace to plead, answer, or demur to the bill of complaint in this cause by the th day of November, 1923, or, in thirty days thereafter, a decree pro confesso may be taken against her.

Done at office in Clanton, this 2nd day of October, 1923.

STOP PETTY THIEVING

Prohibition has furnished one boon to hotel and cafe proprietors. The petty thieving of table silver has stopped. In other days the loss due to souvenir hunters was tremendous. One of the largest hotels figured it at $25,000 a year. At one time it was the cause of a lift in menu prices. The swiping of silver it is believed, was due to the false courage of stimulants.—O. O. McIntire, in Washington (D. C.) Times-Herald.

Mr. J. M. Wyatt left Sunday for Fort Payne to spend a few days and probably a few weeks with his son W. M. Wyatt. He said the length of time he staid just depended on how he liked the place.

Miss Ruth Teel, who has been at work in Montgomery for the past week came home Sunday to spend the day.

CIRCUIT JUDGE LACKEY DEAD

Anniston, Oct. 15.—Judge W. M. Lackey, of Ashland, judge of eighteenth judicial circuit, dropped dead this afternoon while charging the jury at the close of a civil case being tried at Ashland.

Judge Lackey was one of the most widely known lawyers and jurists in this section of the state. He was the father of Mrs. Miller Herren, of this city.

Funeral arrangements had not been announced at the time the news of the death was received in Anniston.

Judge William Martin Lackey was born March 31, 1865, in Tallapoosa county, and was a member of an old and well-known family in that part of the state. He obtained his early schooling at Lineville, in Clay county, and was graduated from the law department of the University of Alabama in 1880. He was well known as a profound lawyer in the state before being elected circuit judge and in the early nineties represented his senatorial district in the legislature. Before assuming the bench Judge Lackey frequently attended the higher courts in Montgomery and was highly esteemed among the bench and bar of the state.

NEW DENTIST IN CLANTON

Dr. E. A. Wilson has located his dental office in the new Hayes building on Seventh Street. Dr. Wilson comes here from Birmingham where he has been practicing dentistry since 1895, with the exception of six years which he practiced medicine. He is still a licensed physician, but he does not practice medicine any more. There are only about two more men in Alabama of Dr. Wilson's kind who hold both the M. D. and the D. D. S. degree. Dr. Wilson has the distinction of owning the first electrically equipped dental office in the state, which he equipped in Birmingham some twenty years ago. He claims to possess a right arm that has pulled many a tooth and he says that he can do this job with as little pain as the next one.

Dr. Wilson has not moved his family here yet, but goes back to his home and wife in Birmingham every Saturday night. He hopes later to buy a place here and move his family. We are glad to have the old gentleman with us, and hope that he has a long and pleasant stay in our midst. He invites everybody to come in and let him examine your teeth and make you prices.

CHILTON COUNTY ASSOCIATION

The Chilton County Baptist Association is in session this week at Pleasant Grove church, four miles south-west of Jemison. The session opened Wednesday morning and will close Thursday afternoon. From what we can learn a mighty good meeting is being held. Rev. T. J. Deason is moderator and W. J. Billingsley is Clerk. Rev. B. F. Dykes with Rev. J. D. Hughes as alternate preached the introductory sermon Wednesday at 11:00 o'clock.

WOCO-PEP ON THE ROAD

Mr. John T. Ellis informs us that he has a shipment of Woco-Pep gasoline on the road, which will arrive here the latter part of this week. We have been promised this new motor fuel in Clanton for a long time, but you may rest assured that it s now very close by.

REVIVAL SERVICES AT BAPTIST CHURCH

Beginning last Wednesday the Baptists of Clanton are having a big revival. Services are being held in the fine new Baptist church building, and the evangelist is Rev. W. H. Sledge of Macon, Ga. He has with him Rev. S. B. Jordan of Royston, Ga., who has charge of the singing. These two men are doing some splendid work here in cause of Christianity, and Rev. S. J. Ezell, the pastor, made no mistake when he procured their services to conduct the revival.

The main attraction of the two-weeks meeting was the service Sunday afternoon for men only. At this hour Rev. Sledge got down to his best, and the packed house consisting of men of all walks of life were brought to tears and humility. The evangelist delivered a special sermon to the ladies of the community Tuesday afternoon. The services will close after preaching next Sunday night, October 21.

BANNER CONTEST CLOSES SATURDAY

We wish to announce to the public that the Union-Banner Cash Prize Contest comes to a close next Saturday, October 20th at 4:00 o'clock. Those who have been saving coupons in this contest should have their tickets counted and ready to turn as early as possible during the day Saturday. Of course the final count will not be made until 4:00 o'clock, but your coupons should be turned into this office as early as possible so as to avoid the rush on the last minute.

So if you have not already turned in your ten new subscribers to the Banner, you had better do so at once, as this will double the amount of your prize. Get busy now and make some easy money.

TICK MEETING AT THE COURT HOUSE SATURDAY

The Commissioners Court of Chilton County was in special session at the court house last Saturday. Their purpose was to meet the state and county tick inspectors also any citizens of the county who were interested in the eradication work. The work which the inspectors are trying to do was placed before the commissioners, and a general understanding of the work was arrived at.

Dr. C. C. Cary and Dr. Jackson, state veterinarians, were present, also Dr. P. P. Lewis, the county veterinarian. An agreement was arrived at whereby the people of the county will be allowed to ship cattle away provided they notify Dr. Lewis and get his certificate that they are tick free.

The inspectors reported that there are still some ticks in Beats 7, 8, 12, 13 and 15. An effort is going to be made to get all the ticks out of these beats by the first of November. The inspectors say it can be done if everybody will dip their cattle and co-operate in the eradication work.

HARRY S. NEW PUTS NEW LIFE INTO THE POSTOFFICE DEPARTMENT

Washington, Oct. 15.—Postmaster General Harry S. New is putting the Post Office Department on a strictly business basis so that hereafter its annual reports will show its annual business tranactions with approximate accuracy. While it will probably never be possible to make an exact statement of postal business, as it is not possible to show an exact statement of any private business, yet under the system Mr. New has established, the figures will be as near correct as good bookkeeping can make them.

It has been the practice of some administrations to manipulate the payment of expenses in such a way as to show a surplus in one year by deferring payment of part of the bills for that year. An outgoing administration, for instance, or an administration approaching a political campaign, desiring to make the records appear as favorable as possible, can easily hold up some accounts for investigation or for minor corrections and leave these accounts for the succeeding administration or for payment in the succeeding year. Of course, it is not practicable for any administration to pay every last cent of the expense bills it has incurred. It is practicable, however; to let the deferred payments accure normally, so that they will be about the same in amount each year, or to make an account of expense incurred so that the real status of the postal business will be known

Postmaster General New has adopted the plan of showing the expenditures and obligations for each year as contrasted with the revenue for the same year. That is, if he has incurred a debt which is due in a certain year, he charges that as part of his expenses even if the amount has not actually been paid. That is a fair and honest way of keepnig the accounts.

Heretofore it has been the practice to charge the expenses of the Post Office Department at Washington—the office of the Postmaster General and his assistants—to the general expenses of the Government, just as the expenses of the Department of Labor are charged. The expense of the Department here has not heretofore been charged as part of the expense of running the postal system. Yet, in reality, this is a real and necessary part of the expense of handling mail, just as the general corporation offices of a railroad are a necessary part of the operation of the road. In the fiscal year which ended June 30, 1923, the overhead expenses were for the first time charged as a part of the postal service.

There is one feature of postal expense which cannot be exactly stated each year—the rental value of public buildings owned by the Government and used by the post offices. In many instances the public buildings are occupied jointly by the postal service and other branches of the Government. Any apportionment of the rental value to the different services would he but an approximation, as, also, would the estimate of the total rental value of the building. Federal buildings are of special design, usually constructed with some consideration of architectural beauty instead of usefulness exclusively, and the cost is often out of proportion to actual present necessities. It would be unfair to charge the postal service on the basis of cost of the building and yet an annual statement that does not take into consideration the rental value of public buildings is obviously incomplete.

Because of the faulty system of accounting used in the past, comparisons of one year with another have been of little real value. Under the system Postmaster General New has adopted, such comparisons will serve as a basis for determining actual changes in postal revenues and disbursements.

Houston (Texas) Post—Henry Ford is going to restore the "Wayside Inn," made famous by Longfellow. Wonder who told Henry about Longfellow.

SIXTY-TWO TOWNS AND CITIES APPLY FOR SERVICE OF ALA. POWER CO.

Sixty-two additional towns and cities in Alabama have made application to the Alabama Power Company for service. These applications have been made either through municipal government action or by petition of the citizens. This interesting information is brought to the public by Thomas Bragg, manager of the investment department of the Alabama Power Company.

Mr. Bragg is enthusiastic over the way the people of Alabama are investing in the securities of the company. He states the company now has stockholders in more than fifty counties of the state who own more than $6,000,000 of the cumulative preferred stock of the company. Besides this there are several million dollars worth of the bonds and other securities of the company owned in Alabama.

"I keep in touch" said Mr. Bragg, "with all of the communities which seek our service because in those communities the people buy our securities. I have just had a list made of the towns and cities from which we have requests for extensions of our service. The list shows what a wide territory these requests come from."

The following are the towns and cities which are not now served by the Alabama Power Company, but are requesting service: Albertville, Boaz, Camden, Cragford, Hillsboro, Courtland, Corona, Columbiana, Wilsonville, Gordo, Reform, Greenville, Calhoun, Fort Deposit, Letohatchie, Heflin, Helena, Holton Heights, Mountain Creek, Verbena, Akron, Fulton Springs, Moulton, Linden, Clio, Midway, Louisville, Calera, Demopolis, Uniontown, Faundsale, Eclectic, Falkville, Gardendale, Georgiana, McKenzie, Goodwater, Aliceville, Carrollton, Shelby, Creeltown, Orrville, Jackson's Gap, Livingston, York, Luverne, Nauvoo, Russellville, Haleyville, Thorsby, Jemison, Wadley, Albanda, Five Points, Carrville, Clayton, Paint Rock, Evergreen, Brewton, Atmore, Hurtsboro.

"We want to serve every one of these towns we can reach on a commercial basis" said Mr. Bragg. "That is all where the business will justify the extension. You will see from these requests and the heavy demands being made on the company for hydro-electric power, we will be compelled in the interest of the development of the state to build several waterpowers as quickly as possible in addition to Cherokee Bluffs, Tallassee, and Upper Tallassee, where we now have a larger number of men at work, and where we must spend twelve to fifteen million dollars to complete these projects."

Greenville, Ala..—Plans for erecting a cotton mill here are expected to be completed at an early date, according to announcement by the Chamber of Commerce. The fact that the Alabama Power Company will extend its power lines to this section is assurance that the mill will be built, the Chamber of Commerce says.—The Textile Bulletin, Charlotte, N. C., August 16, 1923.

DAMAGE OF CROPS CAUSE ADVANCE

Cotton Monday advanced 88 points, following general reports that excessive rains and floods in Western Oklahoma and Texas had greatly damaged crops in those sections. The market opened with cotton at 28.12 cents a pound, while at the closing it was at 29.00. Other reports responsible for the rise was forecasted rains in Alabama, with much cotton still in the fields unpicked.

This development followed a pause of more than a week in the market, with cotton quotations remaining almost generally around 27.50.

W. O. Rich, W. J. Miner, T. E. Wyatt and R. C. Hand attended the Chilton County Association yesterday and today at Pleasant Grove as delegates from Friendship.

YES! WE HAVE BANANAS IN CLANTON

The song which won such world-wide popularity a few months ago entitled "Yes! We Have No Bananas" cannot be sung in Clanton truthfully, because we have some real bananas growing right here in our town. Those people who pass the home of Mrs. M. J. Farley on First Street and Second Avenue South and have noticed the large stalks in her yard will be witnesses to this fact. She has a number of fine healthy looking banana stalks around the edge of her yard, and they have got some well developed bananas on them too. We don't know whether any of them have ripened sufficiently to eat or not, but they look to us like they will soon be edible if they are not already. Banana plants are used in this country only as a flower, but the tropical fruit can be raised here on a small scale if properly cared for.

MESSER-REYNOLDS CONTEST WILL BE TRIED

The supreme court of Alabama last Thursday affirmed their former ruling that the bond filed with the contest by C. D. Messer against L. H. Reynolds for the probate judgeship of Chilton county was sufficient, and an order has been received by the circuit clerk of Chilton County to enter the case on the docket of the Circuit Court. We do not know when the case will come up for trial, but we presume that it will be in the near future.

REV. W. H. SLEDGE

The above named gentleman has been in Clanton just a week, but he has already won the highest respect and deepest admiration of the people of Clanton and a goodly portion of them in other parts of the county. He, with the assistance of Rev. Jordan as song director, is conducting a revival in the Baptist church. The sermons which Rev. Sledge preaches are so simple that a small child can understand them, yet they reach to the very bottom of the Christion religion. Although he is strictly Baptist in his doctrine, yet he is too broad to deal much in discriminating other denominations. He simply lays the matter down to his hearers and leaves the rest for them to figure out. The beauty of his preaching is that he tells the naked truth. As the old adage goes, he hews to line and lets the chips fall where they may. No one will regret sacrificing any reasonable amount of time and energy to hear this wonderful preacher.

OAK HILL

There will be an all day singing at this place the 4th Sunday, October the 28th. All singers and lovers of music are invited to come and bring their 1923 song books and lets spend the day in singing praises to our creator together as we suppose this will be the last one of the season Be spre and come and don't forget to bring a well filled basket and help out in the dinner as well as the singing.

FOUND WHISKEY IN CLANTON

Sheriff Littlejohn last Friday searched the shoe shop and fruit store of Mr. Wolf on Main Street in Clanton and found a small quantity of whiskey. Wolf was arrested for violating the prohibition law and made his bond.

DRAINAGE MEET NEXT THURSDAY

Mr. W. W. Fox, chairman of the local drainage project asks us to announce that there will be a meeting of those interested in drainage at the courthouse on next Thursday, October 25th, at 11:00 o'clock. He urges that everybody who wants the swamps drained to be at this meeting in person. Don't depend on the other fellow representing you but be there yourself.

There have been some new laws passed regulating the drainage business in Alabama, which will make the system much more workable. These new laws will be taken up and explained, so everybody who owns land next to these swamps be sure and come. Something is going to be done at this meeting, and if you are not there it may be done in a way that will not suit you. So it is vitally to your interest to be present.

TO PATRONS OF RURAL ROUTES

The special attention of postmasters at offices where rural delivery routes are in operation is invited to the need for improving the appearance of mail boxes on these routes.

These boxes at the present time, as a rule, present a very unsatisfactory appearance due to the fact that the galvanized or alumunum finish has worn off on account of exposure to the elements to such an extent that the base metal has been exposed and in many cases has rusted. It is the purpose of the Department to improve the general appearance of rural mail boxes throughout the country, so that they may be a credit not only to the postal service, but to the community through which the rural delivery route operates.

It is desirable that the boxes be painted white with the name of the head of family or families receiving mail in the box painted on both sides of the box in neat black letters 1 inch in height; also that the painting be done once a year.

It is requested also that the posts or supports to which the boxes are attached be painted white. This will improve not only the appearance of the boxes but will add materially to the life of the boxes and posts. Your interest is solicited. The Rural Carrier and myself will be glad to aid in any way we can.

Good Roads — gentlemen good roads are essential to good service. Show that you appreciate rural mail service by complying with the above request and by keeping the roads passable at all seasons of the year. Your interest and co-operation will be greatly appreciated by all concerned.

Yours very respectfully,
GROVER A. BICE,
Postmaster, Thorsby, Ala.

DR. CRUMPTON LOST HIS DOG

"My good old dog Rover is gone" lamented Dr. James P. Crumpton as he came into our office last Monday. The doctor came in to give us an adv. about him to run in the paper and to have some circulars struck to scatter all over the country. Rover is a medium size black dog, and Dr. Crumpton would appreciate and reward anyone who can return the dog or give him any information as to his whereabouts.

Card Club Meets.

A delightful meeting of the Card Club was held at the lovely home of Mrs. Grady Reynolds on last Wednesday afternoon. Fall blossoms were the attractive means of decorations and the score cards were suggestive of the Hallowe'en season. Four tables were arranged for the game in the living room. After a series of games Mrs. Hance Alred was holder of high score and awarded a box of handkerchiefs, while the guest prize, a box of Caty's Face Powder, fell to Mrs. Guy Roberts. Besides the club members the following also enjoyed the game: Mesdames, John C. Page, Hughes Kennedy, Harvey Chandler, John Vanderveer, John M. Bridges, Guy Higgins, Kyle, Hugh Jones and Guy Roberts. A tempting salad course with coffee was served by the hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Morgan.

Mrs. McSwain Hostess.

Mrs. T. C. McSwain was hostess on last Wednesday afternoon to the members of her sewing club. Vases of garden flowers were an added attraction to the spacious living room where tables for the game of "42" were arranged. After spending some time playing the hostess assisted by Misses Mary and Louise and Elizabeth McSwain served, a delightful salad plate to Mrs. Watts Moore, Mrs. Macy Jones, Mrs. R. E. Luckie, Mrs. Billie Holmes, Mrs. Marion Gore, Mrs. John Armstrong, Mrs. George Polk, Mrs. Clyde Jones, Mrs. Barney Roberts and Mrs. Willie Edwards. The club was called off this week on account of the Baptist revival services.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben T. Hall and sons from Denver, Col., are visiting relatives in Clanton. Mrs. Hall will be pleasantly remembered as Miss Lola Roberts.

Miss Jimmie McDavid and Miss Mary Kate Lewis from Montgomery were the week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. McDavid.

Miss Willie Higgins, a student of Woman's College, spent the week-end with home folks.

Miss Marjarine Alred, who is taking a business course in Montgomery, came up home for the week-end, accompanied by Master J. W. McRee.

Mr. Clarence Evans, a prominent traveling man, was a visitor to his mother, Mrs. Gene Evans, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ned Duke from Prattville motored up for a week-end visit to their mother, Mrs. G. L. Phillips.

Mrs. Dewey Smith from Pratville was a visitor to Mrs. Lee Smith Monday and Tuesday.

Mrs. Grady Reynolds made a business trip to Montgomery.

Mr. Edwin Mullins from Montgomery spent the week-end with his grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Foshee.

Miss Grace Sims from Alexander City was a visitor to friends here last week.

Mrs. T. C. McSwain and Mrs. Billie Holmes spent Thursday shopping in Birmngham.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Jones went up to Birmingham Tuesday on account of the serious illness of Miss Mary Mauk.

Mr. John T. Morgan spent Monday night with his sister, Mrs. Grady Reynolds.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wagoner and Mrs. Dock Wagoner enjoyed a motor trip here from Mineola, Texas to visit Mr. and Mrs. Ed Wagoner.

Mr. Euell Woodyard left for Indiana Monday on a business trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Taylor arrived Tuesday from Meridian, Miss., to visit her mother, Mrs. Bama Cox.

Mr. Claud Reynolds from Dadeville spent the week-end with his family here.

ROADS SHOW DEGREE OF CIVILIZATION

Highways Index to Kind of Lives Its Users Live.

Gibbon, famous historian, wrote "The character and civilization of any community can be properly judged by the class of road it has."

The community which can afford a good road and is content to wallow in mud, is, by this standard, not thoroughly civilized. This may not be agreeable reading to those contented with bad roads, yet these very people will judge their neighbors by standards no more exacting. The man who can afford an automobile, a telephone, a lighting system, a warm house, and good clothes, and who walks, borrows his neighbors' phone, reads by candles, has a cold house and wears rags, is not called civilized by his neighbors.

A good road is as necessary for the enjoyment of the advantages modern civilization has to offer as is the ability to read (which was once the accomplishment only of the priest and the king.)

The abandoned farm is seldom or never found on a good road. The illiterate child does not live beside a good road. People who live on or near good roads get to town, see pictures, mix with their fellows, enjoy a rich social life, visit each other, buy and sell quickly and easily, are in touch with the world. Those who live on bad roads cannot even depend upon the R. F. D. if rain or snow lays its prohibition upon the carrier.

This great country is away down the list among the literate nations; one of the reasons is the difficulty of educating either child or adult where mud prevents attendance at school.

Gibbons's measuring rod may not be comfortable, but the facts seem to show it is accurate.

Chester Mims of Sylacauga was here Sunday visiting his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mims.

J. W. Woodyard of Birmingham was in Clanton a few days lost week visiting his parents and friends.

USE IS MAIN FACTOR IN BUILDING NEW ROAD

Railroad Practice Followed With Profit in Road Building.

The board of directors of a great railroad system, before authorizing the construction of a new right-of-way, calls engineers in consultation to determine the amount of use to which the new road will be subjected. The present and probable future traffic is discussed, the number of trains per day and the size and weight. The expense of eliminating heavy grade is balanced against the saving in tractive effort. The question of ballast is largely affected by the speed of the proposed trains, which is in turn limited by the weight of the steel rails and the curves as well as the grade. The amount of income must be considered and much time must be spent in setting the location.

WORLD'S TIMBER RESOURCES BEING STEADILY EXHAUSTED

The United States can not depend upon the forests of other countries to augment its own timber supply, according to the data presented in "Forest Resources of the World," a new book written by forest economists of the United States Department of Agriculture. This comprehensive study of world timber conditions shows that the world's requirements of sawtimber will double within the next fifty years if the rate of increase during the past few years is maintained. Moreover, as the rate of timber growth is equal to only two-thirds of the amount of wood consumed, the total supply is continually shrinking

"The most pressing forest problem from a world standpoint is the necessity of providing adequate future supplies of soft-wood timber," states the book. "This can be done by using all of the forest land for the continuous production of timber crops. At present only 10 to 15 per cent of the world's timberland is so handled, the rest being regarded as a mine valuable only for the timber now standing on it."

This new book which is not published by the Government, confirms the earlier statements of the Department of Agriculture, that this country can not depend upon imports of the great, all-purpose softwoods when its own supply is gone.

FURTHER DEVELOPMENT OF COOSA

The Alabama Power Company is preparing to ask the Alabama public service commission for permission to construct a dam at Locks 2-3 on the Coosa river.

The Gadsden Chamber of Commerce has adopted resolutions asking the public service commission to grant this permission

The Journal trusts that this permission will be given by the state utilities board, for construction of the dam means much in the prosperity and development, not only of the Gadsden district, but of East Alabama, as well.

With the building of a dam at Locks 2-3, and another one contemplated at Lock 18, not only will the supply of hydro-electric power be increased for Alabama manufacturers, but it also will make possible the opening of the Coosa river to navigation from Rome to the Port of Mobile with only a comparatively small expenditure by the government. And that is a goal for which citizens of the Gadsden district long have worked.—The Gadsden Evening Journal Sept. 3, 1923.

BUY YOUR AUTOMOBILE LICENSE EARLY

The people of the county who use motor-driven vehicles should get the license tags for same as early as possible so as to avoid the rush that will necessarily come if too many wait till the last day. There will be around 1500 tags to be issued, and it takes anywhere from thirty minutes to an hour to get a tag under the new law. So you can readily see what a confusion there will be if too many wait until the close of the time to buy your tags.

Anyone who runs a car without a tag after October 1st is violating the law, but an extension is made until the 15th day of November to give owners time to get their tags. After that time a heavy fine will be placed on anyone operating such vehicle without the proper license and tag.

COTTON CROP ABOUT OUT

The cotton business in Chilton county for this year is about over. The gins are now running only about half time, and the close of this week will find 95 per cent of this year's crop already ginned out.

It is estimated that the total number of bales of this year's crop in the county will scarcely reach six thousand. This number is less than half of what the county usually produces. The cotton market in Clanton is very slack. Nearly all the cotton is being carried back home after it is ginned. Not over half of the cotton already ginned has been sold.

It has been ideal weather for gathering cotton this season, and almost every boll has been forced open by the hot sun and dry winds. Although the crop has been considerably small, there has been scarcely any loss from faulty opening. It the weather continues fair the remainder of this week, there will be very little cotton left in the fields.

Facts about Child-birth

AN eminent physician has shown to thousands of expectant mothers just how to be free from dread, and from much of the suffering which many mothers experience for months, right up to the moment when the Little One arrives!

Mrs. Wm. Washington, 107 Louise Ave., Nashville, Tenn., says: "There is positively no woman on earth that would be without 'Mother's Friend' during expectancy if she only knew the value of comfort."

"Mother's Friend" is externally applied to the region of the abdomen, back and hips. It relieves the tension on nerves and ligaments as month follows month. Finally, it makes child-birth a joy instead of a painful dread.

Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., BA-72, Atlanta, Ga., for a free wonderful book containing information every expectant mother should have. Get a bottle of "Mother's Friend" today. It is sold by all good druggists.

"Government Ownership A Colossal Blunder"—

The Late President HARDING

President Harding, in a speech at Kansas City, took a firm stand against Government ownership of the railroads. He said in part as follows:

"I believe it would be a colossal blunder which would destroy initiative, infect us with political corruption, create regional jealousies and impose incalculable cost on the public treasury. But we must find a solution of the rate problems and the necessary expansion of facilities and find that solution in spite of the prejudices of the present-day sponsors for operations and the present-day destroyers who would bankrupt or confiscate, else Government ownership and operation will become an accepted necessity. Nor do I share the views of those who would lower rates without regard to railroad good fortune. The prosperity of the railways is the prosperity of the American people, and the property rights in railway investment are entitled to every consideration under our Constitution, which is due to property rights anywhere. Any tendency toward confiscation will lead to confusion and chaos and destroy the very foundation on which the Republic is builded."

This advertisement does not reproduce all of President Harding's speech, in which he urged the consolidation of the railroads, but it is interesting to note his position on the subject in so far as it referred to Government ownership of the railroads as advocated by many politicians; and even by some sincere people who believe that this is a solution of the railroad problem.

The DeKalb Republican says in regard to giving the Democratic party of Alabama the criticism it deserves that they feel "unequal to the occasion." Well brother we must say that if you undertake that task you have got some job on your hands.

The Pictorial Review has figured out that every word spoken by our senators and representatives in Congress costs the tax payers of the country 50c. That being the case, the people purchase a lot of costly hot air a lot of which we could get along better without.

We notice that Hon. B. B. Comer is liable to get in politics in Alabama again. We must say for Comer that while he was in politics he came nearer doing what he promised his constituents than any Democrat Alabama has produced in late years. If we must have a Democrat for a Senator, we would prefer him to any that we know.

Henry Ford says that Secretary Weeks deprived the people of the United States of unlimited money when he sold the Gorgas reserve plant to the Alabama Power Company. Personally, we have got just about as much confidence in the Alabama Power Company as we have in Henry Ford. They are both working for their own interest, and so is everybody else. So, what is the difference?

Somebody said "The Democratic party that we belong to and represent to the best of our limited ability has nothing to hide from the people. We invite the keenest scrutiny and contend for the equal rights and privileges of all." Well, where, oh where is that party you belong to, brother? Please tell us, that we too may join that irreproachable and inviolate band.

Don't fail to come to the drainage meeting at the court house Thursday, October 25th, at 11:00 o'clock. Something is going to be done with the matter, and it may not be done to suit you if you are not there to speak for your interest. We have let this matter lag long enough. If we are going to drain these swamps, let's do so, and if we are not let's quit talking about it.

Last year an automobile tag cost $11.75 and it took about half a minute to purchase one. But since the last legislature (the one that was going to reduce taxation and useless legislation) got a whack at the law it now costs $18.25 and takes at least an hour and a half to get up all the data and have all the blanks filled out. But such is a fair example of the "efficiency" of modern democracy.

But we still have no highway thru Chilton county yet, and what is the matter? Would it not be a wise idea for a delegation of the citizens of our county to get together and go down to Montgomery and tell that highway commission that we want a highway through Chilton county? We believe if this were done, you would begin to see something happen around here. If we just remain satisfied with what we have got they will take it for granted that we don't want a highway up here.

AGNUS IN MAGNUS

Magnus Johnson of Minnesota has paid his first visit to the Capital. He gives little indication of being the fire eater that some news dispatches have pictured him. When he has become acquainted with the personnel of the Congress and the executive branch of the government, Senator Johnson will find that they are neither corrupt nor inefficient, and that the charges he has so freely made against them, have, in fact, been directed against honest and faithful public servants.

Senator S. M. Adams of Thorsby was in Clanton Sunday and Monday. He was here Sunday to hear Rev. Sledge preach to the men.

WE DON'T FEEL EQUAL TO THE OCCASION

We sometimes think we would like to spend our opinion about the mess the Democratic party has made of the government of Alabama; but then we hesitate to attempt it because we can't think of any new "cuss words" to use. All the epithets of ridicule and profanity have been exhausted by the sick and disgusted Democrats who have been putting on a protracted campaign of "cussing" out their own crowd at Montgomery.

We feel somewhat in the same fix as a man we heard of a few years ago. The old fellow lived up here in the mountains somewhere, and was known far and wide as the most accomplished and inveterate "cusser" in the whole country. One day along in the fall of the year he decided to take a load of apples to market in Chattanooga.

He loaded them up in his wagon bed, filling it brim full, and started on the journey. Just before he entered the city the road led up a long, steep, red hill. As he was busily engaged in the effort to persuade his old mule to draw his load up the hill, the hind gate of the wagon bed came out. His load of apples, in about two minutes, were scattered over about two acres of ground.

The old man alighted from his seat on the single tree, stepped around to the rear of the wagon, and with angry eyes beheld the scene that stretched out down the long hill. After a moment of reflection he said to himself:

"Well, I would cuss a little bit, but I jes don't feel equal to the occasion."

Don't you reckon if the case were reversed in Alabama, and it were the Republicans who had made such a fine mess, the Democrats would be able to coin a few new phrases to express their fury and indignation. If they can "cuss" so violently about what their own party has done, don't you know they would do some "sho nuff" cussing if they had a chance at the Republicans like they now have at their own party?—DeKalb Republican.

THE HOME MARKET FOR HOME FOLKS

Mr. C. Howard Smith, of Canada, in a recent address at the Canadian National Exhibition, gave some interesting statistics demonstrating the value of the home market to the agricultural community as part of an argument to show the close interdependence of manufacturing and farming.

Mr. Smith estimated the number of people in Canada dependent on manufacturing industry for their livelihood at about 2,500,0000. The extent of their purchase of farm products he figured as follows: Meat 260,000,000 pounds; eggs 52,000,000 dozens; milk 39,000,000 gallons; bread 195,000 tons; butter 78,000,000 pounds; potatoes 13,000,000 bushels. These figures do not include "a large number of miscellaneous commodities" raised on the farm.

The standard of living of the Canadian is nearer that of the American than any other national. It is a fair estimate to say that 50,000,000 people in this country are dependent on manufacturing industries for their livelihood. Multiply Mr. Smith's figures by 20 and it will be seen how important to the farmer is the home market.

Mr. Smith figured the value of the Canadian farm as a market for manufactures. Valuing Canadian manufactures at 4 billion dollars, and deducting 500 million for export, he finds that of the balance at least 25 per cent was consumed on the farm, giving the manufacturer a market of very little less than a billion dollars.

The value of American manufactures at the present time probably exceeds $80,000,000,000 annually, of which something like $2,000,000,000 worth is exported. Assuming that our farmers consume 25 per cent of the remainder, that would mean a home market for these manufactured goods of about $20,000,000,000, or ten times the size of the export market.

Says Industrial Canada, commenting on the figures given out by Mr. Smith:

Practical facts of this kind afford the strongest refutation of the theory that an opening up of our markets to the foreign manufacturer will be to the advantage of Canada. If the farmer buys more imported goods, he naturally buys less Canadian goods; the Canadian manufacturer loses an important part of his market and must either go out of business or restrict his operations; the farmer's home market is injured and so the policy reacts prejudicially on all sections of the community."

What is sauce for Canada is sauce for the United States. Nationality and the tariff are inseparably linked. It is the internationalists who are endeavoring to destroy both.

THE CORNER-STONES

Addressing the National Council of Catholic Women, a member of the faculty of St. Louis University declared that the standards of the Declaration of Independence and the American Constitution contain the foundation of Christian truths and all the principles necessary for the solution of present-day problems. That is wise doctrine, and ministers of the gospel of all faiths would render a patriotic duty, as well as spread the fundamentals of religion, by teaching their people along similar lines.

LET IN THE LIGHT

In war fraud cases now pending in the courts there is no charge that officials of the Wilson administration who let certain contracts received any financial compensation therefor. The accusation is that the contracts were let to personal friends who were not competent and who defrauded the government under the cost-plus contracts. If the charge is true, the injury to the government was just as great as though the conspirators had shared in the profits of the contracts. If a government official lets a contract to one man on the consideration of personal friendship when another man has offered a lower bid, the offense is just as much a violation of duty and a breach of trust as though the favor had been conferred for a money consideration. Of course, the public does not place the two transactions on exactly the same basis, but there is no material difference so far as public interest is concerned.

We are now paying not only for the necessary cost of the war, but for a lot of unnecessary extravagance. We are not complaining of the necessary cost, nor of the cost of a reasonable percentage of mistakes, but of the cost of gross negligence, favoritism and unreasonable delay. The American people are willing to overlook much in the way of mistakes to which all human beings are subject. They are not willing to overlook rank disregard of public welfare in time of war.

AN EXPORT CORPORATION

President Coolidge is in daily conference with men in close touch with the farm situation to devise a practical means for extending aid to the wheat growers. It has been suggested that an export corporation be formed, either through co-operation among the farmers themselves or else under the laws of some state. Public money would not be used directly by such a concern, but it could be obtained in the same way that loans are now made through the banks by the War Finance Corporation. Such a proposal could be put into effect, it is believed, without further legislation by Congress. The President has sent members of the Finance Corporation to visit the wheat growing states and sound the sentiment of the farmers on the proposition. Whatever plan is finally adopted will present the mature judgment of those best acquainted with the actual needs of the people in the wheat areas.

The Value of Land Abstracts

It is not safe to buy land or to lend money and accept land as security without first investigating the title of the land. Often there are unpaid mortgages, judgments, or other liens affecting the title, which an abstract would set out. Therefore, when buying land or lending money thereon, it is important that an abstract of title be furnished. A few dollars spent for an abstract is cheaper than going ahead and having a law suit a little later on.

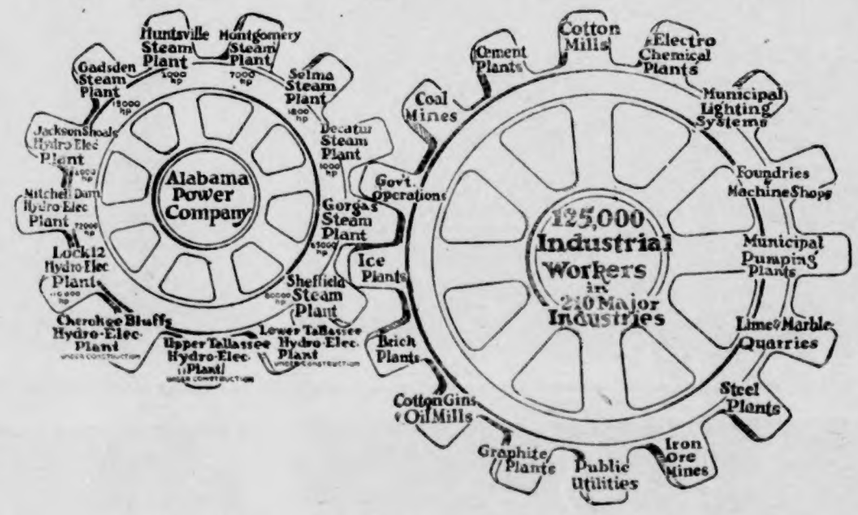
Every Cog Essential



The above illustration tells the story of Alabama's industries as they relate to the power which drives them. The meshing of the cogs transmits the force of one wheel to the other. Remove just one cog and you weaken the force. This is not an exaggeration. Every source of power must be conserved if the service is to be continuous and our factories and mines run full time, and additional industries are secured for our State.

Remove the Company's two largest reserve steam plants and you greatly impair the usefulness of the entire power system, for it is to these two plants that more than 210 major industries, representing an investment of $350,000,000, and employing 125,000 industrial workers, look for their power and sustenance during the long, dry months of our summers, when the rivers are low and coal is plentiful.

Alabama's progress and prosperity depend almost entirely on the continuous revolving of these two cog-wheels, a fact substantiated when an appeal was made in 1922 by the manufacturers of this State to the Federal Government to permit the Gorgas plant remaining a part of the existing power system of Alabama.

To those who are interested in our State's industrial and agricultural progress, the recent action of the Government in selling its interest in the Gorgas plant to the Alabama Power Company, was a source of pride and satisfaction. (17)

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. NORTON, Manager)

Mrs. John Parker, well and widely known in and about Thorsby where the family had lived for many years, died at her home near Collins Chapel, at 2 p. m. last Saturday and was buried Sunday at New Salem cemetery. Mrs. Parker was the mother of several children and for several years past had been afflicted with a maladay that made it very hard for her to move about The immediate cause of her death was paralasis. The funeral had a large attendance many of those present being oir neighbors and friends and the abundance of flowers gave evidence of genuine sympathy with the bereaved family.

Mr. S. E. Norton spent a good part of last Sunday afternoon receiving friends who called to congratulate him on having attained the 75th anniversary of his birthday.

On Friday afternoon, October 12th, Mrs. M. J. Soberg entertained a number of friends at a "Coffee." Among those present were Mesdames, Dyrhovd, Grothey, Martin Petersen, Steiner, C. R. Foss, A. E. Reagan, J. M. Bosworth, Charles S. Howard, J. O. Johnson, E. H. and Ernie Hansen, Johanna Lefstead, Aaron Danielson, H. M. Gerald and Misses Caroline Skinnis and Nellie Werniss.

Miss Annie Werniss of Birmingham spent the week-end with friends in Thorsby.

Mrs. Anna Villadsen spent several days in Birmingham last week.

Willie Scott and Emmett Billingsley have gone to Birmingham to take a six weeks course in a barber college.

A letter from Mrs. J. W. Davenport, at Robbins, Tenn., describes the welcome they received on arrival at theid destination. When they reached the parsonage they found a table well filled with groceries and several ladies who "Got Busy" and soon had a fine dinner prepared for them.

Mr. Robert Johnson is reported to he quite ill.

Mr. J. H. Goddard and Mrs. E. W. Butler are among those "Enjoying Poor Health."

At chapel in Thorsby Institute Friday, Oct. 12th, the anniversary of the death of Robert E. Lee. Gresham Lowery read a paper on intersting events of hi slife and Miss Jenkins gave a short talk on the qualities of character that make for true greatness.

Last Saturday the young men of the Dormitory were entertained informally by the young ladies.

The first open meeting of The Helen Keller Literary Society will be held at Bates Hall at 7:30 p. m., Saturday, October 20th. Following the plan of last year there will be a charge of 10 cents admission for all who are not members of the society.

The Lutheran Ladies Aid Society will be entertained on Thursday afternoon, October 18th, at the home of Mrs. E. E. Hansen.

Mrs. S. C. Wood will entertain the Ladies Guild Thursday, October 25th.

EUGENE LOVE ARRESTED

Deputies Culp and Foshee went down to the Autauga county line Monday and arrested a colored man by the name of Eugene Love for violating the prohibition law. They found some whiskey on Love's premises, and arrested him bringing him to jail. He was placed in jail under a bond of $500 which he failed to get signed. It is alleged that Love made whiskey across the line in Autauga and brought it across the line in Chilton to peddle out.

COAL SUBSTITUTES

A spokesman for the hard coal operators agrees with President Coolidge that high prices for coal will cause people to turn to substitutes. Although the ten per cent increase in wages will be a temporary advantage to the hard coal miners, it may prove in the end to be a disadvantage, for if people once learn to use soft coal or oil, they will readily turn from one to the other, according to relative costs.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

A REPRODUCTION OF NEWS ITEMS, AS PUBLISHED IN THE BANNER, OCT. 20, 1898.

Mrs. J. M. Stanfield died at her home in Clanton last Friday. Rev. B. D. Dennis, pastor of the Clanton Methodist Church, officiated.

Mr. W. M. Wilson is having erected a five-room dwelling house adjoining the Sartor place.

Circuit Clerk E. B. Deason has received his commission.

Admiral Dewey is reported to be having a little scirmage with the Philippine insargents.

The telephone company's men have passed through Clanton and now the poles and wires along our principal streets give us quite a city appearance.

Birmingham is talking of annexing the adjoining territory and calling itself "Greater Birmingham."

Last Friday evening a pair of mules of Mr. Andrew Wilson ran away, and the wagon was badly smashed as they passed Johnson's Corner.

CONCERTED EFFORT FOR THE CHILTON HIGHWAY

Why does the B. & M. Highway sleep in Chilton County while there are as many as three or more projects under way in some other individual counties, or perhaps already completed therein? (I am not so conversant with some of the facts). I think it is because we, in Chilton County, have never made any concerted effort to have anything done to our part of the road.

No one will deny that it is one of the most important projects in the entire state, being the main connecting link in the very center of the state, between the north and south and the uniting link for some of the main trunks running east and west. In other words you might call it the keystone of the arch.

Even our creator, the Lord of the Universe, expects us to ask Him for blessings and to thank Him for them when we obtain them. Do we expect more than this of our commission? Other counties have been beseiging the old commission with large delegations representing whole counties and sometimes entire districts asking for what they wanted. t the same time, they have been bombarding them from a distance with letters from their officials and leading men of their communities, thus continuously keeping their needs and desires uppermost in the minds of the commission; while we as a community have been sitting idly by, waiting for the "corn to be shelled" before we go to mill.

Now I suggest that at least one man from each town in Chilton county along the proposed highway together with one or more representatives from the official family of our county be sent to Montgomery to present to the commission the need of immediae action in the Chilton County poject of the Birmingham-Montgomery highway. What do you say?

V. J. GRAGG.

$500.00 REWARD

I hereby offer a reward of $500.00 for evidence leading to the arrest and conviction of any party or parties for cutting, tearing, or intentionally mutilating the leaves or pages in any of the records in the Probate Office of this County. Also for any party or parties stealing any of the records, or for stealing erasers or any other article of value out of said office.

Judge of Probate.

NAVY DAY OCTOBER 27TH

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10, 1923.
Editor Union-Banner,
Clanton, Ala.
Dear Sir:

Navy Day will be celebrated again this year on the anniversary of the birth of President Theodore Roosevelt, Saturday, October 27th. I have the honor to ask that on this day you may see fit to call attention to the past and present services of the Navy by editorial comment or other appropriate means.

On Navy Day we would salute the Navy not alone as an agency of defense but as an instrument of mercy. Twice within a year—in Smyrna and in Japan—the American Navy was the first on hand with its message of hope and rescue.

Established last year, Navy Day has received the endorsement of two presidents of the United States, of Secretaries Hughes and Hoover and of many other eminent men. Rejoicing that the principle of limitation of armament by agreement was initiated by the United States, the sponsors of Navy Day feel that it is well for the people of America to realize that their navy is an instrument of stability in a troubled world which should be supported in accordance with the recommendation of the authorities charged with the responsibility of our national defense. This recommendation is for the full maintenance of the Navy permitted under the 5-5-3 ratio established at the Washington Conference of 1922.

Adequately supported, the navy gives security by the withdrawal of a negligible fraction of our population from production. It gives security without planting the baleful seeds of militarism on our soil.

With apreciatpion of whatever assistance you may feel able to render, I am,

Sincerely yours,
MARION EPPLEY,
National Navy Day Chairman.

ALABAMA NEWS HAPPENINGS

A Resume of the More Important Events of Interest Condensed To An Eptiomized Form.

The amount available to the various counties from the general education fund of the state for the fiscal year 1923-24 is less by more than $200,000 than the fund for the year 1922-23. Figures furnished from the state department of education relates to the apportionment of the general education fund, otherwise known as the common school fund, showed that the total apportionment to counties for 1923-24 is $3,443,951.37, while for 1922-23 the amount was $3,651,646.42. The amount apportioned shows a decrease of 26 cents per capita, the per capita apportionment for 1923-24 being $4.33 against $4.59 for 1922-23. This is on the basis of the last enumeration, in 1923, which showed the number of school children within the age limits prescribed by the constitution to be 769,605.

The fact that the Louisville and Nashville railroad has entered the market for a large tonnage of materials including 2,300 cars has interested Birmingham industrial circles very much. Coming simultaneously with the visit of President Mapother of that road and his associates as well as Henry Walters, the veteran chairman of the board, the information had special significance. The officials went to the Fairfield car works of the Tennessee Company and all of them showed interest and concern in he operations there.

Unusual efforts were made in the public schools at Decatur to impress the need of greater care against fires in homes and business houses during fire prevention week. Every teacher of the entire system was instructed on one of the days of the week to call the attention of the pupils of their respective rooms to the great saving made by fire prevention and the great losses sure to be incurred if there is continued carelessness as to the causes of fires.

UNION GROVE

Just a few words from this place. We still have preaching, prayer meeting and Sunday school with a good attendance. Our preaching Saturday night was just fine, also Sunday. Our pastor delivered to us an excellent common sermon, as most everybody was dressed common, as this was the meaning of his sermon. Then the prayer meeting Sunday night seemed to be enjoyed by all present. It seems as though we are climbing up the hill. Although we have been kindly looked up on for some time on the account of so much intoxicating drinks, but we are trying to pull out of that. Of course the young boys get a little too much once and a while, but I suppose that is on the account of the boys being so bashful. I don't know what else it could be.

On the night of Oct. 6, the people of this settlement and some from other communities gave me and family a pounding, which was highly appreciated. After this prayer service began conducted by Mr. R. S. Chandler, followed by a short but interesting talk and prayer by Bro. T. W. Davis. Then thanks for the most bountiful gifts. I thank each one of you again for your kindness.

MRS. W. C. JONES.

Mr. W. G. Davis of Verbena was in town last Wednesday on business.

BIRMINGHAM FALL FESTIVAL AND INDUSTRIAL EXHIBIT

(By Reid Lawson, Gen. Chm.)

When the visitors go to Birmingham during the week of October 29, they will see diplayed in the retail store windows and in the old Ledger building one of the best and most representative collections of manufactured products ever assembled in Alabama. Practically every manufacturer in the Alabama mineral district has agreed to make an exhibit of his products, and these cover a wide range of articles.

The amusement features of the week will include street parades with appropriate floats, band concerts, street dancing, fashion shows, musical concerts, theatrical and vaudeville performances, and to all of these free tickets of admission will be issued to visiting patrons of Birmingham merchants.

Three automobiles and hundreds of other articles will be given away during the week.

Railroad fares will be rebated to visitors under conditions made by the committee in charge.

Firm, Plump Flesh!

MANY are the eyes that are turned to gaze with keen admiration on the well developed, healthy girl no matter where she may be—on the rapidly moving thoroughfare or gliding gracefully over the dance floor.

All eyes turn because we all appreciate the girl with the figure so firm and plump—the girl with radiantly red cheeks, cheeks that carry a touch of roses from nature's own garden——the girl with the sparkling eyes, keen and sharp—the girl with buoyancy and the swing of youth.

Not necessarily an out-of-doors girl. Just a girl with over increasing blood cells. Just a girl filled with the vim and vigor of youth.

S. S. S., since 1826, has stood for increased blood cells. S. S. S. means restored strength—rekindled vitality—added energy. Take S. S. S. and watch the bloom of youth return to your cheeks. Watch that flabby, ill nourished flesh fade away before flesh that is firm and plump. Red blood cells will do it and S. S. S. will build them. It contains only pure vegetable ingredients. S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores. The large size bottle is more economical.

ORDER FOR PUBLICATION TO NON-RESIDENT

The State of Alabama, Chilton County. Circuit Court. In Equity.

Irvin Treace, Complaint, vs. Marie Trease, Defendant.

In this cause it is made to appear to the Register by the affidavit of Omar Reynolds, that the Defendant is a non-resident, and that his place of residence and post-office address is unknown, and that such address cannot be ascertained after reasonable effort; and, further, that, in the belief of said affiant, the Defendant is of the age of twenty-one years:

It is, therefore, ordered by the Register that publication be made in the Union-Banner, a newspaper published in the County of Chilton, once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring her the said Marie Treace, to plead, answer, or demur to the bill of complaint in this cause by the 4th day of November, 1923, or, in thirty days thereafter, a decree pro confesso may be taken against her.

Done at office in Clanton, this 2nd day of October, 1923.

W. D. SPIGENER,
Register.

COMMISSIONER HAYNES OF LAW ENFORCEMENT DEPT.

Federal Prohibition Director of Alabama is in receipt of advice from Federal Prohibition Commissioner R. A. Haynes to the effect that at the conference of Governors to be held in Washington on Saturday, methods will be outlined for further coordination of federal, state and local enforcement agencies.

"Responsibility for enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment is first with municipal and county officials, then with state officials," Commissioner Haynes says. "It is contemplated by the Eighteenth mendment that the smaller violations be handled by local agencies, and that larger matters, such as conspiracies, sources of supply, fraudlent withdrawals, etc., he handled, in the main, by federal authorities."

One of the vital problems is the proper coordination of these various agencies, and Commissioner Haynes is gratified that in addition to the ratification of the Eighteenth Amendment and passage of apropriate enforcement legislation by forty-six states, progressive legislation has, within the past year, been adopted by twenty-eight states. In Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland and Mississippi the legislatures did not meet, while attempts in Alabama, Connecticut, Deleware, Georgia, Illionois, Ohio and Wisconsin to weaken, madify or repeal states codes, by legislation or referendum, failed.

A summary of recent legislation shows that in the states of Arizona, Arkansas and Florida acts were passed penalizing persons who operate moto vehicles while intoxicated, while in Iowa, Vermont and Virginia penalties preciously provided for this offense were increased. The legislatures of Colorado and Ohio strengthened their "padlock" laws, which has proved such an effective weapon in the hands of enforcement officials throughout the country, while the new law which superseded the Woner Act in Pennsylvania provides for drastic "padlock" proceedings. This new law also provides for the abolition of licenses for so-called saloons and three-year penitentiary sentence for first offenders (covering all offenses). Increased penalties for second violations were provided by legislation passed in Vermont and Virginia. Several enacted legislation during the last year making the purveyor of liquor from the drinking of which death results, guilty of murder. The states passing such legislation are Florida, Illinois, Minnesota, Missouri, Ohio and Tennessee.

The first offense of possessing or using a still for manufacturing liquor was declared to be a felony in Indiana, Kansas, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon and West Virginia, while the Washington legislature strengthened this provision of the law. Maine enacted legislation making conspiracy to asell intoxicating liquor a felony for the first offense, while Minnesota made the same provision with regard to the sale of liquor to a minor. The legislatures of Indiana, Oregon and Texas made it a penitentiary offense for liquor law violators to carry concealed weapons. Meins, Montana, and Pennsylvania enacted legislation providing for the seizure of vehicles containing liquor, while Florida strengthened her search and seizure law, increasing the penalties. Laws were enacted in Nebraska and Wyoming strengthening the provisions of the state code with referepce to the removal of derelict officials. The South Carolina legislature passed an act empowering the governor to appoint deputies, constables, and detectives to aid in enforcement Nebraska enacted legislation making the destruction of evidence prima facie evidence of guilt. North Dakota eliminated the weak features of the state code, and adopted a resolution petitioning Congress not to weaken the National Prohibition Act. California and North Carolina each adopted a new code, incorporating substantially the National Prohibition Act and Massachusetts adopted a code, subject to referendum.

It is desired that many of the laws which have proved of special benefit in some states be uniformly adopted, and laws which make the buyer as well as the seller amenable, and which provide for the forfeiture of citizenship papers or deporation of foreign violators, and uniform extradition for violators, standardization of essential evidence, etc., be enacted.

IN HONOR AND RESPECT OF MISS RILLA DUPRIEST

Editor Union-Banner:

Please give me space in your county paper to express to the people of Chilton a few things in honor and respect of Miss Rilla Dupriest of that County. Miss Dupriest came to Bessemer the 15th of July, she began work in one week from that day running the check room at West Lake Park. One week from then she started to the Spincer & Ellis business college of Bessemer. Doing some good work she completed commercial course in 15 days, then took up short hand and stenographic, still doing good work she has already had her last examination and made an average of 98 1-2 on all her papers.

Mr. Ritch, Real Estate & Insurance agent, 1917 1-2 2nd Ave., Bessemer, saw the good work that Rilla was doing, her good behavior, and her nice spiritual conduct, came in and ask her to work for him. She went in and found out about his work and today is serving as bookkeeper, stenographer, and private secretary and is making a success.

Miss Dupriest is really a smart girl any way, always ready to do the thing that is right. So if there is any more from Chilton county who wish to take a business course and complete soon, get good positions, and earn good salaries, Spincer & Ellis will welcome you at any time to come to their college. If all the Chilton county girls are as smart as Miss Dupriest we would like for you all to come to Bessemer as we need more girls of her kind and nature.

All who have met Miss Dupriest have learned to love her, she is so sweet and kind to everybody. We have welcomed her in our town and try to make her feel like she is at home.

Clanton's Most Successful Revival Meeting Closes

83 Members Added to Church, 68 of Whom Were Received For Baptism.

Friday night was the close of the most successful revival that has ever been held in Clanton. For ten days Rev. W. H. Sledge of Macon, Ga. has been running a meeting at the Clanton Baptist Church. He has been assisted by a singer, Rev. S. B. Jordan of Royston, Ga. During these ten days there have been added to the church 83 members, 68 of whom received baptism.

During this series of meetings the work has not been confined to the services in the church alone, but scores of the members of the church led by the pastor, Rev. S. J. Ezell took it upon themselves to go out among the sinners of the community and urge them to come to Christ. This missionary work of the members augmented by the excellent sermons presented by Rev. Sledge has been the cause of both young and old becoming Christians who heretofore have led a sinful life.

It can be truly said of Dr. Sledge and Rev. Jordan that they have done a wonderful work in Clanton. At every service they have held, which have been two and sometimes three daily, the big spaceous church auditorium has been filled to capacity. Sunday afternoon, October 14th, a service was held for men only, which was enjoyed by nearly a thousand men from all over the country. On Tuesday afternoon, October 17th, Dr. Sledge preached a special sermon to the women only. This service was also well attended and some very wholesome and spiritual advice was given the women of the town.

The ordinance of baptism was administered those 68 candidates Sunday night at 7:30 o'clock. It was hoped that the visiting evangelist could stay over for this service, but on account of a special call to other fields, they could not stay. Both these gentlemen left Saturday morning for some place in Georgia.

The people of Clanton are very grateful to Dr. Sledge and Dr. Jordan for their faithful and conscientious work here with them. The results of their Godly efforts can be seen all over Clanton. The greatest work of the meeting has been among the young men of the community. Scores of them have declared themselves sick of sin and have determined to live lives that will be better and nobler. Also some men and women above fifty years old who have never professed religion before have fallen down in humble submission to God and accepted Christ as their personal Savior.

The pastor, Rev. S. J. Ezell, preached Saturday night and Sunday, at which services three more gave their names for membership in the church. Rev. Ezell, with the assistance of his Deacons, administered the ordinance of Baptism Sunday night. This service was held in the church building, where a pool is provided for that purpose.

It can be truthfully said that all in all, there has never before been such a religious awakening in Clanton. More names have been added to the church roll and more people have taken an active interest in the services than ever before. It is an evident fact that the Spirit of God was present and wrought great works among the people of Clanton.

ATLANTA MINISTER ARRESTED IN CAR

Imperial Kludd of K. K. K. is Charged With Driving Auto While Drunk.

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 17.—Rev. Caleb Ridley, know nas the imperial kludd of the Ku Klux Klan, and former pastor of an Atlanta church, was arrested late today by the police on a charge of being drunk and operating an automobile. The arrest was made by Motorcycle Officer L. E. Shumate, who said that in the machine driven by Dr. Ridley were two small bottles of whiskey.

In police station, Dr. Ridley stated that he had driven out into the country when he was accosted by a man who offered to give him some whiskey. He stated that he accepted the whiskey, and before starting to town, he took a drink.

Officer Shumate, who made the arrest, said he saw the automobile zigzagging down Peachtree street, one of the main thoroughfares, and stopped it and finding Dr. Ridley apparently under the influence of liquor arrested him. Dr. Ridley, the officer said, admitted having more liquor in the automobile and produced two small bottles.

Released on Bond.

The imperial kludd was released on bond of $500 late tonight. His case was scheduled for trial tomorrow.

The minister denied the charge that he was drunk at the time of his key were found in his automobile. arrest and that two bottles of whis-

"The fact is," Dr. Ridley said, "I had a half pint bottle containing about two table spoons of liquor and while I had taken a drink before my arrest, I was not drunk."

Dr. Ridley has been a storm center in local Baptist church affairs for some months. Recently the local Baptist Minister's Association voted to withdraw fellowship from the Central Baptist church on the ground that Dr. Ridley's conduct was unbecoming a minister.

Following the association's declaration, members of the Central Baptist church gave Dr. Ridley a vote of confidence. Later, however, the minister tendered his resignation, giving as his reason that he did not wish to impede the growth and development of the church.

BANNER CONTEST CLOSED SATURDAY

List of Prizes Given Away By Merchants of Clanton Through Union-Banner.

The cash prize contest which the merchants of Clanton have been putting on through The Union-Banner for the past thirteen weeks came to a close last Saturday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock. Not a great deal of interest was aroused in the contest until close to the end, but then several got busy and did some good work before it closed. After cancassing the votes sent in the contestants are found to attain the prizes as follows:

1st prize, Elwyn Gore,	$25.00
2nd prize, Mrs. G. M. Wyatt,	10.00
3rd prize, Mrs. Clyde Jones,	5.00
4th prize, J. H. Popwell,	1.00
5th prize, H. M. Simpson,	1.00
6th prize, Edward McCall,	1.00
7th prize, J. M. Parrish,	1.00
8th prize, Jim Brand,	1.00

Those contestants who turned in ten new subscriptions to the paper got twice the amount of their original prizes as indicated above. The money is ready for those who have not already got theirs, so please call here and get it or else notify us and we will mail it to you.

We, in behalf of the merchants who co-operated with us in putting on this contest, wish to express our thanks and appreciation to everyone who helped out in the affair.

WM. J. MIMS WRITES CONCERNING HIGHWAY

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 19, 1923.
Editor Union-Banner,
Clanton, Alabama.
Dear Sir:

In the last two or three issues of The Union-Banner I have noticed several inquiries as to what has become of the highway through Chilton county, or when will work be started on it, and suggestions that a delegation go to Montgomery to see the Highway Commission, etc. Being a native of Chilton and knowing nearly everybody in that county, naturally, I am interested in the things that interest them. Therefore, I volunteer to furnish the following information:

The highway Commission consists of three men, one of whom is Mr. J. D. Scruggs, Commissioner of Construction, who is a splendid man and a good friend of mine. He is proprietor of the building in which my office is located and his office is near mine. He tells me that the plans are all now being drawn up by the Division Highway Engineering Department, and as soon as they can be finished and finally adopted by the Highway Commission that the legal procedures will be carried thru as rapidly as possible. The Engineering Office informs me that the first part of the plans is just about ready to submit and that the other part is well under way and is expected to be finished within a few weeks, ready to be offered for approval. He says that no time is being lost and there is nothing now that can be done until the engineers and draftsmen can have time to finish their work. Mr. Scruggs thinks that everything can be completed and that the contract for construction can be let before Christmas.

Respectfully,
Wm. J. MIMS.

Note:—The Banner wishes to say that Mr. Wm. J. Mims is a close friend of ours, but we must say that we do not agree with him on the matter mentioned above. However, the proposition that Mr. Mims offers does not exactly affect Chilton County since, as we understand it, the highway through this county has already been surveyed. What we want to see is some steam shovels and road scrapes go to work on our part of the highway. We sincerely believe that the work would be hastened on if a strong delegation of our citizens, including the Commissioners Court, would go before that board and lay down the matter plainly before them.

Just this week a project was passed on by the board to build the road as far as Marbury. Well, why didn't they let it come on through Chilton. If we don't get busy we are going to fool around here and let them spend all of that state and federal road money together with our own automobile tax in other counties of the state, and there will be none left for Chilton County. So, we say let's go down before the commission and let them know that we mean business up here. We can't afford to lie still any longer.—EDITOR.

O. J. GLENN HERE

Last Monday the Union-Banner force was proud to have a call from our good friend. O. J. Glenn from Coosa County. Mr. Glenn is one of those good, honest, big-hearted Republicans from Coosa, and is a staunch friend to his brethren who have crossed the river into Chilton. He was over in Clanton to have some dental work done.

Mr. and Mrs. Lucian Duncan and Mrs. J. P. Crumpton are visiting in Atlanta this week.

LARGEST STILL YET HAS BEEN FOUND

State Law Enforcement Officers Seize Plant of 3,200 Gallons Capacity in Lowndes.

Lowndes county produced Friday, the biggest still ever found in Alabama. The monster plant which had a capacity of 3,200 gallons, together with another of 2,000 gallons capacity, also 4,000 gallons of beer, were captured and destroyed Friday afternoon by Chief Walter K. McAdory of the state law enforcement department Deputy State Law Enforcement Officer Potter Smith and Federal Officer W. H. Gillespie.

The two stills, one of which, the smaller, was in operation, were well hidden at a point near Manac, at least two and one-half miles from the nearest public road. They could be reached only by a circuitous trail which led through a large swamp.

The moonshiners fled at the approach of the officers who made no arrests but did a thorough job of destroying the stills and consigning the 4,000 gallons of beer to mother earth.

Chief McAdory stated Friday evening that by actual measurement, the 3,200 gallon capacity still was seven feet in diameter and over nine feet deep.

MR. LANDE'S STORE DESTROYED BY FIRE

On Monday night the two-story building belonging to Mrs. P. D. Wilson, on Main Street in Clanton was gutted by fire. The ground floor was being used as a dry goods store by Mr. Maurice Lande, the name of his firm being The Leader. A fine $25,000 stock of clothing and dry goods was almost rendered worthless by the flames. The damage done to the building is estimated at $3,000.

The building caught fire in the back of the second story not long after midnight. The fire was well under way when it was discovered. The alarm was given and the fire department was put into action as quickly as possible, but the mad flames had too much hold to be extinguished. All the firemen could do was to keep the flames from entering the adjoining buildings.

The total loss will probably reach $30,000, which is only partially covered by insurance.

CIRCUIT COURT NEXT WEEK

The regular Fall Term of Circuit Court convenes at the court house in Clanton next Monday, October 29th. Judge Geo. F. Smoot of Wetumpka will be here to preside. This is a regular jury term, and the Grand Jury will be in session also. A number of very important cases will come up for disposition during the two weeks the court is in session.

UNION GROVE

Our Sunday school and prayer meeting is still doing fine and we hope that cold weather don't interfere with us any.

We are going to organize our B. Y. P. U. next Sunday night and we hope we'll have great success in it.

Our school is doing fine. We believe we have got three of the best school teachers that ever has been. We all are well pleased with them. We believe they are trying to do every thing that is right. We girls have already learned to love the Misses Mize and Mims. They seem like just some of the girls around old Union Grove, and all of us gladly welcome them in our homes.

Miss Mize spent a while with Miss Euna Davis late Sunday afternoon.

Miss Rebecca Dorminey spent a while with Miss Amy Robinson Sunday.

Miss Euna Davis dined with Miss Leone Hall Sunday.

A truck load from here went to Collins Chapel Sunday and reports a nice time.

Messrs, Murphy Bratton, Askew Davis, Osmond Dorminey, Marvin Martin, Elbert Hall, Misses Leone Hall and Lerline Martin, Mr. P. M. Martin and wife spent a while at Rev. T. W. Davis' Friday night. Report a nice time. We are sure the family made them welcome.

SUPERINTENDENT'S STATEMENT

In the financial report of the County Superintendent of Education published in last week's Union-Banner a slight omission was made. The report showed that $6,300 had been appropriated to the county high school, when it should have been $1,500 to the county high school and $4,800 to the Clanton Public School, making a total of $6,300 to both schools. We gladly make this correction for Supt. Foshee.

PREACHING AT FRIENDSHIP

Rev. W. W. Robinson of Providence will preach his first sermon at Friendship, that is as its pastor, next Sunday at 11:00 o'clock. There will also be service Sunday night at 7:30 o'clock. The public of that community and elsewhere has a cordial invitation to come out and hear Bro. Robinson.

STATE COMMISSION APPROPRIATES $50,000.00 TO MARBURY HIGHWAY

LYMAN SUCCESSOR TO JUDGE LACKEY

Vacancy in 18th Judicial Circuit Filled by Governor Brandon's Appointment.

E. S. Lyman, of Montevallo, widely known Shelby county democrat lawyer and jurist, was appointed by Governor W. W. Brandon, Wednesday, judge of the 18th judicial circuit, to succeed the late Judge W. M. Lackey, who died suddenly at Ashland last Monday.

Besides his long experience as a practicing attorney, Judge Lyman has in past years served Shelby county in various judicial capacities, a fact which endows him with exceptional qualifications for the position to which he has been appointed.

A native of Shelby county, Judge Lyman's first judicial experience was as special judge of the circuit court of Shelby county, to which post he was appointed by the then Governor W. J. Samford. Later, he served for a number of years as judge of the law and equity court of Shelby.

He was Montevallo's first mayor, represented Shelby county in the legislature of 1903, and has served as treasurer of the Alabama College formerly the Alabama Technical Institute and College for Women, since 1907.

Judge Lyman will begn his new duties Thursday, at Ashland, where he will preside at the session of the Clay county circuit court now in progress there.

APPLICATION FOR PARDON

The undersigned, Kellie Bean, who was convicted in the Circuit Court of Chilton County on the 27th day of April, 1922, hereby gives notice that he will make application for pardon or parole to the State Board of Pardons.

(Signed) KELLIE BEAN.

BETHANY NOTES

Everybody is almost through gathering in this community.

Miss Delly Pierce of Bethsalem spent Saturday night with her esteemed friends, Misses Virbie and Vesta Gray, and reported an enjoyable time.

Saturday and Sunday were our regular preaching days. We had very large crowds and two excellent sermons by Rev. Raines, our pastor.

Misses Dolly Pierce and Virbie Gray and Mr. Elbert Bowles motored to Clanton Saturday afternoon.

Most all the people around here visited Clanton Saturday. Guess they were selling their cotton.

Miss Dolly Pierce and Misses Rena and Venie Stroud dined with Misses Virbie and Vesta Gray Sunday.

Miss Mary Huett visited Miss Jewel DeLoach Sunday.

Mr. Gill Gray and family spent Sunday with Mrs. Joe Gray.

Messrs Elbert Bowles and Leonard Holly were the honored guests of Misses Virbie Gray and Dolly Pierce Saturday night.

We were all sorry to hear that Mrs. Annie Dykes and family are going to move away from us. They will be greatly misesd.

Rev Raines dined with Mr. and Mrs. Williams Sunday.

$50,000 To Be Spent On Roy Bridge Route, Montgomery to Birmingham.

Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 22.—The state highway commission at a meeting today voted to spend $50,000 for a road from Montgomery to Marbury along the line of what has been for some years the route of the Birmingham-Montgomery highway.

When the highway commission some time ago decided that the crossing of the Alabama river on the Montgomery - Birmingham highway should be at Reese's ferry, the result was to materially change the location of the southern part of the highway and to leave a number of towns, such as Elmore, Deatsville and Speigner, off the highway. The Montgomery county board of revenue has been planning to take over the Roy bridge, a private toll bridge over the Alabama on the route now used by travelers between Montgomery and Birmingham and to abolish the tolls and local interests have made every effort to secure the maintenance of the old Birmingham - Montgomery highway from the Roy bridge to Marbury, it being near the latter point that the new highway will divert to go through eastern Autauga county to Reese's Ferry.

This effort was successful today, when the commission voted to expend $50,000 on the section of the highway from Marbury to Roy bridge and Montgomery, which would otherwise have been abandoned upon completion of the Reese's Ferry route. As a result of this action when both projects are finished travelers from Birmingham to Montgomery will have the option of two routes below Marbury, on the present road in Elmore county along the Louisville and Nashville railroad, crossing the Alabama river at Roy bridge; the other thru eastern Autauga county, crossing at Reese's Ferry.

AUTOMOBILE WRECK

Saturday evening about 6:30 o'clock as Mr. L. A. Calloway and Mr. Leonard Driver were riding along the highway near Wilsonville in their Ford they happened to a slight accident. Mr. Calloway was driving and they met another car right over a short culvert which was covered over at the end with weeds. Mr. Calloway was forced to run out in the weeds a little in order to miss the other car, and his front wheel ran off the end of the culvert turning the car over. The two men found themselves out on the ground beside the car but neither were hurt at all. Although the car stopped turned up on its side, yet the motor never quit running. Assistance came in a few minutes and the car was placed back on its feet and snaked back in the road. The old broken top and windshield were taken off and she was again ready to ride. So Messers Calloway and Driver resumed their journey after about forty minutes delay.

Mr. J. D. Jones of Rockford, Ala., Route 1, was in Clanton last week looking around for a place near here to rent. He and his brother-in-law, a Mr. Robinson, intend to move over into our county.

STATE NEWS BRIEFS

All Alabama dealers in second-hand automobiles are required to obtain a certificate of title for all such second-hand cars. Such certificate will not be required, however, in the case of new motor vehicles sold by the manufacturer to the dealer. Copies of this ruling, announced by Associate State Tax Commissioner F. G. Marquis, are being mailed to all probate judges and license inspectors through the state for their information and guidance.

The request of the Mobile Chamber of Commerce that the embargo established by the Warrior River Barge Line at Demopolis and Tuscaloosa be modified so as to permit the shipping of cotton from central Alabama via the barge line has been denied. A letter states that the embargo would not be lifted at either of these places at present and that Birmingport and Moundville were the only points where cotton would be picked up by the barge line.

Mrs. Alice Lee recently arrived in Montgomery from Ballentine, Texas, too late to catch the train for Brundidge, so she hired a taxi and blithely set out on the 66-mile ride to her old home. Although she is already 98 and will soon be 99, she stood the trip remarkably well and was ready for a good talk with her three daughters, Mrs. S. E. Stewart, Mrs. S. K. Taylor, of Hillard's Cross Roads and Mrs. J. M. Connor.

According to the annual report of the advisory board, the city welfare department of Gadsden handled 1,340 charity cases during the fiscal year ending Sept. 30. The superintendent visited 332 homes and looked after many cases of poverty, delinquency and sickness. The board asked the city council to raise the salary of Mrs. Frances Finney Allen, superintendent, from $70 to $100 and to furnish oil and gas for her automobile.

JUDGE REYNOLDS URGES PEOPLE TO BUY LICENSE

Clanton, Ala., Oct. 24, 1923.
Editor Union-Banner,
Clanton, Ala.
Dear Sir:

I would again like to urge the people of this county as to the urgent necessity of taking out business license and automobile license before the rush comes on. Under the new changes in the law relative to automobile license it will almost be an impossibility to issue all the license of this county before the expiration of the time. The law allows until the first day of November to obtain business license before the extra fee is added, and the last legislature allows until the 15th day of November until an extra fee will be added on automobie license. I hope, however, the peope are well aware of the fact that if you wait until the last day to get these license and are unable to do so on account of the rush, according to the law this extra fee will have to be added, which will work an injustice to a great many.

Please, therefore, let me urge you to take out these license now if you are due them, so as to avoid the rush at the expiration of the time limit.

Very respectfully,
L. H. REYNOLDS,
Judge of Probate.

BETHSALEM ITEMS

The farmers of Bethsalem community are making rapid progress in gathering and storing their fall crops.

The Bethsalem school has a splendid attendance this week. Fifty four have already enrolled and others are expected to enroll later.

The Bethsalem school wishes to extend a cordial invitation to those who wish to attend the box supper given at that place the first Saturday night in November. A large crowd is expected. Be sure you come and bring your "pocketbooks."

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest More visited relatives in Thorsby Sunday.

Mr. Carl Boockholdt and sisters visited the Misses Dennis Sunday.

Mr. Dewey Huett, who is at present attending the Marbury High School, was a visitor in Bethsalem Sunday. Everybody is delighted to have Mr. Huett, he takes so much interest in the Sunday school and church.

Miss May Bowles was the guest of Mise sMattie and Mollie Dennis Sunday.

To Miss Bertha Bowles and Mr. Carwell Mims who were recently united in matrimony, the many friends around Bethsalem extend their congratulations and wish them all the joy of life.

We regret regret very much that Miss Bowles (Mims) will be taken from the little circle of friends, but hope she will make freqkuent visits to Bethsalem.

Don't forget the box supper.

Mr. T. E. Wyatt was a Birmingham visitor Wednesday.

Mr. Buck Roberts from Auburn spent the week-end at home.

POOR ORIGINAL

PRESIDENT HARDING FRIEND OF GOOD ROADS

Believed in Federal Participation in Construction.

The late Warren G. Harding, President of the United States, thought as clearly and as logically upon the great question of road construction and improvement as he did upon other public questions of far-reaching importance. Now that death has added emphasis to the words of wisdom he uttered, it is well to recall his pronouncement in regard to roads. In his first message to Congress, Mr. Harding said:

"Transportation over the highways is little less important (referring to the railways), but the problems relate to construction and development, and deserve your most earnest attention, because we are laying a foundation for a long time to come, and the creation is very difficult to visualize in its great possibilities

"The highways are not only feeders to the railroads and afford relief from their local burdens, they are actually lines of motor traffic in interstate commerce. They are the smaller arteries of the larger portion of our commerce, and the motor car has become an indispensable instrument in our political, social, and industrial life.

"There is begun a new era in highway construction the outlay for which runs far into hundreds of millions of dollars. Bond issues by road districts, counties, and states mount to enormous figures, and the country is facing such an outlay that it is vital that every effort shall be directed against wasted effort and unjustifiable expenditure.

"The Federal Government can place no inhibition on the expenditure in the several states; but, since Congress has embarked upon a policy of assisting the states in highway improvement, wisely, I belzieve, it can assert a wholly becoming influence in shaping policy.

"With the principle of Federal participation acceptably established, probably never to be abandoned, it is important to exert Federal influence in developing comprehensive plans looking to the promotion of commerce and apply our expenditure in the surest way to guarantee a public return for money expended."

GIANT HATCHERY TO BE INSTALLED

10,000 Egg Incubator Will Be Operated At Opelika, People of Lee and Russell Counties Interested.

Auburn, Ala., Oct. 22.—People of Lee and Russell Counties, Alabama, expect to go stronger on poultry next year. To assist them in doing so a giant egg hatchery or incubator will be installed in Opelika, according to L. T. Wells, Lee County Demonstration Agent.

This hatchery will be of 10,000 egg capacity, and will be installed and operated by a company, the capital stock for which has been subscribed by people in these two counties. The stock will be $2,000.

The plan is to hatch eggs for the public at a small cost, and in addition the company will engage in a baby chick business, making a specialty of purebreds of the more popular breeds.

Decision to install and operate this hatchery was made after an investigation of what hatcheries of this kind are doing in other states. It will be one of a very few big hatcheries in Alabama and is expected to stimulate interest in poultry production in several counties.

OLDEST CIRCUS ON EARTH— JOHN ROBINSON'S, SCHEDULED FOR MONTGOMERY

John Robinson's Circus and Trained Wild Animals, the oldest, biggest and best, now on its 100th tour of the North American continent will pay a visit to Montgomery in the near future, being scheduled to appear there on Thursday, Nov. 1, afternoon and night.

The mention of the John Robinson's Circus and Trained Wild Animals arouses the light of found memories i nthe eyes somewhat dimmed by advancing years, as it si the show of our grandfathers, and fathers and is the oldest white tent organization on the face of the globe.

With more elephants, more jungle beasts, more clowns, more spnglaed fork, a three-ring, two arena performance and a longer parade—so read the posters—the old favorite, in new garb and with an entirely new offering of arenic and aerial displays and trained animal features will be with us soaon.

Throughout the city and adjacent towns and countryside, gay posters meet the eye for the one hundred agents and billers have done their work well. All is arranged for the gala day's activities under the big to—prailroad accommodations for the long trains, supplies for over seven hundred people, five hundred horses and the big menagerie and the thousand and one details that go into blazing for arrival, parade and performances.

Few people realize the work that must be done before the twelve acres of canvass that house the John Robinson Circus each day is hoisted into the air. For five weeks before the day of exhibition men are constantly passing through the city—general agents, advertising car agents, brigade agents, billers, lithographers, bannermen, press agents and twenty-four men. Each has a certain task to do, and the result of their labors is that the show moves into the town and onto the circus lot without a hitch.

LARGE HAWK

On last Sunday morning, Mr. Henry Hayes of this place was walking through his fields when he heard a rabbit screaming, when he began looking for it then he saw a large hawk in a ditch which had attacked a rabbit. Mr. Hayes then jumped into the ditch and stamped the hawk which measured 4 feet and 4 inches from the tip of each wing.

We are glad the hawk is dead as you know we would hate for it to get hold of us.

TICK MEETING AT PLETCHER

Last Friday night there were quite a crowd of the citizens of this community met at Pletcher. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss the subject of cattle dipping. Judge Reynolds told us, in a very business like talk, the conditions that confront our county in regard to dipping. After a careful consideration, the people voted solid to go on and dip the cattle, (all the cattle), two or three times more and then ask the state and county inspectors to raise the quarantine. Unfortunate for the people of this part of the county that we have been accused of not wanting to abide by the law. Of course, there has been several vats blown up, not only here but all over the county.

The meeting Friday night shows the attitude of the people when they agree to go on and dip out and try to save the county an expense another year. We only want to do the right thing and want other people to do the same. We feel sure that if Dr. Carey is disposed to do the right thing he will raise the quarantine from our county after we finish dipping this season.

Mr. C. D. Foshee was unanimously elected by the people as inspector and the people agreed to co-operate with him in seeing that every cow was dipped that is on the exposed range. When we dip out if Mr. Foshee reports no fever ticks, then we may know that if the quarantine is not lifted it is only held on the county as a worry to the county officers and an expense to the people for political reasons. We are still willing to do every thing we can to help keep down the expense of dipping and building vats. We had much rather see this money put on a good road from Clanton to Plantersville, than to see it put out to pay the expenses of cattle dipping.

Now let us everyone do the thing that we agreed to do and show to Mr. Lewis and Mr. Carey that we want relief from the burden that we are under and that we are willing to do our part toward that end.

We thank Judge Reynolds for his appointment with us and pledge to him and the County Commissioners our loyal support in helping them to carry out the laws and in cutting out the extra expense of the county.

ORDER FOR PUBLICATION TO NON-RESIDENT

The State of Alabama, Chilton County. Circuit Court. In Equity.

Irvin Treace, Complaint, vs. Marie Trease, Defendant.

In this cause it is made to appear to the Register by the affidavit of Omar Reynolds, that the Defendant is a non-resident, and that his place of residence and post-office address is unknown, and that such address cannot be ascertained after reasonable effort; and, further, that, in the belief of said affiant, the Defendant is of the age of twenty-one years:

It is, therefore, ordered by the Register that publication be made in the Union-Banner, a newspaper published in the County of Chilton, once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring her the said Marie Treace, to plead, answer, or demur to the bill of complaint in this cause by the 4th day of November, 1923, or, in thirty days thereafter, a decree pro confesso may be taken against her.

Done at office in Clanton, this 2nd day of October, 1923.

W. D. SPIGENER, Register.

Child-birth

WHEN the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says:

"With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used 'Mother's Friend' and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes." Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., BA-75, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all drug stores—everywhere.

COME IN TO SEE ME

C. REESE MULLINS, Agent

CLANTON, ALA.

The next time you order a meal in any dining-car, look carefully over the prices and compare them with what you would have to pay for the same meal in any first-class restaurant. Item for item, you will find that dining-car prices are as low as, or lower than, you would pay for the same quality of food and service elsewhere.

In this connection it is interesting to know that no railroad derives sufficient revenue out of its dining-cars to meet the cost of their operation. The average revenue per meal on the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, for the year 1922, was $1.15; whereas, the average cost per meal, including provisions, pay roll, linen, china, glassware, silver, fuel, laundry, accomodations for crew, repairs and smaller items such as printing, cleaning, lighting, etc., totaled $1.59 or 44c more per meal than the revenue derived.

All American railroads conduct their dining-car services for your convenience and comfort entirely, in order that you may save time in travel and be afforded every accommodation while en route.

The Louisville & Nashville Railroad has earned a reputation for the superiority of its dining-car service, and the fairness of its prices.

The fellow that scattered the tacks all over the streets of Clanton Saturday night, if he did it intentionally, is too sneaking and dangerous to be left to run at large among civilized people. He ought to be sent to Fort Leavensworth or somewhere else.

Governor Walton differs with the people of Oklahoma on the question of whether they are capable of self-government. Governor Wood has used less military force in the Philippines than Walton has in Oklahoma. And the Filippinos claim to be ready for self-government.

In a meeting of the Governors of several states, President Coolidge urged upon these men the rigid enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment. Mr. Coolidge is strong against whiskey, and he realizes that it takes going after the bootleggers to do anything with the traffic. We say amen to this act of our President. The whiskey business will pull our manhood to the ground if it is left alone.

A two-weeks revival begun Sunday at the Clanton Church of Christ. Elder Price Billingsley of Columbia, Tenn., is preaching for this revival. He has as his singer, Prof. J. D. They meet in their fine new church building which has just been complted at the corner of Sixth Street, Fourth Avenue. These are the first services held in the new building.

TODAY'S SUCCESSFUL MAN

A prominent commercial writer, giving a description of A. C. Bedford, head of the Standard Oil, says that "To see him walking quickly through the corridors of the hotel no one would take him for the head of one of the world's gretesat enterprises. He is without bluster, listens courteously, has afriendly smile and expresses himself in well chosen words.' There is nothing remarkable about that. The time has long since passed, if it exer existed, when the man of bluster and discourtesy codld get to the top. Mr. Bedford does not exhibit the qualities above mentione because he is head of Standard Oil on the contrary, he is head of Standard Oil because he possesses thos and other qualifications. Mr. Bedford used to be a clerk in a whole sale grocery store. He would stil be in that sort of job if he had been a blusterer, grouch or incapable of expressing himself in "a few well chosen words." The young man who lets himself be spoiled by a little success never gets very high.

TRUTH IN TEXTS

A prominent educator declares that school books are the most unattractive volumes that are printed. He believes that their form, make-up, and type should be of a character to arrest and hold the interest of the children who read them. That is true but there are considerations of more importance. In the years following the world war many etxtbooks of American history were "revised" by their authors along internationalist lines. The stories of American heroes and the thrilling anecdotes that are found throughout the story of the Republic were re-written in a matter-of-fact style or deleted entirely. Where formerly the student had felt his blood tingle and had swelled with patriotic pride as he read the stirring tales of the early years of the country, his interest was completely lost when his history author informed him that the Revolution was merely a difference of opinion and there was no adequate cause for the war of 1812. Fortunately for the youth of the country, various individuals and patriotic organizations have investigated and exposed the insidious influence of those denatured American history taxtbooks, and several of them are being revised again back to their earlier standards of Americanism. Not only the form and type of our school books must be attractive, but the text must tell the truth and in a way that will bring inspiration to the student.

CATTLE DIPPING AND THE CONTEST

The Chilton County News last week carried a very full and emphatic account of the cattle dipping situation in Chilton County also a very florid and eloquent article explaining the present standing of the Messer-Reynolds contest. Judging from the enormity of their charges against the people of Chilton County for their alledged disregard for the tick laws of the State and the asserted crookedness behind the curtains of the Republican party of the county, the Union-Banner together with about eighteen hundred other followers of the principles of Republicanism will soon be safely lodged behind the bars of Kilby Prison or probably the Federal calaboose in Atlanta, Ga. According to their argument our county officials have openly repudiated the cattle dipping law and are responsible for all the unrest caused by this aggravating piece of legislation.

There is no use for us to take up the space in our paper to explain the past doings of the cattle dipping law in Chilton County. The people already know more about that business than we do. They know what the State inspectors told the Commissioners and the people when the law was first put into force, and they know what happened the next year and the next year and so on down the line. We will say emphatically that we believe that the eradication of the cattle tick is a good thing, but we also believe that the people concerned ought to be given a voice regarding the manner in which the thing is to be done. The people are the ones who have to do the work and bear the hardships, consequently they are the ones to say what is what, and not two or three tar-heel veterinary doctors in Montgomery. But if somebody has got to dictate what we must do and must not do, let them tell us the truth about the matter. They should not tell us that if we do so and so we will be released from quarantine, and after we do that then require us to do the same thing over and over again. This is the stuff that has made the county officials and the people of the county sore at the dipping law. The way it is run, there is no end to it. The people of Chilton County are willing and anxious to do anything that is reasonable, but they are not going to bear just any sort of treatment for a lifetime.

As for the probate judge contest, we will say that we stand on this matter just as we have always stood. We do not believe in anything dirty being carried on in any election. We also believe that the ballot boxes ought by all means to be kept absolutely clean. But the question is simply this: Is the Democratic party of Alabama a fit subject to purge the ballot boxes of Chilton or any other county. They have made the open confession time and again that what they believe in is to GET Republicans out of office. If it can't be done by voting them out, then get them out some other way. Now, will everybody regardless of politics get justice from this kind of a group of folks?

The Republicans of Chilton County are not afraid of a contest neither are they opposed to a contest. All they want is a fair and square deal and to get what is coming to them. The Republican party of Chilton has never harbored corruption, and we are not afraid for our ballot boxes to be purged from bottom to top. We simply want what is coming to us—no more and no less.

We will say that when the contest comes to a show down, which we suppose will be in the near future, and all of these eighteen hundred Republicans look out from behind the bars in Kilby prison, they will find at least a few Democrats scattered around there too. And if they pull any of their dirty tricks over us during the contest they will have to use some real strategy in the matter. This is not going to be a one-sided affair all together.

The Democrats of Chilton county anticipate great fun when they get to counting out disqualified Republican votes in the contest which is about to be instituted. They must remember that they can't just take the cake and walk off with it without their hand being shown also. There are two phases to this contest business, and when it is once entered a clean sweep si going to be made of the whole thing.

CONSUMER PAYS THE TAX

Washington, Oct. 22.—A very widespread misconception concerning the identity of taxpayers is illustrated by a recent remark by the Charlotte, North Carolina, Observer. The Observer says that North Carolina pays one-third of all the tobacco taxes of the Union. Probably the editor did not really mean what he said, but, if his statement was intended to be taken literally, he was certainly far from the facts. His remark is unimportant in itself but as an indication of erroneous ideas of the distribution of the burden of taxation it is highly significant.

It has been frequently stated that the great burden of the income tax, for example, falls upon New York City and Chicago. It is true, quite probably, that one-third of the tobacco tax is collected by the Government in the State of North Carolina. It is also true that a very large proportion of the income tax is collected by the Government from residents of New York and Chicago. It does not follow, however, that North Carolina ultimately pays the tobacco tax, or that New York and Chicago ultimately pay the great bulk of the income tax.

Everyone knows that the tax on tobacco is, and in the nature of things must be, added to the price of the commodity when sold to the consumer, and the consumer in reality pays the tax. That is true under any sort of excise law. In the old days when we had the licensed saloon, it was not the saloon keeper who paid the license fee to the municipality or the United States revenue tax, but the consumer of the liquor. In just exactly the same way income taxes are figured as one of the costs of doing business. They are included in the estimates of costs just as fuel and lighting and rent are included. They are elements in fixing the price at which commodities shall be sold or services rendered and the consumer of commodities or the buyer of services pays the tax along with his bill.

It is possible for people to avoid paying a tobacco tax by refusing to use tobacco. It was possible for people to avoid paying the liquor tax by refusing to consume liquor. It is not possible for the people in general to avoid the indirect payment of the income tax or an excess profits tax for the reason that this is added to the price of such a large variety of commodities and in such an indirect and unknown way that the people in general can not avoid paying, some time or other, their due share of the tax.

There is only one practical way in which taxpayers may be certainof escaping the burden of the income tax and that is to have the tax repealed. So long as it is imposed, even though an effort is made to impose it in such a discriminating way as to make it bear upon some people more than others, ultimately there will be an adjustment so that each and all of us will be called upon to pay our due proportion.

It is understood that Secretary of the Treasury Mellon will recommend to Congress a reduction of income taxes on both large and small taxpayers. There is opposition to this and in some circles it is proposed that instead of repealing some of the taxes or reducing them, new excess profits taxes shall be imposed. This proposal is based upon the belief that thereby a few people will be singled out as payers of the tax. Such a theory is manifestly unsound. In the first year after such a tax is imposed it may accomplish its purpose. Soon, however, prices will be adjusted so that the tax will be added to the price and the consumer will pay. Secretary Mellon has the only sure scheme for the lifting of the burden of taxation—the reduction of tax rates.

STRAW PAPER

Farmers of the Middle West will watch with keen interest the results of the efforts of Becker & Co., the largest handlers of pulp wood in the world, to use straw in making paper. According to recent dispatches from Montreal, the head of that firm is in Winnipeg completing arrangements for constructing a new pulp mill which will use western straw instead of pulp wood. A mill is to be placed in each of the prairie provinces. Straw pulp mills are said to be in successful operation in France and Italy. If straw from Western farms can be made into paper, there will not only be some small added revenue for the farmer but a saving to each state in its purchases of paper, on which freight charges must now be paid. Moreover, use of straw for this purpose will effect a saving in our timber resources.

The Value of Land Abstracts

It is not safe to buy land or to lend money and accept land as security without first investigating the title of the land. Often there are unpaid mortgages, judgments, or other liens affecting the title, which an abstract would set out. Therefore, when buying land or lending money thereon, it is important that an abstract of title be furnished. A few dollars spent for an abstract is cheaper than going ahead and having a law suit a little later on.

STATE NEWS HAPPENINGS

On Nov. 2 the Confederate Veterans in Sumter county, numbering about 30, will be given a barbecue and picnic dinner by the Sumter Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy in Livingston. After dinner they will be motored to Gainesville, 10 miles on the state highway to see the monument to General Forest, which was built by the Alabama Division of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

A country club with 100 members is being organized in Attalla. A tract of 43 acres on the southside of town has been purchased and plans have been made for a club house soon to be erected. About fifty members have already been enrolled. The plans for the club house call for a ball room, a reading room and other club features. A golf course of nine holes will be built.

C. W. Peters, prominent attorney, will erect two-story brick building on South Sixth street near the Masonic Temple in Anniston, which will be used as a home by the Anniston lodge of Knights of Pythias. The first floor will be used for stores, but the entire second floor will be turned over to the Pythians. The building will front 50 feet on Sixth street and will have a depth of 90 feet.

Strenuous opposition to the proposed carrier increase on benzol and blended gasoline rates from Birmingham to Atlanta and Macon, Ga., as well as other southeastern points, will be waged by the Birmingham Traffic association, Charles Jones stated These rates have been a lively issue for the past few years, according to Mr. Jones.

Building contracts let in Alabama during the month of September amounted to $2,618,000, a 25 per cent increase over August, according to a report issued recently by the F. W. Dodge Corporation. This figure includes $1,058,000 for four industrial plants, the largest item in the month's record, and $968,000 for 137 residential building projects.

F. A. Rew, county farm demonstrator of Pickens county, who has been busy the past few weeks making arrangements for the coming agriculture and livestock exhibition at Aliceville, beginning Nov. 1 and continuing three days, announces that the stage is all set for the show and that it will be one of the biggest events ever pulled off in the county.

Maj. Earl North, commanding the United States engineers' office at Mobile, is organizing a crew to dismantle Fort Morgan, the army post at the mouth of Mobile Bay. The fort has been ordered abandoned by the government. Equipment will be shipped to other army posts throughout the country and the work is expected to take about two months.

A thorough survey is being made of Tuscaloosa's water works system for the purpose of getting better water service. An expert engineer is here in charge of the survey and when he completes the work will make recommendations to the city commission. The matter of operating the pump at the power station electrically is being considered.

Talladega will invite the North Alabama conference of the Methodist church to meet there in November, 1924. Unanimous action on the part of the two Methodist congregations authorized the delegates to the conference soon to convene at Ensley to invite the conference to come to Talladega one year hence

Acting upon the recommendation of H. D. Wood, construction engineer and architect of Chattanooga, and Frederick Ausfeld, Montgomery architect, Mayor W. A. Gunter, Jr., has ordered the Montgomery auditorium, corner of North Perry and Monroe streets closed for a general overhauling.

Indications are that every available inch of show window space will be filled with exhibits of Birmingham manufactured goods when the Birmingham fall festival and industrial exhibits open Monday, October 29, for one full week, O. L. Bunn, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce, stated.

Efforts to prevent the spread of ticks from Shelby county into Jefferson county are being taken by W. W. Cameron, county tick eradication agent, who has written Attorney General Harwell Davis to issue a mandamus to require Shelby county to take adequate tick eradication measures.

With 33 new members secured during the last two weeks, the Warrior Guards, Tuscaloosa National Guard unit, which serves as headquarters company for the Alabama and Florida National Guard regiments, has just undergone a reorganization.

When a charge of dynamite being used to blast rock out of a well exploded unexpectedly, Floyd Fondren and Will Baker, employed at a lumber mill three miles south of Corona, were instantly killed.

An ice plant representing a present expenditure of $125,000 will be built on Commerce avenue, Fairfield by the Rushton corporation.

Poultry raisers over Walker county will get together in Jasper sometime in the near future and organize, according to M. D. Banks, one of Walker county's best poultry raisers.

The Gadsden car plant of the Southern railway, which was partly destroyed by fire recently, will not be moved away from Gadsden, according to a statement by officials and directors at Washington.

REFUGE NEWS

Health of this community is good at present.

Saturday and Sunday was our regular meeting days, but sorry to say that our pastor was deprived of getting to come Saturday on the account of his wife being sick, but he was here Sunday and delivered an extra good sermon. Our praises and wishes is that his wife may soon recover.

The singing society met Sunday evening in regular order and had some good singing with a large crowd present, and good behavior, which we do so much appreciate when we come together in worship of our Master. Program was as follows: Called to order by Chairman, C. R. Robinson prayer being then offered. Directors: A. W. Sims, P. L. Powell, O. L. Devaughn. Quartett by J. A. W. Sims, Enic Mims, R. E. Powell, Miss Beanie Mims. A. L. Roper, Claudie Mims. Quartett by W. L. Mims, Virgil Mims, Claudie Mims, Marion Thomas. Recess 10 minutes. Quartett my W. L. Mims and brothers and Marion Thompson. Everee Maddox. Quartett J. A. W. Mims' Class. Miss Beanie Mims, Beatrice Mims, all two songs each. Closed with a song by O. R. Robinson. Dismissed by Rev. G. B. Golden.

There will be singing at Cane Creek next Sunday evening. Will not be any at Walnut Creek until the first Sunday and back here the second Sunday evening. So everybody remember the time and let us all meet together on those evenings. Thanking all those who came and helped in the singing. So come back and bring some one with you.

Organists for the evening were: Misses Beatrice Mims, Everee Maddox, Ruth Thompson, Margie Kennedy, Zula Willis.

Severe Indigestion

"I had very severe attacks of indigestion," writes Mr. M. H. Wade, a farmer, of R. F. D. 1, Weir, Miss. "I would suffer for months at a time All I dared eat was a little bread and butter. . . consequently I suffered from weakness. I would try to eat, then the terrible suffering in my stomach! I took medicines, but did not get any better. The druggist recommended

Thedford's

and I decided to try it, for, as I say, I had tried others for two or more years without any improvement in my health. I soon found the Black-Draught was acting on my liver and easing the terrible pain.

"In two or three weeks, I found I could go back to eating. I only weighed 123. Now I weigh 147—eat anything I want to, and by taking Black-Draught I do not suffer."

Have you tried Thedford's Black-Draught? If not, do so today.

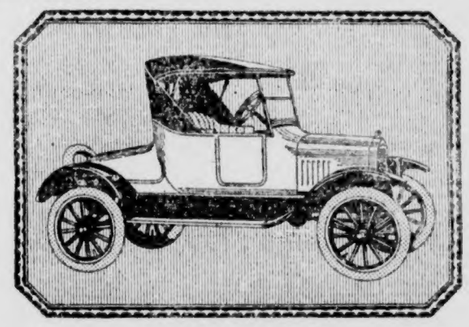
THE UNIVERSAL CAR



New Roadster

Business men—with whom the runabout has always been very popular—are well pleased with the changes embodied in this model.

Always rugged, the car has been made decidedly trimmer and more comfortable.

This result is obtained by raising the radiator and enlarging the cowl; making a decided improvement in looks and providing more leg room.

A well designed top and slanting windshield do their share toward adding a finished, clean-cut appearance.

Make it a point to see the other new models also on display in our show room.

These cars can be obtained through the Ford Weekly Purchase Plan.

COOLIDGE ASKS GOVERNORS TO ENFORCE DRY LAW

Washington, Oct. 20.—President Coolidge called on the governors of several states today to assume their full share of responsibility for enforcement of the prohibition laws.

Meeting with more than 30 state executives who had responded to his invitation to attend a white house conference on law enforcement Mr. Coolidge flatly declared "that no provision of the 18th amendment or the national prohibition act contemplates any surrender of state responsibility. The provisions of the eighteenth amendment and tis supplementary statutes, the president said, "are perfectly plain" in the directions they give both to the president and the governors of states. He added that the country ought to comprehend when laws have been made, there is, and can be, no question about the duty of executives to enforce them with such instruments and by such means as the law provides for securing enforcement."

The president suggested no new means of co-operation between the federal government and the states and made no comment on the declaration of the governors yesterday in their conference at West Baden, Indiana, or on the suggestions as to enforcement methods recently put forward by individual governors. He did say however, that the problems of law enforcement could not be answered by "political" intrigue or by extremists in either side.

The text of the President's address follows:

"It is my peculiar privilege to welcome you here as one who by experience can look at your problems with that sympathy which comes from common fellowship. The governorship of a sovereign state of our nation is an exalted position. It outranks within its own jurisdiction with a single exception every other office in America. It is the very greatest honor that a state can bestow. A gathering of governors has a significance greater than any other unofficial convocation that can be held in the United States.

"It would only be a matter of large public importance that could justify a gathernig of the chief executives of the states and the nation for a conference at Washington. ' You have been invited here that I might lay before you some of the problems for a better enforcement of law. A statement of the purpose is sufficient to indicate the importance for a government which does not enforce its laws is unworthy of the name of a government, and cannot expect to hold either the support of its own citizens or the respect of the informed opinion of the world.

"That ours is a dual system of administration does not need to be explained in this presence. Joint powers and joint responsibilities exist which can best be exercised and discharged by joint action.

Mr. Euell Woodyard is now attending the Sweeney Automobile & Tractor School in Kansas City, Mo.

Physical Health means—
Beauty!

HEALTH and beauty go hand in hand. Where the system is run down—the face drawn and haggard—the body limp and lifeless—beauty is missing. Looks of pity supplant those that might have been gazes of admiration.

Restore your health and beauty will take care of herself. S. S. S.—the rich blood builder—rekindles the spark of health and lights the blaze of beauty by building red blood cells. The nerve power of your system finds life in these very blood cells. Build more red blood cells and your nerve power will increase. S. S. S. builds them. Rich blood will tingle through your system. That lost charm will return. Your entire system will be repaired. You will be ready to cope with the impurities and blemishes that handicap beauty.

As physical health means beauty so, too, does S. S. S. mean beauty. For S. S. S. means systems that are free from impurities—pimples, blackheads, acne, boils, eczema, rheumatism. S.S.S. and good health go hand in hand.

S. S. S. is made of pure vegetable ingredients. It is sold at all good drug stores. The large size bottle is more economical.

MAPLESVILLE DOINGS

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow us a small space in your paper to say a few words from this place.

Health is very good at present.

We are very glad to say little Ruth Mize is able to be at school again.

Most everybody around here are about done gathering. It was not very much trouble to gather the cotton, as the boll weevil got the most of it. Corn seems to be very good and oh, how we are going to sop lasses.

Peanut popping seems to be all the go around here now.

Quite a crowd from here attended Miss Myrtle McAfee's wedding at the home of her parents near Shoults. We wish her much joy.

Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler Walker, Miss Elvie Seals and Mr. Walker's brother attended the wedding Sunday afternoon.

Miss Ella Giles and Miss Melean Ratliff spent a few enjoyable hours with Miss Elvie Seals Sunday afternoon, listening to her new Victrola.

Our new school building will soon be completed.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Adams of Pletcher were visitors to this place Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Landers of Sardis community is spending a few weeks with her son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Tyrie Landers.

Mr. Archie Giles of Adams spent the week-end with his brother, Mr. Charlie Giles. They went hunting Saturday night and caught 4 O'posums.

Mr. J. O. Mize and little friends were out joy riding Sunday afternoon.

The surprise birthday party given by Miss Melean Ratliff to Miss Ella Giles on last Thursday night, Oct. 18, her 18th birthday, was enjoyed by many friends. The crowd was entertained by Mr. Charlie Giles with his violin, also Mrs. Leola Clinner and Mrs. Jessie Blaste rendered some excellent music on the organ. The crowd was greatly entertained by several plays. She received several nice presents.

Miss Wennie Giles spent last Saturday night with Mrs. Bud Clinner.

Miss Ella Giles and Miss Melean Ratliff seemed to be enjoying themselves Sunday afternoon as they were out car riding.

We wish the Union-Banner much success.

ANOTHER WRECK

Mrs. D. D. Easterling and two children, Clarence and Willie, had a slight wreck Sunday morning. As they were crossing the Little bridge just beyond the Gulledge place on the Temple Road, Clarence driving, he for some reason pulled to one side a little too far and ran off the side of the small fill. The car was turned up on its side, and just enough room was left for those in the car to crawl out. None of them were injured, neither was the car hurt.

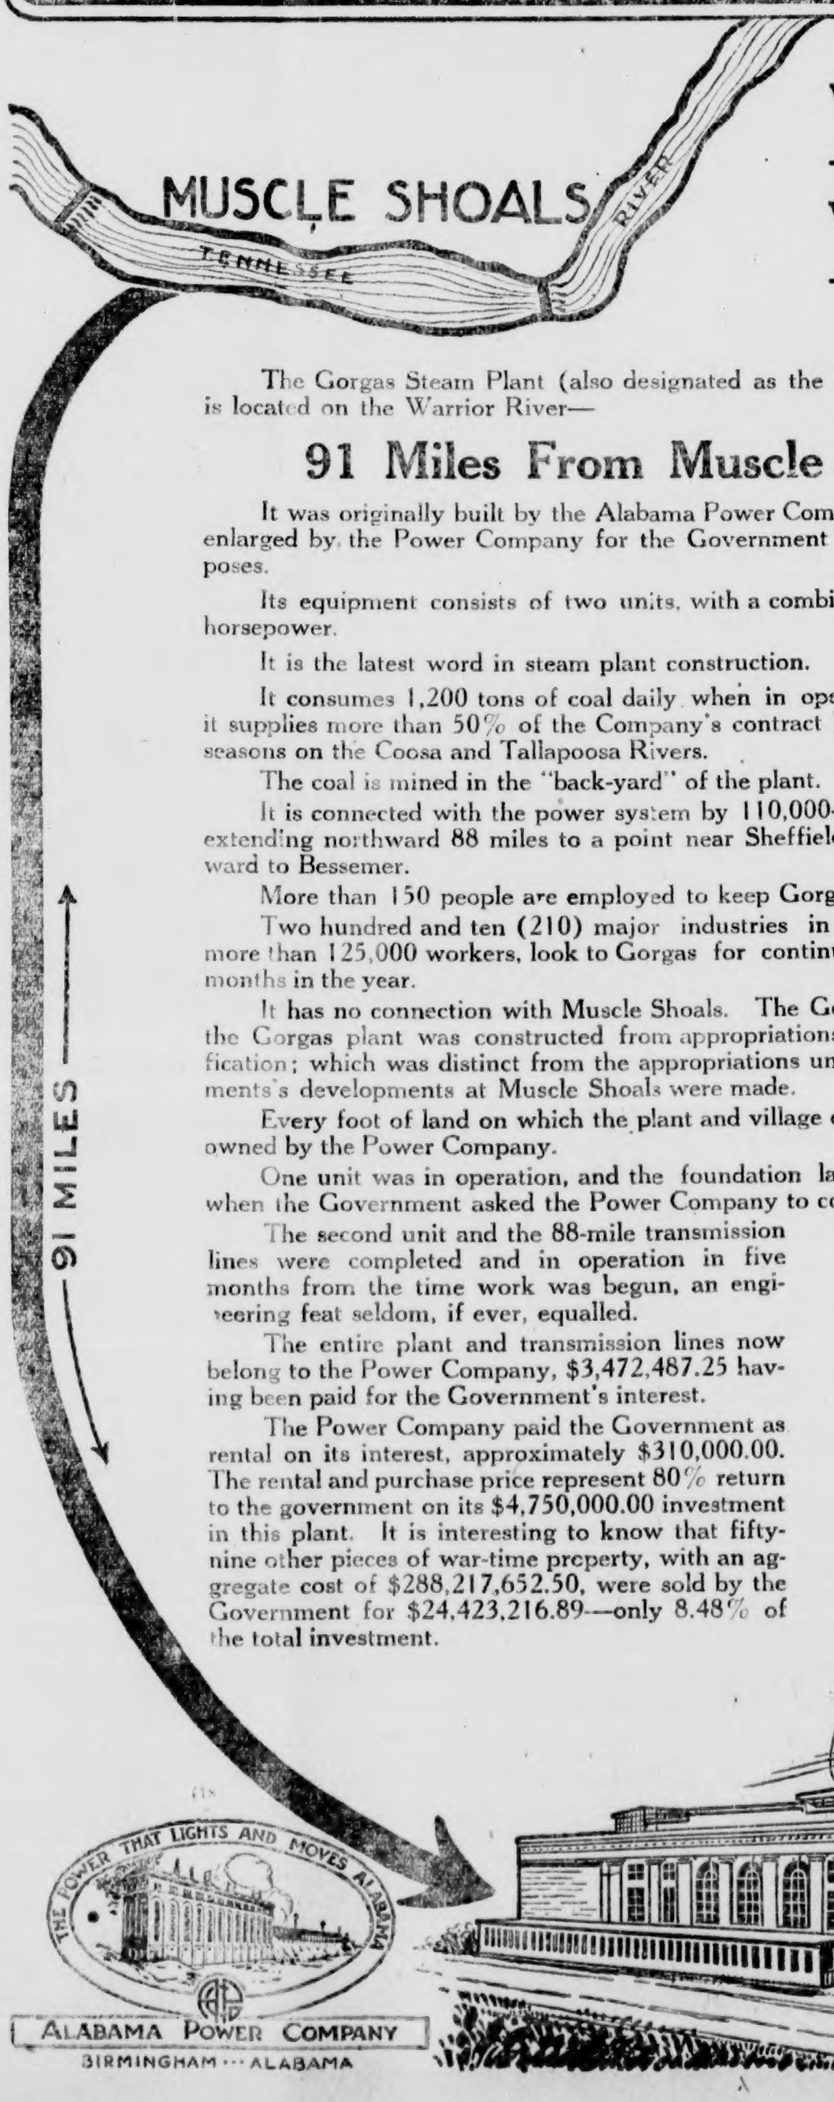
GORGAS



What Is It?

Where Is It?

The Gorgas Steam Plant (also designated as the Warrior Steam Plant) is located on the Warrior River—

91 Miles From Muscle Shoals

It was originally built by the Alabama Power Company in 1917, and was enlarged by the Power Company for the Government in 1918 for war purposes.

Its equipment consists of two units, with a combined capacity of 67,000 horsepower.

It is the latest word in steam plant construction.

It consumes 1,200 tons of coal daily when in operation, at which time it supplies more than 50% of the Company's contract load, during low-water seasons on the Coosa and Tallapoosa Rivers.

The coal is mined in the "back-yard" of the plant.

It is connected with the power system by 110,000-volt transmission lines extending northward 88 miles to a point near Sheffield, and 26 miles southward to Bessemer.

More than 150 people are employed to keep Gorgas in operation.

Two hundred and ten (210) major industries in Alabama, employing more than 125,000 workers, look to Gorgas for continuous operation twelve months in the year.

It has no connection with Muscle Shoals. The Government's interest in the Gorgas plant was constructed from appropriations for armament of fortification; which was distinct from the appropriations under which the Government's developments at Muscle Shoals were made.

Every foot of land on which the plant and village of Gorgas are located is owned by the Power Company.

One unit was in operation, and the foundation laid for a second unit, when the Government asked the Power Company to complete the plant.

The second unit and the 88-mile transmission lines were completed and in operation in five months from the time work was begun, an engineering feat seldom, if ever, equalled.

The entire plant and transmission lines now belong to the Power Company, $3,472,487.25 having been paid for the Government's interest.

The Power Company paid the Government as rental on its interest, approximately $310,000.00. The rental and purchase price represent 80% return to the government on its $4,750,000.00 investment in this plant. It is interesting to know that fifty-nine other pieces of war-time property, with an aggregate cost of $288,217,652.50, were sold by the Government for $24,423,216.89—only 8.48% of the total investment.

Saturday night, October 20th, the Helen Keller Literary Society, of Thorsby Institute, held their first meeting of the year. A program of instrumental music was given by the following members of the music department: Bernice Williams, Dorothy Butler, Cola Ruffin, Iola Gerald, and Lillian McKee.

A vocal quartette consisting of Floy Jackson, Doris Freeman, Gertrude Steiner, and Frances Wilson sang "Everybody Happy." Mrs Lovland gave as a recitation, "Mrs. McDuffy at the Base Ball Game."

The society meeting then adjourned, and the music club and the dramatic and debating clubs, of the society held meetings for the election of officers.

Officers of the society: President Gresham Lowery; Vice-President, Plato Deason; Secretary, Lois Primm; Custodian, Medie Swilley. Music Club: President, Arnold Littleton; Vice-President, Lorena Primm; Secretary, Medie Swilley. Dramatic and Debating Club: President, Edmund Lakeman; Vice-President, Gladys Fummer; Secretary, Boona Lee Wood.

First six weeks term examinations will be held Thursday and Friday, October 25 and 26.

Mr. Odell, of Chicago, who is a brother of Mrs. E. F. Mead, with his wife, motored from their home last week and are visiting the Mead family for a few days. Mr. Earl Mead made a visit to his parents on Monday.

A brother of Mr. Ephriam C. Steiner has sent word that he is coming from Ohia by motor and expects to arrive in Thorsby soon.

Mr. Walter Mastin, son of Dr. and Mrs. O. C. Mastin and Miss Avaline Littlejohn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Littlejohn, were married at Maple Springs last Sunday morning, and are receiving congratulations at the home of the bridegrooms parents, where the happy pair will make their home for the present.

Sunday School Day at Thorsby.

A notable event of the past week was the morning service and afternoon meeting at the Congregational church. Mr. Thomas Ellsley accompanied by his wife, were welcome visitors. Mr. Ellsley represents the International Religious Education Association. He is a walking encyclopedia of information on Sunday School statistics, not only for Alabama but for the nation and then some.

His morning address was from Matt. 6-33, "But seek ye first the kingdom of God and His righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you." As an illustration of how we, as a nation are not doing this, he stated that 25 000,000 of the young people of school age practically two thirds of the youth of the nation, receive little or no religious instruction, and that Alabama is well at the front of the line with 500,000 white children without bible instruction.

By no means all these young folk are the off-spring of unbelievers, thousands of them grow up in homes where the parents would scout the idea that they are not Christians, and yet are not "Seeking first the kingdom of God."

They are too busy with the cares and pleasures of this world to maintain the family alter or even memorial much less practice the religion of Jesus Christ. So as a nation, state and communities or families we are fast drifting into the class, whom God destroys because in forgetting Him we lose our spiritual life, and are serving "Mammon" as our God.

With religious instruction barred from our public schools and neglected in our homes, where shall the young learn righteousness except in the churches and bible schools of the land, and how shall they learn even there if they never attend these means of grace?

No man or woman who leave God out of their life or perfunctorily serve Him can attain to the highest development of which they are capable, and few of such have ever become great leaders among the people. Jesus Christ said, "He that is not with me is against me." He also said, "Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into my kingdom, but he that doeth the will of Him that sent Me."

The afternoon meeting was the regular meeting of the District Sunday School Association, who were fortunate in finding Mr. Ellsley available to help in addresses and discussions. Mrs. Ellsley is also a pleasing speaker with a message worth hearing, and with all she is a gifted singer that everybody loves to hear. The day spent in Thorsby by these good people will long be remembered.

The Baptist Church of Thorsby have secured the services of Rev. John H. Milford, of Birmingham, who will become their pastor, holding services regularly on the second and fourth Sunday of each month. Rev. Milford is said to be among the most talented preachers of the Baptist denomination within the state.

Rev. Wilhelm Petterson will hold services in the Lutheran church morning and evening Sunday, November 28th. It is expected that he will be in Thorsby hereafter to hold services in this church regularly the 3rd and 4th Sundays each month.

Miss Helen C. Jenkins who was a delegate to The National Congregational Council at Springfield, Mass., the past week, is expected home in a few days and at the first opportunity will be invited to give the Thorsby public some account of this great meeting.

Miss Olive Pearson, well known throughout Alabama and the southeast, as an efficient field worker among Congregational churches, and is a pleasing and forceful speaker, will be in Thorsby Sunday, November 4th, and will give an address at the morning service (11 o'clock, a. m.,) at the Congregational church on that day.

The Ladies Guild of Thorsby will hold their regular monthly social at the home of Mrs. S. C. Wood on Summit Avenue at 2:00 p. m., Thursday, October 25th.

The Congregational Ladies Aid Society will be entertained Thursday, November 1st, at the home of Mrs. C. W. Karlson, near Bates Hall.

PROVIDENCE SINGING SOCIETY

Sunday, November the 4th, beginning at 2 o'clock, P. M., will be the last session of the Providence singing Society for the season. We have had a real fine season of singing and we want to thank everyone for their presence and help for the entire season, and you are especially invited to attend the last session, come and lets make this one the best of the year. There will be preaching at 11 o'clock a. m. of the same day by the pastor, Rev. W. W. Robinson. As we give up our singing for the year lets resolve that we will not give up our regular preaching services and our Sunday schools.

Faithfully yours,

G. C. POWELL,
Chairman

LAWLEY NEWS

The entertainment given here at the school Saturday night was well attended. Everyone seemed to have enjoyed it, especially the music rendered by the Maplesville Orchestra.

Miss Thelma Martin and Mrs. W. H. Gwin spent Saturday in Montgomery.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wilson from Selma are here visiting parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Latham.

Mr. Frank Steele was a guest of Mr. Hobson Head Saturday night and Sunday.

FREE — Your First Treatment with An-uric, my Kidney-Backache Tablet.

Result of 50 years of Analyses in a Great Hospital.

Fifty years ago, my father, the late Dr. Ray V. Pierce, established the famous Invalids' Hotel at Buffalo, N. Y., surrounding himself with a staff of skilful physicians, surgeons and chemists. To this great institution comes a steady stream of patients from far and wide.

A great percentage of these patients are afected with kidney disease and many other thousands of kidney sufferers who do not come for treatment send samples for analysis.

So, here at the Invalids' Hotel, diagnosis and treatment of kidney trouble has been going on incessantly for fifty years.

Realizing the great need for an effective home remedy to correct kidney troubles in their early stages, I put our staff to work on the problem. In time they worked out an ideal formula, which, it was found, could be put up in handy tablet form.

I named this remedy "An-uric," because by strengthening the eliminative action of the kidneys, it works to free the sufferer from the evil effects of uric acid upon the nerves and joints.

I want all who suffer from weak kidneys, kidney backache and uric acid poisoning to have their first An-uric treatment at my expense.

It isn't necessary to write—just pin this advertisement to a scrap of paper bearing your full name and address and mail it to me.

This offer is intended for those who have to get up in the night, who are tired and lame every morning, who suffer with aching back, dizzy spells, mysterious headaches, darting pains, sore, swollen joints and any noticeable irregularity of the kidney action.

Dr. V. M. Pierce, Pres.,

NEW COMMISSION BEGINS ITS WORK

State Highway Commission Indicates Intention to Cooperate in Statewide Program.

Invitations to attend the two conferences to be held by the State Highway Commission, one in Montgomery and the other in Birmingham, on November 6 and 8, respectively, have been mailed by John A. Rogers, Chairman of the Commission, to county commissioners, probate judges and members of the legislature throughout Alabama.

It is also desired that all other citizens interested attend these conferences, the purpose of which is to obtain the closest posible co-operation between county officials and the state highway commission and department in the completion of Alabama's modern highway system. The letter states the commission believes it has a plan whereby every county seat in the state can be connected by good roads within the next three years.

Text Invitation

The text of the letter of invitation follows:

"We ask you to attend a conference with the highway commission.

"The conference will begin at 10:00 a. m., Montgomery, Ala., on Tuesday, November 6th, in the Hall of the House of Representatives.

"The same conference will begin in the Tutwiler Hotel at 10:00 o'clock Thursday morning, November 8th.

"Be sure to attend one of these conference. We hope you will be at both.

"Your experience at road building and minatenance will be of much help in the discussions in which you are to take part. During this conference you will be given a look at the books of the Highway department. You will be told how many roads have been built in Alabama and where. How much money has been spent by the Department. How much there is to spend.

Commision's Plan

"The comission believes it has a plan by which every county seat in the state can be connected by a good road with every other county seat within the next three years. The object of the conference is to discuss this plan. The Alabama Highway commission has no pride of opinion as its authors. If there is a better one submitted, and the conference approves it, this plan will be that of the Highway Commission.

"The Highway Commission does not feel that it is the boss of the road system. We know that we are spending the money of the tax payers and that in its spending those who pay these taxes are entitled to be heard. We shall withhold nothing connected with the Highway Department from the public, but by giving out the facts we hope to bring about a spirit of helpful co-operation."

A FINE POTATO

A potato of the famous Porto Rico variety was brought into our office Saturday by Mr. Johnnie Easterling of Refuge. It weighed when he got to town with it 12½ pounds, and he said it would have weighed at least 13 pounds when he first dug it. Mr. Easterling says he has only a small patch this year, but that he has gathered a nice pile of fine potatoes from it. We agree with him if they measure up in proportion to the one he left at our office.

CHILTON COUNTY GRAND JURY

The Grand Jury of Chilton County was in session with the regular term of the Circuit Court which convened here Monday. The names of eighteen men were duly impanelled early in the morning, and they immediately entered into the work for which they were called. Jack J. Mims of Beat 4 was made Foreman, and the following were selected to help him in the work:

Name	Beat
Wm. M. Aldridge	13
Ben F. Vines	1
Ben L. Davenport	9
Wilson W. Spivey	7
John B. Farley	4
E. B. Owens	6
T. Azariah Prickett	10
Fate A. Ellison	4
W. Hardy Hurtt	4
G. Cleve Powell	16
Wilson Z. Hodges	4
Joe W. Foshee	4
W. Y. Little	10
Peter C. Weldon	11
Joseph E. Cobb	2
J. Arthur Thompson	4
John F. Wright	14

The report of the Grand Jury was not issued in time to be published this week, but from the number of people who were called to appear before that body, they had a long string of investigations to make. They had folks summoned from both far and near.

ANOTHER REAL FREAK

One more freak of nature has been added to the Union-Banner's Natural Museum. This time it is six ears of corn all grown together and were covered with one shuck. It was contributed by Mr. J. H. Gore of Friendship, who left it with us Saturday. One large ear is in the middle, and five smaller ones are closely fitted against it, all being joined together at the stem end of the cob.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank each and every one for their tender care and sympathy shown us during the sickness and death of our precious son and brother, Jessie Thomas Williams, and especially do we thank the people of Lakeland, Fla., who were so good to us during his sickness and death. May God bless you all is our prayer.

WALTON TRIAL TO LAST LONG TIME

Expected Hearing Will Start November 1 and Continue at Least Three Weeks.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Oct. 29.—Plans for the impeachment trial Thursday of Governor J. C. Walton moved forward today, although outwardly the proceedings were marked by a lull strange in contrast to the spectacular developments of last week, which brought 22 charges of official misconduct against the executive and his subsequent suspension from office.

As a district court grand jury resumed examination of evidence which formed the basis for the impeachment charges with a view toward possible criminal action in the courts, forces of both sides in the impeachment case were completing all pre-trial arrangements behind closed doors.

The board of managers from the lower house of the state legislature, which will prosecute Governor Walton before the senate sitting as a court of impeachment, was believed to have outlined its plan today to contest a general demurrer to the entire impeachment bill, which counsel for the executive are expected to file at the opening of the trial.

There has been no official indication as to the governor's defense, but in political circles it is believed it will be centered largely on the Ku Klux Klan issue.

While the probable course of procedure is not known, it is considered certain that at least three weeks will be required for the hearing.

Both sides in the proceedings maintaned silence today, and the legislature, with a quorum present in neither house, adjourned to meet again tomorrow.

PROHIBITION AGENTS ARE DOING GOOD WORK

The responsibility of clubs, organizations and citizens generally in the way of law observance is stressed by the local head of the Federal Prohibition Unit.

"Law observance constitutes one of the principal solutions of the Eighteenth Amendment enforcement, for the less liquor peddlers are patronized, the less work for federal agents and other officials. The importance of this will be realized when it is remembered that in the whole United States there are only 1522 federal agents in prohibition field operations.

"As to petty bootlegging and petty drinking, there are in the United States over 200,000 sheriffs, police, etc., who are charged to make such arrests. This is a potential army in comparison with the federal forces and it is manifest that the farmers of the concurrent section of the Eighteenth Amendment contemplated that these forces would do their duty, since no provision was made for the building up of a great federal force.

"That the small federal force of only 1522 agents has accomplished amazing results is demonstrated by the fact that in this area scores of violators have been sent to prison, and through fines, taxes and penalties violators have more than paid the entire cost of enforcement. In additiin seized property, such as motor boats, automobiles, etc., has amounted to thousands of dollars."

CHILTON COUNTY CIRCUIT COURT

The regular Fall Term of the Circuit Court of Chilton County was called Monday morning by Judge Geo. F. Smoot of Wetumpka. Up through Tuesday evening the following cases were tried and disposed of:

W. C. Robinson vs. H. N. Smith, account; jury and verdict for defendant. Appealed.

Only S. Smith vs. W. P. Martin, detinue; continued by agreement.

Ala. Power Co. vs. Rebecca Driver and Mary Fitzpatrick, damages; continued by consent.

Ala. Power Co vs. W. C. Robinson, appeal; continued by plaintiff.

Morris Fertilizer Co. vs. Deloach & Cox, note; continued under former order.

Ala. Power Co. vs. Kle-Nol Co., damages; continued by consent.

Home Insurance Co. vs. A. R. Frith and T. S. Frith, note; bankruptcy of debts suggested and cause continued.

Deloach & Cox vs. Enoch Moates, detinue; continued by consent, to be disposed of next term.

Mrs. T. W. Robinson vs. O. L. Beckman, damages; dismissed on motion of plaintiff.

Judy Abrams vs. Henry Hayes, dismissed on motion of plaintiff.

G. W. Hodges vs. W. R. Latham, damages; dismissed by plaintiff.

F. D. Wilson vs. J. W. Smith, note; settled between parties.

Callie B. Teel vs. J. Wiley Smith, damages; jury and verdict for defendant.

REAL WORK ON DRAINAGE PROJECT IS LAUNCHED

Work of Making Map of All Property Affected to Begin at Once.

At a meeting of the drainage enthusiasts of this section last Thursday, arrangements were made whereby some real work will be started on the dredging of the swamps around Clanton. There has been a lot said about this business, but this time talk is not all there is to it.

The meeting being called to order by Chairman W. W. Fox, the business was immediately entered upon. Mr. Grady Reynolds had a copy of the new drainage law of the state, and the parts affecting the Clanton project were read and explained. It was found that the first thing to be done was for a man to be hired to draw off a rough map of the land to be drained, and the amount of land each man owns who will be affected by the drainage. As a man to fill this job Mr. Grady Reynolds nominated Mr. J. D. Collins, and the nomination was seconded by T. E. Wyatt. The matter was submitted before the house and Mr. Collins was unanimously elected. He was instructed to go right to work on the laying out of the plans, which he said he hoped to finish in about a week.

After this sketch is made the petition signed by the land owners, which has already been done, an engineer can be employed to survey the project and determine whether or not it is a feasible proposition. If the proposition is a workable one, the cost per acre for the work will be figured, and the exact acreage to be affected will be determined. Should the engineer pronounce the proposition not worth the trouble, the expense of the initial work will be assessed against the land which would have been affected by the project. This cost cannot exceed 50c an acre on all the land adjacent to the swamps.

Of course, it is not expected for the proposition to be pronounced a failure, because it is very evident that a ditch here if properly build would be of untold value to both the landowners and the town of Clanton itself. The proposition cannot fail, for if there ever were swamps that needed draining these around Clanton need it, and the thing will pay for itself ten times over in the land which will be redeemed. There is enough land in these swamps within a mile and a half of Clanton that will easily feed all of Chilton county when they are made tenable.

DRAINAGE WORK IS INCREASING IN ALA.

Auburn, Ala., Nov. 30.—An increase in the number of requests for assistance in drainage improvements is reported by P. T. Simons, a senior drainage engineer for the U. S. Department of agriculture who is working in cooperation with the Alabama Extension Service and Experiment Station. A study of these requests and of the conditions which make drainage improvements desirable shows that artificial drainage is, and will continue to be, a real factor in agricultural development in Alabama.

Working in cooperation with the county agents Mr. Simons has assisted in planning farm drainage for about twenty projects since last March, and has inspected twenty additional drainage districts which have been proposed. After inspection preliminary reports stating whether the projects appear to be feasible to develop have been furnished.

No special effort is being made to create interest in drainage because the only sound basis on which to proceed with drainage work is to let the demand for drainage follow the demand for improved land rather than create an artificial demand for drainage of land which might not be used after drained.

Recognizing the importance of drainage, the Agricultural Code passed by the last Legislature of Alabama contains a special drainage act which is said to be the best law on this subject passed by any state in the Union. It governs the formation and operation of drainage districts.

PINK HAS MORE BAD LUCK

A few weeks ago Dr. J. P. Crumpton lost old Rover, so he went to Coosa County and bought him two fine puppies. Well, yesterday these two puppies strayed off down on the railroad and a freight train killed both of them at one swipe. Pink is certainly having bad luck with his dogs, and deserves the sympathy of the many dog lovers of the county. All he has left now in the canine line is a little poodle that is not good for anything but play with the cats and sleep in the house. Poor Pink! We don't hanker for dogs very much, but he has our sympathy.

BOX SUPPER

There will be a box supper at Union Grove School House on Friday night, Nov 2. Everybody come. The men are expected to bring a pocket full of money and the girls and ladies a well-filled box.

The proceeds will go for the benefit of the school.

MAN AND WIFE DIE JUST FOUR MINUTES APART

Willie J. Mims and Wife Pass Away at Their Home Near Bethel Church.

A very sad and also unusual occurrence happened early Tuesday morning, when both Willie J. Mims and his wife, Mrs. Zora Mims took their flight to the great beyond almost simultaneously. Mrs. Mims died at 6:37 and her husband passed away just four minutes later. Willie was 27 years old and his wife was 23, they having been married only about four years. The young man was the son of Mr. Ellis Mims of Maple Springs and his wife was the daughter of Mr. N. A. Vinson of the same community. At the time of their death the two young people were at their home near Bethel Church, where they had been living since their marriage.

The cause of their death came as a result of the husband being gassed while fighting in France, which gradually grew into a peculier disease of the lungs. Mrs. Mims contracted the disease from him, and they both suffered exactly alike all through their extended illness, which has been growing continually worse for the past forty days. Friends who were present say that this was the saddest occasion they were ever called upon to witness. They both had prayed from the time their illness set in that they would both be taken together, and the Good Master saw fit to grant their wishes. Each of them expressed a complete readiness to face their Maker, and their ohly desire was that death might not mean separation, but that they might continue their journey together.

For three or four days before their death Mr. Mims and his wife were so weak that they could not speak, but consciousness prevailed unto the end. Their beds were drawn up side by side, and the two joined hands. They could neither speak, but they lay there looking each other in the face and trying to whisper their last earthly prayers for their friends and expressing their deep love and affection for each other. It was in this manner that they left this life of sorrow to enter upon their endles journey of heavenly happiness and bliss.

The double funeral was preached at Maple Springs Church at 11:00 o'clock Wednesday by Rev. J. D. Hughes, after which both remains were laid to rest in one grave.

CHRISTIAN REVIVAL CLOSES

The revival services which have been running at the Clanton Church of Christ for the past two weeks came to a close Wednesday night. Rev. Price Billingsley, who has been conducting the services, left early Thursday morning on the north bound Pan American for Nashville, Tenn. Prof. Patton, the singer, left some time later.

This meeting of the Christians has proved very successful. Not a great number have been added to the church, but the Christians don't believe so much in joining any way. They profess to do what they do in jam up manner, strictly according to the teaching of the Bible, no more and no less.

The Christians of Clanton are certainly to be complimented for the nice church building they have erected in such short time. It is indeed a credit to themselves and to the town.

Jim Lowe and E. C. Powell made a visit to Birmingham Sunday night, returning Monday night.

COOLIDGE WOULD AID THE FARMERS

Has Broad Plan Which He Believes Will Be Great Help To The Growers Everywhere.

Washington, October 27. — Desirous of being able to present to Congress in December a concrete program of agricultural relief, President Coolidge has begun serious consideration of the proposal that the War Finance Corporation finance the sale of surplus wheat to Europe.

Two steps in this program already have been taken by the chief executive through directions given the specian commission headed by Eugene Meyer, Jr., director of the finance corporation now in the north west to promote formation of cooperative marketing associations, and through the request made of railroad executives to consider reductions in the freight rates on export grain and grain products.

Sales Agency Proposed.

The proposal that the finance corporation's machinery be used as a wheat export sales agency was laid before Secretary Wallace in detail several days ago by a group of middle western grain men and later outlined briefly to the president.

Prior to the visit of the grain men Mr. Coolidge had been acquainted with the general features of such a plan by C. H. March, of Litchfield, Minnesota, who, through his large land interests in the north west has made a special study of the problems of the wheat growers of that section and of farmers generally.

Mr. Coolidge today held two long conferences with Mr. March who is a White House guest for the week end. Secretary Hoover also talked with the Minnesotan and Secretary Wallace, who said today that the proposal appeared to have strong support, probably will discuss the plan within a few days with the executive.

Measures Must Be Sound

The principal question in the mind of the president is understood to be whether such a plan would meet his requirements that all relief measures would be economically sound. whether such an operation could be taken over by the War Finance Corporation without further authority On this point he was given assurancances by Mr. March.

Another question involved is pressed to the president the view that action by Congress probably would be needed.

APPRECIATES HELP

The Civic Committee who requested the co-operation of the town authorities in the cemetery clean-up, wishes, through the President of the Civic Club and its members, to thank, publicly the authorities for the splendid piece of service they have given to the town in the most thorough clean-up the cemetery has yet experienced. We feel that we can not be too loud in praise or too generous in thanks. We invite the public to go down and see for yourselves "that a thing of beauty is a joy forever."

WHY SHOULD FRANCE EXCEL U. S. IN ROADS?

National Highways Saved France In War.

France has 24,000 miles of national highways, 160,00 of departmental and intercommunicating highways, and 185,000 miles of parish or vicinal roads. The national highways approximate six and one-half per cent of France's highway system.

There are running on the roads of France 300,000 motor cars, less than one per mile of road.

The United States has 2,882,198 miles of roads, of which a tiny small fraction of one per cent might be denominated national highways by a stretch of the imagination, which would include roads in national parks and on such reservations as the Canal Zone and the District of Columbia under the term "national highways."

The United States has 13,000,000 motor cars running upon its highways or more than four per mile of road.

Is there any really good reason why the United States should do less in transportation for its people than France? The paved highways of France saved that nation when nothing else could save her! Only the fact that she could transport her armies, her ammunition, her supplies with rapidity and dispatch allowed her to ste mthe German attack. Had she had such roads as we have, she would be today beneath the heel of the conqueror.

It is no argument to say we do not need national highways, because we are not neighbors to countries which might attack us. France did not build and does not maintain her national highways merely for strategetic reasons. She builds and manitains them for economic reasons. If thrifty France can find oconomy in the national highway idea, why can not the United States find the same benefit in the same idea?

A SQUARE DEAL FOR THE COUNTRY BOY AND GIRL

Who remembers the Friday afternoon exercises at the country school of 30 or 50 years ago?

This year, Friday, November 23, many thousands of people will be reminded of "old times" when they assembled at the country school-house for "Community Day" exercises. This day of "Education Week" will be the "big day" in the rural schools when the community will discuss matters of vital interest. "Equality of Opportunity for every American boy and girl" is the first subject suggested to be followed by a discussion of the Rural School in particular, the slogan being: "A square deal for the country boy and girl." In some communities the exercises will be continued Friday night.

Saturday, November 24th, has been designated as "Physical Education Day" and most of the subjects suggested are of special importance in rural communities. In many places the exercises will be held Saturday night.

Socializing the High School Pupil.

It is a matter of common knowledge that the high schools of the United States, in response to an insistent public demand, have introduced much material into various subjects of the curriculums offered in an effort to meet these needs of pupils which grow out of social organizations and have quite generally recognized class room method to the same end. High schools generally have gone much further than this, however, in ways not so generally known. In many schools today the secondary pupils participate quite freely in school government and through extra-curriculum activities are getting more active training through participation in activities which have large socializing values.

In a study of rural high schools in the United States, which is in progress in the U. S. Bureau of Education it has been found that high schools have developed a variety of extra-curriculum activities the range of which follow: Literary society, debating club, science club, orchestra, glee club, athletic association, school paper, boy scouts, camp fire girls, junior league, chorus, dramatic club, Latin club, agricultural club, home economics club, student council, band, class chorus, girl scouts, poultry association, junior community league, school annual, girl reserves, garden club, fruit club, 4 H club, bird club, sewing club, health crusade, Hi Y club, community council, torch society.

MAPLESVILLE NEWS

Maplesville school is progressing fine under circumstances at the present. We are still in the two churches but hope to be in our new school building before Christmas.

Mrs. W. W. Spivey gave a shower for Miss Myrtle McAfee on Thursday, Oct. 18, at 4 o'clock. She received many beautiful gifts.

Mrs. W. W. Brooks entertained the Parent-Teachers Association on Tuesday. After the discussion of the Hallowe'en party a delicious salad course was served.

Messrs Rother and Elmer Harris spent the week-end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Harris.

Why is it that Messrs Bolin DuBose and W. C. Dyer are seen so often in Maplesville since school began?

Misses Tessye Nelson and Cecil Smith of Selma were out of town guests last Sunday attending the Stone and McAfee wedding.

Miss Thelma Wright, our primary teacher, spent last week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Wright, at Plantersville.

As Mr. John Foshee entered his store early Monday morning he found that the robbers had taken about two hundred dollars worth of his goods, shoes, rain coats, and several other articles were missing. He has found no trace of them yet.

Miss Francis Brown, who is attending Centerville school, spent last week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Mize gave a birthday party in honor of their daughter Ruth, last Friday evening at seven o'clock. Among the guests present were Misses Susie Mae Hayes, Marie Edmondson, Onie King, Alma Sexton, Clennie and Willie Lee Haigler, Marie Roberts, and Messrs. John Foshee, Cecil Hayes, Judson and Flemon Lawrence, Archie Harris and Kermit McCrary. She received many beautiful gifts. Lemonade and cake was served. All reported a grand time.

On Sunday afternoon, October 21st, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. McAfee occurred the marriage of their daughter, Myrtle, to Mr. Durand Stone, of Centerville.

There being no attendants the bride entered with the groom to the strains of the wedding march. She was attired in going away dress blue tricotine with accessories to match, and carried a boquet of carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Stone left at 3:30 o'clock for their future home at River Bend, near Blocton.

Mr. Felix Summer is vsiiting his aunt, Mrs. Will Hinton.

WOCO-PEP SELLING FAST

Mr. John T. Ellis says that he is doing big busines wsith his Woco-Pep gas and oil business in Clanton. He said that he sold over twice as much of the new gasoline last Saturday as he has ever sold in any one day since he went in busines hsere. It seems that the public is taking to Woco-Pep fast.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. J. Mims of Concord Community are the parents of a big baby boy. The stork arrived with it Monday night. This event makes our friend Jesse Baker "grandpa." Although Jesse got married only two months ago, he already carries this cherished title to his name. Hurrah for Jess and Jack both.

Blue Ribbon Tailor Shop Has Opened Again Across Railroad

To the Citizens of Clanton and Chilton County:

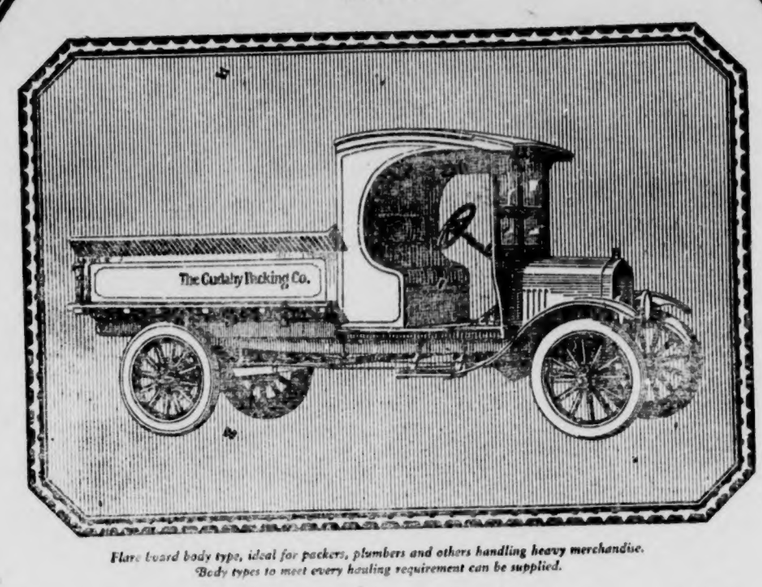
I am not in the tailoring and pressing business with Mr. Frank Lowci after the 1st of November, 1923. I will move my shop across railroad, in Mr. Woodyard building, next to Mr. J. W. Littlejohn's grocery store. I clean, press and repair as ever. I press with Hoffman's sanitary steam press. Work called for and delivered. Ladies work a specialty. We block and band hats inside and out in the best way.

JOSHUA

The old cleaner and presser—over 20 years in pressing business in Clanton.

Ford

Truck Chassis
$370 f. o. b. Detroit



Flare board body type, ideal for packers, plumbers and others handling heavy merchandise. Body types to meet every hauling requirement can be supplied.

A dividend-paying business utility—a title the Ford One-Ton Truck has earned for itself through years of reliable service in diversified lines.

Powered by the famous Ford Model T engine through the Ford planetary transmission and special Ford worm gear, it brings to the business man for his delivery service the abundant power, reliable operation, and real economy for which the Ford product is notable everywhere.

These trucks can be obtained through the Ford Weekly Purchase Plan.

It carries its load day in and day out with a minimum of attention. Its ease of handling adapts it for use in the limited areas about loading docks, warehouses and construction locations.

Giving rapid, dependable hauling service at low initial cost, and at the lowest possible expense for operation and upkeep, it pays the highest dividends on the investment of any motor transportation equipment available to the business world.

POOR ORIGINAL

YOUNG MAN DEAD

Marvus, the 18-year old son of our good friend Jack H. Grooms, of Union Grove, died at the home of his brother, O. D. Grooms, on Mulberry, last Tuesday. The young man came to the home of his brother early Sunday morning and took sick shortly after arriving. From the beginning of his illness he seemed to know that death was near, and told his relatives that he had to go.

The remains were buried at Isabella Cemetery Wednesday at 2:00 o'clock, the funeral being preached by Rev. S. J. Ezell of Clanton. The deceased leaves several brothers and sisters together with his elderly father to mourn after him. The many friends of the family join with them in their sudden and deep bereavement.

REV. J. L. HAND ILL

It is with regret that we learn that Rev. Joe Hand, who is now living at Climax, Ga., is very ill. He is in the hospital at Climax, and it is said that he is too ill and weak to undergo the operation to remove his ailment. There is something wrong with his throat and head, and his tonsils have already been removed, but it is reported that another operation will be necessary for his recovery. The doctors are treating him, and it is hoped that he will be strong enough to bear the operation in a few days.

Bro. Hand has a host of friends in Chilton County, he having preached in this county at a number of the churches near here. We all wish for him a speedy recovery from his sickness, and that he will soon be able to resume his work in the pulpit.

Mr. W. P. Martin, and about everybody else in the county, was here at court this week. We can't name them all, so we will just say that they were all here, and we will be sure not to slight any one.
